Rail Signalmen Stage A Walkout

Nixon Is Expected To Act

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Railroad signalmen went on strike today, shutting down the nation's rail lines, and President Nixon proposed emergency legislation to force the men back to work until at least July 1.

Within five hours after the 13,000-man Brotherhood of Railway Signalmen went on strike, effectively shutting down all rail passenger and freight traffic, the Florida White House announced Nixon's plan to Congress, calling for a new round of negotiations.

A spokesman for Southern Pacific in San Francisco said today that the Northwestern Pacific which has a line through Marin County had not yet been picketed, and trains were still running.

It was expected picketing of the line which runs freight trains in Marin would begin later.

Elsewhere in the Bay Area, Southern Pacific's commute service to 11,500 passengers on the Peninsula was shut down by picket lines.

Two commute trains left San Jose before the 6 a.m. deadline, but a spokesman said that "the remainder of our 20 trains between San Jose and San Francisco won't run."

Hundreds of additional autos clogged Bayshore Freeway on the Peninsula, and extra buses were provided on the Peninsula today by Greyhound.

Urging passage of a joint resolution to halt the shutdown that started at 6:01 a.m. local time, Nixon said a continued national strike "would cause great hardship to all Americans and strike a serious blow at the nation's economy."

"It is essential that our railroads continue to operate," the President said.

The President recommended that Congress promptly enact legislation to extend the present contract negotiation between the Signalmen, union and the railroads until July 1.

He further asked Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson to follow the situation closely and to continue assisting both sides of the dispute. He said that if no settlement had been reached by June 21, it should be reported to him and Congress.

The signalmen, who maintain and install signal equipment, struck when the railroads refused to meet their demands for wage increases almost double what other rail unions have accepted.

Key members of Congress pledged in advance to give prompt consideration to Nixon's request. Veteran observers said that in spite of traditional reluctance of lawmakers to enact legislation during a labor emergency, Congress would likely approve the Nixon request —or something similar to stop the strike —some time today.

RIDES THE BEATS

Psychologist Changes Attitude On The Police

By DAVID DIETZ

The film begins with scenes of student-police clashes during the 1968 San Francisco State riots. Soon the gentle voice of the narrator is heard: "I'd never liked cops, even though I'm white and over 35 . . ."

No, Leonard Pearson, a bearded, slightly built psychologist, never did like cops. But that changed, his narration ultimately made it clear, when he went to Berkeley and Oakland and rode day and night with officers on the beat.

The film is "Help, I'm A Cop," and it's Pearson's way of showing the persecution, agony and frustration facing policemen. He said he came to realize during his three months of research that police truly are a hated minority.

Pearson, associate professor of psychology at Sonoma State College, directed the film, shot by a borrowed camera crew, and later narrated it.

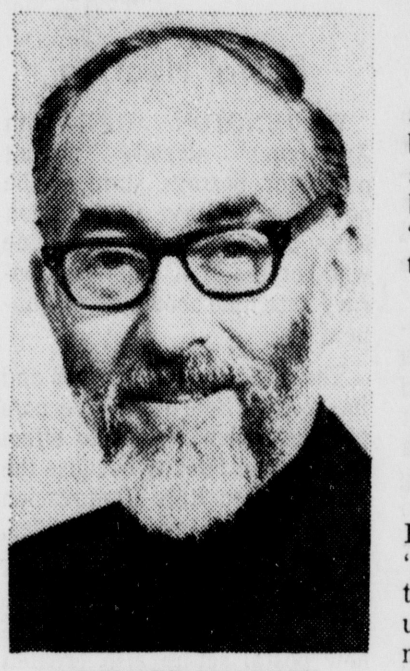
His decision to embark on a study of police was made after hearing student complaints about mistreatment by officers at Bay Area demonstrations.

As for himself, he said, "I really didn't understand cops and how they perceived the world." So, through riding with and interviewing more than 100 policemen of all ranks, he sought to find answers.

While there are "evidences of police brutality and bitterness," Pearson said, he came away from his field research with a feeling of compassion toward police because of the difficult role given them by society.

"They deal with social disequillibriums," he said, "and society wants them to take care of it."

One question he asked of each officer was why police work was chosen as a career. The three major reasons given, according to Pearson, were: "The desire to help people somehow; they don't want to be cooped up in an office; and for the excitement and the challenge."



LEONARD PEARSON
Long look at police

He found police tended to socialize together, either because of odd duty hours or because of criticism by others at parties. The film on several occasions finds police called upon to defend "simple" arrests of traffic offenders and marijuana smokers while said to be ignoring "major crime."

"Chief (Charles) Gain (of Oakland) said he has trouble at parties," Pearson said. "They want to relate to him as a cop and not as a person. He gets harassed."

Actually, Pearson said, police "get this kind of thing just stopping for coffee." In one sequence, the movie shows patrons of a restaurant staring coldly at two Berkeley officers.

Other scenes show youngsters shouting "oink, oink" at an officer in a prowl car and a youthful motorist, who had been offered help by a policemen, hurling epithets at the officer leaving the scene.

"Sometimes they'll stop a kid and try to get dialogue going, but it's very hard to do," Pearson said. "They try not to put a bag on the population," he said, "while the population sometimes puts a bag on them."

Pearson said he was "astonished" at the "high level of tension and alertness" maintained by on-duty officers, and felt a need for debriefing sessions as in the military.

Without a chance to unwind, Pearson felt, policemen take "residual tensions home with them." This often results in an uneasy home life, and Pearson noted that the divorce rate among police is high.

Police, he said, "get an awful lot of calls about family beefs" but receive no psychological counseling. He saw a need for "family crisis teams" that would act apart from "the guy who's tracking down the gunman."

Pearson told of one officer who took aside a youth suspected of assaulting his mother to administer some so-called crisis therapy.

"The kid said he wanted to go into the Marines, but the officer said, 'You can't do that. The Marines won't take you if you have an arrest record. Besides, if you can't take what your mother's doing, you can't take what the D.I.'s going to give you.' "

The youth, Pearson said, was impressed.

As to crime prevention, Pearson said he was troubled by the apparent failure of policemen to "look beyond their eight hours."

"For whatever reason . . . they are not allowed to cope with the long range. They are a mechanized group sent in to repair holes in the dike."

A Tidal Wave Reported In U.S. Dollars Flow

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The flow of American dollars overseas reached tidal wave proportions in the first three months of this year, with a deficit of $5.5 billion in the balance of payments, the Nixon administration reported today.

That was the highest one-quarter deficit on record.

The Commerce Department said the figure —the difference between what the nation spends abroad and what it takes in — was $2.2 billion higher than for the last quarter of 1970 and more than half the $9.8 billion deficit for all of 1970.

Treasury Secretary John B. Connelly, who discused the figure at a Senate Finance Committee hearing on trade, said: "Clearly that level of deficit is not sustainable."

Connally said that in addition to what the government is doing to improve the U. S. trade situation, business and labor must do more "to hold down the rise in labor costs, to avoid unnecessary increases in interestrates and to speed the return to price stability."

The first-quarter deficit figured in the dollar crisis which swept through Europe the past few weeks. As a result of the flood of dollars, the German mark was permitted to "float" — in effect increasing its value in relation to the dollar.

The official deficit would have been $180 million worse had it not been for allocation to the U. S. account of special drawing rights, the two-year-old international reserve currency sometimes referred to as "paper gold."

The official settlements balance measures the dollar holdings of foreign central banks and other official institutions. It indicates the immediate pressures on the international value of the dollar.

The Commerce Department said much of the first-quarter deficit was caused by speculators seeking higher interest rates in Europe than were available in the United States.

The balance of payments records all transactions between the U. S. economy and the rest of the world including trade, foreign aid, overseas military spending, purchases of foreign stocks and bonds and bank borrowing.

In his Senate testimony, Connally said the United States must step up its trade. "The simple fact is that in many areas others are out-producing us, out-thinking us, out-working us and out-trading us," he said.

He also said other nations must lower the barriers that have restricted American exports —not "in return for what the people of the United States have done for them in helping to recover from the ravages of World War II" but simply because "today we are in a different world."

Israeli Is Kidnapped In Istanbul

ISTANBUL (UPI)—Five gunmen today ambushed and kidnapped Israeli Consul General Ephraim Elrom, who a decade ago directed the prosecution investigation of Nazi mass murderer Adolf Eichmann, Army officials said.

They said the gunmen forced their way into Elrom's apartment house, tied up the hall porter and at least eight other persons.

When Elrom arrived for lunch the gunmen, one of them posing as the porter, grabbed and tied up the diplomat. Elrom personally interrogated Eichmann before the SS lieutenant colonel's 1961 trial in Israel for his part in the World War II mass murder of millions of Jews.

Army officials said Elrom fought the gunmen and shouted for help for several minutes.

The gunmen managed to wrestle him into a waiting automobile bearing Ankara license plates and the car sped away from the apartment house in the center of Istanbul.

Jewish sources in Istanbul said Elrom was one of the Israeli agents, who abducted Eichmann in Argentina.

In London, Israeli sources said Elrom. then named Hofsteter, ran the police investigation of Eichmann who was hanged after conviction.

Army officials said the gunmen broke into the apartment just below Elrom's, first overpowering the occupants and then the porter.

Earlier, police sources said four gunmen did the abduction. Military officials later put the number at five.

Today's kidnaping was the third in a series of abductions of foreigners in Turkey since the beginning of the year.

On Feb. 15, three armed Turks seized U.S. Air Force Sgt. Jimmy Finlay of Fort Worth, Tex., and held him for several days before releasing him unharmed. On March 4, an extremist group kidnaped four more American airmen and demanded a $400,000 ransom. The ransom was not paid and the men were freed several days later.

Political sources said the earlier kidnappings and related political instability were largely responsible for the resignation of the Suleiman Demireal government earlier this year.

Military leaders threatened a coup unless he resigned and a more stable government was formed to halt mass antigovernment demonstrations by leftist students. The new government imposed martial law and the country has been relatively quiet in recent weeks.

How Red, White and Blue Is Your Flag For Memorial Day?

Is your red, white and blue a little black? Is it hard to tell the stars from the stripes because of the streaks?

When Old Glory waves her proud head over your home this Memorial Day, will she be wearing a crisp, fresh smile or a soiled frown?

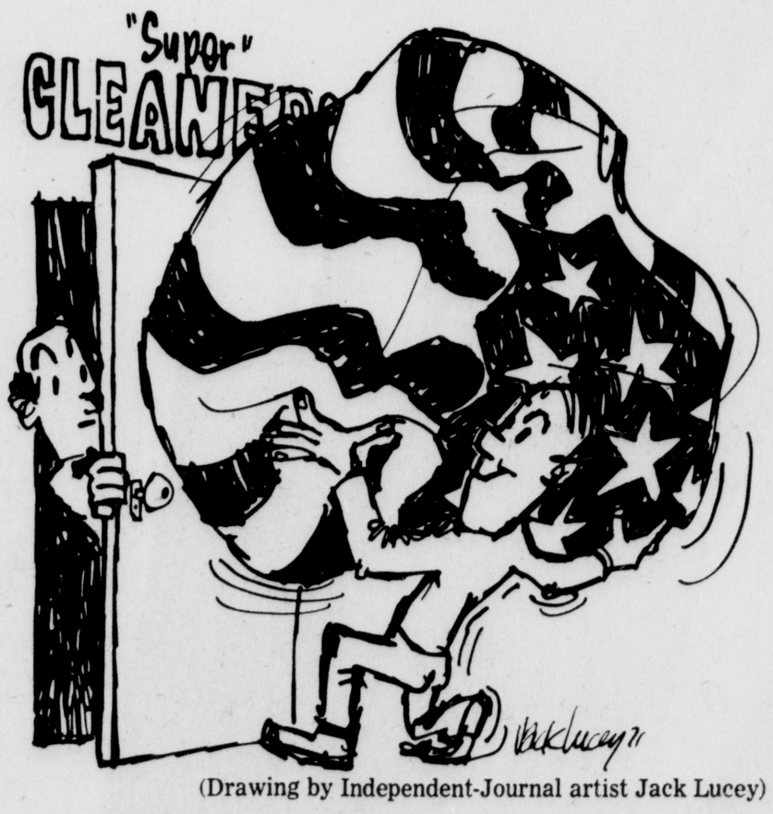
If she's a bit bedraggled, you may have missed out on one of the area's biggest bargains.

The majority of Marin's cleaning establishments (there are about 100 listed in the yellow pages) will clean the American flag — free, at no cost, gratis, without charge.

But business is not booming in the flag-cleaning market these days, according to spokesmen at various cleaners.

Richard Gable, owner of Miracle Norge Village in San Rafael, said he hasn't had a flag to clean since 1963.

Most of the cleaners polled recently by the Independent-Journal said they received "about one or two" a year.



(Drawing by Independent-Journal artist Jack Lucey)

Heading the list is Quality Cleaners of Mill Valley. Owner Richard Thut estimated he cleans 20 to 30 flags a year. Fairfax French Laundry and Cleaners, with five branches, cleans about 25 a year, a spokesman said.

Some of the dry cleaners contacted had never had a flag brought in to be cleaned and had no policy on whether or not to clean one without charge.

Others said they will not clean the flag because it must be handled carefully.

Gable explained that there is a possibility of the red dye turning the white stripes a pink shade if the flag is made of inexpensive material. Usually, the flag is cleaned separately, he said.

Very old flags present a different problem because of sun rot. If the flag is not handled properly, it may shred when it is cleaned.

New Pact For 49er's Dick Nolan

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Dick Nolan, coach of the San Francisco 49ers professional football team, has been given a new five-year contract, it was announced today.

Lou Spadia, president of the 49ers, said Nolan "has made everyone aware that he is one of the finest young coaches in professional football."

Nolan, 39, is a former defensive back for the New York Giants. He coached the 49ers to their first National Football League division championship last season.

The new five-year contract replaces one Nolan had which still had two years to run. Salary terms were not disclosed.

No Amnesty Policy In Narcotics Cases

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Marine Corps said Monday that it is not joining the Navy in adopting a general amnesty policy for personnel who have used narcotics and are trying to kick the habit. "Each case will be judged on its own merits and the commander's action will be based on the 'whole man concept' and the extent of the individual's involvement," the Marine Corps said in a statement.

UPI reported Saturday that Navy Secretary John H. Chafee told a news conference in San Diego that the Marines as well as the Navy would move to the general amnesty policy.

Nixon Gathers Fuel For NATO Position

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI) —The White House today made public a letter from a top-ranking official of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), warning that a unilateral reduction of U.S. forces in Europe would undermine the Atlantic alliance and injur NATO's flexibility for an "immediate nuclear retaliation if attacked."

The letter, sent to Nixon by Manlio Brosio, NATO's secretary general, was another step in the administration's offensive against Sen. Mike Mansfield's proposal to cut in half American forces in Europe, from 300,000 to 150,000.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said that the Brosio letter was not solicited, "I think he was moved to write the letter," he said.

Brosio said that he had seen reports of Mansfield's proposed cut and added, "Everyone is, of course, entitled to his own opinion, and I do not doubt, or contest, the good faith and intentions of Sen. Mansfield or of anyone who may share his view.

"Nevertheless," Brosio added, "I feel bound to say that to me the ideas underlying this proposal appear to be untenable, and to run counter to the conclusions of the extensive study which has recently been completed on alliance defense problems in the 1970s."

"The assumption that the unilateral reduction of U.S. forces in Europe would not undermine the Atlantic alliance and NATO solidarity is deeply and dangerously mistaken," he asserted.

Brosio said that such a step would "withdraw all credibility from NATO's ability to keep its commitment and to maintain a solid deterrent in the Warsaw Pact strength."

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said that the Brosio letter was not solicited, "I think he was moved to write the letter," he said.

Brosio said that he had seen reports of Mansfield's proposed cut and added, "Everyone is, of course, entitled to his own opinion, and I do not doubt, or contest, the good faith and intentions of Sen. Mansfield or of anyone who may share his view.

"Nevertheless," Brosio added, "I feel bound to say that to me the ideas underlying this proposal appear to be untenable, and to run counter to the conclusions of the extensive study which has recently been completed on alliance defense problems in the 1970s."

"The assumption that the unilateral reduction of U.S. forces in Europe would not undermine the Atlantic alliance and NATO solidarity is deeply and dangerously mistaken," he asserted.

Brosio said that such a step would "withdraw all credibility from NATO's ability to keep its commitment and to maintain a solid deterrent in the Warsaw Pact strength."

Angela Loses Brandeis Bid

WALTHAM, Mass. (UPI) — Imprisoned black radical Angela Davis has lost a bid to become president of the Brandeis University alumni association.

Ginsberg

More than half the 6,000 graduates of Brandeis, balloting by mail, elected New York City attorney Morton L. Ginsberg, 37, to head the association. He outpolled Miss Davis by 2,489,793.

Miss Davis, who studied under Marxist philosopher Herbert Marcuse at Brandeis, was nominated last month by a group of dissidents to oppose Ginsberg. She is a 1965 graduate, Ginsberg a 1956 alumnus.

Miss Davis

Miss Davis is in prison awaiting trial on charges of murder and conspiracy in last summer's shootout at the San Rafael, Calif., courthouse in which a judge and three other persons died. A new judge, the sixth, was named last week to hear the case.

Off To Moscow

OTTAWA (UPI) — Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau left today for an 11-day visit in the Soviet Union which both sides hoped would improve relations between the two countries.

Trudeau and his wife, accompanied by External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp and other Canadian officials, left Ottawa at 12:05 a.m. aboard a Canadian armed forces Boeing 707 and was expected to arrive in Moscow late in the afternoon.

A Food Pledge

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Lt. Gen. Tikka Khan, martial law administrator for East Pakistan, Sunday toured the Ganges River delta and islands that were devastated by November's cycline and assured the survivors they would receive adequate food, Radio Pakistan said today.

Tikka told the East Pakistanis in the area where as many as 300,000 may have been killed by the cyclone and tidal wave that "the government had adequate stocks of food grains in the province and no one will be allowed to die of hunger," the broadcast said.

New Etna Flow

CATANIA, Sicily (UPI)— Rivers of lava poured down on cottages and farm houses on the slopes of Mount Etna today in the worst eruption of the volcano in 43 years.

Farmers who built barricades to try to divert the lava from their doors retreated to neighbors' houses to watch helplessly as it burned their orchards and vineyards and boiled through their cottages.

The stream of lava reached the first houses Sunday in the outlying districts of the town of Sant' Alfio, one of five threatened by the renewed activity and eruption from Etna, and officials warned the town may be endangered.

Postal Hearing

WASHINGTON (UPI)—With Americans already paying more for postage stamps, the new Postal Rate Commission today opened hearings to decide whether the $1.41 billion temporary rate hike should be permanent.

The U.S. Postal Service and its 12-man Board of Governors put the higher rates into effect at midnight Sunday because the five-member Rate Commission did not act, as the law provides, within 100 days after the increases were proposed.

The law which created the new postal set-up also created the Rate Commission to act as final authority on rate changes proposed by the Postal Service —a power held until now by Congress.

Muskie In Front

BOSTON (UPI)—Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine is the early favorite among New Hampshire's voters to win 1972's first democratic presidential primary, the Boston Sunday Globe said. The primary is eight months away.

A copyrighted poll in the Globe showed Muskie capturing 45 per cent of the votes in an eight-man race, surpassing the combined strength of runnerup Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Sen Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the party's 1968 presidential standardbearer.

Father Of American Yo-Yo Dies

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—As small boys, millions of Americans were happy to save their nickels and dimes for a Yo-Yo. As adults, they weren't so happy about feeding them to parking meters.

But the flow of money from both — the river of small change, casually spent, that built so many 20th Century fortunes—made a multimillionaire of Donald Duncan Sr.

Duncan, the man who saw a fascinating toy in an obscure Asian jungle-fighting weapon, and a fortune in the car by the curbside, will be buried Tuesday in Palm Springs, Calif. He died Saturday at UCLA Medical Center of a stroke at 71. He had been in a coma for two and one-half weeks.

Duncan never claimed to have invented either the Yo-Yo or the parking meter, but he grew rich marketing them.

Duncan first saw a Yo-Yo "in 1927 or 28," according to his son, Jack, of Newport Beach, Calif.

He was in San Francisco or someplace like that and he saw a Filipino playing with a toy, which was the Yo-Yo. He liked it so well that he bought it from the Filipino and commercialized it."

As far back as the 16th Century, Filipino jungle fighters used 4-pound Yo-Yos on 20-foot cords, said the younger Duncan, and his father had heard that drawings in ancient Eygptian temples pictured objects that looked suspiciously like primitive Yo-Yos.

Duncan, who never finished the eighth grade and began work at 13—but had a sharp mind for a commercial venture —recruited Filipinos, trained them to do tricks with the yoyos, and dispatched them across the United States, holding demonstrations and refereeing contests.

In 1935, with autos proliferating faster than Yo-Yos, Duncan founded the Duncan Parking Meter Co. in Chicago, where he spent most of his adult life, and when he sold the company in 1958, it had manufactured 73 per cent of the world's parking meters.

Doctor Assignments On Council List

The Comprehensive Health Planning Council of Marin will discuss further a proposal to assign two U.S. Public Health Department doctors to West Marin for the summer at a meeting at 7:30 a.m. Wednesday in the Coral Room of Marin General Hospital.

The doctors would be on loan from the federal government and would report at the end of the summer on the need for medical facilities in the area, according to the proposal.

Church Mission Leader Is Dead

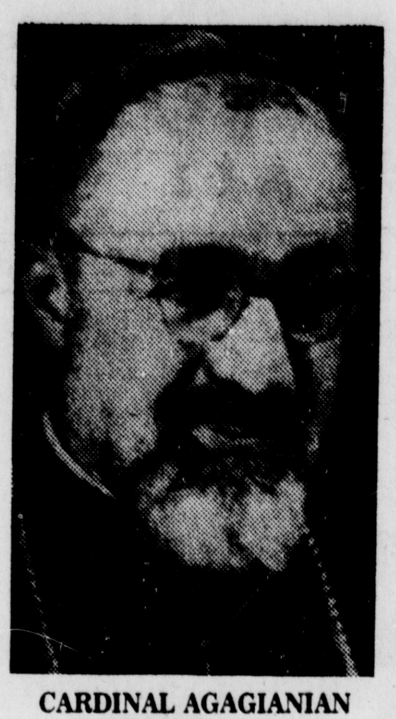
ROME (UPI) — Cardinal Gregory Peter Agagianian, who rose from the obscurity of an Armenian village to become the leader of the world's Roman Catholic mission and a candidate for the papacy, died at his home Sunday night.

The tall, bearded cardinal who spent most of his life in Rome and spoke with a Roman accent, was 75. Church officials said he had been sick for some time and Pope Paul VI called at his bedside a few weeks ago.

A formidable linguist and a man who inspired friendship, Agagianian was the first non-Italian in centuries to be considered a serious candidate for the papacy. He was mentioned as a possibility in the 1958 conclave which elected John XXIII and again in the 1963 conclave which elected the present pope.

Although his prominence faded somewhat with the passing of years and impairment of his health, Agagianian still was one of the most beloved personalities in the Vatican. Italians called him "more Roman than the Romans."

The cardinal was born Lazarus Agagianian Sept. 18, 1895, at Akhaltzikhe in what now is Soviet Armenia, only a few miles from the Georgia birthplace of Josef Stalin.



CARDINAL AGAGIANIAN
Candidate for papacy

His parish priest thought so highly of the handsome and studious boy that he sent him to Rome at the age of 11 to attend the Pontifical College for the Propagation of the Faith. He was the youngest student even to attend the college and the rector was about to send him back as "too young" when Pope Pius X intervened and ruled he could stay.

Agagianian rose quickly through church ranks and in 1937 was elected 15th patriarch of the world's 100,000 Armenian Roman Catholics.

Sadat's Political Crisis Slowing Suez Canal Plan

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Egypt's political upheaval today delayed efforts to find an interim Middle East solution that would permit reopening of the Suez Canal, but Secretary of State William P. Rogers said Sunday his attempts to find a solution did not appear threatened by events in Egypt.

Rogers and Assistant Secretary of State Joseph J. Sisco scheduled conferences in New York at 11 a.m. EDT today with U.N. Secretary General Thant and Gunnar V. Jarring, the U.N. peace negotiator whose own efforts have been in limbo for several weeks.

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat appeared to be strengthening his hold on the country and Cairo dispatches today said he had taken over as head of Egypt's police force. He already is nominal head of the armed forces. The Cairo dispatches said he had placed his political opponents in concentration camps as his purge continued of elements who tried to overthrow his government.

Political sources in Jerusalem said Israel would delay further efforts to reach agreement on reopening the Canal until the situation in Cairo is stabilized.

The sources said the decision was taken at a Sunday cabinet session.

Despite the Israeli statement, Rogers said in Washington on NBC-TV's "Meet the Press" that "we have seen no sign that there will be any slowdown in the discussions that are underway and I would hope that there will not be any."

The Big Four ambassadors to the United Nations called a meeting Tuesday to review the situation, and Egyptian sources at the United Nations said there would be no change in Sadat's demand that Israel withdraw from the Suez Canal—the demand that has halted the talks.

Sisco and Rogers met both with Israeli and Egyptian officials on their recent Mideast tour and Sisco flew back to Cairo with a new Israeli canal proposal.

The Girls Drill Team of the Petaluma Police Assistance League won first place honors in the Junior Girls Drill Team Division Saturday at the Santa Rosa Festival Parade. The newly formed group is directed by patrolman George Norton.

Dump Nixon Group Holds First Round

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Liberal Republicans forming a fledgling "Dump Nixon" movement still hope to force a change in the President's policies, but they will not hesitate to campaign against him in '72 if he does not.

Nineteen Republicans from across the country held their first meeting Sunday—a six and one-half hour session at a private home in Washington. The meeting was called by former Sen. Charles E. Goodell of New York and by Reps. Donald W. Riegle of Michigan and Paul N. McCloskey Jr. of California.

"The views expressed were pretty unanimous that preparations should be made now in the event we have to oppose Nixon in the primaries." said Goodell, who himself was dumped by President Nixon when the administration refused to support him in the last election in a dispute over war policy.

But Goodell said those present still want to describe their attempt as a "move Nixon or change Nixon" effort. He added, however:

"There was no hesitancy in the group that we will be for someone else as an alternative to Nixon, but we hope that won't be necessary."

Goodell said McCloskey addressed the meeting but did not seek support for his own candidacy. McCloskey has expressed his willingness to be a GOP primary candidate. Other potential candidates who were discussed, according to Goodell, included himself, Sen. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, New York City Mayor John V. Lindsay; former Health, Education and Welfare Secretary John W. Gardner, and former Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel.

Goodell described those who attended the meeting as ranging from "old-time Republican organization people to state legislative leaders, major party contributors and some young Republicans." Sufficient money commitments were made, he added, to finance any national effort that may be necessary.

'Slumer Protest' At Mills College

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)— Some 180 girls, many in filmy nighties, protested the past weekend over residence hall visiting rules at all-women Mills College.

The young women staged a "slumber protest" in the lounges and living rooms at seven halls which house about 750 students.

The protesters want a 24-hour open house policy, but a school official said student and faculty representatives were trying to come up with a plan satisfactory to all.

S. Viets Begin Drive Into Valley

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese battalions opened a long-delayed allied drive into the A Shau Valley today, marching down from the mountains at the southeast edge of the Communist bastion, field spokesmen said.

U.S. helicopters flew the several thousand South Vietnamese infantrymen to positions in the mountains Sunday. The helicopters ran into heavy Communist ground fire and had to land the soldiers at a point a mile away from the planned landing zone.

Elite Hac Bao (Black Panther) long-range reconnaissance troopers preceded the infantrymen into the valley with the mission of knocking out Communist antiaircraft guns, the field spokesman said.

Two formations of U.S. Air Force B52 Stratofortresses blasted suspected Communist troop concentrations in the valley five miles southeast of A Luoi Sunday with at least 180 tons of bombs.

Two other B52 formations continued the bombing of Communist trail networks in South Vietnam within seven miles of the junction of the Laos border and the Demilitarized Zone.

Operation Lam Son 720, which has the A Shou Valley as its principal target, was launched April 14.

U.S. troops of the 101st Airborne Division reported finding a vast Communist base camp three miles northeast of the valley Sunday.

In Laos, a Defense Ministry spokesman announced that North Vietnamese captured the strategic town of Pak Song on the Bolovens plateau and were threatening the city of Pakse, 28 miles to the west.

The U.S. command reported the number of American servicemen in Vietnam declined by 4,600 last week to a total of 262,500, the lowest number since May 1, 1966. The command also said the U.S. Navy's 7th Fleet in the Tonkin Gulf, which had a strength of 35,000 men in July, 1969, is down to 17,800.

Wilson Says LBJ Ruined Peace Plan

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Johnson administration "deliberately" reversed its policy in 1967 just at the time when there was a real chance to settle the Vietnam War, according to former British Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

In excerpts from his memoirs, published in the current edition of Life magazine, Wilson said a telephone call by President Johnson's special assistant, Walter Rostow, had torpedoed chances for peace just when Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin had agreed to play the role of middleman between Washington and Hanoi.

The excerpts were from Wilson's forthcoming book, "The Labour Government, 196470: A Personal Record."

Basically, Wilson wrote, Johnson withdrew an American proposal for a truce after it had been forwarded to Kosygin for transmission to Hanoi. Johnson then substituted a tougher version clearly unacceptable to the North Vietnamese, Wilson wrote.

Calling the incident a victory for the hawks, Wilson said the incident occurred just before Tet and the plan was to extend the New Year's truce with the ultimate purpose of bringing both sides to the conference table.

The proposal was for the U.S. to stop the bombing of the North with a public statement to that effect. The North would give an assurance, without publicity, that it would not move more troops into Vietnam, wrote Wilson.

Kosygin wanted a written version of the proposal so he could send it to Moscow.

WEST MARIN EVENT

Five In Running For Livestock Show Queen

Five high school students are competing to become queen of the West Marin Junior Livestock Show, June 19 and 20, at Point Reyes Station.

The winner will receive a $500 scholarship and the top three finishers will get a trip to Disneyland. The contestant who sells the most tickets to the Livestock Show will be named queen.

Seeking the title are:

Annette Bunce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Bunce of Olema, an 18-year-old senior at Tomales High School.

A native of Hamilton, Ohio, Miss Bunce has been a resident of Marin for seven years. She has served on the student council as secretary for three years and as a representative during her sophomore year.

She has been a member of the girls league, girls athletic association and ski club.

Miss Bunce plans to attend college and study toward an office job, possibly as a secretary.

Judy Cutright, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Cutright of Inverness, is a sophomore at Ygnacio Valley High School, Concord, who plans to enter Tomales High School this fall.

She has done volunteer work at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in Walnut Creek and plans to enter a nursing school in the state of Washington or Oregon after she completes high school.

Miss Cutright said she hopes to engage in medical missionary work.

She is a horse rider and likes to work with pieces of driftwood, shells and stones that she collects.

JUDY CUTRIGHT

Terry Holsapple, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Holsapple, Valley Ford, is a junior at Tomales High School.

A native of Turlock, Miss Holsapple moved to Valley Ford in 1969.

She is a member of the Pep Club, Girls League and Ski Club and is a baseball and football fan.

Miss Holsapple works as a teacher's aide and is seeking a career that will involve working with children.

Patricia Lyman, a 16-year-old junior at Tamalpais High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald H. Lyman, Ocean Parkway, Bolinas.

She is a member of the San Rafael International Order of Rainbow for Girls and enjoys horseback riding, camping, motorcycling and photography.

Miss Lyman plans to study machine shorthand in college and work as a courtroom reporter.

A native of Utica, N.Y., she attended elementary school in El Cerrito.

Elaine Zetterquist, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zetterquist of Inverness Park, is a senior at Tomales High.

She is a member of the Pep Club, Girls League, Girls Athletic Association and has served as student body treasurer for two semesters.

Miss Zetterquist was a member of the Point Reyes-Olema 4-H Club for six years and a county medalist one year for a home furnishing project.

She plans to enter Santa Rosa Beauty College and someday operate her own beauty shop.

Bel Marin Keys Dredging Session

The Bel Marin Keys Community Services District board will have a special meeting on dredging at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow at the community center.

Charles E. Murphy, Marin County flood control engineer, and Asst. County Counsel Thomas G Hendricks will join the discussion.

Directors of the services district have placed an additional $30,000 in the community dredging fund, bringing the total to $104,000, reported Berry L. Zoeller, secretary.

Cascade Draining To Be Studied By Councilmen

A proposal by a citizens committee that controversial Cascade Reservoir in Mill Valley be drained will be considered by the city council when it meets at 8 p.m. today at city hall.

City councilmen often have discussed draining the mountain lake after a fire main was constructed up Cascade Canyon. That main now is in place.

Councilmen, however, are likely to disagree with the step urged by the citizens committee — the ultimate conversion of the reservoir into a safe swimming hole.

In other business, the council will discuss final wording of a lease of the city-owned Lytton Square bus depot and consider beginning meetings at 7:45 p.m. to allow 15 minutes for questions by citizens.

Tamalpais Drive Reconstruction On Town Agenda

The Corte Madera Town Council, meeting today at 7:30 p.m. at town hall, will consider approving final plans for reconstruction of Tamalpais Drive.

If the plans are accepted, the $125,000 project will go to bid with bids expected to be opened sometime in June. The project is expected to be complete by January.

The council also will consider a letter urging the 25-acre requirement for planned unit developments be lowered to one acre.

30-DAY WEATHER OUTLOOK

Warmer weather is the order of the day during the next 30 days in Marin, according to the National Weather Service. Below normal precipitation is forecast during the period ending June 15 with temperatures above normal. During the same period last year there was .26 inches of rain with a quarter of an inch on June 9. Daytime temperatures averaged 78 degrees with the overnight lows in the mid-50s.

RAILS

Gerald R. Ford called for fast action on emergency legislation, but said the strike never should have been allowed to happen.

Ford was referring to legislation proposed some time ago to deal with such disputes, and in his message Nixon chided Congress for failure to act on his "Emergency Public Service Protection Act."

He said that would put an end to the "chaotic nature of collective bargaining"in the transportation industry.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said "we feel this piecemeal method is no way to run a railroad."

Some 600,000 other rail workers honored the picket lines of the signalmen, who comprise only about 2 per cent of the rail work force.

With a few exceptions, all train service was idled across the nation.

The people most immediately affected were an estimated 600,000 railroad commuters.

Traffic jams developed in cities that normally depend heavily on commuter trains, mainly New York and Chicago.

Manufacturing plants immediately began slowdowns. One of the first was the Chrysler stamping plant at Tinesburg, Ohio, which said it would work half shifts today and would lay off all its 4,200 workers if the strike continued into Tuesday.

Reflecting presidential concern about the economic effects of the strike, Ziegler said, "Past experience has shown such a strike has an extremely detrimental effect on the economy and welfare of American citizens."

In his statement, Nixon said that he had hoped for a "voluntary negotiated settlement of this dispute; however, this was not forthcoming."

He said that his recommendation for a strike freeze until July 1 "is not only consistent with the national interest in continued rail service, but preserves the processes of free collective bargaining."

Hodgson told reporters he was "bitterly disappointed" with the union for calling the strike and Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe, saying the strike was a "castastrophe," assumed emergency powers that would allow him to dictate what materials would be allowed to move first by other modes of transportation.

The Interstate Commerce Commission said it was authorizing its field offices to grant the 20,000 bus and truck lines under its authority emergency licenses to carry goods and passengers left stranded by the rail strike.

The Chicago regional post office slapped an embargo in movement of second, third and fourth-class mail to 35 states in the center of the nation.

Postal headquarters in Washington withheld any immediate nationwide embargo.

Trains already on the road continued into their next terminal, meaning some union crews would work into the morning or early afternoon.

In some cases, existing union contracts with individual railroads provided that union men already on the job could be held over an extra eight hours. Therefore, some priority trains conceivably could be kept running into the afternoon.

Ronald Rivas Given Six Months In Jail

Ronald Rivas, 21, who fatally shot his father at their Novato home in 1969, was sentenced to six months in Marin County Jail today.

Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court, who found Rivas guilty of voluntary manslaughter in March, also placed him on probation for five years.

"I do have confidence in this young man's ability to overcome the very difficult life he's had so far," Keating said in sentencing Rivas.

Keating rejected proposals from Deputy Dist. Atty. J. Michael Anthony that Rivas be sentenced to the California Youth Authority and from defense attorney Robert D. Carrow that he be sentenced to the 41 days he has already spent in jail, and instead accepted a probation department recommendation in sentencing.

Deputy probation officer Patricia Schuman said she recommended the six months jail sentence so that Rivas could receive psychological treatment.

"He is not mentally ill," Mrs. Schuman said, "but he has problems that have to be dealt with."

Keating found Rivas, who had been charged with murder, guilty of the lesser offense March 25. His decision was based on testimony given during a three-week trial last August.

Testimony at the trial revealed that Rivas shot his father, Fidel Ibarra Rivas, 46, during a family argument July 17, 1969, at their home at 59 Raposa Vista.

Anthony had described how the family had been entertaining visitors and singing on the night of the shooting.

But later, Anthony said, young Rivas — one of 13 children — saw his father slapping his mother.

During the trial, Rivas related how he took his brother's gun out of a dresser drawer, loaded it, took off the safety and cocked it before confronting his father.

"I knew I wanted to protect my mother," he said.

Anthony said Rivas returned to the kitchen and fired four shots at his father, hitting him with three of them. The elder Rivas was pronounced dead on arrival at Novato General Hospital.

During the trial, Carrow had cited "unbelievable brutality" toward the family by the father and said that Rivas had repeatedly tried to protect his mother from the father's violence.

The Shopper In Novato Is Surveyed

Novato customers would like a "unique shopping atmosphere" according to a consumer attitude survey recently conducted by the Novato Jaycees.

Eighty per cent of the 86 persons who responded to the survey favored such an atmosphere, according to Robert A. Schall, membership chairman.

Thirteen per cent favored a western atmosphere on East Grant Avenue, 4 per cent for "something like the Strawberry Town and Country Village," 12 per cent for a more centralized shopping center and 19 per cent who wanted a large store, such as Penny's, Sears or Montgomery Ward.

The majority felt they were getting good service in Novato, but only 30 per cent felt the local sales offered enough inducement.

Fifty-three per cent felt they were getting a fair price in Novato, while 27 per cent didn't and 20 per cent replied "in some stores."

When asked why they shopped outside Novato, most answered for selection but 34 per cent for price and sales.

When it came to items purchased outside the city, clothing led the list with 45 per cent.

They listed the three most important qualities in a store as service, price and selection.

He added that it would compromise efforts to reach an agreement with the communist bloc and deprive the alliance of any serious basis for east-west negotiations on political problems and on armaments controls.

"Finally, and most importantly," he said, the proposed reduction would mean a return to a trip-wire strategy, in contradiction to the basis of the alliance's present strategy of flexibility in response, for it is NATO's overall strength in Europe which provides the alliance with an alternative to an immediate nuclear retaliation if attacked."

The Senate votes on the troop cutback amendment Wednesday in the face of unprecedented White House opposition. During Nixon's three-day weekend of work with aides and play with friends, the Florida White House released three statements opposing the amendment.

The first was from Nixon, the second and third from former Presidents Lyndon B. Johnson and Harry S Truman. It marked the first issue on which the President enlisted support from the two living ex-presidents.

FILM

A tense moment experienced by Pearson during his research was the sidewalk interrogation of a man who fitted the description of a holdup suspect. As the officer calmly and politely questioned the man, Pearson sat anxiously in the prowl car.

"I loosened up in my seat," he said with a grin. It turned out the pedestrian was not the holdupman.

Another time, Pearson said, he nearly was struck by a police car turning a corner at high speed during filming.

The movie, which was shown at a recent San Francisco film festival sponsored by the Association for Humanistic Psychology, is available to groups, schools and police departments. It can be obtained through the association at 416 Hoffman Avenue, San Francisco.

RAILS

Gerald R. Ford called for fast action on emergency legislation, but said the strike never should have been allowed to happen.

Ford was referring to legislation proposed some time ago to deal with such disputes, and in his message Nixon chided Congress for failure to act on his "Emergency Public Service Protection Act."

He said that would put an end to the "chaotic nature of collective bargaining"in the transportation industry.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said "we feel this piecemeal method is no way to run a railroad."

Some 600,000 other rail workers honored the picket lines of the signalmen, who comprise only about 2 per cent of the rail work force.

With a few exceptions, all train service was idled across the nation.

The people most immediately affected were an estimated 600,000 railroad commuters.

Traffic jams developed in cities that normally depend heavily on commuter trains, mainly New York and Chicago.

Manufacturing plants immediately began slowdowns. One of the first was the Chrysler stamping plant at Tinesburg, Ohio, which said it would work half shifts today and would lay off all its 4,200 workers if the strike continued into Tuesday.

Reflecting presidential concern about the economic effects of the strike, Ziegler said, "Past experience has shown such a strike has an extremely detrimental effect on the economy and welfare of American citizens."

In his statement, Nixon said that he had hoped for a "voluntary negotiated settlement of this dispute; however, this was not forthcoming."

He said that his recommendation for a strike freeze until July 1 "is not only consistent with the national interest in continued rail service, but preserves the processes of free collective bargaining."

Hodgson told reporters he was "bitterly disappointed" with the union for calling the strike and Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe, saying the strike was a "castastrophe," assumed emergency powers that would allow him to dictate what materials would be allowed to move first by other modes of transportation.

The Interstate Commerce Commission said it was authorizing its field offices to grant the 20,000 bus and truck lines under its authority emergency licenses to carry goods and passengers left stranded by the rail strike.

The Chicago regional post office slapped an embargo in movement of second, third and fourth-class mail to 35 states in the center of the nation.

Postal headquarters in Washington withheld any immediate nationwide embargo.

Trains already on the road continued into their next terminal, meaning some union crews would work into the morning or early afternoon.

In some cases, existing union contracts with individual railroads provided that union men already on the job could be held over an extra eight hours. Therefore, some priority trains conceivably could be kept running into the afternoon.

Ronald Rivas Given Six Months In Jail

Ronald Rivas, 21, who fatally shot his father at their Novato home in 1969, was sentenced to six months in Marin County Jail today.

Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court, who found Rivas guilty of voluntary manslaughter in March, also placed him on probation for five years.

"I do have confidence in this young man's ability to overcome the very difficult life he's had so far," Keating said in sentencing Rivas.

Keating rejected proposals from Deputy Dist. Atty. J. Michael Anthony that Rivas be sentenced to the California Youth Authority and from defense attorney Robert D. Carrow that he be sentenced to the 41 days he has already spent in jail, and instead accepted a probation department recommendation in sentencing.

Deputy probation officer Patricia Schuman said she recommended the six months jail sentence so that Rivas could receive psychological treatment.

"He is not mentally ill," Mrs. Schuman said, "but he has problems that have to be dealt with."

Keating found Rivas, who had been charged with murder, guilty of the lesser offense March 25. His decision was based on testimony given during a three-week trial last August.

Testimony at the trial revealed that Rivas shot his father, Fidel Ibarra Rivas, 46, during a family argument July 17, 1969, at their home at 59 Raposa Vista.

Anthony had described how the family had been entertaining visitors and singing on the night of the shooting.

But later, Anthony said, young Rivas — one of 13 children — saw his father slapping his mother.

During the trial, Rivas related how he took his brother's gun out of a dresser drawer, loaded it, took off the safety and cocked it before confronting his father.

"I knew I wanted to protect my mother," he said.

Anthony said Rivas returned to the kitchen and fired four shots at his father, hitting him with three of them. The elder Rivas was pronounced dead on arrival at Novato General Hospital.

During the trial, Carrow had cited "unbelievable brutality" toward the family by the father and said that Rivas had repeatedly tried to protect his mother from the father's violence.

The Shopper In Novato Is Surveyed

Novato customers would like a "unique shopping atmosphere" according to a consumer attitude survey recently conducted by the Novato Jaycees.

Eighty per cent of the 86 persons who responded to the survey favored such an atmosphere, according to Robert A. Schall, membership chairman.

Thirteen per cent favored a western atmosphere on East Grant Avenue, 4 per cent for "something like the Strawberry Town and Country Village," 12 per cent for a more centralized shopping center and 19 per cent who wanted a large store, such as Penny's, Sears or Montgomery Ward.

The majority felt they were getting good service in Novato, but only 30 per cent felt the local sales offered enough inducement.

Fifty-three per cent felt they were getting a fair price in Novato, while 27 per cent didn't and 20 per cent replied "in some stores."

When asked why they shopped outside Novato, most answered for selection but 34 per cent for price and sales.

When it came to items purchased outside the city, clothing led the list with 45 per cent.

They listed the three most important qualities in a store as service, price and selection.

He added that it would compromise efforts to reach an agreement with the communist bloc and deprive the alliance of any serious basis for east-west negotiations on political problems and on armaments controls.

"Finally, and most importantly," he said, the proposed reduction would mean a return to a trip-wire strategy, in contradiction to the basis of the alliance's present strategy of flexibility in response, for it is NATO's overall strength in Europe which provides the alliance with an alternative to an immediate nuclear retaliation if attacked."

The Senate votes on the troop cutback amendment Wednesday in the face of unprecedented White House opposition. During Nixon's three-day weekend of work with aides and play with friends, the Florida White House released three statements opposing the amendment.

The first was from Nixon, the second and third from former Presidents Lyndon B. Johnson and Harry S Truman. It marked the first issue on which the President enlisted support from the two living ex-presidents.

FILM

A tense moment experienced by Pearson during his research was the sidewalk interrogation of a man who fitted the description of a holdup suspect. As the officer calmly and politely questioned the man, Pearson sat anxiously in the prowl car.

"I loosened up in my seat," he said with a grin. It turned out the pedestrian was not the holdupman.

Another time, Pearson said, he nearly was struck by a police car turning a corner at high speed during filming.

The movie, which was shown at a recent San Francisco film festival sponsored by the Association for Humanistic Psychology, is available to groups, schools and police departments. It can be obtained through the association at 416 Hoffman Avenue, San Francisco.

Examiner Rules Union Unfair In 3 Fines

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A National Labor Relations Board trial examiner has ruled that San Francisco Typographical Union 21 engaged in unfair labor practices in disciplining three of its members — all Independent-Journal supervisory employees.

Examiner James T. Barker ruled Thursday that the union, which has been on strike against the I-J since January 1970, violated labor law in expelling chief machinist Ernest Fingerlos, and assistant foremen Earl and Robert Dixon and fining them $10,000 each.

The union contended the men had violated the union's constitution by crossing picket lines.

In his decision, Barker found the three men had held supervisory positions before the strike and therefore were to be considered a part of management.

Barker ordered the union to "rescind any fines, suspensions, expulsions or other disciplinary acts" against the three and to notify its members — through notices posted at meeting halls and offices — of the union's violation of labor laws.

His order also directs the union to "cease and desist" from "restraining or coercing" the I-J in the selection of representatives for the purpose of collective bargaining or the adjustment of grievances.

The union, in September, also was found to have acted unfairly in the parallel case of Gordon Dixon, I-J composing foreman. The trial examiners decision in that case has been upheld by the National Labor Relations Board in Washington, D.C.

The union can appeal Barker's decision before the Washington board as it did Gordon Dixon's.

Contract Plan On Novato List

The Novato Unified School District board will receive a report from a committee urging more effective contract negotiating procedures at 8 p.m. today at the Novato High School lecture hall.

The fact-finding committee, selected by the district and the Novato Teachers Association, also has proposed that in the event of an impasse in negotiations, a mediator should be called in.

Members of the committee were James L. Merrihew, superintendent of the Mount Diablo Unified School District; Edgar W. Case, executive director, Oakland Education Association, and Oscar E. Anderson, consultant in school finance and legislation.

Youth Boat In Boat Theft

Four Petaluma youths were arrested on suspicion of stealing a boat late Friday night.

Booked for investigation of grand theft were Stephen Le-Alan Brusell, 18, of 1513 Joan Drive, who was booked into city jail for arraignment today in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court; Milton William Smith Jr., 14, of 1298 McKenzie Drive, and William Joseph Sigmann, 16, of 1512 Joan Drive, who were cited to juvenile authorities and were released to their parents, and Roger Leroy DeGarmo, 16, of Rainbow Apt. 3, who was booked into juvenile hall.

Police said they were seen pushing the boat and trailer down Paul Lane off Magnolia Avenue. Police said the owner of the boat, Lyman M. Knapp of Pedmont, had stored it at 743 Paula Lane.

Hub Board Sets Study On Budget

The San Anselmo School District board, meeting tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at Red Hill School, will consider a second preliminary budget totaling $1,829,710.

The budget indicates minimum program expenditures based on this year's budget and is aimed at showing the district's financial plight if an 80-cent tax rate increase is not approved by voters in July.

According to Supt. W. Kenneth Lowry, the budget exceeds by about $76,000 the expected revenues for fiscal 1971-72. Reserves total about $50,000. Teacher and clerical employees' salary requests are not included in the preliminary budget.

Other matters to come before the board are a discussion of San Anselmo's proposal to use the Isabel Cook School site for city buildings and a preliminary report on the district's health education program.

Woman Critical From Accident

A Mill Valley woman was reported in critical condition today at Marin General Hospital with injuries suffered when she was thrown from her car as it went off an embankment on Panoramic Highway.

The woman, Beverly J. Miller of 1 Marin Avenue, was driving east on the highway about 7:20 p.m. Friday when she lost control of the car, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Hospital officials said she received multiple injuries of the head, abdomen and pelvis.

Review Due Fund Pleas

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — The executive committee of the Association of Bay Area Governments is scheduled Thursday to review applications for federal funds by several Marin County agencies.

The Ross Valley Sanitary District seeks endorsement of a $407,500 application toward construction of a new pumping station in Kentfield and of a main to carry sewage from the plant. Total cost of the project is $1,625,000.

In the other application, the County of Marin and the cities of Larkspur, Mill Valley and San Anselmo are jointly seeking approval of an application at an unspecified sum for street improvement projects.

The committee meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. in the Hotel Claremont.

Status Of Housing Plan On Agenda

The status of a 624-unit housing development proposed for land above the Koch luggage plant in Corte Madera will be reviewed by the Mill Valley School District board at an adjourned meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Park School.

The district has sought to delay the project before the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission and the Corte Madera Planning Commission until trustees are given details.

The district contends it is unable to handle the unexpected influx of children from the project.

Also on the agenda is a report from the development advisory committee and appointment of an auditor for the district.

Trustees May Name Committee On Goals

Fairfax School District trustees are expected to approve a committee to study district education goals when they meet at 7:45 p.m. tomorrow at the district office, 58 Park Road.

Supt. H. Reginald Hammond, instructed Wednesday by trustees to recommend a committee of at least five teachers, said he will give the board eight names for approval.

More than 300 parents attended last week's meeting, he said, many in favor of recommendations made May 4 by parents calling for an "alternative school," and many opposed.

The implementation committee —its official name — will study recommendations made by parents and goals recommended by teachers in March after 18 months of study.

Groups of parents for and against the alternative school have indicated they want ungraded classes for primary students, use of student tutors, environmental study and increased use of community resource people. They are split on the need for an alternative school, the opposition claiming Fairfax is too small to support a separate school.

Frozen Food Thaw

BRUSSELS (UPI) —Belgians finally are beginning to accept frozen foods as part of their eating habits, says the Belgian Business Review. But Belgium still remains a long way behind the United States in frozen food consumption, with each Belgian eating 4.4 pounds of frozen food a year, compared to 55 pounds per capita in the United States.

Only A 28-Man Force For BART

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Bay Area Rapid Transit District will have only a 28-man police force when it begins operations, but the security chief says he is not particularly worried.

The chief, Ralph M. Lindsay, noted Sunday that there will be very little to rob in BART stations, not even change booths. Instead there will be automatic change makers, which will be made hard to break into, he added.

Police departments along the 75-mile rail route also have promised cooperation.

Belvedere Lot Split On List

John L. Williams's fight with the city of Belvedere may end tonight when the city planning commission considers a lot split for property on the tip of Belvedere Island.

The squabble began last November when the city discovered Williams had subdivided one of two lots he owned on Belvedere Avenue, selling one of the two new lots to a neighbor, Paul V. Ammen, and the other new lot and the old one to Hamilton Vose. All this was done without planning commission or city council approval.

Complicating the situation is the fact that one of the two parcels Williams sold to Vose is illegal because it does not meet city requirements for street frontage and lot width.

Williams subsequently sought a lot split to make his action legal, but was turned down by the commission. Since the lot he sold to Ammen was too small — 12,170 square feet — to meet the city's square footage requirements, it could not stand on its own. Neither could it be added to other property owned by Ammen, as Ammen only leased his land.

The matter was referred to the city council, as are all lot splits, and the council in March upheld the commission and denied the split.

After more than a month of working out details, Williams has returned to the commission and proposed two things:

First, that the sale of the small parcel to Ammen be approved subject to the condition that the lot not be built upon. This satisfies Ammen, as he originally purchased the parcel for a greenbelt and access to San Francisco Bay and never intended to develop it;

Second, that the commission approve a lot line adjustment in Vose's two parcels to make both conform to frontage and width requirements.

The commission is expected to concur and grant both requests when it meets at 8 p.m. at city hall. Final approval must come from the city council.

Hearing Tonight On Utility Plan

Fairfax City Council will hold a public hearing at 8 p.m. today on possible creation of an underground utility district along Broadway from Pacheco Avenue to Merwin Avenue.

Cost estimates on creating the city's second underground district are not available yet, according to Eileen L. Foster, city clerk.

The council also will review a request from Fairfax Garbage Disposal Co. for a 25-cent rate hike per customer. The company now receives $2.75 monthly from residents in hill areas and $2.25 from customers in flat areas of the city.

Other items on the agenda include a recommendation from Robert E. Crowe, city administrator, to make city hall alterations at an anticipated cost of $35,000.

Two Men Slain; Narcotics Link

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Police said Sunday that two victims of execution-like slayings were drifters with long records, mostly for narcotics offenses.

The men who were shot and killed Saturday in Merced Heights were William Powell, 35, and Stallard Pitts, Jr., 47.

Inspector David Toschi said that possibly the killings may have been connected with narcotics.

There has been no arrest.

Dr. William J. Filanti
Housing speaker

Seminar On Housing Set Saturday

Causes of housing blight, planning failures and poverty problems will be discussed at a seminar on housing scheduled for Saturday at San Francisco Theological Seminary.

The seminar, set for 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in Alexander Hall, is being sponsored by the Henry George School of Social Sciences, according to Dr. William J. Filante, chairman and one of the speakers.

During the day the film, "One Way to Better Cities," will be shown and there will be roundtable discussions on such subjects as the effects of taxes on housing and open space.

Speakers will include Dr. Filante, who is social action chairman for Congregation Rodef Shalom and a delegate to the Ecumenical Housing Committee of Marin; Dr. Elmer A. Weden, president of the San Anselmo School District board; Robert Scrofani, chairman of the social studies department at Berkeley High School, and Robert Tideman, executive director of the Northern California branch of the Henry George School.

Groups who are cooperating in the seminar include the Council for Adequate Shelter for All, Ecumenical Housing Committee, League of Women Voters and housing committees from various Marin cities.

Review Due Fund Pleas

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — The executive committee of the Association of Bay Area Governments is scheduled Thursday to review applications for federal funds by several Marin County agencies.

The Ross Valley Sanitary District seeks endorsement of a $407,500 application toward construction of a new pumping station in Kentfield and of a main to carry sewage from the plant. Total cost of the project is $1,625,000.

In the other application, the County of Marin and the cities of Larkspur, Mill Valley and San Anselmo are jointly seeking approval of an application at an unspecified sum for street improvement projects.

The committee meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. in the Hotel Claremont.

Status Of Housing Plan On Agenda

The status of a 624-unit housing development proposed for land above the Koch luggage plant in Corte Madera will be reviewed by the Mill Valley School District board at an adjourned meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Park School.

The district has sought to delay the project before the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission and the Corte Madera Planning Commission until trustees are given details.

The district contends it is unable to handle the unexpected influx of children from the project.

Also on the agenda is a report from the development advisory committee and appointment of an auditor for the district.

BLAZE EATS AWAY TIMBER

Termed the worst fire in the history of the Lake Superior National Forest in northeastern Minnesota, the blaze continued to rage out of control yesterday. Firefighters from Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin and Missouri have been aiding in backfiring the blaze which has already consumed an estimated 15,000 acres of timberland.

Fresno Set In Model Urban Plan

FRESNO (UPI) — Assistant Secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, Floyd Hyde, says he plans to develop a national urban strategy using Fresno as a model.

Hyde, a former Fresno mayor, discussed his plans following a weekend visit here..

"I've visited almost every major city in the country," Hyde said, "and one really begins to see how massive our problems are and how little is being done.

"If people could begin to see the problems, we could solve them with the same kind of commitment we made to get our Apollo moon shot going."

The HUD official said development projects in a number of cities have resulted in expensive renewal projects which forced slum tenants to move into other already overcrowded slum areas.

"It's fair to say Fresno certainly has problems and doesn't have all of them solved," Hyde said, "but there is a greater degree of awareness and a greater effort to deal with those problems."

In many cases a city picks "the quick and easy way" to solve its problems and this, said Hyde, "can often be its (the city's) demise."

"I really had two reasons for making the tour," Hyde said.

"First, I wanted to see what suggestions I could make to help get things moving overall. We've sort of reached a hiatus here.

"But more broadly than that, now that I have all these programs—model cities, water and sewer grants, rehabilitation loans, neighborhood facilities and open space —I want to find a way to develop all those pieces in an overall community strategy.

"I can think of no better way of developing that strategy than to take a real live case," he said. "The thought occurred to me, why not take the community I am most familiar with and try to develop the strategy."

On another matter, Hyde said HUD has started an audit of the Fresno West Development Co., which has come under fire since it gave Los Angeles businessman Michael Modell a $200,000 grant to develop a furniture factory in West Fresno.

Hyde said he questioned the value of such an audit because the amount expended in programs such as model cities is minimal when compared with defense projects.

Susie Q Is Crown Princess Of Calaveras Frog Jubilee

ANGELS CAMP, Calif. (UPI) — A leggy lass named Susie Q is the crown princess of frogdom.

Susie Q, raised on a diet of flies, hamburger and bread crumbs, leaped a whopping 17 feet 9 3-4 inches to capture the Kentucky Derby of the frog set Sunday.

The leap at the annual Calaveras County Jumping Frog Jubilee fattened with $300 the wallet of her owner, Bill Moniz, a Gustine, Calif., dairy engineer.

The contest, which drew 2,000 entries from around the world, was made famous by Mark Twain in his short story "The Celebrated Jumping Frog of Calaveras County."

Thousands of spectators jammed this tiny mother lode hamlet to view the croakers' battle for stardom.

Moniz, 61, brought 10 jumpers and he told newsmen he raises frogs as a hobby. He said he houses them in a deluxe frog hotel—complete with running water and private rooms. He feeds them flies, hamburger and bread crumbs.

Squirt, another Californian from Lafayette, took second place with a jump of 17 feet. He was entered by Leonard Hall and Bill Proctor, whose frog Ripple holds the world record of 19 feet 3 1-3 inches.

Another Moniz entry, Avoset Kid, was third with a jump of 16 feet 2 1-4 inches.

Boswell, entered by Guy Ross of Lafayette, was fourth with a 15-foot effort. Christmas Rush flew 14 feet 6 3-4 inches for fifth. He, too, hails from Lafayette. His owner is Tom Beatty.

The foreign competition was won by the Mystery Frog, entered by Jesus Aguirre of Chihuahua, Mexico. The vault was 8 feet 11 inches.

Second went to Kangarooster, one of 20 entries from Australia. His sponsor was Bruce Unwin of Rockhampton, Queensland. The jump was 8 feet 5 inches. A Spanish entry, Julion Pingarron's Balboa Broadjumper, was third at 8 feet 4 inches.

The huge field was cut down in a series of elimination events which started Friday.

Open House Is Set At Terminal

OAKLAND (BW) — Free public bay boat tours along the Oakland waterfront will highlight open house ceremonies Saturday and Sunday at the Port of Oakland.

The two-day event is being held in connection with completion of the port's new Seventh Street Terminal, largest containerized shipping complex in the west.

The tours will be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. both days and will originate at the terminal.

Driver Released After Treatment

Elaine McQueen, 42, of Woodacre, was released yesterday after treatment at Marin General Hospital for injuries received when her car hit a tree on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Ross.

Officials said she was admitted at 11:30 p.m. Saturday for a cut right arm and knee and cut left leg. According to Ross police, Mrs. McQueen was driving north on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, between Lagunitas Road and Ross Hospital, when the car went off the road, knocked down two street signs and hit a tree.

Warning On School Conditions

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan and the Legislature have been warned that the wrath of the voters would be turned on them if they do not act to improve schools in California.

The warning was voiced repeatedly Saturday as about 1,500 teachers, parents and labor union members marched to the state capitol demanding more state funds for schools. The crowd was far less than the 10,000 to 25,000 march organizers had predicted.

At a rally on the capitol west steps, Earl Sulloway, chief business representative for the State Employes Union, asked the demonstrators to "throw the governor's contempt back at his face. Let him know we've got votes and we're going to use them."

Raoul Teilhet, president of the California Federation of Teachers, criticized legislators, declaring that "some Senators and Assemblymen will find out how it feels to be unemployed" if they do not vote for more school funds. He said 15,000 teachers now are out of work in California.

Senate Democratic floor leader George Moscone of San Francisco said the Reagan Administration has "no public commitment to education." He told the marchers it was up to people like them "to create such a furor within our system that the governor finds it political suicide to sit idly by."

Agreement On Nurses Contract

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The California Nurses Association reached agreement Sunday with 43 Northern California hospitals on a three-year labor contract providing higher wages for its members.

The pact grants monthly salary increases of from $55 to $65 in the first year, plus $65 more a month in each of the second and third years.

Retroactive to Jan. 1, it covers 4,000 registered nurses at the Kaiser-Permanente and Associated Hospitals of San Francisco and the East Bay and the Affiliated Hospital of San Francisco.

41 Arrests In 'Park' Violence

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)— Mayor Warren Widener, criticized for being out of town during the second anniversary "People's Park" violence, defended his absence today saying the community's sentiment had been to "cool it."

And, the city's new mayor said, "I don't think I could have helped" stop the trouble by being in the streets.

City Mgr. William C. Hanley charged Sunday, "it is the responsibility of the mayor to be here so he can participate in decision-making and just to see if things are being handled correctly."

Hanley said the renewed violence showed that Widener, a liberal and the city's first black mayor, and the three new radical members of the city council have "no more control over the street people" than the previous administration.

The trouble erupted Saturday during a rally to mark the May 15, 1969, riot over the disputed land three blocks from the University of California campus. In the latest trouble, police fired tear gas and putty-like crowd control pellets in a five-hour, hit-run battle with 500 demonstrators. The violence spread from the park to nearby Telegraph Avenue, where store windows were broken and police were bombarded with rocks and bottles.

The 1969 riot was quelled by the California National Guard. Some 2,000 persons were involved in the battle with police and Guardsmen. One young man died from a shotgun blast fired by an Alameda County sheriff's deputy. Scores were jailed.

The anniversary violence resulted in the arrest of 41 persons, including Tom Hayden, one of the Chicago Seven defendants and founder of the Students for a Democratic Society. He was charged with participating in a riot.

At least seven policemen were injured, none seriously, and several patrol cruisers were damaged.

"I don't know what he (Handley) would have expected me to do," Widener said. "My philosophy is to act ahead of the problem." He added he would work to get the park open for immediate use as a recreation area.

Widener and radical councilman Ira Simmons had left the city Friday to attend a meeting of elected black officials at Carmel, Calif.

Widener said he had felt secure about leaving the city because "the general tone had been to 'cool it'."

The 32-year-old attorney, elected earlier this year with the radical councilmen, also said he had been heartened by an appeal in the Daily Californian, the UC student newspaper, which called for a peaceful demonstration on the anniversary.

Cab Fare Hike To Be Studied

The San Rafael City Council will consider a fare increase request, representing about a 20 per cent hike, by the Yellow Cab Co. at 8 p.m. today at city hall.

The request would raise the cost to 70 cents for the first one-eighth mile and 10 cents for each additional one-sixth mile. Currently, the company charges 70 cents for the first two-fifths mile and 10 cents for each additional one-fifth mile.

Other items on the agenda include adoption of a water and waterways ordinance and a report on the status of the city sanitary district's sewer project.

Floor Gives Way; 14 Guests Die

SALLEN, France (UPI)— Eugene Fabien and Francoise Davenet decided to hold their wedding party here when the hall at their own village was ruled unsafe for the public.

Francoise, 19, in her white wedding gown, was helping usher some of her 70 guests toward the dining table for the big dinner when there was a loud crack.

The floor collapsed and about 30 guests vanished into the jagged hole. Some were lucky and hit the ground four feet below, suffering only minor bruises.

But about 20 boys and girls and a few adults plunged straight into a narrow uncovered well, 21 feet deep under the floor.

The water was only a few feet high. But so many people fell in, crushing each other and forcing the water to rise, that 13 persons drowned on the spot. Another died en route to a hospital.

It happened Saturday night, 130 miles west of Paris in the Normandy country near the English Channel.

Fabien, a 21-year-old farmer's son, said the mayor of Sallen, Rene Auvray, agreed to give them the hall when the village assembly room at their home village in nearby Cormolain was closed to the public for safety reasons.

It will be about seven more years before the interstate highway system is completed from coast to coast.

Delta 88's new "G-Ride" speaks quietly, smoothly, most persuasively.

The Quiet Men—your Bay Area Olds Dealers—believe a Delta 88 is its own best salesman.

So they invite you to come in and take a "Quiet Ride"—a test drive in a Delta 88 with "G-Ride". They'll let the car do all the talking.

Trustees May Name Committee On Goals

Fairfax School District trustees are expected to approve a ommittee to study district eduation goals when they meet at :45 p.m. tomorrow at the disrict office, 58 Park Road.

Supt. H. Reginald Hammond, instructed Wednesday by trustees to recommend a committee of at least five teachers, said he will give the board eight names for approval.

More than 300 parents attended last week's meeting, he said, many in favor of recommendations made May 4 by parents calling for an "alternative school," and many opposed.

The implementation committee —its official name — will study recommendations made by parents and goals recommended by teachers in March after 18 months of study.

Groups of parents for and against the alternative school have indicated they want ungraded classes for primary students, use of student tutors, environmental study and increased use of community resource people. They are split on the need for an alternative school, the opposition claiming Fairfax is too small to support a separate school.

Frozen Food Thaw

BRUSSELS (UPI) —Belgians finally are beginning to accept frozen foods as part of their eating habits, says the Belgian Business Review. But Belgium still remains a long way behind the United States in frozen food consumption, with each Belgian eating 4.4 pounds of frozen food a year, compared to 55 pounds per capita in the United States.

Only A 28-Man Force For BART

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Bay Area Rapid Transit District will have only a 28-man police force when it begins operations, but the security chief says he is not particularly worried.

The chief, Ralph M. Lindsay, noted Sunday that there will be very little to rob in BART stations, not even change booths. Instead there will be automatic change makers, which will be made hard to break into, he added.

Police departments along the 75-mile rail route also have promised cooperation.

Belvedere Lot Split On List

John L. Williams's fight with the city of Belvedere may end tonight when the city planning commission considers a lot split for property on the tip of Belvedere Island.

The squabble began last November when the city discovered Williams had subdivided one of two lots he owned on Belvedere Avenue, selling one of the two new lots to a neighbor, Paul V. Ammen, and the other new lot and the old one to Hamilton Vose. All this was done without planning commission or city council approval.

Complicating the situation is the fact that one of the two parcels Williams sold to Vose is illegal because it does not meet city requirements for street frontage and lot width.

Williams subsequently sought a lot split to make his action legal, but was turned down by the commission. Since the lot he sold to Ammen was too small — 12,170 square feet — to meet the city's square footage requirements, it could not stand on its own. Neither could it be added to other property owned by Ammen, as Ammen only leased his land.

The matter was referred to the city council, as are all lot splits, and the council in March upheld the commission and denied the split.

After more than a month of working out details, Williams has returned to the commission and proposed two things:

First, that the sale of the small parcel to Ammen be approved subject to the condition that the lot not be built upon. This satisfies Ammen, as he originally purchased the parcel for a greenbelt and access to San Francisco Bay and never intended to develop it;

Second, that the commission approve a lot line adjustment in Vose's two parcels to make both conform to frontage and width requirements.

The commission is expected to concur and grant both requests when it meets at 8 p.m. at city hall. Final approval must come from the city council.

Hearing Tonight On Utility Plan

Fairfax City Council will hold a public hearing at 8 p.m. today on possible creation of an underground utility district along Broadway from Pacheco Avenue to Merwin Avenue.

Cost estimates on creating the city's second underground district are not available yet, according to Eileen L. Foster, city clerk.

The council also will review a request from Fairfax Garbage Disposal Co. for a 25-cent rate hike per customer. The company now receives $2.75 monthly from residents in hill areas and $2.25 from customers in flat areas of the city.

Other items on the agenda include a recommendation from Robert E. Crowe, city administrator, to make city hall alterations at an anticipated cost of $35,000.

Two Men Slain; Narcotics Link

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Police said Sunday that two victims of execution-like slayings were drifters with long records, mostly for narcotics offenses.

The men who were shot and killed Saturday in Merced Heights were William Powell, 35, and Stallard Pitts, Jr., 47.

Inspector David Toschi said that possibly the killings may have been connected with narcotics.

There has been no arrest.

Three Novato Men Charged In Thefts

Three Novato men have been charged in Marin Municipal Court with two counts of burglary apiece.

George Tipton Bonomolo, 21, of 1249 Leafwood Drive, and Patrick Wilton Gingher, 23, of 1005 Greenwood Drive, pleaded innocent to the charges Friday.

Dennis John Hachmyer, 23, of 1426 Dawes Street, was arraigned Friday and was to enter a plea to the charges today.

The trio is accused of burglarizing residences at 130 Daryl Avenue and 2587 Center Road, Novato, last Thursday.

They were arrested by Marin County sheriff's deputies after Novato police stopped their car at Center Road and Stasia Drive, police said, following a report of the Daryl Avenue burglary.

Bonomolo and Gingher, arrested April 25 on misdemeanor charges of resisting arrest and tampering with a vehicle, pleaded innocent to those charges May 4.

Bonomolo was convicted last year for selling marijuana and sentenced to 90 days in jail and placed on probation for three years. He was also sentenced to a concurrent term for threatening a witness in the marijuana case.

Meeting Postponed

A meeting of the San Anselmo City Council with the Sleepy Hollow Fire District board, to discuss the district's budget, has been postponed from tomorrow night until June 15, City Clerk Anita M. Gannon of San Anselmo announced today.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Dilatation Of Veins May Cause Infertility—Surgery Suggested

Mrs. D. T. writes: "We were married six years ago and I have never conceived. Several specialists have examined both of us thoroughly and find no reason for our infertility. My husband has a varicocele and one physician we consulted suggested it be corrected, in that it may be responsible for our problem. What is your opinion?"

THE OPERATION is worth a try. The procedure is neither major nor difficult and there is a 40 per cent chance that conception will occur within 4 to 8 months of the operation. I assume that all available fertility tests have been done, including microscopic studies of the semen. This is mentioned because there are many other causes for infertility in men.

THE VARICOCELE is a dilatation of the scrotal veins. It is usually located on the left side and feels like distended lobelike cords of veins. The condition is described as varicose veins within the scrotum. Why varicocete depresses fertility in some men defies explanation. After all, 10 per cent of the male population have these dilated veins and the vast majority never are bothered.

MANY NEUROTICS and hypochondriacs exaggerate the local significance of these wormlike veins. They complain of a dragging sensation in this area and when reassurance does not help, the physician may recommend a suspensory.

ON THE OTHER hand, in a recent issue of Modern Medicine, it was reported that 10 to 15 per cent of infertile men have a varicocele. Many also have semen of poor quality. After surgical correction of the defect there is improvement mainly in sperm viability in 50 per cent. As a rule, the number of sperm is not increased but those present are more active and likely to result in conception.

Surgery of this type may be done under a local anesthetic. The veins are ligated and some may be removed, depending upon the size of the varicocele.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

NO STAMINA

D. N. writes: If a person with little stamina because of low blood pressure marries a person similarly afflicted, would their children inherit these characteristics?

REPLY

Probably not because, with parents such as these, the children may be forced to hustle to survive. Low blood pressure is not responsible for lack of pep and ambition. Whatever is producing the lows in pressure, strength, and ambition probably is inherited.

NERVOUS AMONG PEOPLE

Miss I. T. writes: My problem is making me a nervous wreck. I am so self-conscious when I'm among people, my blood pressure goes up and this takes all the joy out of living.

REPLY

You have heard the expression, "I am what I am what I am." Some persons have a highly sensitive nervous system that is just as much a part of them as the size of the nose. Accept the limitation but try to practice self-control.

CROSS-EYE

Mrs. T. F. writes: What treatment do you recommend for a 1 year old with cross-eye?

REPLY

Begin by having the tot examined by an eye specialist because cross-eye in young children often can be cured without surgery. Conservative measures include covering the good eye with a patch to force the lazy eye to work. Other methods may be used as the child becomes more cooperative.

High Court Upholds Hit-And-Run Laws

WASHINGTON (UPI) —By a narrow, 5-4 vote, the Supreme Court refused today to strike down state hit-and-run laws that require a driver in an accident to stop and give his name and address.

The vote overturned a California supreme court ruling against a state law that is typical of those across the country. The state court held that the requirement violated the constitutional safeguard against self-incrimination if the information was used for criminal prosecution.

In other actions, the Court:

—Refused again to hear an appeal by imprisoned teamster boss James R. Hoffa who is seeking release from federal prison at Lewisburg, Pa. The action rebuffed his claim that federal wiretapping activity involving two Las Vegas gambling casinos and special FM frequencies in Detroit obtained the government's conviction of him on jury tampering charges.

—In a 5-4 turnabout, refused to rule on a Charleston, W. Va., case in which residents of a ghetto area claimed construction of a federal highway was illegally displacing them from their homes.

—Let stand a lower court ruling from Chicago that upheld the right of newspapers to refuse advertisements they deem unacceptable.

—Agreed to decide next term whether a law forbidding imports of obscene materials may be applied if the material is solely for private use.

The California law which was challenged in today's case is in force in all 50 states.

The judgment stemmed from charges against Jonathan Todd Byers in Mendocino County, Calif., on Aug. 22, 1966. Because of his failure to pass properly, he was charged with unsafe driving and failure to stop at the scene of an accident.

Four members of the Court — Justices Hugo L. Black, William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan Jr. and Thurgood Marshall —held that Byers properly raised the constitutional claim of self-incrimination.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, joined by three colleagues, countered that "there is no constitutional right to refuse to file an income tax or to flee the scene of an accident in order to avoid the possibility of legal involvement."

Justice John M. Harlan then cast the decisive vote against Byers for different reasons than those in the Burger opinion.

This decision was vacated today by the Supreme Court and the state may presumably go ahead and try Byers on both charges.

BLAZE EATS AWAY TIMBER

Termed the worst fire in the history of the Lake Superior National Forest in northeastern Minnesota, the blaze continued to rage out of control yesterday. Firefighters from Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin and Missouri have been aiding in backfiring the blaze which has already consumed an estimated 15,000 acres of timberland.

Fresno Set In Model Urban Plan

FRESNO (UPI) — Assistant Secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, Floyd Hyde, says he plans to develop a national urban strategy using Fresno as a model.

Hyde, a former Fresno mayor, discussed his plans following a weekend visit here..

"I've visited almost every major city in the country," Hyde said, "and one really begins to see how massive our problems are and how little is being done.

"If people could begin to see the problems, we could solve them with the same kind of commitment we made to get our Apollo moon shot going."

The HUD official said development projects in a number of cities have resulted in expensive renewal projects which forced slum tenants to move into other already overcrowded slum areas.

"It's fair to say Fresno certainly has problems and doesn't have all of them solved," Hyde said, "but there is a greater degree of awareness and a greater effort to deal with those problems."

In many cases a city picks "the quick and easy way" to solve its problems and this, said Hyde, "can often be its (the city's) demise."

"I really had two reasons for making the tour," Hyde said.

"First, I wanted to see what suggestions I could make to help get things moving overall. We've sort of reached a hiatus here.

"But more broadly than that, now that I have all these programs—model cities, water and sewer grants, rehabilitation loans, neighborhood facilities and open space —I want to find a way to develop all those pieces in an overall community strategy.

"I can think of no better way of developing that strategy than to take a real live case," he said. "The thought occurred to me, why not take the community I am most familiar with and try to develop the strategy."

On another matter, Hyde said HUD has started an audit of the Fresno West Development Co., which has come under fire since it gave Los Angeles businessman Michael Modell a $200,000 grant to develop a furniture factory in West Fresno.

Hyde said he questioned the value of such an audit because the amount expended in programs such as model cities is minimal when compared with defense projects.

Susie Q Is Crown Princess Of Calaveras Frog Jubilee

ANGELS CAMP, Calif. (UPI) — A leggy lass named Susie Q is the crown princess of frogdom.

Susie Q, raised on a diet of flies, hamburger and bread crumbs, leaped a whopping 17 feet 9 3-4 inches to capture the Kentucky Derby of the frog set Sunday.

The leap at the annual Calaveras County Jumping Frog Jubilee fattened with $300 the wallet of her owner, Bill Moniz, a Gustine, Calif., dairy engineer.

The contest, which drew 2,000 entries from around the world, was made famous by Mark Twain in his short story "The Celebrated Jumping Frog of Calaveras County."

Thousands of spectators jammed this tiny mother lode hamlet to view the croakers' battle for stardom.

Moniz, 61, brought 10 jumpers and he told newsmen he raises frogs as a hobby. He said he houses them in a deluxe frog hotel—complete with running water and private rooms. He feeds them flies, hamburger and bread crumbs.

Squirt, another Californian from Lafayette, took second place with a jump of 17 feet. He was entered by Leonard Hall and Bill Proctor, whose frog Ripple holds the world record of 19 feet 3 1-3 inches.

Another Moniz entry, Avoset Kid, was third with a jump of 16 feet 2 1-4 inches.

Boswell, entered by Guy Ross of Lafayette, was fourth with a 15-foot effort. Christmas Rush flew 14 feet 6 3-4 inches for fifth. He, too, hails from Lafayette. His owner is Tom Beatty.

The foreign competition was won by the Mystery Frog, entered by Jesus Aguirre of Chihuahua, Mexico. The vault was 8 feet 11 inches.

Second went to Kangarooster, one of 20 entries from Australia. His sponsor was Bruce Unwin of Rockhampton, Queensland. The jump was 8 feet 5 inches. A Spanish entry, Julion Pingarron's Balboa Broadjumper, was third at 8 feet 4 inches.

The huge field was cut down in a series of elimination events which started Friday.

Open House Is Set At Terminal

OAKLAND (BW) — Free public bay boat tours along the Oakland waterfront will highlight open house ceremonies Saturday and Sunday at the Port of Oakland.

The two-day event is being held in connection with completion of the port's new Seventh Street Terminal, largest containerized shipping complex in the west.

The tours will be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. both days and will originate at the terminal.

Driver Released After Treatment

Elaine McQueen, 42, of Woodacre, was released yesterday after treatment at Marin General Hospital for injuries received when her car hit a tree on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Ross.

Officials said she was admitted at 11:30 p.m. Saturday for a cut right arm and knee and cut left leg. According to Ross police, Mrs. McQueen was driving north on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, between Lagunitas Road and Ross Hospital, when the car went off the road, knocked down two street signs and hit a tree.

Warning On School Conditions

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan and the Legislature have been warned that the wrath of the voters would be turned on them if they do not act to improve schools in California.

The warning was voiced repeatedly Saturday as about 1,500 teachers, parents and labor union members marched to the state capitol demanding more state funds for schools. The crowd was far less than the 10,000 to 25,000 march organizers had predicted.

At a rally on the capitol west steps, Earl Sulloway, chief business representative for the State Employes Union, asked the demonstrators to "throw the governor's contempt back at his face. Let him know we've got votes and we're going to use them."

Raoul Teilhet, president of the California Federation of Teachers, criticized legislators, declaring that "some Senators and Assemblymen will find out how it feels to be unemployed" if they do not vote for more school funds. He said 15,000 teachers now are out of work in California.

Senate Democratic floor leader George Moscone of San Francisco said the Reagan Administration has "no public commitment to education." He told the marchers it was up to people like them "to create such a furor within our system that the governor finds it political suicide to sit idly by."

Agreement On Nurses Contract

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The California Nurses Association reached agreement Sunday with 43 Northern California hospitals on a three-year labor contract providing higher wages for its members.

The pact grants monthly salary increases of from $55 to $65 in the first year, plus $65 more a month in each of the second and third years.

Retroactive to Jan. 1, it covers 4,000 registered nurses at the Kaiser-Permanente and Associated Hospitals of San Francisco and the East Bay and the Affiliated Hospital of San Francisco.

41 Arrests In 'Park' Violence

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)— Mayor Warren Widener, criticized for being out of town during the second anniversary "People's Park" violence, defended his absence today saying the community's sentiment had been to "cool it."

And, the city's new mayor said, "I don't think I could have helped" stop the trouble by being in the streets.

City Mgr. William C. Hanley charged Sunday, "it is the responsibility of the mayor to be here so he can participate in decision-making and just to see if things are being handled correctly."

Hanley said the renewed violence showed that Widener, a liberal and the city's first black mayor, and the three new radical members of the city council have "no more control over the street people" than the previous administration.

The trouble erupted Saturday during a rally to mark the May 15, 1969, riot over the disputed land three blocks from the University of California campus. In the latest trouble, police fired tear gas and putty-like crowd control pellets in a five-hour, hit-run battle with 500 demonstrators. The violence spread from the park to nearby Telegraph Avenue, where store windows were broken and police were bombarded with rocks and bottles.

The 1969 riot was quelled by the California National Guard. Some 2,000 persons were involved in the battle with police and Guardsmen. One young man died from a shotgun blast fired by an Alameda County sheriff's deputy. Scores were jailed.

The anniversary violence resulted in the arrest of 41 persons, including Tom Hayden, one of the Chicago Seven defendants and founder of the Students for a Democratic Society. He was charged with participating in a riot.

At least seven policemen were injured, none seriously, and several patrol cruisers were damaged.

"I don't know what he (Handley) would have expected me to do," Widener said. "My philosophy is to act ahead of the problem." He added he would work to get the park open for immediate use as a recreation area.

Widener and radical councilman Ira Simmons had left the city Friday to attend a meeting of elected black officials at Carmel, Calif.

Widener said he had felt secure about leaving the city because "the general tone had been to 'cool it'."

The 32-year-old attorney, elected earlier this year with the radical councilmen, also said he had been heartened by an appeal in the Daily Californian, the UC student newspaper, which called for a peaceful demonstration on the anniversary.

Cab Fare Hike To Be Studied

The San Rafael City Council will consider a fare increase request, representing about a 20 per cent hike, by the Yellow Cab Co. at 8 p.m. today at city hall.

The request would raise the cost to 70 cents for the first one-eighth mile and 10 cents for each additional one-sixth mile. Currently, the company charges 70 cents for the first two-fifths mile and 10 cents for each additional one-fifth mile.

Other items on the agenda include adoption of a water and waterways ordinance and a report on the status of the city sanitary district's sewer project.

Floor Gives Way; 14 Guests Die

SALLEN, France (UPI)— Eugene Fabien and Francoise Davenet decided to hold their wedding party here when the hall at their own village was ruled unsafe for the public.

Francoise, 19, in her white wedding gown, was helping usher some of her 70 guests toward the dining table for the big dinner when there was a loud crack.

The floor collapsed and about 30 guests vanished into the jagged hole. Some were lucky and hit the ground four feet below, suffering only minor bruises.

But about 20 boys and girls and a few adults plunged straight into a narrow uncovered well, 21 feet deep under the floor.

The water was only a few feet high. But so many people fell in, crushing each other and forcing the water to rise, that 13 persons drowned on the spot. Another died en route to a hospital.

It happened Saturday night, 130 miles west of Paris in the Normandy country near the English Channel.

Fabien, a 21-year-old farmer's son, said the mayor of Sallen, Rene Auvray, agreed to give them the hall when the village assembly room at their home village in nearby Cormolain was closed to the public for safety reasons.

It will be about seven more years before the interstate highway system is completed from coast to coast.

Europe Abandoning The Baloney Dollar

"Floating" of some western European currencies — which means allowing them to reach their own levels in foreign exchange without regard for the value of the U.S. dollar — has provoked both alarm and much misunderstanding.

The most lucid explanation of the situation we have seen was in the "Notebook" of John S. Knight, chairman of the editorial board of the 11 Knight Newspapers. We quote from it:

"UNTIL RECENT YEARS, foreign countries knew they could exchange their dollars for American gold at the official price of $35 an ounce. But U.S. balance of payments deficits grew at such a rate that the dollar supply exceeded our gold reserves.

"Although never acknowledged officially, the dollar became inconvertible. Given a choice between crowding the U.S. Treasury's gold window or being stuck with U.S. dollars, the European banking and financial community elected to carry us on the cuff rather than risking a collapse of the whole monetary system.

"Thus, a two-tier gold system was established to keep hoarders and speculators from depleting official stocks. The International Monetary Fund created 'special drawing rights' designed to cook the pressures on the dollar in financing foreign trade.

"IN RETURN the United States has repeatedly given assurances that this country would follow sound fiscal policies to curb inflation which destroys the dollar's purchasing power.

"Since such promises have larely been but hollow statements of intent, the European financial community has developed a bad case of jitters. The Europeans know they can't get the gold . . .

"How did we get into this mess? A short but realistic answer is that the United States has for too long dissipated its resources in war, excessive 'grants' or loans to other nations, and profligate spending at home.

"We simply spend more than we take in. As every housewife knows — but not the government — this is a sure way to go broke."

IN OTHER WORDS, deflation of the dollar abroad reflects its deflation — through inflation of prices — at home. And this occurs largely because U.S. currency is "backed," not by reserves of gold and silver, but by the government's promise to pay — a promise that means less each year as the national debt keeps going up.

As the government continues to spend more than it receives, its promises to pay, in the form of currency (and phony metal coins), become of less and less value. And so the loaf of bread that used to cost a quarter is now 50 cents. And since there is no guarantee from day to day how much bread the buck will buy at home, European governments have grown tired of guarenteeing how much of their "bread" it will buy abroad.

Knight suggests the crisis will pass. No doubt it will. But we may have seen the end of the United States dollar as a standard for currency abroad. After all, it has long been, as Alfred E. Smith called it 'way back in 1933, a "baloney dollar." And we keep slicing it thinner and thinner.

GOP Sees Bogeyman In Marin Alternative

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Marin Republicans are so used to having the only real live political organization in the county that they are almost paranoic about the appearance of a new group, the Marin Alternative.

The new group is made up of frustrated partisans of former Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy and of peace campaigners, so perhaps it was no surprise that the local GOP was quick to attribute all sorts of terrible powers to it.

One spokesman for the GOP central committee darkly hinted at the Alternative's role in the April school elections. He asserted that the group had backed candidates in every contest "with real money."

He estimated that the new group had invested $10,000 to $12,000 in its favored candidates, a figure that surprised us.

THE ESTIMATE did not surprise Barbara Boxer of the Marin Alternative. Rather, it sent her into gales of laughter.

She said the group's back account at one point actually reached $800, but that it was down to about $400. So much for the massive funds poured into school elections.

She also said that the group's policy was to endorse only countywide candidates, so its only endorsements had been of three candidates for the Marin Junior College District board.

The GOP central committee apparently also was confused about party preferences of new voters between 18 and 21. It said that at least 80 per cent of the young voters registering in Marin had declined to state a party preference.

The GOP should be so lucky.

The county elections office records showed a somewhat different conclusion. Almost all of the new voters registered a party preference, and did so by more than 10-1 for the Democratic Party.

IT'S OFTEN TOUGH for a reporter to convey the importance of a dull news story to the reader.

We were reminded of this tough old nut at a recent meeting of the Metropolitan Transportation Commission. A planner was droning on with an explanation of why previous transportation planning had failed to qualify the Bay Area for two-thirds federal grants on transit projects.

Millions of dollars were at stake, but everyone was being talked into a stupor.

The whole performance inspired a fellow reporter to blurt, "Boy, people think newspapers are dull!"

HOW OFTEN WOULD we see our congressmen if they had four-year terms, as suggested by some who are searching for ways to improve their performance?

Congressmen quickly become part of the most insulated society on earth, the movers and shakers and hangers-on of Washington. Coming home every other year for re-election at least reminds them of their modest beginnings.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Excellent Report On Tamalpais Drive

With reference to your reporter's article appearing in the May 5 edition dealing with the Town of Corte Madera's transformation of Tamalpais Drive, while I personally feel that the article failed to emphasize what, for me, was the most important aspect of the meeting, the provision for bicycle use along the northerly side of the street, I must compliment your reporter (who went nameless in the article) for his accurate and in depth coverage of the meeting. I personally disagree with your policy of not showing a by-line in reports of public meetings.

DAVID I. FREED

(The Independent-Journal has no policy against use of the reporter's by-line on a meeting report, but usually reserves the by-line for stories representing considerable research or initiative, exceptional writing, or of a feature nature. The report of the meeting on improvement of Tamalpais Drive was by M. Street Brooks. — Editor.)

Hawaii Example Of Cleanliness

I just returned from a vacation of two weeks in the Hawaiian Islands. I can't help but comment on the cleanliness of the three islands I visited.

There was practically no litter on the streets or highways, and as this was the tail end of the winter season, the sudden rains, two, three or four times a day, kept the streets washed clean. And there are no billboards on the hiways.

Even the yards, from the low cost and even the very old homes, as well as the costly homes, were absolutely spotless. As soon as a leaf fell, people would pick them up. I saw many people of different status in life, with bamboo rakes cleaning up the leaves and any litter in view.

In 1956 a powerful woman's organization was able to get some bills passed to clean up the islands. Now they are very conscious of the tourist trade, and wish their islands to present a pleasant picture months old put some paper in a trash can at the beach, without being told to do so.

I do wish Marin County in particular and the State of California as a whole could present a picture like this to people coming into our state.

Story Puts Welfare In True Perspective

The beautiful tribute to Betty Presley in the May 3 I'J was great. The I-J is to be specially commended for publishing this warm, human story which places in true perspective the "welfare problem," one of our most serious problems in Marin.

Suddenly reading your factual account of Miss Presley's life and career in Marin it really did become "my" problem and my next door neighbor's problem, not something I can dismiss and turn over to the board of supervisors, the state, or the federal government to solve. You have clearly demonstrated, too, that it is possible to state problems, simply and factually, even problems of great complexity, without relying on myth, emotion and distortion.

I would hope that all citizens of Marin, rich and poor, old and young, could now, in the spirit of your article, start thinking and talking about what we can do together about welfare in Marin. This is especially important at this time of year when all of us are nervously awaiting the county budget hearings. This is the time most of us forget that we share in the life of a total community that has many parts and components. We begin to talk in terms of "we and they" and our own special pet projects, failing to remember that if we've not lived here long enough to have played sandlot-ball and fly kites together, our kids are doing so at this very moment.

Circus Big Boost To Local Charities

Mr. Walter Zurcher, as a representative voice of the business men of downtown San Rafael, has certainly done his utmost to squelch what has heretofore been a tremendous financial boost to a goodly group of local charitable organizations.

For three years the Association of Deputy Sheriffs has worked voluntarily on their off-duty hours to help provide a benefit circus for the wholesome enjoyment of Marin County citizens and their families.

In three years, a total of over $25,000 of the proceeds has been divided among 18 local groups. I personally have been in the audience during a presentation of the donations to the representatives of the recipient groups. Believe me, it is a moving experience to see the pride and pleasure of the deputies in the giving — and the tears of happiness of those who receive . . .

Does "the voice" speak for ALL the merchants of San Rafael? And what is with Mr. Zurcher, he maybe doesn't like a circus or "cotton candy"?

I simply can't believe that our society is so sick that it must attack a fine group of men and women who are doing a fine job towards the good and make it suspect!

Refusal Of Permit Denial Of Liberty

Congratulations to the Independent (Dependant?) Journal! You did it again. You got the award for being the paper that could most successfully distort the facts. As usual you wrote the story just the way you were supposed to. As always you ridiculed the poor bastards that had the audacity to question the integrity of our city officials. What nerve!

Of course it is totally unimportant that our permit was arbitrarily revoked, without the inspection we were entitled to according to the old ordinance, despite the fact that the city's health inspector saw nothing wrong with the way we kept our corral, and says so in writing. Which brings up the question in my mind. Why is the city paying for a health inspector, if they do not intend to listen to him? . . .

Of course it is also unimportant that my husband was given a 30-day jail sentence, a rather severe sentence, without being allowed to present his case, but with a judge like Peter Allan Smith, there is little wonder, I have been told. Not being able to present your case on a criminal charge is entirely against the Constitution and everything this country is supposed to stand for, but then the Constitution is a dirty word with the establishment these days. However with judges like Peter Allan Smith and your latest addition the "honorable" Judge (David) Menary, our former city attorney, on the bench, just don't be too surprised when your pompous temple of justice gets blown to bits. I, for one, do not intend to hang around when that happens, to pick up the pieces and pay the exhorbitant taxes it will take to rebuild it.

Going back to that infamous horse case again, the city realizing the old ordinance was not really intended for horses . . . prepared a new one, that obviously was intended only for the Wachsmans (the anti-Wachsman ordinance) since it has not yet been applied to any of the other 20 or so horse owners in town . . .

I apologize for my very poor English, but then I was not born in this country of liberty and justice for all, which I hope to be able to leave very soon.

KAREN WACHSMAN
San Rafael.

(The letter refers to a May 4 San Rafael City Council turndown of a permit for Edward K. Wachsman to keep two horses on property at 50 Palm Avenue. Wachsman has been fighting the case since 1968, when the council first refused the permit. The city health inspector who initially found no objection was Dr. Harry Hund, city health officer until that office was abolished by the voters changing the city charter in 1969. Judge Smith in March, 1970, ordered Wachsman to either move the horses or serve 30 days in jail. — Editor.)

Communist Monolith Broken By Demands For Free Choice

WASHINGTON — The Communist monolith was not broken apart only by the rift between Red China and the Soviet Union.

That rift is growing — but there is something more.

In the wake of the 24th Soviet Party Congress there is a widening gulf between Moscow and four leading Communist parties in Eastern and Western Europe.

This could be a more perilous position than the Sino-Soviet breech because it springs largely from ideological disagreement, while the hostility between Peking and Moscow is mainly a conflict of national interests.

The Communist parties whose leaders spoke out in open criticism of the way the Russians practice Communism are the ruling parties of Romania and Yugoslavia and the Italian and French parties — which have the largest popular appeal of any Communist parties in the West. There is little doubt that these dissidents speak the views of numerous African and Asian Communist parties which find it more prudent to remain silent.

AND WHAT ARE THESE dissenting French, Italian, Yugoslav and Romanian Communist leaders going to say in a way that shakes the Communist world?

They are speaking heresy — from the Kremlin's standpoint. They are saying:

That every Communist party everywhere should be independent of outside control.

That the sovereignty of every Communist nation should be respected by every other Communist nation, including the Soviet Union.

That the territorial integrity of every Communist nation should be similarly respected.

That every Communist country and every Communist party must have the right to choose its own "road to socialism" without dictation from Moscow or anywhere else.

That the Russian invasion of Czechoslovakia in 1968 was intolerable.

That the "Brezhnev doctrine" which asserts that the Russians have the duty to intervene against erring Communist regimes — that is, those who differ too much from the Soviet model — is indefensible.

That the Russian refusal to tolerate glittering "roads to socialism" seriously damages and splits the Communist movement.

IT IS ONE THING for competing nationalisms, like those of Russia and China, to be at each other's throats. But that only shows that a Communist world is not necessarily a peaceful world.

It is far more debilitating to communism as a philosophy and a system of government to exhibit such narrowness within its most powerful regime that it will not — if it can prevent it — permit other Communist nations and parties to fashion their own models of national communism.

At the 24th Congress the Romanians and the Yugoslavs were polite and tactful. They had good reason not to want to stir up Moscow's ire by unnecessary words. But they did not withdraw their protest against the Czech invasion.

The Italian Communist Party is even more outspoken. Its leaders hold that basic changes in Russian attitude are essential to avoid further crises as in Czechoslovakia and Poland. They contend that even where reform has begun in Eastern Europe, it is stifled by the Kremlin.

What is the core of the deep and divisive difference between the Italian and French Communists and the Soviet Union? It is this: The Russians do not dare submit communism to popular vote. The Italian and French leaders want to try to wed communism to free elections.

My own view is that freedom of choice is communism's greatest peril.

BY NO MEANS NEUTRAL

Boomlet For Wilbur Mills Unlikely To Grow Much

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — The suggestion of Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., for President is being promoted here by politicians with more or less straight faces. Mills himself is the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee (if that read funny it's because I accidentally omitted the "powerful" that usually goes before the word "chairman"), and he has managed in the past to keep private his ambitions to rise beyond that position. The implication is that there is no office any man in his right mind could prefer to the powerful chairmanship of Ways and Means.

Nevertheless Mills would have liked to become speaker of the House. Sam Rayburn always emphasized that that office was co-equal with the presidency itself. But Carl Albert was first in succession to John McCormack, so that move was checked for Mills. Now he is being traditionally coy about the junior presidential boomlet on his behalf, saying merely: "I'm in the hands of my friends. I'm not a candidate and I think it would be a stretch to say I even have a chance. However, should I be nominated, I'd be as active a candidate as the Democratic Party ever had."

IN THE LANGUAGE of might-be candidates this far ahead of the election, that sounds like a line from a campaign headquarters dedication address. You are not supposed to take such self-effacement seriously. Instead, you might consider whether it really is "a stretch" to say Mills has a chance at nomination — and if so, what effect a drive by him could have on the chances of the other Democrats already out campaigning.

Institutionally, Mills is the prototype man of Congress. The only other office he ever held was as judge (administrator) in White County, Ark. He has been a congressman more than three decades and chairman of the tax-writing committee for 13 years. He is respected there by both parties, and even feared at the other end of the avenue — in the Nixon White House —for his legislative experience, thoroughness and anticipation.

Ideologically, he is a moderate-conservative by congressional standards. Yet he has found ways to bring progressive social legislation into law when a more dogmatic advocate might have failed out of stubbornness. On racial matters, he has voted his district. And back in Searcy, Ark., in the strawberry country of the Little Red River Valley northeast of Little Rock, that means voting "no" on civil rights legislation.

THE LAST TIME a strong man from the congressional hierarchy came out of the South to make a serious effort toward the presidency was 1960. The man was Lyndon Johnson, then majority leader of the Senate, whose can-do reputation, ability to bring feuding factions together and 6-foot-3 style of leadership made him the candidate of the South and a few other Democratic strongholds.

Aside from his physical stature and dominating personality, which may and may not have been assets in the long run, Johnson had two clear advantages in a Democratic convention that Mills does not have: He came from a vote-rich state and he had a record as at least a late-blooming civil rights advocate.

Yet he lost to John Kennedy. He and his sponsors had ignored the fact that nominating conventions are not run by the congressional elders, but by the national party. City bosses and governors have more to do with selecting delegates than senators and representatives do. And the national party, unsaddled by the seniority system, is predictably more liberal than the one that runs Congress. This also is apparently overlooked by those congressmen so far endorsing Mills as a candidate — most of whom are either members of Ways and Means or would like to be.

So the facts of practical politics weigh heavily against the nomination of a 62-year-old Arkansan who has spent his career in the Houseand voted consistently against civil rights bills —especially by a party that depends so much on black voter support.

HOWEVER, THE LOCAL liveliness of the Mills boomlet still could have a useful effect on the Democratic competition by placing someone of stature (i.e., besides Sam Yorty) on the candidates' list to rightward of Sen. Henry Jackson. The fact that Jackson is not a Dove on Vietnam has classified him at the right end of the list despite his solidly liberal record on legislation, including civil rights.

For Mills to move into contention would give Jackson's candidacy a more centrist appeal. It might even help pull the other contenders back toward the realism on which the party has to base any chance of ousting Mr. Nixon next year.

Three Novato Men Charged In Thefts

Three Novato men have been charged in Marin Municipal Court with two counts of burglary apiece.

George Tipton Bonomolo, 21, of 1249 Leafwood Drive, and Patrick Wilton Gingher, 23, of 1005 Greenwood Drive, pleaded innocent to the charges Friday.

Dennis John Hachmyer, 23, of 1426 Dawes Street, was arraigned Friday and was to enter a plea to the charges today.

The trio is accused of burglarizing residences at 130 Daryl Avenue and 2587 Center Road, Novato, last Thursday.

They were arrested by Marin County sheriff's deputies after Novato police stopped their car at Center Road and Stasia Drive, police said, following a report of the Daryl Avenue burglary.

Bonomolo and Gingher, arrested April 25 on misdemeanor charges of resisting arrest and tampering with a vehicle, pleaded innocent to those charges May 4.

Bonomolo was convicted last year for selling marijuana and sentenced to 90 days in jail and placed on probation for three years. He was also sentenced to a concurrent term for threatening a witness in the marijuana case.

Meeting Postponed

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Dilatation Of Veins May Cause Infertility—Surgery Suggested

Mrs. D. T. writes: "We were married six years ago and I have never conceived. Several specialists have examined both of us thoroughly and find no reason for our infertility. My husband has a varicocele and one physician we consulted suggested it be corrected, in that it may be responsible for our problem. What is your opinion?"

THE OPERATION is worth a try. The procedure is neither major nor difficult and there is a 40 per cent chance that conception will occur within 4 to 8 months of the operation. I assume that all available fertility tests have been done, including microscopic studies of the semen. This is mentioned because there are many other causes for infertility in men.

THE VARICOCELE is a dilatation of the scrotal veins. It is usually located on the left side and feels like distended lobelike cords of veins. The condition is described as varicose veins within the scrotum. Why varicocete depresses fertility in some men defies explanation. After all, 10 per cent of the male population have these dilated veins and the vast majority never are bothered.

MANY NEUROTICS and hypochondriacs exaggerate the local significance of these wormlike veins. They complain of a dragging sensation in this area and when reassurance does not help, the physician may recommend a suspensory.

ON THE OTHER hand, in a recent issue of Modern Medicine, it was reported that 10 to 15 per cent of infertile men have a varicocele. Many also have semen of poor quality. After surgical correction of the defect there is improvement mainly in sperm viability in 50 per cent. As a rule, the number of sperm is not increased but those present are more active and likely to result in conception.

Surgery of this type may be done under a local anesthetic. The veins are ligated and some may be removed, depending upon the size of the varicocele.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

NO STAMINA

D. N. writes: If a person with little stamina because of low blood pressure marries a person similarly afflicted, would their children inherit these characteristics?

REPLY

Probably not because, with parents such as these, the children may be forced to hustle to survive. Low blood pressure is not responsible for lack of pep and ambition. Whatever is producing the lows in pressure, strength, and ambition probably is inherited.

NERVOUS AMONG PEOPLE

Miss I. T. writes: My problem is making me a nervous wreck. I am so self-conscious when I'm among people, my blood pressure goes up and this takes all the joy out of living.

REPLY

You have heard the expression, "I am what I am what I am." Some persons have a highly sensitive nervous system that is just as much a part of them as the size of the nose. Accept the limitation but try to practice self-control.

CROSS-EYE

Mrs. T. F. writes: What treatment do you recommend for a 1 year old with cross-eye?

REPLY

Begin by having the tot examined by an eye specialist because cross-eye in young children often can be cured without surgery. Conservative measures include covering the good eye with a patch to force the lazy eye to work. Other methods may be used as the child becomes more cooperative.

High Court Upholds Hit-And-Run Laws

WASHINGTON (UPI) —By a narrow, 5-4 vote, the Supreme Court refused today to strike down state hit-and-run laws that require a driver in an accident to stop and give his name and address.

The vote overturned a California supreme court ruling against a state law that is typical of those across the country. The state court held that the requirement violated the constitutional safeguard against self-incrimination if the information was used for criminal prosecution.

In other actions, the Court:

—Refused again to hear an appeal by imprisoned teamster boss James R. Hoffa who is seeking release from federal prison at Lewisburg, Pa. The action rebuffed his claim that federal wiretapping activity involving two Las Vegas gambling casinos and special FM frequencies in Detroit obtained the government's conviction of him on jury tampering charges.

—In a 5-4 turnabout, refused to rule on a Charleston, W. Va., case in which residents of a ghetto area claimed construction of a federal highway was illegally displacing them from their homes.

—Let stand a lower court ruling from Chicago that upheld the right of newspapers to refuse advertisements they deem unacceptable.

—Agreed to decide next term whether a law forbidding imports of obscene materials may be applied if the material is solely for private use.

The California law which was challenged in today's case is in force in all 50 states.

The judgment stemmed from charges against Jonathan Todd Byers in Mendocino County, Calif., on Aug. 22, 1966. Because of his failure to pass properly, he was charged with unsafe driving and failure to stop at the scene of an accident.

Four members of the Court — Justices Hugo L. Black, William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan Jr. and Thurgood Marshall —held that Byers properly raised the constitutional claim of self-incrimination.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, joined by three colleagues, countered that "there is no constitutional right to refuse to file an income tax or to flee the scene of an accident in order to avoid the possibility of legal involvement."

Justice John M. Harlan then cast the decisive vote against Byers for different reasons than those in the Burger opinion.

This decision was vacated today by the Supreme Court and the state may presumably go ahead and try Byers on both charges.

Why Does It Look Like Silo? 'Cause You're Seeing Its Derniere

Why does the new Veterans Memorial Auditorium at the Civic Center look like a row of silos or the broad side of a barn?

It's because the front of the building, where the main entrance is located, was turned away from the highway, leaving the rear exposed.

Original plans were to have the front entrance facing west (toward the highway). But the front entrance is where the main exhibit floor of the auditorium is located, and that will be the nerve center of any fairgrounds activity. Since the 80-acre fairground extends toward the bay, they had to face the building in that direction.

Admittedly, it's ugly looking from the highway, but for the fair-goer, it will be much more functional.

Incidentally, if you or your organization wants to use the auditorium for exhibits, shows or meetings, you'd better make reservations immediately. The building won't even open until late September, but it's already booked up for most of next year and even into 1973.

THE CENTRAL MARIN bus service operated by Golden Gate Transit between Novato and Kentfield seems to be picking up momentum, as more people become aware of the service.

In January, only a thousand people rode the buses. In February, patronage jumped to 3,970 and in March to 5,233. Fare is only 25 cents a ride for adults and 15 cents for children and senior citizens with medicards.

Southbound, the first mor ning bus leaves San Marin in Novato at 6:39 and reaches College of Marin in time for 8 a.m. classes. In the evening, the last northbound bus leaves the college at 4:35 p.m. and arrives in San Marin at 5:51.

Major stops are Marin General Hospital, San Rafael Civic Center, Northgate, Lucas Valley, Hamilton Field, Sunset Parkway, Novato and Novak Square.

THE COUNTY'S marine inspector, Richard Larson, has managed thus far to use persuasion, pleas and a bit of arm-twisting to get derelict houseboats and hulks moved out o Richardson Bay. But it's finally got to the point where where direct action may be needed against a half-dozen non-complying houseboats, whose owners keep thumbing their noses at county ordinances.

This week, they may start towing these hulks to the end of Parepa Street near the county heliport, then demolish or burn them after a brief waiting period to give owners a chance to move them voluntarily.

JUDO CHAMP Mel Augustine of the Marin County Probation Department has been named coach-manager of the U.S. judo team that will compete in the world championships starting Aug. 29 in Ludwigshafen, Germany.

You'd never suspect it, but the quiet and unassuming Augustine is a fifth degee black belt, which in judo circles means Olympic caliber.

Judo experts (black belts) are ranked from first to 10th degree. But the toughest among the active competitors are usually in the fifth, sixth and seventh degrees. When they attain eighth, ninth and tenth it's usually honorary degrees conferred to older men who have mastered the fine techniques but are past their prime physically.

Exemptions Hike Taxes For Those Who Pay

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Whether you rent or own your home, about 25 per cent of your total expenditure for housing represents the cost of local property taxes.

These taxes have been rising steeply. In some communities, they've gone up as much as 500 per cent over the past 20 years.

That means a man who bought a house in 1950 is now having to pay up to five times as much in annual property taxes as he figured on. That kind of thing wrecks family budgets.

TAXPAYER PROTESTS against property levies are getting louder by the year. But without some basic reforms in the whole property tax system, they're not likely to do much good.

City and county governments are heavily dependent on property taxes, which bring in about 85 per cent of their locally raised revenue. At a time when they are desperately seeking additional funds, local governments would consider unthinkable any decrease in their total take from property taxes.

But there are two ways in which property taxes could be made less burdensome on the average family without any reduction in the gross revenue intake of local governments.

FIRST, THE PROPERTY tax could be made more equitable. Studies by the Brookings Institution and other impartial research organizations indicate that substantial discrepancies in tax assessments of private property are commonplace throughout the country. Corrupt or incompetent assessors may tax a favored taxpayer far less than an ordinary citizen has to pay for a property of comparable value.

There's no reason why this should be allowed to continue. Reform can be achieved in any community when its citizens get mad enough to insist on it.

THE SECOND WAY to reduce property tax rates without decreasing total revenue is to halt the steady erosion of the tax base which results from the free-handed granting of tax exemptions.

A careful survey of 14 major U. S. cities by Martin A. Larson and C. Stanley Lowell indicates that about one-third of all the real estate in the United States is now getting a free ride —at the expense of the people who do pay taxes.

If all of this exempt property were added to the tax rolls, Larson and Lowell estimate, it would mean a saving of more than $300 a year to the average taxpayer.

There's little hope of that happening, because about 70 per cent of the tax-exempt property belongs to various echelons of government. Of the remaining 30 per cent, from one-third to one-half belongs to religious institutions. The rest is divided among a wide variety of public service institutions such as hospitals, schools and museums; individuals who fall into categories which local lawmakers have deemed deserving of special tax treatment, such as veterans and the aged; and business firms which are offered tax exemptions as bait to get them to locate plants in a community.

Although sweeping abolition of tax-exempt status is not in the cards, alert citizens can demand that local governments become a lot more selective in granting it. For example, there seems to be no good reason, in law or morality, why income-producing commercial property should be exempt from property taxation just because it happens to be owned by a church or college. Billions of dollars worth of property is now exempt on precisely that basis.

The use of property tax exemptions as an aid to veterans, the aged and other special groups also is a dubious procedure, since many of them don't really need it.

And the game of wooing industry with tax incentives can be self-defeating in the long run if it erodes a community's tax base to a serious degree.

A record of 220,000 square feet of exhibit space —all that is available —will be used by manufacturers to introduce their new cosumer electronics lines to the nation's retailers at the fifth annual Consumer Electronics Show in Chicago in June.

Europe Abandoning The Baloney Dollar

"Floating" of some western European currencies — which means allowing them to reach their own levels in foreign exchange without regard for the value of the U.S. dollar — has provoked both alarm and much misunderstanding.

The most lucid explanation of the situation we have seen was in the "Notebook" of John S. Knight, chairman of the editorial board of the 11 Knight Newspapers. We quote from it:

"UNTIL RECENT YEARS, foreign countries knew they could exchange their dollars for American gold at the official price of $35 an ounce. But U.S. balance of payments deficits grew at such a rate that the dollar supply exceeded our gold reserves.

"Although never acknowledged officially, the dollar became inconvertible. Given a choice between crowding the U.S. Treasury's gold window or being stuck with U.S. dollars, the European banking and financial community elected to carry us on the cuff rather than risking a collapse of the whole monetary system.

"Thus, a two-tier gold system was established to keep hoarders and speculators from depleting official stocks. The International Monetary Fund created 'special drawing rights' designed to cook the pressures on the dollar in financing foreign trade.

"IN RETURN the United States has repeatedly given assurances that this country would follow sound fiscal policies to curb inflation which destroys the dollar's purchasing power.

"Since such promises have larely been but hollow statements of intent, the European financial community has developed a bad case of jitters. The Europeans know they can't get the gold . . .

"How did we get into this mess? A short but realistic answer is that the United States has for too long dissipated its resources in war, excessive 'grants' or loans to other nations, and profligate spending at home.

"We simply spend more than we take in. As every housewife knows — but not the government — this is a sure way to go broke."

IN OTHER WORDS, deflation of the dollar abroad reflects its deflation — through inflation of prices — at home. And this occurs largely because U.S. currency is "backed," not by reserves of gold and silver, but by the government's promise to pay — a promise that means less each year as the national debt keeps going up.

As the government continues to spend more than it receives, its promises to pay, in the form of currency (and phony metal coins), become of less and less value. And so the loaf of bread that used to cost a quarter is now 50 cents. And since there is no guarantee from day to day how much bread the buck will buy at home, European governments have grown tired of guarenteeing how much of their "bread" it will buy abroad.

Knight suggests the crisis will pass. No doubt it will. But we may have seen the end of the United States dollar as a standard for currency abroad. After all, it has long been, as Alfred E. Smith called it 'way back in 1933, a "baloney dollar." And we keep slicing it thinner and thinner.

GOP Sees Bogeyman In Marin Alternative

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Marin Republicans are so used to having the only real live political organization in the county that they are almost paranoic about the appearance of a new group, the Marin Alternative.

The new group is made up of frustrated partisans of former Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy and of peace campaigners, so perhaps it was no surprise that the local GOP was quick to attribute all sorts of terrible powers to it.

One spokesman for the GOP central committee darkly hinted at the Alternative's role in the April school elections. He asserted that the group had backed candidates in every contest "with real money."

He estimated that the new group had invested $10,000 to $12,000 in its favored candidates, a figure that surprised us.

THE ESTIMATE did not surprise Barbara Boxer of the Marin Alternative. Rather, it sent her into gales of laughter.

She said the group's back account at one point actually reached $800, but that it was down to about $400. So much for the massive funds poured into school elections.

She also said that the group's policy was to endorse only countywide candidates, so its only endorsements had been of three candidates for the Marin Junior College District board.

The GOP central committee apparently also was confused about party preferences of new voters between 18 and 21. It said that at least 80 per cent of the young voters registering in Marin had declined to state a party preference.

The GOP should be so lucky.

The county elections office records showed a somewhat different conclusion. Almost all of the new voters registered a party preference, and did so by more than 10-1 for the Democratic Party.

IT'S OFTEN TOUGH for a reporter to convey the importance of a dull news story to the reader.

We were reminded of this tough old nut at a recent meeting of the Metropolitan Transportation Commission. A planner was droning on with an explanation of why previous transportation planning had failed to qualify the Bay Area for two-thirds federal grants on transit projects.

Millions of dollars were at stake, but everyone was being talked into a stupor.

The whole performance inspired a fellow reporter to blurt, "Boy, people think newspapers are dull!"

HOW OFTEN WOULD we see our congressmen if they had four-year terms, as suggested by some who are searching for ways to improve their performance?

Congressmen quickly become part of the most insulated society on earth, the movers and shakers and hangers-on of Washington. Coming home every other year for re-election at least reminds them of their modest beginnings.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Excellent Report On Tamalpais Drive

With reference to your reporter's article appearing in the May 5 edition dealing with the Town of Corte Madera's transformation of Tamalpais Drive, while I personally feel that the article failed to emphasize what, for me, was the most important aspect of the meeting, the provision for bicycle use along the northerly side of the street, I must compliment your reporter (who went nameless in the article) for his accurate and in depth coverage of the meeting. I personally disagree with your policy of not showing a by-line in reports of public meetings.

DAVID I. FREED

(The Independent-Journal has no policy against use of the reporter's by-line on a meeting report, but usually reserves the by-line for stories representing considerable research or initiative, exceptional writing, or of a feature nature. The report of the meeting on improvement of Tamalpais Drive was by M. Street Brooks. — Editor.)

Hawaii Example Of Cleanliness

I just returned from a vacation of two weeks in the Hawaiian Islands. I can't help but comment on the cleanliness of the three islands I visited.

There was practically no litter on the streets or highways, and as this was the tail end of the winter season, the sudden rains, two, three or four times a day, kept the streets washed clean. And there are no billboards on the hiways.

Even the yards, from the low cost and even the very old homes, as well as the costly homes, were absolutely spotless. As soon as a leaf fell, people would pick them up. I saw many people of different status in life, with bamboo rakes cleaning up the leaves and any litter in view.

In 1956 a powerful woman's organization was able to get some bills passed to clean up the islands. Now they are very conscious of the tourist trade, and wish their islands to present a pleasant picture months old put some paper in a trash can at the beach, without being told to do so.

I do wish Marin County in particular and the State of California as a whole could present a picture like this to people coming into our state.

Story Puts Welfare In True Perspective

The beautiful tribute to Betty Presley in the May 3 I'J was great. The I-J is to be specially commended for publishing this warm, human story which places in true perspective the "welfare problem," one of our most serious problems in Marin.

Suddenly reading your factual account of Miss Presley's life and career in Marin it really did become "my" problem and my next door neighbor's problem, not something I can dismiss and turn over to the board of supervisors, the state, or the federal government to solve. You have clearly demonstrated, too, that it is possible to state problems, simply and factually, even problems of great complexity, without relying on myth, emotion and distortion.

I would hope that all citizens of Marin, rich and poor, old and young, could now, in the spirit of your article, start thinking and talking about what we can do together about welfare in Marin. This is especially important at this time of year when all of us are nervously awaiting the county budget hearings. This is the time most of us forget that we share in the life of a total community that has many parts and components. We begin to talk in terms of "we and they" and our own special pet projects, failing to remember that if we've not lived here long enough to have played sandlot-ball and fly kites together, our kids are doing so at this very moment.

Circus Big Boost To Local Charities

Mr. Walter Zurcher, as a representative voice of the business men of downtown San Rafael, has certainly done his utmost to squelch what has heretofore been a tremendous financial boost to a goodly group of local charitable organizations.

For three years the Association of Deputy Sheriffs has worked voluntarily on their off-duty hours to help provide a benefit circus for the wholesome enjoyment of Marin County citizens and their families.

In three years, a total of over $25,000 of the proceeds has been divided among 18 local groups. I personally have been in the audience during a presentation of the donations to the representatives of the recipient groups. Believe me, it is a moving experience to see the pride and pleasure of the deputies in the giving — and the tears of happiness of those who receive . . .

Does "the voice" speak for ALL the merchants of San Rafael? And what is with Mr. Zurcher, he maybe doesn't like a circus or "cotton candy"?

I simply can't believe that our society is so sick that it must attack a fine group of men and women who are doing a fine job towards the good and make it suspect!

Refusal Of Permit Denial Of Liberty

Congratulations to the Independent (Dependant?) Journal! You did it again. You got the award for being the paper that could most successfully distort the facts. As usual you wrote the story just the way you were supposed to. As always you ridiculed the poor bastards that had the audacity to question the integrity of our city officials. What nerve!

Of course it is totally unimportant that our permit was arbitrarily revoked, without the inspection we were entitled to according to the old ordinance, despite the fact that the city's health inspector saw nothing wrong with the way we kept our corral, and says so in writing. Which brings up the question in my mind. Why is the city paying for a health inspector, if they do not intend to listen to him? . . .

Of course it is also unimportant that my husband was given a 30-day jail sentence, a rather severe sentence, without being allowed to present his case, but with a judge like Peter Allan Smith, there is little wonder, I have been told. Not being able to present your case on a criminal charge is entirely against the Constitution and everything this country is supposed to stand for, but then the Constitution is a dirty word with the establishment these days. However with judges like Peter Allan Smith and your latest addition the "honorable" Judge (David) Menary, our former city attorney, on the bench, just don't be too surprised when your pompous temple of justice gets blown to bits. I, for one, do not intend to hang around when that happens, to pick up the pieces and pay the exhorbitant taxes it will take to rebuild it.

Going back to that infamous horse case again, the city realizing the old ordinance was not really intended for horses . . . prepared a new one, that obviously was intended only for the Wachsmans (the anti-Wachsman ordinance) since it has not yet been applied to any of the other 20 or so horse owners in town . . .

I apologize for my very poor English, but then I was not born in this country of liberty and justice for all, which I hope to be able to leave very soon.

KAREN WACHSMAN

San Rafael.

(The letter refers to a May 4 San Rafael City Council turndown of a permit for Edward K. Wachsman to keep two horses on property at 50 Palm Avenue. Wachsman has been fighting the case since 1968, when the council first refused the permit. The city health inspector who initially found no objection was Dr. Harry Hund, city health officer until that office was abolished by the voters changing the city charter in 1969. Judge Smith in March, 1970, ordered Wachsman to either move the horses or serve 30 days in jail. — Editor.)

Communist Monolith Broken By Demands For Free Choice

WASHINGTON — The Communist monolith was not broken apart only by the rift between Red China and the Soviet Union.

That rift is growing — but there is something more.

In the wake of the 24th Soviet Party Congress there is a widening gulf between Moscow and four leading Communist parties in Eastern and Western Europe.

This could be a more perilous position than the Sino-Soviet breech because it springs largely from ideological disagreement, while the hostility between Peking and Moscow is mainly a conflict of national interests.

The Communist parties whose leaders spoke out in open criticism of the way the Russians practice Communism are the ruling parties of Romania and Yugoslavia and the Italian and French parties — which have the largest popular appeal of any Communist parties in the West. There is little doubt that these dissidents speak the views of numerous African and Asian Communist parties which find it more prudent to remain silent.

AND WHAT ARE THESE dissenting French, Italian, Yugoslav and Romanian Communist leaders going to say in a way that shakes the Communist world?

They are speaking heresy — from the Kremlin's standpoint. They are saying:

That every Communist party everywhere should be independent of outside control.

That the sovereignty of every Communist nation should be respected by every other Communist nation, including the Soviet Union.

That the territorial integrity of every Communist nation should be similarly respected.

That every Communist country and every Communist party must have the right to choose its own "road to socialism" without dictation from Moscow or anywhere else.

That the Russian invasion of Czechoslovakia in 1968 was intolerable.

That the "Brezhnev doctrine" which asserts that the Russians have the duty to intervene against erring Communist regimes — that is, those who differ too much from the Soviet model — is indefensible.

That the Russian refusal to tolerate glittering "roads to socialism" seriously damages and splits the Communist movement.

IT IS ONE THING for competing nationalisms, like those of Russia and China, to be at each other's throats. But that only shows that a Communist world is not necessarily a peaceful world.

It is far more debilitating to communism as a philosophy and a system of government to exhibit such narrowness within its most powerful regime that it will not — if it can prevent it — permit other Communist nations and parties to fashion their own models of national communism.

At the 24th Congress the Romanians and the Yugoslavs were polite and tactful. They had good reason not to want to stir up Moscow's ire by unnecessary words. But they did not withdraw their protest against the Czech invasion.

The Italian Communist Party is even more outspoken. Its leaders hold that basic changes in Russian attitude are essential to avoid further crises as in Czechoslovakia and Poland. They contend that even where reform has begun in Eastern Europe, it is stifled by the Kremlin.

What is the core of the deep and divisive difference between the Italian and French Communists and the Soviet Union? It is this: The Russians do not dare submit communism to popular vote. The Italian and French leaders want to try to wed communism to free elections.

My own view is that freedom of choice is communism's greatest peril.

BY NO MEANS NEUTRAL

Boomlet For Wilbur Mills Unlikely To Grow Much

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — The suggestion of Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., for President is being promoted here by politicians with more or less straight faces. Mills himself is the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee (if that read funny it's because I accidentally omitted the "powerful" that usually goes before the word "chairman"), and he has managed in the past to keep private his ambitions to rise beyond that position. The implication is that there is no office any man in his right mind could prefer to the powerful chairmanship of Ways and Means.

Nevertheless Mills would have liked to become speaker of the House. Sam Rayburn always emphasized that that office was co-equal with the presidency itself. But Carl Albert was first in succession to John McCormack, so that move was checked for Mills. Now he is being traditionally coy about the junior presidential boomlet on his behalf, saying merely: "I'm in the hands of my friends. I'm not a candidate and I think it would be a stretch to say I even have a chance. However, should I be nominated, I'd be as active a candidate as the Democratic Party ever had."

IN THE LANGUAGE of might-be candidates this far ahead of the election, that sounds like a line from a campaign headquarters dedication address. You are not supposed to take such self-effacement seriously. Instead, you might consider whether it really is "a stretch" to say Mills has a chance at nomination — and if so, what effect a drive by him could have on the chances of the other Democrats already out campaigning.

Institutionally, Mills is the prototype man of Congress. The only other office he ever held was as judge (administrator) in White County, Ark. He has been a congressman more than three decades and chairman of the tax-writing committee for 13 years. He is respected there by both parties, and even feared at the other end of the avenue — in the Nixon White House —for his legislative experience, thoroughness and anticipation.

Ideologically, he is a moderate-conservative by congressional standards. Yet he has found ways to bring progressive social legislation into law when a more dogmatic advocate might have failed out of stubbornness. On racial matters, he has voted his district. And back in Searcy, Ark., in the strawberry country of the Little Red River Valley northeast of Little Rock, that means voting "no" on civil rights legislation.

THE LAST TIME a strong man from the congressional hierarchy came out of the South to make a serious effort toward the presidency was 1960. The man was Lyndon Johnson, then majority leader of the Senate, whose can-do reputation, ability to bring feuding factions together and 6-foot-3 style of leadership made him the candidate of the South and a few other Democratic strongholds.

Aside from his physical stature and dominating personality, which may and may not have been assets in the long run, Johnson had two clear advantages in a Democratic convention that Mills does not have: He came from a vote-rich state and he had a record as at least a late-blooming civil rights advocate.

Yet he lost to John Kennedy. He and his sponsors had ignored the fact that nominating conventions are not run by the congressional elders, but by the national party. City bosses and governors have more to do with selecting delegates than senators and representatives do. And the national party, unsaddled by the seniority system, is predictably more liberal than the one that runs Congress. This also is apparently overlooked by those congressmen so far endorsing Mills as a candidate — most of whom are either members of Ways and Means or would like to be.

So the facts of practical politics weigh heavily against the nomination of a 62-year-old Arkansan who has spent his career in the Houseand voted consistently against civil rights bills —especially by a party that depends so much on black voter support.

HOWEVER, THE LOCAL liveliness of the Mills boomlet still could have a useful effect on the Democratic competition by placing someone of stature (i.e., besides Sam Yorty) on the candidates' list to rightward of Sen. Henry Jackson. The fact that Jackson is not a Dove on Vietnam has classified him at the right end of the list despite his solidly liberal record on legislation, including civil rights.

For Mills to move into contention would give Jackson's candidacy a more centrist appeal. It might even help pull the other contenders back toward the realism on which the party has to base any chance of ousting Mr. Nixon next year.

Why Does It Look Like Silo? 'Cause You're Seeing Its Derniere

Why does the new Veterans Memorial Auditorium at the Civic Center look like a row of silos or the broad side of a barn?

It's because the front of the building, where the main entrance is located, was turned away from the highway, leaving the rear exposed.

Original plans were to have the front entrance facing west (toward the highway). But the front entrance is where the main exhibit floor of the auditorium is located, and that will be the nerve center of any fairgrounds activity. Since the 80-acre fairground extends toward the bay, they had to face the building in that direction.

Admittedly, it's ugly looking from the highway, but for the fair-goer, it will be much more functional.

Incidentally, if you or your organization wants to use the auditorium for exhibits, shows or meetings, you'd better make reservations immediately. The building won't even open until late September, but it's already booked up for most of next year and even into 1973.

THE CENTRAL MARIN bus service operated by Golden Gate Transit between Novato and Kentfield seems to be picking up momentum, as more people become aware of the service.

In January, only a thousand people rode the buses. In February, patronage jumped to 3,970 and in March to 5,233. Fare is only 25 cents a ride for adults and 15 cents for children and senior citizens with medicards.

Southbound, the first morning bus leaves San Marin in Novato at 6:39 and reaches College of Marin in time for 8 a.m. classes. In the evening, the last northbound bus leaves the college at 4:35 p.m. and arrives in San Marin at 5:51.

Major stops are Marin General Hospital, San Rafael Civic Center, Northgate, Lucas Valley, Hamilton Field, Sunset Parkway, Novato and Novak Square.

THE COUNTY'S marine inspector, Richard Larson, has managed thus far to use persuasion, pleas and a bit of arm-twisting to get derelict houseboats and hulks moved out o Richardson Bay. But it's finally got to the point where where direct action may be needed against a half-dozen non-complying houseboats, whose owners keep thumbing their noses at county ordinances.

This week, they may start towing these hulks to the end of Parepa Street near the county heliport, then demolish or burn them after a brief waiting period to give owners a chance to move them voluntarily.

JUDO CHAMP Mel Augustine of the Marin County Probation Department has been named coach-manager of the U.S. judo team that will compete in the world championships starting Aug. 29 in Ludwigshafen, Germany.

You'd never suspect it, but the quiet and unassuming Augustine is a fifth degee black belt, which in judo circles means Olympic caliber.

Judo experts (black belts) are ranked from first to 10th degree. But the toughest among the active competitors are usually in the fifth, sixth and seventh degrees. When they attain eighth, ninth and tenth it's usually honorary degrees conferred to older men who have mastered the fine techniques but are past their prime physically.

Classifications

Because dyes and colors in floorcoverings, as in all types of furnishings materials, have a tendency to bleed, classify colors before placing rugs in the washing machine. Whites and very light colors may be washed together, while dark colors should be washed separately.

Exemptions Hike Taxes For Those Who Pay

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Whether you rent or own your home, about 25 per cent of your total expenditure for housing represents the cost of local property taxes.

These taxes have been rising steeply. In some communities, they've gone up as much as 500 per cent over the past 20 years.

That means a man who bought a house in 1950 is now having to pay up to five times as much in annual property taxes as he figured on. That kind of thing wrecks family budgets.

TAXPAYER PROTESTS against property levies are getting louder by the year. But without some basic reforms in the whole property tax system, they're not likely to do much good.

City and county governments are heavily dependent on property taxes, which bring in about 85 per cent of their locally raised revenue. At a time when they are desperately seeking additional funds, local governments would consider unthinkable any decrease in their total take from property taxes.

But there are two ways in which property taxes could be made less burdensome on the average family without any reduction in the gross revenue intake of local governments.

FIRST, THE PROPERTY tax could be made more equitable. Studies by the Brookings Institution and other impartial research organizations indicate that substantial discrepancies in tax assessments of private property are commonplace throughout the country. Corrupt or incompetent assessors may tax a favored taxpayer far less than an ordinary citizen has to pay for a property of comparable value.

There's no reason why this should be allowed to continue. Reform can be achieved in any community when its citizens get mad enough to insist on it.

THE SECOND WAY to reduce property tax rates without decreasing total revenue is to halt the steady erosion of the tax base which results from the free-handed granting of tax exemptions.

A careful survey of 14 major U. S. cities by Martin A. Larson and C. Stanley Lowell indicates that about one-third of all the real estate in the United States is now getting a free ride —at the expense of the people who do pay taxes.

If all of this exempt property were added to the tax rolls, Larson and Lowell estimate, it would mean a saving of more than $300 a year to the average taxpayer.

There's little hope of that happening, because about 70 per cent of the tax-exempt property belongs to various echelons of government. Of the remaining 30 per cent, from one-third to one-half belongs to religious institutions. The rest is divided among a wide variety of public service institutions such as hospitals, schools and museums; individuals who fall into categories which local lawmakers have deemed deserving of special tax treatment, such as veterans and the aged; and business firms which are offered tax exemptions as bait to get them to locate plants in a community.

Although sweeping abolition of tax-exempt status is not in the cards, alert citizens can demand that local governments become a lot more selective in granting it. For example, there seems to be no good reason, in law or morality, why income-producing commercial property should be exempt from property taxation just because it happens to be owned by a church or college. Billions of dollars worth of property is now exempt on precisely that basis.

The use of property tax exemptions as an aid to veterans, the aged and other special groups also is a dubious procedure, since many of them don't really need it.

And the game of wooing industry with tax incentives can be self-defeating in the long run if it erodes a community's tax base to a serious degree.

A record of 220,000 square feet of exhibit space —all that is available —will be used by manufacturers to introduce their new cosumer electronics lines to the nation's retailers at the fifth annual Consumer Electronics Show in Chicago in June.

SEEN FROM the formal rose garden, this 30-room French Normandy house on Golden Gate Avenue, Belvedere, is the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Irmer. One of six houses in St. Stephen's Guild of Belvedere-Tiburon house tour on May 26, it is furnished with a French style. The tour will be held between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. and transportation to the houses is available at San Francisco Yacht Club, where tea will be served from 2 to 4:30 p.m.

GERANIUMS IN the Spanish courtyard of the Ernest Mendenhall Jr. home catch the eye of Mmes. Joseph Barish (left), co-chairman of the house tour, and Mrs. James Irwin, president of St. Stephen's Guild. The West Shore house was decorated by Mrs. Mendenhall, an interior designer, and will be featured on the guild's 21st house tour May 26.

CASUAL COUNTRY elegance is the theme in Dr. and Mrs. Gerald Jampolsky's Lagoon Road home, where rough exterior textures are mixed with elegant furnishings. Mrs. Lawrence Daly, St. Stephen's Guild of Belvedere-Tiburon house tour chairman (left) holds an antique copper ladle, while Mrs. John Mueller pours tea. An interior designer, Mrs. Jampolsky executed the home's furnishings.

ST. STEPHEN'S GUILD BENEFIT

Tour Set May 26 Of Six Houses

By PAT BALMES

Some of Marin's most interesting houses are among the six on the 21st annual house tour of St. Stephen's Guild of Belvedere-Tiburon. The tour will be held May 26 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Proceeeds from the event will benefit guild activities.

Tour homes are those of Dr. and Mrs. Gerald Jampolsky, and Messrs. and Mmes. Ernest Mendenhall Jr., Merritt K. Ruddock, David Irmer, Thomas Corn and Robert Temby.

A visitor to the West Shore home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Mendenhall Jr. passes through a massive double-hung, brass studded, cedar door dating back to 1740 which in earlier times was completely opened to admit horse-drawn carriages.

Inside is a Spanish garden with glass walls bringing light into the living room and gallery, where potted plants continue the garden indoors.

AN INTERIOR designer, Mrs. Mendenhall has furnished her living room, with its view of Richardson Bay, Sausalito and Mount Tamalpais, with an 18th Century burl wood secretary cabinet and an old Spanish linen press.

Antique wine racks, converted to doors, lead to the dining room.

Wood antique cooking utensils and oriental rugs decorate the kitchen.

The master bedroom, in soft greens against white, adjoins a powder and dressing area and a booklined study with a guest room beyond.

One daughter's room is blue and white with green accents; the other's a yellow and white scheme with a floral fabric.

DR. AND Mrs. Gerald Jampolsky remodeled a one-bedroom weekend cottage on Lagoon Road into a much larger home by pushing out walls to gain a master bedroom, living room and dining room and two boys' rooms. By raising the roof, Mrs. Jampolsky also an interior designer, doubled the height of the living room and added a balcony game room.

In her formal living room, she drew colors from an antique Persian rug and used predominately country French antique furniture.

In contrast, the kitchen and family room are decorated in rough brick, exposed beams and a shingle wall.

The dining area's ornate Spanish chandelier contrasts with the 200-year-old French refectory table. Narby is a handpainted Swiss armoire dating from 1792.

A spiral staircase leads to the game room upstairs.

A sunken master bedroom, previously an outdoor concrete storage shed, has windows to the outdoor lounging area with a view of the lagoon.

THE MERRITT Ruddock home on San Rafael Avenue, Belvedere, originally known as "La Petite Trianon," was designed by architect Clifford Conley for its first owner, a Francophile who used it as a weekend gardening retreat. Architectural details — jesters supporting the roof, urns, and the formal lawn suggest French influence.

The house is now the setting for furnishings collected during a lifetime diplomatic career. Eypanses of glass at either end of the living room light the small house. Also an interior designer, Mrs. Ruddock has used natural-linen color for walls, rugs, draperies and upholstery. Plump love seats flank an antique Austrian porcelain stove.

A curry and white color scheme is carried from a sitting room, which doubles as a guest room, into the master bedroom and bath. Off the bedroom is an ivy garden with its gazebo and white wrought-iron furniture.

A side porch with a garden view was enclosed to make a dining pavilion, furnished with white laquer faux bamboo chairs, table and sideboard.

AT THE TOP of Golden Gate Avenue stands the 45-year-old French Normandy home of Mr. and Mrs. David Irmer. The huge house has a lofty living room paneled with 17th Century Elizabethan linenfold oak. The large room has a 17th Century fireplace of Belgian cut stone and a ceiling of parget carved and branched ornamentation, a decorating technique dating back to th 1500s.

Interior designer Ted Rosenberg has placed a Louis XVI biblioteque and an English oak refectory table in the formal dining room. Nearby a small breakfast room is furnished with an old Welsh frutiwood cupboard.

David Irmer's study is decorated in Napoleonic ruby reds, velvet draperies, silk-covered walls, a Louis XVI bureau plate and a French Empire morror.

On the second floor of the 30-room house with the master suite has sky blue walls, a Louis XVI carved canopy with flowered-silk side hangings and a pair of matched armoires. The room's floral pattern is repeated in the bath and dressing room area, where double bathrooms are paved in white Carrara marble.

"LONGVIEW," named by its original owners 63 years ago for its view of Belvedere Cove, is now the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Corn and their five young children. The large Victorian house is built on a sloping site on Beach Road.

In the entrance hall are the original leaded, arched windows and an antique French butcher's table. The library has an old Chinese rug and is furnished for comfort.

The living room has floor-to-ceiling bay windows and French doors which open onto the water view. Over the fireplace is a Louis XV overdoor. An old French buffet holds art objects.

On the second floor is a master bedroom, sitting room and bath suite with a Franklin stove. Interior designer Mrs. Richard McConnell decorated this area in a garden-flower theme.

The ground level contains the children's playroom, their bedrooms and bath.

THE WATERFRONT home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Temby is a gray shingled cottage on Beach Road near the San Francisco Yacht Club. It was built in 1906, when Belvedere was still a summer resort. The house, designed by architect Albert Farr, was originally part of the old Belvedere Hotel complex. Since then, the only major restoration has been a new roof and updating of conveniences.

The living room is done is soft blues and greens against white walls and has a view of moored boats and, at night, of San Francisco's lights. It is furnished with modern teak furniture and a collection of paintings by local artists.

The master bedroom also has a water view and is decorated in simple line and neutral colors.

The small dining room has an antique Chinese Yodansu chest of choice wood with brass hasps and lock plate. The compact kitchen and pantry area lead back to the entrance hall, where a staircase to bedrooms has a little balustrade.

St. Stephen's Guild members will staff the six homes as tour hostesses.

TOUR GUESTS will arrive at the San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere to purchase tickets and board shuttle cars for the tour. Aterward tea will be served on the yacht club deck trom 2 to 4:30 p.m.

Tour committee members from the guild are Mmes. Lawrence R. Daly, chairman; William M. Bergmann, co-chairman; James N. Crittenden and John J. Wiley, house selection; Peter Schneider and Betty Elder, publicity; Paul Ogden, tickets; Joseph Barish and J. Paul Silvestri Jr., tea; Willard G. Pittman, transportation; Robert Boyd, hostess; John Muellern flower arrangement and table settings; William Bergmann, brochure editor; and Eric J. Schmidt, brochure sketch.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

It's Joan Again, Still Married To Ted, In love With Jimmy

DEAR HELEN:

This is "Joan." Remember me? I'm Ted's wife who is still in love with Jimmy. Seven months ago you printed my letter and asked your readers to be the advice columnists. A November column carried sample replies. You reported the vote was 15 to one "AGAINST romance and in favor of reality, duty, parenthood, marriage vows, security — all those things we're told moderns foreswear."

I was amazed at how many people responded, but shocked at how unsympathetic most of them were. They assumed Jimmy was the villain, Ted the hero, but in reality, though Jim and I were crazy in love, our mutual agreement was to "wait for marriage." It was Ted who (after the stupid fight I had with Jim) got me pregnant so that we rushed into marriage. Of couse, it wasn't entirely his fault — I could have stopped him the one and only time it happened, but Ted, unlike Jimmy, WAS an experienced romancer. And he was so determined to have me for his wife that I couldn't run out, even though right up to the wedding — afterwards too — I knew Jim was the one.

Your readers seemed to think that given a good, true and loving husband (which Ted is) I'd "come to my senses." You don't know how I've tried, Helen! I'm completely true: I told Jim my responsibilities are with my husband and baby and he agrees.

Ted and I finally talked it all out. We're actually becoming friends, but the romance is fading, even on his part. He knows we're staying together mostly for our baby. It's possible, now that we understand each other, we'll really fall in love, but how, when Jimmy is always there in my mind? . . . And I know he'd be there in person if I said the word.

Helen, your advice, seven months ago, was "When in doubt, wait a while and see . . . Sometimes true love isn't where one thinks she has found it." Well, I've waited, and my problem is still the same: I'm married to a wonderful man I can't love, and in love with a wonderful man I can't marry. They both want me.

I have to add this: Ted is possessive, emotional, doesn't want to let me out of his sight. Duty, pity, friendship are the cornerstones of my marriage. And regret is the biggest stumbling block.

Under these circumstances, can it last? — JOAN, AGAIN

DEAR JOAN:

"Friendship" can scarcely become love when it is smothered by duty, pity and regret. Nor is this kind of marriage fair to Ted; or to your son. He needs parents who love each other as well as him.

. . . . And that's where my advice ends, for only you can make the final decision. It might be easier if you'd try a temporary separation — perhaps a vacation back home, to get your thoughts together. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My daughter, in her mid-twenties, has been going with a man for three years. He is now almost 30. He tells her he doesn't believe in sexual relations before marriage, and that he has never had even a small affair with a girl. No engagements, no encounters, nothing. (No marriage talk either.)

You'd think a normal, healthy male would at least try. Do you think there's a future for her with him? — DOUBTFUL

DEAR DOUBTFUL:

A future with this unflappable fellow might be as unexciting as the past — with or without marriage. She should concede her romance has come to a dead end and look elsewhere, right? — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Everyone Needs To Have Calcium

You can't afford to neglect calcium-rich foods, just because your bones are full size. Calcium can be withdrawn from the bones during adult years if your food does not provide enough for all your needs.

Calcium is needed for normal blood clotting, and for healthy nerve and muscle action, as well as for bones, say Dairy Council of California nutritionists.

SMART SHOPPER

Margolius' Book Shows How To Save On Food

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON -- There are two kinds of books for consumers about food. One, bordering on the sensational, describes all the potentially harmful ingredients and winds up saying that "something should be done."

Most of the books fall into this category. Although they have important things to say — and repeat — they do little more than add to the general frustration that already grips food shoppers.

The other kind tells how consumers are being cheated and shows exactly what they can do about it. This kind of a book is harder to research, harder to write and, consequently, more valuable to readers. It is also rare.

THE LAST book of this type was called "The Innocent Consumer" and it was written by Sidney Margolius about two years ago. The most recent book is also by Margolius, and it's called "The Great American Food Hoax." It sells for $5.95 and is published by Walker Publishing Co., 720 Fifth Avenue, New York, N.Y., 10019.

By reading this book, consumers can learn enough to cut their food costs by hundreds of dollars a year. And if enough people read it and use the information, the impact could be enough to change some of the more wasteful marketing practices that now exist in the food industry.

Unlike most books about consumer problems, Margolius names specific products, brands and prices. He shows exactly how you can stop paying 10 times what you should pay for some ordinary foods dressed in chemicals and deceptive packaging.

HE SHOWS how to avoid being "taken" on such costly marvels as frozen dinners, ready-to-serve soups, watered fruit drinks, sugared cereals, breakfast drinks, "egg" bread, watered poultry and sausage meats that contain only about 50 per cent meat.

With his wife, whom he credits for much of the book's copious detail, Margolius surveyed supermarkets to determine how much can be saved by buying private brands — rather than nationally advertised ones — and the large-size rather than small-size packages.

On the average, he found that store brands cost 10 to 22 per cent less. On household cleaners and paper products, the savings averaged 33 and 25 per cent respectively. The largest price differences were on margarine, frozen orange juice concentrate, puffed rice and cooked salami among food items.

Buying the large or medium size of a food product, says Margolius, can save 18 per cent under the per-pound price of small packages; extra large sizes can save about 10 per cent more. He says that potential savings on some products is as much as 50 per cent.

HE POINTS out substantial differences in prices of products bearing the same government grade. For example, he found turkeys priced from 49 to 79 cents a pound, all with the same USDA Grade A label.

Buying advertised specials can also save substantial amounts, if you can find them. Many stores, however, have been found to advertise more specials than they have available for sale.

Margolius shows how to buy $27 worth of food for only $17 on a typical cartful of family groceries simply by buying private brands, larger sizes and advertised specials.

As he points out numerous times, however, there are no simple rules that will always apply. Larger sizes can sometimes be more expensive, and so can advertised specials and store brands.

SEEN FROM the formal rose garden, this 30-room French Normandy house on Golden Gate Avenue, Belvedere, is the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Irmer. One of six houses in St. Stephen's Guild of Belvedere-Tiburon house tour on May 26, it is furnished with a French style. The tour will be held between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. and transportation to the houses is available at San Francisco Yacht Club, where tea will be served from 2 to 4:30 p.m.

GERANIUMS IN the Spanish courtyard of the Ernest Mendenhall Jr. home catch the eye of Mmes. Joseph Barish (left), co-chairman of the house tour, and Mrs. James Irwin, president of St. Stephen's Guild. The West Shore house was decorated by Mrs. Mendenhall, an interior designer, and will be featured on the guild's 21st house tour May 26.

CASUAL COUNTRY elegance is the theme in Dr. and Mrs. Gerald Jampolsky's Lagoon Road home, where rough exterior textures are mixed with elegant furnishings. ST. STEPHEN'S GUILD BENEFIT

Tour Set May 26 Of Six Houses

By PAT BALMES

Some of Marin's most interesting houses are among the six on the 21st annual house tour of St. Stephen's Guild of Belvedere-Tiburon. The tour will be held May 26 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Proceeeds from the event will benefit guild activities.

Tour homes are those of Dr. and Mrs. Gerald Jampolsky, and Messrs. and Mmes. Ernest Mendenhall Jr., Merritt K. Ruddock, David Irmer, Thomas Corn and Robert Temby.

A visitor to the West Shore home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Mendenhall Jr. passes through a massive double-hung, brass studded, cedar door dating back to 1740 which in earlier times was completely opened to admit horse-drawn carriages.

Inside is a Spanish garden with glass walls bringing light into the living room and gallery, where potted plants continue the garden indoors.

AN INTERIOR designer, Mrs. Mendenhall has furnished her living room, with its view of Richardson Bay, Sausalito and Mount Tamalpais, with an 18th Century burl wood secretary cabinet and an old Spanish linen press.

Antique wine racks, converted to doors, lead to the dining room.

Wood antique cooking utensils and oriental rugs decorate the kitchen.

The master bedroom, in soft greens against white, adjoins a powder and dressing area and a booklined study with a guest room beyond.

One daughter's room is blue and white with green accents; the other's a yellow and white scheme with a floral fabric.

DR. AND Mrs. Gerald Jampolsky remodeled a one-bedroom weekend cottage on Lagoon Road into a much larger home by pushing out walls to gain a master bedroom, living room and dining room and two boys' rooms. By raising the roof, Mrs. Jampolsky also an interior designer, doubled the height of the living room and added a balcony game room.

In her formal living room, she drew colors from an antique Persian rug and used predominately country French antique furniture.

In contrast, the kitchen and family room are decorated in rough brick, exposed beams and a shingle wall.

The dining area's ornate Spanish chandelier contrasts with the 200-year-old French refectory table. Narby is a handpainted Swiss armoire dating from 1792.

A spiral staircase leads to the game room upstairs.

A sunken master bedroom, previously an outdoor concrete storage shed, has windows to the outdoor lounging area with a view of the lagoon.

THE MERRITT Ruddock home on San Rafael Avenue, Belvedere, originally known as "La Petite Trianon," was designed by architect Clifford Conley for its first owner, a Francophile who used it as a weekend gardening retreat. Architectural details — jesters supporting the roof, urns, and the formal lawn suggest French influence.

The house is now the setting for furnishings collected during a lifetime diplomatic career. Eypanses of glass at either end of the living room light the small house. Also an interior designer, Mrs. Ruddock has used natural-linen color for walls, rugs, draperies and upholstery. Plump love seats flank an antique Austrian porcelain stove.

A curry and white color scheme is carried from a sitting room, which doubles as a guest room, into the master bedroom and bath. Off the bedroom is an ivy garden with its gazebo and white wrought-iron furniture.

A side porch with a garden view was enclosed to make a dining pavilion, furnished with white laquer faux bamboo chairs, table and sideboard.

AT THE TOP of Golden Gate Avenue stands the 45-year-old French Normandy home of Mr. and Mrs. David Irmer. The huge house has a lofty living room paneled with 17th Century Elizabethan linenfold oak. The large room has a 17th Century fireplace of Belgian cut stone and a ceiling of parget carved and branched ornamentation, a decorating technique dating back to th 1500s.

Interior designer Ted Rosenberg has placed a Louis XVI biblioteque and an English oak refectory table in the formal dining room. Nearby a small breakfast room is furnished with an old Welsh frutiwood cupboard.

David Irmer's study is decorated in Napoleonic ruby reds, velvet draperies, silk-covered walls, a Louis XVI bureau plate and a French Empire morror.

On the second floor of the 30-room house with the master suite has sky blue walls, a Louis XVI carved canopy with flowered-silk side hangings and a pair of matched armoires. The room's floral pattern is repeated in the bath and dressing room area, where double bathrooms are paved in white Carrara marble.

"LONGVIEW," named by its original owners 63 years ago for its view of Belvedere Cove, is now the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Corn and their five young children. The large Victorian house is built on a sloping site on Beach Road.

In the entrance hall are the original leaded, arched windows and an antique French butcher's table. The library has an old Chinese rug and is furnished for comfort.

The living room has floor-to-ceiling bay windows and French doors which open onto the water view. Over the fireplace is a Louis XV overdoor. An old French buffet holds art objects.

On the second floor is a master bedroom, sitting room and bath suite with a Franklin stove. Interior designer Mrs. Richard McConnell decorated this area in a garden-flower theme.

The ground level contains the children's playroom, their bedrooms and bath.

THE WATERFRONT home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Temby is a gray shingled cottage on Beach Road near the San Francisco Yacht Club. It was built in 1906, when Belvedere was still a summer resort. The house, designed by architect Albert Farr, was originally part of the old Belvedere Hotel complex. Since then, the only major restoration has been a new roof and updating of conveniences.

The living room is done is soft blues and greens against white walls and has a view of moored boats and, at night, of San Francisco's lights. It is furnished with modern teak furniture and a collection of paintings by local artists.

The master bedroom also has a water view and is decorated in simple line and neutral colors.

The small dining room has an antique Chinese Yodansu chest of choice wood with brass hasps and lock plate. The compact kitchen and pantry area lead back to the entrance hall, where a staircase to bedrooms has a little balustrade.

St. Stephen's Guild members will staff the six homes as tour hostesses.

TOUR GUESTS will arrive at the San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere to purchase tickets and board shuttle cars for the tour. Aterward tea will be served on the yacht club deck from 2 to 4:30 p.m.

Tour committee members from the guild are Mmes. Lawrence R. Daly, chairman; William M. Bergmann, co-chairman; James N. Crittenden and John J. Wiley, house selection; Peter Schneider and Betty Elder, publicity; Paul Ogden, tickets; Joseph Barish and J. Paul Silvestri Jr., tea; Willard G. Pittman, transportation; Robert Boyd, hostess; John Muellern flower arrangement and table settings; William Bergmann, brochure editor; and Eric J. Schmidt, brochure sketch.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

It's Joan Again, Still Married To Ted, In love With Jimmy

DEAR HELEN:

This is "Joan." Remember me? I'm Ted's wife who is still in love with Jimmy. Seven months ago you printed my letter and asked your readers to be the advice columnists. A November column carried sample replies. You reported the vote was 15 to one "AGAINST romance and in favor of reality, duty, parenthood, marriage vows, security — all those things we're told moderns foreswear."

I was amazed at how many people responded, but shocked at how unsympathetic most of them were. They assumed Jimmy was the villain, Ted the hero, but in reality, though Jim and I were crazy in love, our mutual agreement was to "wait for marriage." It was Ted who (after the stupid fight I had with Jim) got me pregnant so that we rushed into marriage. Of couse, it wasn't entirely his fault — I could have stopped him the one and only time it happened, but Ted, unlike Jimmy, WAS an experienced romancer. And he was so determined to have me for his wife that I couldn't run out, even though right up to the wedding — afterwards too — I knew Jim was the one.

Your readers seemed to think that given a good, true and loving husband (which Ted is) I'd "come to my senses." You don't know how I've tried, Helen! I'm completely true: I told Jim my responsibilities are with my husband and baby and he agrees.

Ted and I finally talked it all out. We're actually becoming friends, but the romance is fading, even on his part. He knows we're staying together mostly for our baby. It's possible, now that we understand each other, we'll really fall in love, but how, when Jimmy is always there in my mind? . . . And I know he'd be there in person if I said the word.

Helen, your advice, seven months ago, was "When in doubt, wait a while and see . . . Sometimes true love isn't where one thinks she has found it." Well, I've waited, and my problem is still the same: I'm married to a wonderful man I can't love, and in love with a wonderful man I can't marry. They both want me.

I have to add this: Ted is possessive, emotional, doesn't want to let me out of his sight. Duty, pity, friendship are the cornerstones of my marriage. And regret is the biggest stumbling block.

Under these circumstances, can it last? — JOAN, AGAIN

DEAR JOAN:

"Friendship" can scarcely become love when it is smothered by duty, pity and regret. Nor is this kind of marriage fair to Ted; or to your son. He needs parents who love each other as well as him.

. . . . And that's where my advice ends, for only you can make the final decision. It might be easier if you'd try a temporary separation — perhaps a vacation back home, to get your thoughts together. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My daughter, in her mid-twenties, has been going with a man for three years. He is now almost 30. He tells her he doesn't believe in sexual relations before marriage, and that he has never had even a small affair with a girl. No engagements, no encounters, nothing. (No marriage talk either.)

You'd think a normal, healthy male would at least try. Do you think there's a future for her with him? — DOUBTFUL

DEAR DOUBTFUL:

A future with this unflappable fellow might be as unexciting as the past — with or without marriage. She should concede her romance has come to a dead end and look elsewhere, right? — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Everyone Needs To Have Calcium

You can't afford to neglect calcium-rich foods, just because your bones are full size. Calcium can be withdrawn from the bones during adult years if your food does not provide enough for all your needs.

Calcium is needed for normal blood clotting, and for healthy nerve and muscle action, as well as for bones, say Dairy Council of California nutritionists.

Margolius' Book Shows How To Save On Food

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — There are two kinds of books for consumers about food. One, bordering on the sensational, describes all the potentially harmful ingredients and winds up saying that "something should be done."

Most of the books fall into this category. Although they have important things to say — and repeat — they do little more than add to the general frustration that already grips food shoppers.

The other kind tells how consumers are being cheated and shows exactly what they can do about it. This kind of a book is harder to research, harder to write and, consequently, more valuable to readers. It is also rare.

THE LAST book of this type was called "The Innocent Consumer" and it was written by Sidney Margolius about two years ago. The most recent book is also by Margolius, and it's called "The Great American Food Hoax." It sells for $5.95 and is published by Walker Publishing Co., 720 Fifth Avenue, New York, N.Y., 10019.

By reading this book, consumers can learn enough to cut their food costs by hundreds of dollars a year. And if enough people read it and use the information, the impact could be enough to change some of the more wasteful marketing practices that now exist in the food industry.

Unlike most books about consumer problems, Margolius names specific products, brands and prices. He shows exactly how you can stop paying 10 times what you should pay for some ordinary foods dressed in chemicals and deceptive packaging.

HE SHOWS how to avoid being "taken" on such costly marvels as frozen dinners, ready-to-serve soups, watered fruit drinks, sugared cereals, breakfast drinks, "egg" bread, watered poultry and sausage meats that contain only about 50 per cent meat.

With his wife, whom he credits for much of the book's copious detail, Margolius surveyed supermarkets to determine how much can be saved by buying private brands — rather than nationally advertised ones — and the large-size rather than small-size packages.

On the average, he found that store brands cost 10 to 22 per cent less. On household cleaners and paper products, the savings averaged 33 and 25 per cent respectively. The largest price differences were on margarine, frozen orange juice concentrate, puffed rice and cooked salami among food items.

Buying the large or medium size of a food product, says Margolius, can save 18 per cent under the per-pound price of small packages; extra large sizes can save about 10 per cent more. He says that potential savings on some products is as much as 50 per cent.

HE POINTS out substantial differences in prices of products bearing the same government grade. For example, he found turkeys priced from 49 to 79 cents a pound, all with the same USDA Grade A label.

Buying advertised specials can also save substantial amounts, if you can find them. Many stores, however, have been found to advertise more specials than they have available for sale.

Margolius shows how to buy $27 worth of food for only $17 on a typical cartful of family groceries simply by buying private brands, larger sizes and advertised specials.

As he points out numerous times, however, there are no simple rules that will always apply. Larger sizes can sometimes be more expensive, and so can advertised specials and store brands.

Air Academy Appointee Says U.S. Right In Asia

By FRANK FARRARA
(19th in a series of 24 raps)

Leonard A. Rodriguez, an 18-year-old appointeee to the Air Force Academy, believes the U.S. is pursuing the right course in Vietnam.

"The U.S. cannot just pull out quickly and leave everything there," Rodriguez said. "It would create a vacuum. If we pulled out quickly it wouldn't hold up."

Rodriguez felt since the U.S. "right now couldn't go for a full victory, it would be best to get out, but not pull out. We need to leave some sort of defense."

Rodriguez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rodriguez of 1405 Buchanan Street, Novato, who is headed for a military career, said the antimilitary sentiment of other youths hasn't distracted him from his aims.

There were some comments, mostly in the nature of jokes, when he was with the Air Force Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps at Novato High School last year, he said.

Rodriguez said the definition of patriotism "depends upon the view you're looking from, but I don't think much of people going to Canada to escape the draft. I couldn't say protesters aren't patriotic because they are showing they are interested in the country.

He lamented the death of S/Sgt. Rogers D. Mobley, Air Force Recruiter from Novato, who was stabbed by a war protestor at his Berkeley office April 30.

The man wielding the knife said he was protesting killing and he was killing," Rodriguez said.

Considering the total number of Vietnam War veterans, the Vietnam War Veterans Against the War who protested in Washington, D.C., didn't represent a large proportion, he said. "A lot more aren't taking such a radical view."

Furthermore, Rodriguez said, "the things that make the newspapers are the bad things." He felt that if there were a rally in support of the troops in Vietnam, "it wouldn't make page one."

He felt that ending the military draft "would be okay as long as the services would have enough manpower," but acknowledged that the draft itself keeps enlistments up. When youths know they are subject to the draft, they pick the service they prefer and enlist, he explained.

Rodriguez expressed concern about the shortage of jobs available, particularly for young people, and the economy which he felt "probably will go into a small depression."

When the U.S. leaves Vietnam "it will hurt the economy," he said. Contracts will be "gone" and people in the aviation industry will be out of jobs, he said.

An example of the effect of a contract cancellation is the supersonic, he said. "I think SST travel would help us a lot."

Rodriguez said he didn't foresee "any split coming in this country," and felt that changes came about within the system gradually. "Most of the people who are making a lot of noise are just too impatient," he said. Better results can come through working through the system.

Rodriguez felt that persons on welfare able to work should be put to work on projects such as "county roads."

Rodriguez felt that past generations "did the best they could with what they had and our job will be to do the best we can. I hope things get better."

On the problem of racism, he said: "I don't think you can take any group of people and say this group is inferior to that group. In every group, you have to take each person, one at a time."

He deplored cuts in funds for the U.S. space program, contending it would be better to cut foreign aid. "Some countries are 'our friends only because we give them money,' and if we cut them off, they wouldn't be friendly," he said. "I think space is more relevant."

Open Space Needs Aired At Symposium

Marin County and municipal officials joined conservationists and recreation enthusiasts in a daylong symposium Saturday in College of Marin's Olney Hall, sponsored by the county parks and recreation commission.

Views, emotions and complaints were exchanged by the 135 persons as they discussed open space and recreation.

The cities told of their need for professional recreation advice. It was decided that the county should hire a full-time recreation consultant to work with them.

The problem of where to get money, money to buy open space, money to pay for recreation and land facilities, kept popping up in each group. Tax shelters to private individuals who lease land for open space and outright public purchase of open space through a major bond issue were both offered as solutions.

There was a general call for a study by Laurence Livingston who conducted a widely discussed Palo Alto open space research project which concluded it was less expensive for Palo Alto to buy land and put it in open space than let it be developed.

Alfred Heller, president of California Tomorrow and founder of the environmentalist magazine "Cry California," suggested in a brief opening speech that the federal government create a special low-interest loan program. Such loans would be made to local and state governments to help purchase open space and develop recreation facilities.

San Anselmo City Councilman Lewis W. Stewart, using a 30-foot wide screen, showed slides of Marin's present and planned parks. The slides, which drew appreciative oohs and ahs from the audience, is now available from the county parks commission, Stewart said.

The afternoon session was divided into five panels creating informal discussion groups. They were titled: "Recycling People's Awareness," "Today . . . Tomorrow . . . Or?," "Who Needs Recreation," "What Do We Need Now" and "Potpourri of Needs."

The discussion groups called for the gamut of recreation facilities. They ran from fisherman casting pools, small sailboat training lakes to tennis courts in Sausalito and a children's town recreation program for Ross.

Small speeches were made by various people grinding their pet projects, like Pieter S. Myers's argument for a nine-county environmental board.

Alarm bells were rung when biology teacher Stephen Seigel said that the 206,038 people now in Marin will double their numbers in 40 years. "The time to put land aside is 20-years ago," he commented.

Solutions were offered in sometimes dramatic fashion. Thelma Dickerson, chairman of the Marin County Conservation League's pollution committee called for "a clamping down on harmful practices, like cars."

Dorothy Olson of Fairfax, attending Marin County director of parks and recreation Albert Boro's "Potpourri" session, brought up the subject of the Marin Town and Country Club.

Aetna Insurance and Kaiser Corporation, said by club property owner Max Friedman to be the largest joint owners of land in California, are interested in buying the property for a seven figure price.

Everyone felt it would be a fine readymade acquisition for the county parks and recreation system.

Everett Jensen of Fairfax argued against developing the club as apartments, stating the city sewer system couldn't accommodate the waste from a large complex. He thought it would cost more to improve the sewers then the city would reap in tax benefits.

Friedman, who has been trying to sell the property for six years, said he has never been approached by the parks and recreation department. He said what Kaiser and Aetna proposed "will be a real credit to the community."

Determined recreation workers and enthusiasts studded San Francisco Chronicle reporter George Draper's "Who Needs Recreation" panel.

Ken Potter, decked out in his Marin Cycle Club uniform, having just ridden-up to the symposium, called for bicycle paths. He also wanted bike racks atop the Marin Transit buses.

Kim Vogley, a design student creating a recreation program in Marin City, wanted those transit buses to make summer weekend runs through Marin to various recreation facilities and open space areas.

Jerry Diaz, president of the Marin County Motorcycle Association, reported there are 16,000 Marin motorcyclists and said his association wants a sanctioned riding area.

The response from the symposium crowd was acerbic. Between blasts from the horseback riders, calling for motorcycles to keep off their trails, and flurries from various corners about the noisy machines, Diaz took a heavy blow from the front of the room.

A man told of Fresno's experience with sanctioned motorcycle riding areas. Fresno had set aside 2,500 acres which were torn-up within a year. He said the riders also began motorcycling outside the designated areas.

Diaz rejoined, with some support from others, that a properly chosen area would avoid tearing up the land. He added, his association would be happy to police the grounds boundaries.

Three Marin County supervisors attended. Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste, who made some opening remarks, said the "environmental protection of Marin for the '70s would be made here." Baptiste spent the rest of the day listening to discussion groups.

Extradition Waived On Drug Counts

A member of the Southern Marin Street Ministry has waived extradition proceedings in Marin Municipal Court and agreed to be returned to Virginia where he is wanted on three felony drug charges.

William J. Evans, 23, of 36 Magee Avenue, Mill Valley, was arrested on Virginia warrants Thursday near the Street Ministry office in Mll Valley, Mill Valley police said.

Police said Williams had lived in Mill Valley with a 17-year-old runaway from Virginia since last September. The girl, also being sought by Virginia Beach police, was turned over to Marin County juvenile authorities, police said.

Police said they did not know the exact nature of the charges and had learned from Virginia authorities that Williams was in Mill Valley.

Girls Report Exposure Case

Several 9-year-old girls were victims of indecent exposure Friday and Saturday while playing in front of 219 Canal Street, San Rafael, police reported.

The incidents happened about 7 p.m. Friday and 8:45 p.m. Saturday, police reported.

Both incidents involved a man described as in his late 20s or early 30s with short brown hair who sat in his car, exposed himself to the girls and then drove away.

Base's Paramedics Aid Stricken Seaman

Three paramedics from the 41st Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Center at Hamilton Air Force Base yesterday aided a stricken seaman aboard a Japanese freighter off the coast of Oregon.

The center received an alert at 4:30 a.m. that a crewman aboard the freighter World Pride, 600 miles west of Oregon, was bleeding internally and vomiting blood.

The three paramedics, M/Sgt. Robert Loud, S/Sgt. Terry Wells, and Airman 1/C John P. Richardson were flown to the scene, arriving at 7:30 a.m. They parachuted into the ocean about 100 yards from the ship, and were picked up by the ship's crew.

While Lt. Col. Charles R. Bauer, the flight surgeon aboard the plane, radioed instructions, the trio pumped the crewman's stomach and applied ice packs.

The crewman was reported in good condition today.

Diablo Triangle Hearing Set

The Novato Planning Commission will hold a hearing on rezoning of the Diablo Triangle at 8 p.m. today at the Novato Community House.

The proposal is to zone the area for planned multiple development, in keeping with the city's recently adopted master plan.

Owners of land, now zoned for commercial uses, have protested the change.

The commission also will consider precise development plans for 80 townhouse units at Park San Marin, Phase III. The units are slated on the north side of San Marin Drive between San Carlos Way and Simmons Lane.

21-Year-Old Is Arrested After Crash

A 21-year-old San Rafael man was arrested Saturday on suspicion of felony drunken driving and leaving the scene of an accident, San Rafael police reported today.

William Carl Smith of 20 G Street, was released on $1,200 bail to appear at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in Marin Municipal Court.

Frank Joseph Posey, 17, of 20 East Crescent Dive, San Rafael, was treated at Marin General Hospital for an injured leg.

According to police, Smith turned west on Second Street from G Street at 10:21 p.m., hitting cars driven by Marcus Wayne Tikotsky, 17, of 388 Devon Drive, San Rafael and Ruth H. Crowley, 61, of Oakland, both eastbound on Second Street. Posey was a passenger in Tikotsky's car.

Smith left the scene of the accident and later was picked up at the home of Michele L. Bell at 2069 A Fifth Avenue, police reported.

Probe Of Burglary

A 22-year-old San Anselmo man has been arrested on suspicion of burglarizing the garage of another San Anselmo man.

Officers said today, Kenneth Paul Botai of 103 Lansdale Avenuewas arrested Friday on a warrant alleging he attempted to steal a bicycle Wednesday from the garage of Michael Murphy, 15 Pastori Avenue.

Officers said Murphy's wife saw Botai in the garage and when she asked what he was doing, he replied he was looking for his dog's lost ball.

Later, Mrs. Murphy told police, she noticed that her husband's $450 bicycle had been tampered with.

Botai was arrested at his home. His brother, Mark Steven Botai, 19, was arrested Saturday on suspicion of burglarizing Family Records, 87 Red Hill Avenue.

He was observed by police leaving the store after officers were tipped by the store's silent burglar alarm.

In Saturday's report of the crime, Botai's name was misspelled.

The elder Botai was booked into Marin County Jail where he remained in lieu of $1,875 bail and was scheduled to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Ross Trustees To Study Budget

The Ross School District Board will continue discussion of a proposed $569,672 budget for next year at a meeting at 7:45 p.m. today in the school library.

The proposed budget would be almost 8 per cent higher than this year's budget.

Also on the agenda for the meeting is a report on the expanded creative arts program at the school as well as one on the earth workshop curriculum proposal.

Driver Dies; Auto Into Train's Path

A 30-year-old Petaluma woman was killed Friday when in spite of warning signals she drove into the path of a freight train at Ely Road, near Old Redwood Highway, Petaluma.

Laura May Enix of 1305 St. Francis Drive, a student at Sonoma State College, was pronounced dead at the scene.

Donald Tannehill of the Sonoma County coroners office said warning signals were in operation at the crossing when the accident occurred at 3:40 p.m. He said the train engineer had been blowing the whistle intermittently and then sounded it continually when he saw the car approach the tracks.

Tennehill said Mrs. Enix never gave any indication of noticing the oncoming train. "She must have had something else on her mind," he said. Mrs. Enix had been en route to a friend's home to pick up children to babysit, he said.

A native of Torrington, Wyo., she spent most of her life there and had moved to Petaluma in 1968 to attend Sonoma State.

She is survived by three daughters, Mary Sue, Jo Anne, and Ida L. and a son, Marvin all of the family home; her mother, Jo Anne Misslitz of Belmont; a sister, Mary L. Clasby of Grants Pass, Ore., and a brother, Leland R. Jones of Redwood City.

Funeral arrangments were pending today at the Sorensen Funeral Home, Petaluma.

Ross Driver Killed When Car Strikes Tree

A 21-year-old Ross man was killed early yesterday when his car hit a tree on the Miracle Mile, according to San Anselmo police.

The man, Harold Percival Hutton III of 24 Camino Bueno, was dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital at 3:10 a.m. He was the manager of the Texaco gas station in Corte Madera.

He was the seventh person killed on Marin County Highways this year. Fourteen persons were killed by this time last year.

Police said the front end of Hutton's car was pushed back three feet and the speedometer was stuck at 75 miles per hour. There was no skid mark on the road in front of the tree at Red Hill Avenue, west of Sequoia Avenue, officers said.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Keaton's Mortuary.

Recycling Count

BOISE, Idaho (BW) — Lucky Breweries has collected more than 5,000,000 of its used bottles and cans since launching a recycling program late last year, according to president Peter N. T. Widdrington.

GOP Magazine Hits Hartke On Prisoners

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Republican National Committee, in its weekly publication "Monday," said today Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., was wrong in saying prisoners of war are traditionally repatriated only after hostilities end.

The committee said the Library of Congress prepared a survey for the House Foreign Affairs subcommittee which said there were POW exchanges during wartime at least as far back as the American Revolution, repeated during most subsequent conflicts.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Beware: Twice Told Tales May Cause Some Trouble

One of our early American novelists did pretty well with an effort called "Twice Told Tales," but there is reason to doubt that he was ever much of a bridge player. He would have run out of partners if he had tried to tell the same tale twice at the bridge table. At any rate, that was South's experience in today's hand.

ENTIRE STORY

South told his entire story when he jumped to two diamonds at his first turn. By the time his second turn came, it was clear that the hand "belonged" to the opponents and that North could have very little help.

In a situation of this kind, it is the sheerest folly for a player to tell his story a second time. The opponents may decide that they have no game and that a penalty double will therefore yield them the biggest return.

If South had passed three hearts, West would have bid four clubs and East would have passed. East would make 10 or 11 tricks, depending on the defense, and no great damage would be done to either side. As the diagram shows, South was not content to speak his piece and then subside; and his second speech landed him in the soup.

HEAVY PRICE

South paid a heavy price for free speech. West opened the king of clubs and shifted to a trump on seeing dummy's singleton spade. South won and returned the ten of spades, but West stepped up with the jack in order to lead another trump. This deprived dummy of any ruffs.

South won and led another spade, and back came a club to make South ruff. When South led a third spade, the defenders led a third club, reducing declarer to West's trump length. Since South could win only his six trump tricks against this fine defense, the defenders collected a penalty of 700 points. This was many times the value of their part score.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ - 10 9 8 3 2
♥ - K
♦ - A K Q J 8 7
♣ - 4.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one diamond.

The hand is a trifle light, in high cards for an opening bid, but the playing strength makes up for the deficiency. Don't consider a shutout bid when you have length in spades. If your partner has a spade fit, you don't want to shut him out.

Today is Monday, May 17, the 137th day of 1971.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Taurus.

On this day in history:

In 1792 a group of 24 brokers met under a buttonwood tree in New York City and formed the stock market.

In 1954 the Supreme Court ruled unanimously that racial segregation in public schools was unconstitutional.

In 1957 Egypt barred Israel from sending merchant ships through the Suez Canal.

In 1960 planned summit talks in Paris between the U.S. and Russia collapsed. Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev demanded an apology from President Dwight D. Eisenhower for U2 spy plane flights over Russia.

A thought for today: American writer Bernard De Voto said, "Pessimism is only the name that men with weak nerves give to wisdom."

RAP SESSION

Air Academy Appointee Says U.S. Right In Asia

By FRANK FARRARA
(19th in a series of 24 raps)

Leonard A. Rodriguez, an 18-year-old appointee to the Air Force Academy, believes the U.S. is pursuing the right course in Vietnam.

"The U.S. cannot just pull out quickly and leave everything there," Rodriguez said. "It would create a vacuum. If we pulled out quickly it wouldn't hold up."

Rodriguez felt since the U.S. "right now couldn't go for a full victory, it would be best to get out, but not pull out. We need to leave some sort of defense."

Rodriguez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rodriguez of 1405 Buchanan Street, Novato, who is headed for a military career, said the antimilitary sentiment of other youths hasn't distracted him from his aims.

There were some comments, mostly in the nature of jokes, when he was with the Air Force Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps at Novato High School last year, he said.

Rodriguez said the definition of patriotism "depends upon the view you're looking from, but I don't think much of people going to Canada to escape the draft. I couldn't say protesters aren't patriotic because they are showing they are interested in the country.

He lamented the death of S/Sgt. Rogers D. Mobley, Air Force Recruiter from Novato, who was stabbed by a war protestor at his Berkeley office April 30.

The man wielding the knife said he was protesting killing and he was killing," Rodriguez said.

Considering the total number of Vietnam War veterans, the Vietnam War Veterans Against the War who protested in Washington, D.C., didn't represent a large proportion, he said. "A lot more aren't taking such a radical view."

Furthermore, Rodriguez said, "the things that make the newspapers are the bad things." He felt that if there were a rally in support of the troops in Vietnam, "it wouldn't make page one."

He felt that ending the military draft "would be okay as long as the services would have enough manpower," but acknowledged that the draft itself keeps enlistments up. When youths know they are subject to the draft, they pick the service they prefer and enlist, he explained.

Rodriguez expressed concern about the shortage of jobs available, particularly for young people, and the economy which he felt "probably will go into a small depression."

When the U.S. leaves Vietnam "it will hurt the economy," he said. Contracts will be "gone" and people in the aviation industry will be out of jobs, he said.

An example of the effect of a contract cancellation is the supersonic, he said. "I think SST travel would help us a lot."

Rodriguez said he didn't foresee "any split coming in this country," and felt that changes came about within the system gradually. "Most of the people who are making a lot of noise are just too impatient," he said. Better results can come through working through the system.

Rodriguez felt that persons on welfare able to work should be put to work on projects such as "county roads."

Rodriguez felt that past generations "did the best they could with what they had and our job will be to do the best we can. I hope things get better."

On the problem of racism, he said: "I don't think you can take any group of people and say this group is inferior to that group. In every group, you have to take each person, one at a time."

He deplored cuts in funds for the U.S. space program, contending it would be better to cut foreign aid. "Some countries are 'our friends only because we give them money,' and if we cut them off, they wouldn't be friendly," he said. "I think space is more relevant."

Probe Of Burglary

A 22-year-old San Anselmo man has been arrested on suspicion of burglarizing the garage of another San Anselmo man.

Officers said today, Kenneth Paul Botai of 103 Lansdale Avenuewas arrested Friday on a warrant alleging he attempted to steal a bicycle Wednesday from the garage of Michael Murphy, 15 Pastori Avenue.

Officers said Murphy's wife saw Botai in the garage and when she asked what he was doing, he replied he was looking for his dog's lost ball.

Later, Mrs. Murphy told police, she noticed that her husband's $450 bicycle had been tampered with.

Botai was arrested at his home. His brother, Mark Steven Botai, 19, was arrested Saturday on suspicion of burglarizing Family Records, 87 Red Hill Avenue.

He was observed by police leaving the store after officers were tipped by the store's silent burglar alarm.

In Saturday's report of the crime, Botai's name was misspelled.

The elder Botai was booked into Marin County Jail where he remained in lieu of $1,875 bail and was scheduled to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Ross Trustees To Study Budget

The Ross School District Board will continue discussion of a proposed $569,672 budget for next year at a meeting at 7:45 p.m. today in the school library.

The proposed budget would be almost 8 per cent higher than this year's budget.

Also on the agenda for the meeting is a report on the expanded creative arts program at the school as well as one on the earth workshop curriculum proposal.

Driver Dies; Auto Into Train's Path

A 30-year-old Petaluma woman was killed Friday when in spite of warning signals she drove into the path of a freight train at Ely Road, near Old Redwood Highway, Petaluma.

Laura May Enix of 1305 St. Francis Drive, a student at Sonoma State College, was pronounced dead at the scene.

Donald Tannehill of the Sonoma County coroners office said warning signals were in operation at the crossing when the accident occurred at 3:40 p.m. He said the train engineer had been blowing the whistle intermittently and then sounded it continually when he saw the car approach the tracks.

Tennehill said Mrs. Enix never gave any indication of noticing the oncoming train. "She must have had something else on her mind," he said. Mrs. Enix had been en route to a friend's home to pick up children to babysit, he said.

A native of Torrington, Wyo., she spent most of her life there and had moved to Petaluma in 1968 to attend Sonoma State.

She is survived by three daughters, Mary Sue, Jo Anne, and Ida L. and a son, Marvin all of the family home; her mother, Jo Anne Misslitz of Belmont; a sister, Mary L. Clasby of Grants Pass, Ore., and a brother, Leland R. Jones of Redwood City.

Funeral arrangments were pending today at the Sorensen Funeral Home, Petaluma.

Ross Driver Killed When Car Strikes Tree

A 21-year-old Ross man was killed early yesterday when his car hit a tree on the Miracle Mile, according to San Anselmo police.

The man, Harold Percival Hutton III of 24 Camino Bueno, was dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital at 3:10 a.m. He was the manager of the Texaco gas station in Corte Madera.

He was the seventh person killed on Marin County Highways this year. Fourteen persons were killed by this time last year.

Police said the front end of Hutton's car was pushed back three feet and the speedometer was stuck at 75 miles per hour. There was no skid mark on the road in front of the tree at Red Hill Avenue, west of Sequoia Avenue, officers said.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Keaton's Mortuary.

Recycling Count

BOISE, Idaho (BW) — Lucky Breweries has collected more than 5,000,000 of its used bottles and cans since launching a recycling program late last year, according to president Peter N. T. Widdrington.

GOP Magazine Hits Hartke On Prisoners

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Republican National Committee, in its weekly publication "Monday," said today Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., was wrong in saying prisoners of war are traditionally repatriated only after hostilities end.

The committee said the Library of Congress prepared a survey for the House Foreign Affairs subcommittee which said there were POW exchanges during wartime at least as far back as the American Revolution, repeated during most subsequent conflicts.

Open Space Needs Aired At Symposium

Marin County and municipal officials joined conservationists and recreation enthusiasts in a daylong symposium Saturday in College of Marin's Olney Hall, sponsored by the county parks and recreation commission.

Views, emotions and complaints were exchanged by the 135 persons as they discussed open space and recreation.

The cities told of their need for professional recreation advice. It was decided that the county should hire a full-time recreation consultant to work with them.

The problem of where to get money, money to buy open space, money to pay for recreation and land facilities, kept popping up in each group. Tax shelters to private individuals who lease land for open space and outright public purchase of open space through a major bond issue were both offered as solutions.

There was a general call for a study by Laurence Livingston who conducted a widely discussed Palo Alto open space research project which concluded it was less expensive for Palo Alto to buy land and put it in open space than let it be developed.

Alfred Heller, president of California Tomorrow and founder of the environmentalist magazine "Cry California," suggested in a brief opening speech that the federal government create a special low-interest loan program. Such loans would be made to local and state governments to help purchase open space and develop recreation facilities.

San Anselmo City Councilman Lewis W. Stewart, using a 30-foot wide screen, showed slides of Marin's present and planned parks. The slides, which drew appreciative oohs and ahs from the audience, is now available from the county parks commission, Stewart said.

The afternoon session was divided into five panels creating informal discussion groups. They were titled: "Recycling People's Awareness," "Today . . . Tomorrow . . . Or?," "Who Needs Recreation," "What Do We Need Now" and "Potpourri of Needs."

The discussion groups called for the gamut of recreation facilities. They ran from fisherman casting pools, small sailboat training lakes to tennis courts in Sausalito and a children's town recreation program for Ross.

Small speeches were made by various people grinding their pet projects, like Pieter S. Myers's argument for a nine-county environmental board.

Alarm bells were rung when biology teacher Stephen Seigel said that the 206,038 people now in Marin will double their numbers in 40 years. "The time to put land aside is 20-years ago," he commented.

Solutions were offered in sometimes dramatic fashion. Thelma Dickerson, chairman of the Marin County Conservation League's pollution committee called for "a clamping down on harmful practices, like cars."

Dorothy Olson of Fairfax, attending Marin County director of parks and recreation Albert Boro's "Potpourri" session, brought up the subject of the Marin Town and Country Club.

Aetna Insurance and Kaiser Corporation, said by club property owner Max Friedman to be the largest joint owners of land in California, are interested in buying the property for a seven figure price.

Everyone felt it would be a fine readymade acquisition for the county parks and recreation system.

Everett Jensen of Fairfax argued against developing the club as apartments, stating the city sewer system couldn't accommodate the waste from a large complex. He thought it would cost more to improve the sewers then the city would reap in tax benefits.

Friedman, who has been trying to sell the property for six years, said he has never been approached by the parks and recreation department. He said what Kaiser and Aetna proposed "will be a real credit to the community."

Determined recreation workers and enthusiasts studded San Francisco Chronicle reporter George Draper's "Who Needs Recreation" panel.

Ken Potter, decked out in his Marin Cycle Club uniform, having just ridden-up to the symposium, called for bicycle paths. He also wanted bike racks atop the Marin Transit buses.

Kim Vogley, a design student creating a recreation program in Marin City, wanted those transit buses to make summer weekend runs through Marin to various recreation facilities and open space areas.

Jerry Diaz, president of the Marin County Motorcycle Association, reported there are 16,000 Marin motorcyclists and said his association wants a sanctioned riding area.

The response from the symposium crowd was acerbic. Between blasts from the horseback riders, calling for motorcycles to keep off their trails, and flurries from various corners about the noisy machines, Diaz took a heavy blow from the front of the room.

A man told of Fresno's experience with sanctioned motorcycle riding areas. Fresno had set aside 2,500 acres which were torn-up within a year. He said the riders also began motorcycling outside the designated areas.

Diaz rejoined, with some support from others, that a properly chosen area would avoid tearing up the land. He added, his association would be happy to police the grounds boundaries.

Three Marin County supervisors attended. Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste, who made some opening remarks, said the "environmental protection of Marin for the '70s would be made here." Baptiste spent the rest of the day listening to discussion groups.

Extradition Waived On Drug Counts

A member of the Southern Marin Street Ministry has waived extradition proceedings in Marin Municipal Court and agreed to be returned to Virginia where he is wanted on three felony drug charges.

William J. Evans, 23, of 36 Magee Avenue, Mill Valley, was arrested on Virginia warrants Thursday near the Street Ministry office in Mll Valley, Mill Valley police said.

Police said Williams had lived in Mill Valley with a 17-year-old runaway from Virginia since last September. The girl, also being sought by Virginia Beach police, was turned over to Marin County juvenile authorities, police said.

Police said they did not know the exact nature of the charges and had learned from Virginia authorities that Williams was in Mill Valley.

Girls Report Exposure Case

Several 9-year-old girls were victims of indecent exposure Friday and Saturday while playing in front of 219 Canal Street, San Rafael, police reported.

The incidents happened about 7 p.m. Friday and 8:45 p.m. Saturday, police reported.

Both incidents involved a man described as in his late 20s or early 30s with short brown hair who sat in his car, exposed himself to the girls and then drove away.

Base's Paramedics Aid Stricken Seaman

Three paramedics from the 41st Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Center at Hamilton Air Force Base yesterday aided a stricken seaman aboard a Japanese freighter off the coast of Oregon.

The center received an alert at 4:30 a.m. that a crewman aboard the freighter World Pride, 600 miles west of Oregon, was bleeding internally and vomiting blood.

The three paramedics, M/Sgt. Robert Loud, S/Sgt. Terry Wells, and Airman 1/C John P. Richardson were flown to the scene, arriving at 7:30 a.m. They parachuted into the ocean about 100 yards from the ship, and were picked up by the ship's crew.

While Lt. Col. Charles R. Bauer, the flight surgeon aboard the plane, radioed instructions, the trio pumped the crewman's stomach and applied ice packs.

The crewman was reported in good condition today.

Diablo Triangle Hearing Set

The Novato Planning Commission will hold a hearing on rezoning of the Diablo Triangle at 8 p.m. today at the Novato Community House.

The proposal is to zone the area for planned multiple development, in keeping with the city's recently adopted master plan.

Owners of land, now zoned for commercial uses, have protested the change.

The commission also will consider precise development plans for 80 townhouse units at Park San Marin, Phase III. The units are slated on the north side of San Marin Drive between San Carlos Way and Simmons Lane.

21-Year-Old Is Arrested After Crash

A 21-year-old San Rafael man was arrested Saturday on suspicion of felony drunken driving and leaving the scene of an accident, San Rafael police reported today.

William Carl Smith of 20 G Street, was released on $1,200 bail to appear at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in Marin Municipal Court.

Frank Joseph Posey, 17, of 20 East Crescent Dive, San Rafael, was treated at Marin General Hospital for an injured leg.

According to police, Smith turned west on Second Street from G Street at 10:21 p.m., hitting cars driven by Marcus Wayne Tikotsky, 17, of 388 Devon Drive, San Rafael and Ruth H. Crowley, 61, of Oakland, both eastbound on Second Street. Posey was a passenger in Tikotsky's car.

Smith left the scene of the accident and later was picked up at the home of Michele L. Bell at 2069 A Fifth Avenue, police reported.

Today is Monday, May 17, the 137th day of 1971.

The moon in in its last quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn. The evening star is Saturn.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Taurus.

On this day in history:

In 1792 a group of 24 brokers met under a buttonwood tree in New York City and formed the stock market.

In 1954 the Supreme Court ruled unanimously that racial segregation in public schools was unconstitutional.

In 1957 Egypt barred Israel from sending merchant ships through the Suez Canal.

In 1960 planned summit talks in Paris between the U.S. and Russia collapsed. Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev demanded an apology from President Dwight D. Eisenhower for U2 spy plane flights over Russia.

A thought for today: American writer Bernard De Voto said, "Pessimism is only the name that men with weak nerves give to wisdom."

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Beware: Twice Told Tales May Cause Some Trouble

One of our early American novelists did pretty well with an effort called "Twice Told Tales," but there is reason to doubt that he was ever much of a bridge player. He would have run out of partners if he had tried to tell the same tale twice at the bridge table. At any rate, that was South's experience in today's hand.

Opening lead — ♣ K

ENTIRE STORY

South told his entire story when he jumped to two diamonds at his first turn. By the time his second turn came, it was clear that the hand "belonged" to the opponents and that North could have very little help.

In a situation of this kind, it is the sheerest folly for a player to tell his story a second time. The opponents may decide that they have no game and that a penalty double will therefore yield them the biggest return.

If South had passed three hearts, West would have bid four clubs and East would have passed. East would make 10 or 11 tricks, depending on the defense, and no great damage would be done to either side. As the diagram shows, South was not content to speak his piece and then subside; and his second speech landed him in the soup.

HEAVY PRICE

South paid a heavy price for free speech. West opened the king of clubs and shifted to a trump on seeing dummy's singleton spade. South won and returned the ten of spades, but West stepped up with the jack in order to lead another trump. This deprived dummy of any ruffs.

South won and led another spade, and back came a club to make South ruff. When South led a third spade, the defenders led a third club, reducing declarer to West's trump length. Since South could win only his six trump tricks against this fine defense, the defenders collected a penalty of 700 points. This was many times the value of their part score.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠- 10 9 8 3 2
♥ - K
♦- A K Q J 8 7
♣- 4.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one diamond.

The hand is a trifle light, in high cards for an opening bid, but the playing strength makes up for the deficiency. Don't consider a shutout bid when you have length in spades. If your partner has a spade fit, you don't want to shut him out.

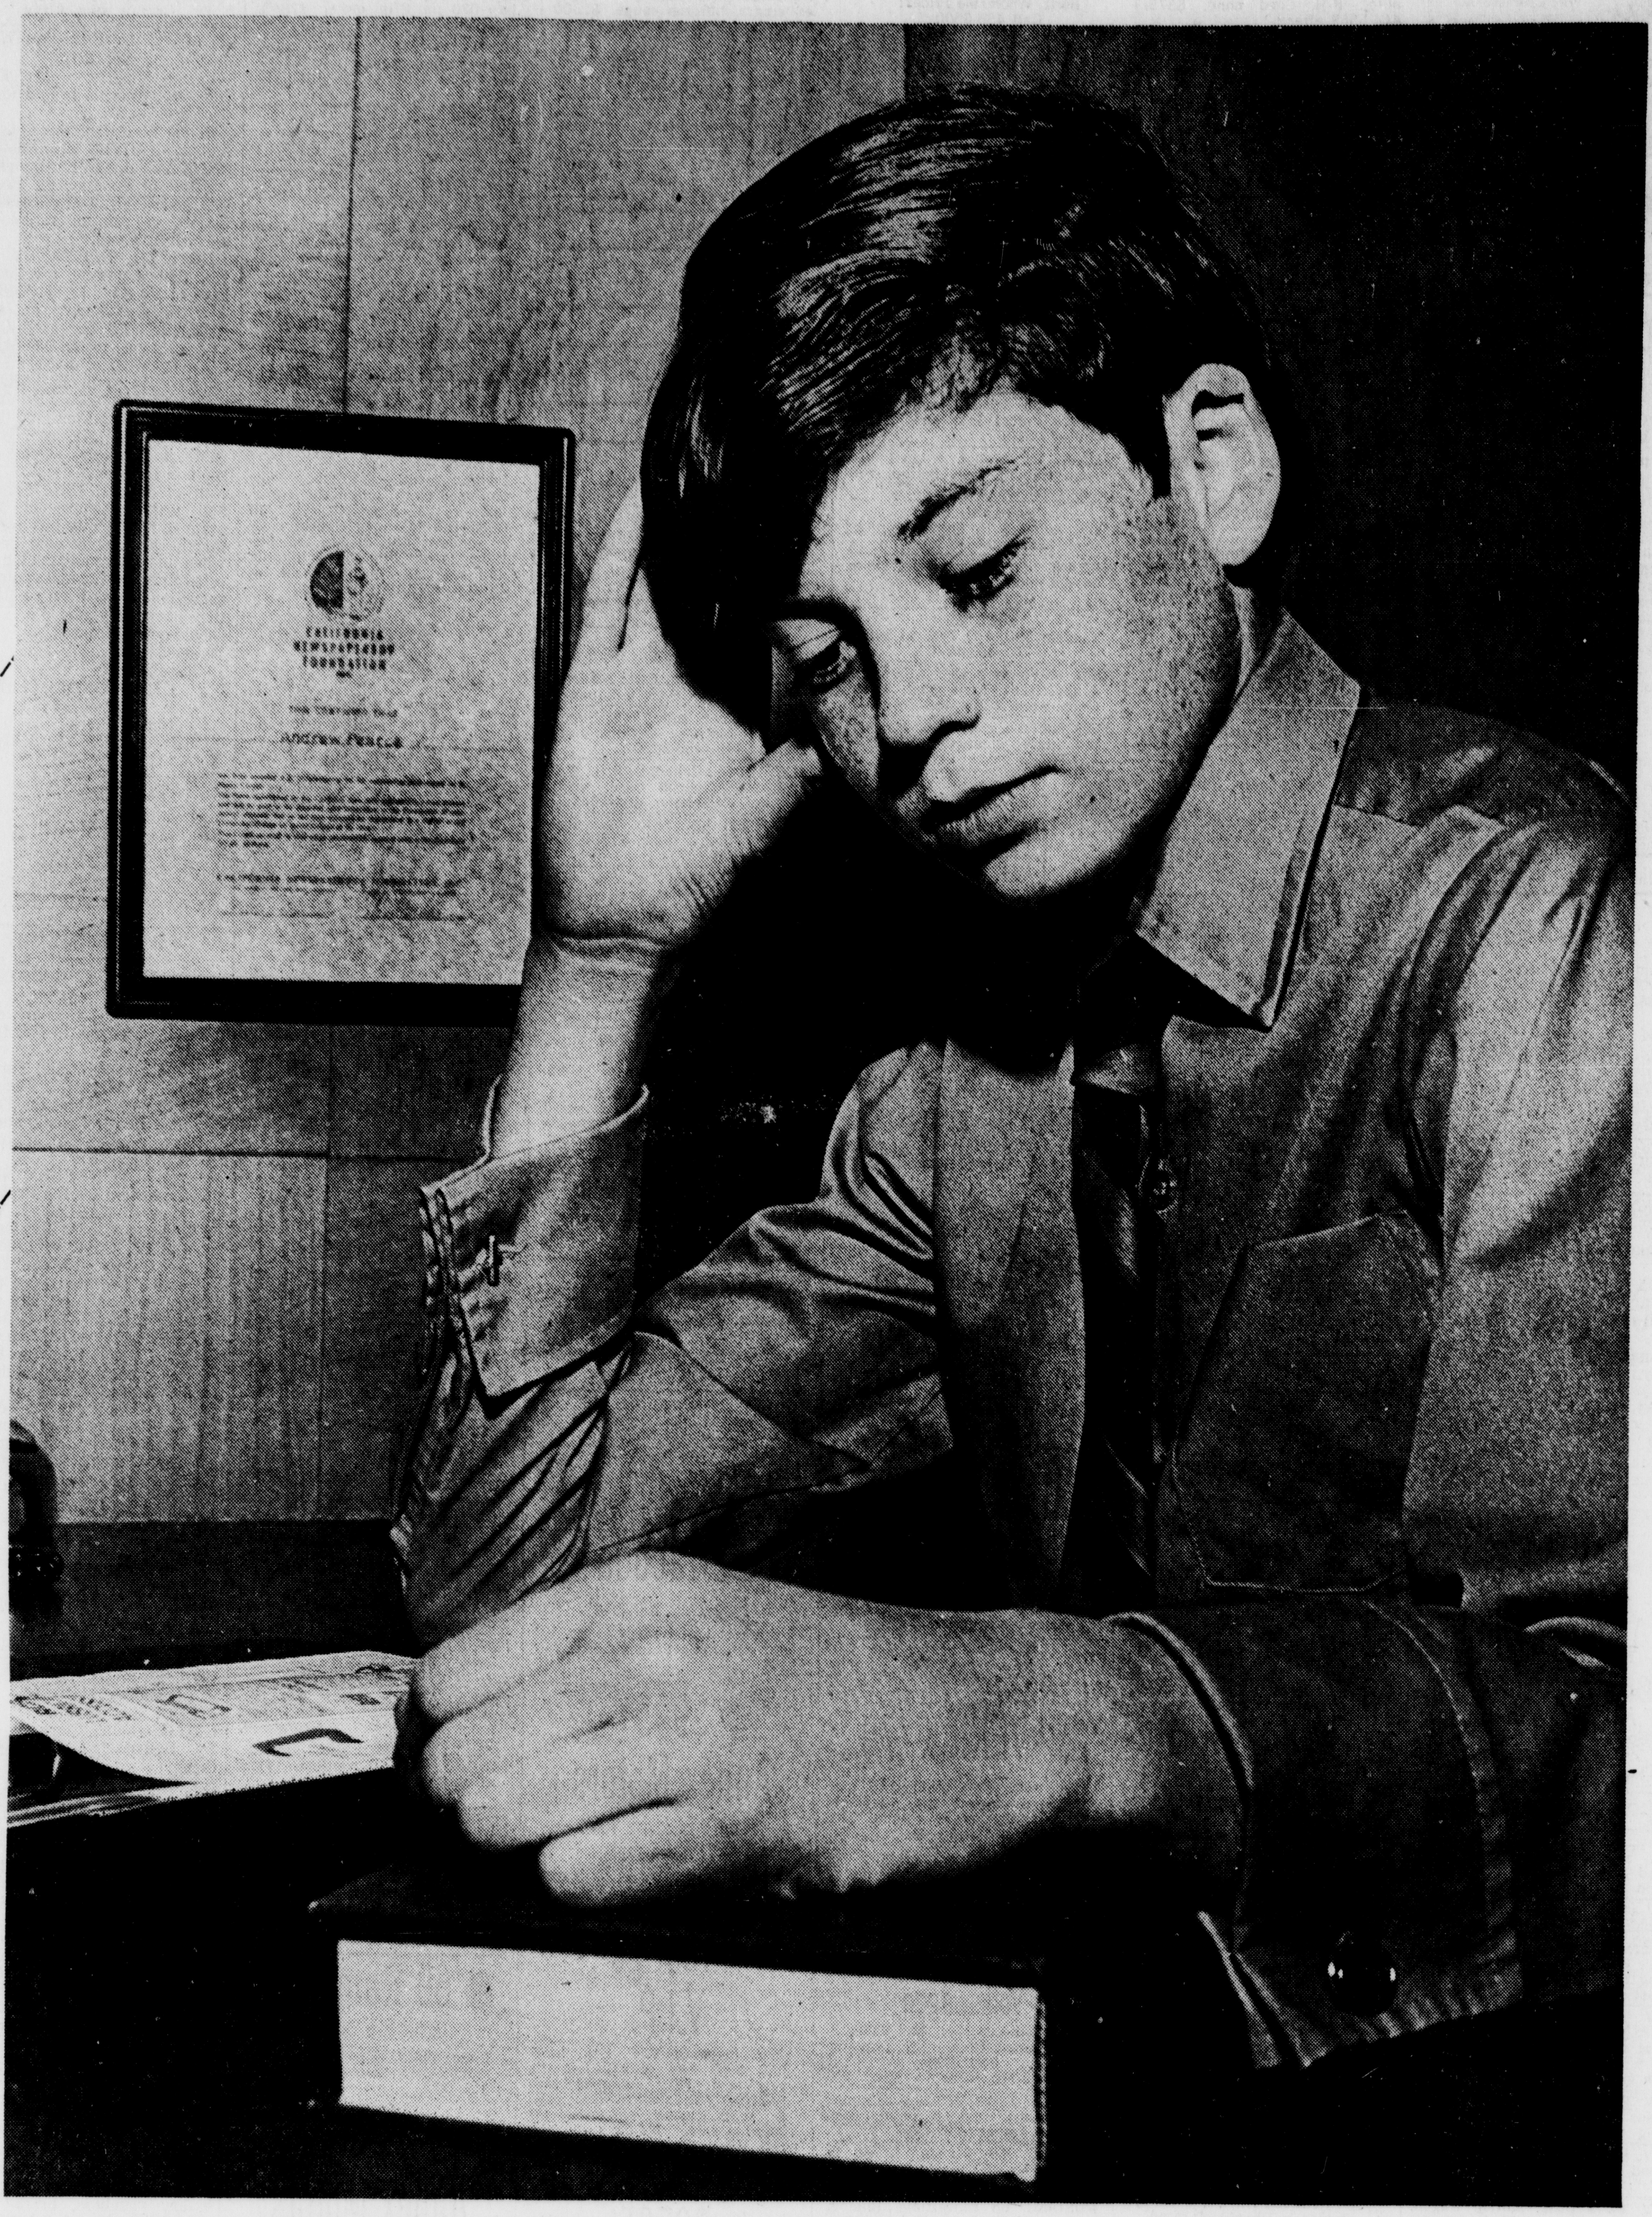
THAT'S THE CERTIFICATE ON THE WALL

Under provisions of the California Newspaperboy Foundation the scholarship is held in trust until Andy Pearce is ready for the college of his choice.



Meet Andrew Pearce. He's on his way.

He's an I-J carrier and he's just won a newspaperboy college scholarship in a demanding statewide competition.

Young Andy Pearce, at 14, is an exceptional I-J newspaperboy. He is also an "A" student at Davidson Junior High and a solid participant in school activities.

To win this scholarship he had to pass rigorous evaluations by his school, by I-J circulation supervisors and by the California Newspaperboy Foundation. Virtually every quality of attitude, scholastic attainment and business management was assessed. Andy came through the fine mesh with flying colors. Perhaps one of the finest is the sense of initiative and self-reliance which "our boy" has developed in managing his route. It can't be taught from a textbook but only in the very real world of serving people day after day, keeping accounts and being accountable. But that's Andy. And that certificate on the wall proves it. We're hardly worried about Andy's future — are you?

Consolidation Of Medical Services To Be Studied

Consolidation of all medical and health care services under one county department will be discussed tomorrow morning by Marin supervisors.

The board's all-day meeting will begin at 9 a.m. in the Civic Center Administration Building.

Thomas F. Campanella, assistant county administrator, will present his merger proposal, which would combine the following services: Public health, medical, mental health services, veterans services, conservatorships, coroner-public administrator, public guardian, and comprehensive health planning.

The consolidation idea has the support of Health Officer Carolyn B. Albrecht; James V. Burdick, veterans service officer, and Dr. Donovan O. Cooke, who is coroner-public administrator, director of community mental health services, and county medical director.

Campanella, who drew up the plan after consulting with various health and medical officials, envisages this chain of command:

Dr. Cooke would be the overall head of the department. He would have two assistants — Dr. Albrecht as health officer and Dr. John Guerrant as program chief of mental health. Below them would come Jay Shinohara as chief of administration and planning; Dr. T. D. Hiatt, chief of medical services; Burdick, chief of special services; and Eugene R. Fontaine, in charge of the coroner and public administrator division.

The supervisors also will consider County Administrator Alan Bruce's proposal to streamline this year's budget discussions. Bruce recommended that undisputed departmental budgets be grouped under a "nonpolicy" category so that the bulk of the time can be spent on controversial departments where major differences exist.

Other items on tomorrow's agenda include:

WILD RIVERS — Supervisor Michael Wornum will ask for endorsement of SB 107, authored by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, aimed at saving three scenic rivers in Northern California from despoilment.

AUDITORIUM — United Veterans Council will ask the county to drop the word "veterans" from the Veterans Memorial Auditorium.

PARKS — Plans will be submitted for $120,000 in improvements at Stafford Lake and $100,000 in improvements at McNear Beach.

SEASHORE — The county planning director and the director of parks and recreation will ask for more information from the National Park Service on the master plan for Point Reyes National Seashore, including the wisdom of opening MountVision road to automobile traffic.

LARRY MARKS — A request by Larry Marks Jr. for 15 marina apartments on 10.5 acres of property just north of Golden Hinde Boatel on the west shore of Tomales Bay. The property includes Chicken Ranch Beach, which residents of Inverness claim is public property because of long and continued use by the public.

APARTMENTS — John Samo of 26 Roosevelt Avenue, Santa Venetia, will ask for apartment zoning of his single-family residential property. Samo is appealing a denial by the county planning commission.

NOVATO CREEK — The county counsel will present a proposed interim zoning ordinance for lower Novato Creek, from Highway 101 to San Pablo Bay. The aim is to regulate development or filling along the creek so that future flood control work will not be impaired.

Midshipmen Booted On Pot

ANNAPOLIS, MD. (UPI)— Three more midshipmen were expelled from the Naval Academy Sunday for possession and use of marijuana, bringing to 12 the number dismissed for using drugs since the beginning of the school year.

The eight most recent dismissals came after a special investigation launched May 6 when two middies were found smoking marijuana in the basement of a dormitory.

The academy announced it has recommended those upperclassmen expelled not be taken into the military enlisted ranks. Normally, an upperclassman dismissed from the academy is immediately subject to the draft.

Truck Stolen

Thomas Washington, 1183 Ramona Lane, Petaluma, told police his pick-up truck was stolen Saturday while parked on Petaluma Boulevard North at Washington Street. It was described as a white 1969 Chevrolet Fleetwood pickup.

Perishable Food Dating Is Proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — All packaged perishable foods would have to bear dates on the containers after which the contents might become stale or lose its nutritional value, under a proposal today by two congressmen.

Reps. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., and Bob Eckhardt, D-Tex., said in a statement that a bill they will introduce would give consumers "personal policing powers over the sale of packaged perishable and semi perishable foods."

"Most processed food is code-dated by the processor," Rosenthal said. "But the hundreds of different codes — too often hybrids of letters and numbers — are almost always undecipherable to consumers and frequently to food store employes as well."

Their bill would permit the sale of food still on the shelves after the stamped "pull date" if the content is "wholesome, is separated from other food, and is clearly identified as having passed the pull date."

THAT'S THE CERTIFICATE ON THE WALL

Under provisions of the California Newspaperboy Foundation the scholarship is held in trust until Andy Pearce is ready for the college of his choice.

Meet Andrew Pearce. He's on his way.

He's an I-J carrier and he's just won a newspaperboy college scholarship in a demanding statewide competition.

Young Andy Pearce, at 14, is an exceptional I-J newspaperboy. He is also an "A" student at Davidson Junior High and a solid participant in school activities.

To win this scholarship he had to pass rigorous evaluations by his school, by I-J circulation supervisors and by the California Newspaperboy Foundation. Virtually every quality of attitude, scholastic attainment and business management was assessed. Andy came through the fine mesh with flying colors. Perhaps one of the finest is the sense of initiative and self-reliance which "our boy" has developed in managing his route. It can't be taught from a textbook but only in the very real world of serving people day after day, keeping accounts and being accountable. But that's Andy. And that certificate on the wall proves it. We're hardly worried about Andy's future — are you?

A Quail's Nest Holds Up Log For Production

UKIAH, Calif. (UPI) — A small part of the lumber supply from Georgia-Pacific Corp. operations will be a little slow reaching market.

The firm said Vestor Sims, operator of a power loader for the firm, was attacked by a quail when he started to move a pile of recently stored logs.

Sims stopped the loader and investigated. He found one of the logs had a soft rotten section and the mother quail had built her nest there. The nest contained eight eggs.

Sims gently moved the several ton log to a spot off-limits to the loading machinery. Mrs. Quail laid another egg.

Officially, G-P said, it has "returned the log to inventory pending hatching and preflight training."

The sound portion of the log will be made into lumber about mid-June.

Education Board To Study Policy

The Marin County Board of Education will continue study of its policy manual and new job descriptions for classified personnel at 8 p.m. today at the Forest Meadows Development Center in San Rafael.

Why thousands of Americans will spend $9,500 for a Mercedes-Benz that's two feet shorter than American luxury cars.

At Mercedes-Benz, we define luxury a bit differently than most automobile makers.

To our way of thinking, size for the sake of size is not luxury. It is waste.

If adding an inch to a Mercedes-Benz won't contribute to some function, Mercedes-Benz engineers won't add it.

The Mercedes-Benz 280SEL is more than two feet shorter than the three leading domestic luxury cars.

Yet it is a curious fact that the SEL provides more room than any of them.

Eric Dahlquist, in a recent issue of Motor Trend, commented on the size of the American luxury car. "Stunned by such mass, the passenger enters to find that size does not equate with room, that the SEL actually wins in the space race."

The engineer is king

A Mercedes-Benz is as different from a domestic luxury car as automobiles, each with four wheels and an engine in front, can be.

Mercedes-Benz is one of the few automobile makers left in the world where the engineer is still king.

Design decisions are made by an engineer, not a styling whiz or a marketing wizard. At Mercedes-Benz, the engineering department still tells the sales department when a new model is ready.

"The 'L' in SEL means that the car has a four-inch longer wheelbase than the normal 280SE, but it should stand for 'limo,' the back seat area is that large." —Motor Trend

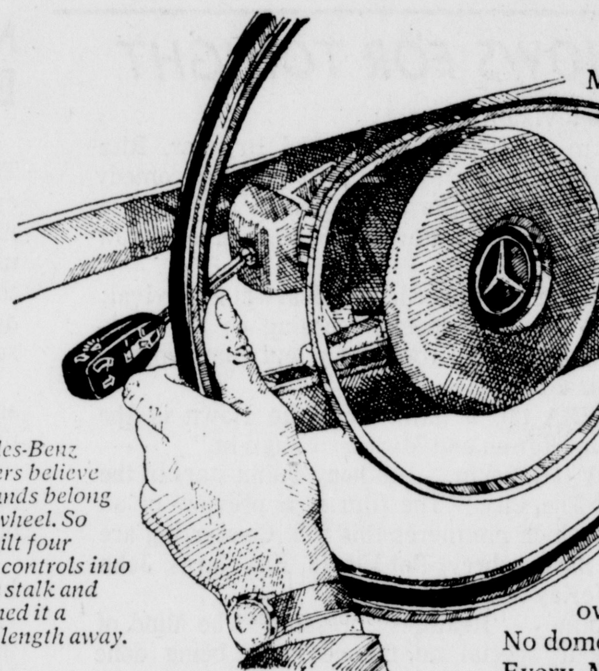
The result is an automobile that has been built to an engineering ideal.

And an automobile that is fundamentally different than any built in the States.

From oddity to necessity

To the uninitiated, this approach may appear to have disadvantages.

Your first time behind the wheel of a Mercedes-Benz is likely to produce a vague sense of disorientation.



Mercedes-Benz engineers believe both hands belong on the wheel. So they built four critical controls into a single stalk and positioned it a finger's length away.

In its recommended position, the seat seems too far from the wheel. And it's much too unyielding to be called "luxurious."

But that strange seat position lets you drive with the wheel at arm's length and your back firmly against the seat's. And that gives you better control.

The "unyielding" seat, it turns out, was designed by orthopedic surgeons to give firm support. You'll appreciate it more after seven hundred miles than you do after seven.

If you press the floor switch to get your high beams, you'll get a squirt in the windshield instead.

That's because a curious-looking stalk, positioned precisely a finger's length from the wheel, embodies four different controls.

High and low beams, turn signals, windshield wipers, and their two-speed control all can be operated without taking your hands from the wheel. Or your eyes from the road.

Such oddities, admittedly, take some getting used to.

But there's a reason for every one.

And, before you know it, the oddities have become necessities.

No domestic sedan...

It is at the wheel a man discovers the performance characteristics that make Mercedes-Benz unique among the world's motor cars.

Mercedes-Benz engineers believe that a car's abilities should be limited only by road and conditions—not by its own design.

Every Mercedes-Benz has fully independent suspension front and rear. A design concept used, without exception, on 200-mph grand prix cars. It provides the maximum possible cornering power over a variety of road surfaces.

No domestic sedan has it.

Every Mercedes-Benz is equipped with four massive disc brakes. Standard, not optional. Because, to our way of thinking, it's unthinkable to relegate the best brakes you can build to the option list.

No domestic sedan has them on all four wheels.

And every Mercedes-Benz has a steering system so precisely balanced that the car seeks a straight path on its own.

No domestic sedan can match it.

Even the Grand Mercedes 600, a three-ton limousine, notes Motor Trend, "... will outrun and outmaneuver many sports cars."

Join the club

But the final word on the distinction between Mercedes-Benz and domestic luxury cars belongs to a group of Mercedes-Benz owners.

Owners so enthusiastic that they've formed thirty-two chapters of the Mercedes-Benz Club of America.

Each year they hold more than 60 local competitions and 3 national rallies.

It's their opportunity, in performance events, to extend their cars to the limits of which a Mercedes-Benz is capable.

Not everyone joins the club.

Mercedes-Benz owners who rally their cars are a relatively small share of our owners.

But, then, no domestic luxury car even has a club.

$9,500?

Our pursuit of engineering ideals has placed Mercedes-Benz automobiles among the world's most costly.

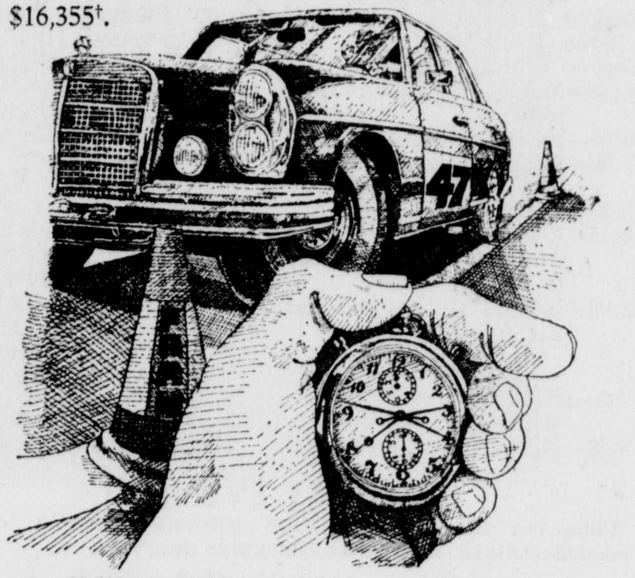
The suggested retail price of the Mercedes-Benz 280SEL, without options, is $8,663†.

With such amenities as the optional electric sun roof and air conditioning, you can spend over $9,500.

However, all Mercedes-Benz automobiles do not cost $9,500.

Nine models cost less, beginning with our 220 Sedan at $5,445† and including our 280SL two-seaters.

And six cost more, including the 300SEL 6.3—dubbed by Road & Track "merely the world's greatest sedan..."—at $16,355†.



Any $9,500 car can look good in the country club driveway. Mercedes-Benz looks good in places like Lime Rock, Road America and Laguna Seca.

But if your tastes do not run to the conventional luxury car, we think you'll find Mercedes-Benz automobiles well worth the price you pay.

And if you'll fill out the coupon below, we'll send you our least expensive production. A full-color Mercedes-Benz brochure, absolutely free.

Consolidation Of Medical Services To Be Studied

Consolidation of all medical and health care services under one county department will be discussed tomorrow morning by Marin supervisors.

The board's all-day meeting will begin at 9 a.m. in the Civic Center Administration Building.

Thomas F. Campanella, assistant county administrator, will present his merger proposal, which would combine the following services: Public health, medical, mental health services, veterans services, conservatorships, coroner-public administrator, public guardian, and comprehensive health planning.

The consolidation idea has the support of Health Officer Carolyn B. Albrecht; James V. Burdick, veterans service officer, and Dr. Donovan O. Cooke, who is coroner-public administrator, director of community mental health services, and county medical director.

Campanella, who drew up the plan after consulting with various health and medical officials, envisages this chain of command:

Dr. Cooke would be the overall head of the department. He would have two assistants — Dr. Albrecht as health officer and Dr. John Guerrant as program chief of mental health. Below them would come Jay Shinohara as chief of administration and planning; Dr. T. D. Hiatt, chief of medical services; Burdick, chief of special services; and Eugene R. Fontaine, in charge of the coroner and public administrator division.

The supervisors also will consider County Administrator Alan Bruce's proposal to streamline this year's budget discussions. Bruce recommended that undisputed departmental budgets be grouped under a "nonpolicy" category so that the bulk of the time can be spent on controversial departments where major differences exist.

Other items on tomorrow's agenda include:

WILD RIVERS — Supervisor Michael Wornum will ask for endorsement of SB 107, authored by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, aimed at saving three scenic rivers in Northern California from despoilment.

AUDITORIUM — United Veterans Council will ask the county to drop the word "veterans" from the Veterans Memorial Auditorium.

PARKS — Plans will be submitted for $120,000 in improvements at Stafford Lake and $100,000 in improvements at McNear Beach.

SEASHORE — The county planning director and the director of parks and recreation will ask for more information from the National Park Service on the master plan for Point Reyes National Seashore, including the wisdom of opening MountVision road to automobile traffic.

LARRY MARKS — A request by Larry Marks Jr. for 15 marina apartments on 10.5 acres of property just north of Golden Hinde Boatel on the west shore of Tomales Bay. The property includes Chicken Ranch Beach, which residents of Inverness claim is public property because of long and continued use by the public.

APARTMENTS — John Samo of 26 Roosevelt Avenue, Santa Venetia, will ask for apartment zoning of his single-family residential property. Samo is appealing a denial by the county planning commission.

NOVATO CREEK — The county counsel will present a proposed interim zoning ordinance for lower Novato Creek, from Highway 101 to San Pablo Bay. The aim is to regulate development or filling along the creek so that future flood control work will not be impaired.

Midshipmen Booted On Pot

ANNAPOLIS, MD. (UPI)— Three more midshipmen were expelled from the Naval Academy Sunday for possession and use of marijuana, bringing to 12 the number dismissed for using drugs since the beginning of the school year.

The eight most recent dismissals came after a special investigation launched May 6 when two middies were found smoking marijuana in the basement of a dormitory.

The academy announced it has recommended those upperclassmen expelled not be taken into the military enlisted ranks. Normally, an upperclassman dismissed from the academy is immediately subject to the draft.

Truck Stolen

Thomas Washington, 1183 Ramona Lane, Petaluma, told police his pick-up truck was stolen Saturday while parked on Petaluma Boulevard North at Washington Street. It was described as a white 1969 Chevrolet Fleetwood pickup.

Perishable Food Dating Is Proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — All packaged perishable foods would have to bear dates on the containers after which the contents might become stale or lose its nutritional value, under a proposal today by two congressmen.

Reps. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., and Bob Eckhardt, D-Tex., said in a statement that a bill they will introduce would give consumers "personal policing powers over the sale of packaged perishable and semi perishable foods."

"Most processed food is code-dated by the processor," Rosenthal said. "But the hundreds of different codes — too often hybrids of letters and numbers — are almost always undecipherable to consumers and frequently to food store employes as well."

Their bill would permit the sale of food still on the shelves after the stamped "pull date" if the content is "wholesome, is separated from other food, and is clearly identified as having passed the pull date."

HOW'S THE VIEW UP THERE?

Jim Handyside of the San Francisco Scots was head and shoulders above the competition — in his case Carlos San Martin (4) and Edgar Sagastume of the San Francisco Athletic Club — during a charity soccer game yesterday at College of Marin. The teams played to a 2-2 tie after All-American Hans Friessen of USF booted four goals in an 8-1 victory by Guadalajara over Concordia. About 1,000 fans saw the games.

BRAZDA, GALLARDO

Two Marin Tar Players On All-Conference Team

Despite a season-ending slide in which they lost their last five games, the College of Marin Tars have landed two players on the 1971 Camino Norte Conference all-league baseball team.

Outfielder Larry Brazda, the league's third leading hitter, and power-laden first baseman Rafael Gallardo were named to the 11-man first team, which was announced today. The Tars of Kentfield also enjoyed two second team selections, pitcher Dennis Bueler and second baseman Mike Parnow.

Canada of Redwood City, which won the CNC flag with a 15-6 record on the strength of a fantastic second half of the season, placed four men on the first team, while third place Contra Costa of San Pablo (12-9) and fifth place Marin (11-10) landed two each.

Brazda, who accompanied his team's tailspin during the final two weeks with a slight slump of his own, ended the year hitting .384. A freshman, he had 30 hits in 78 at bats, and led the loop in doubles with seven.

Not far behind Brazda was Gallardo, the sophomore firstsacker checked in at .351, the seventh best average in the league, and he led all hitters with four doubles. He also finished second in home runs with four, and third in runs batted in with 19.

Bueler, a freshman, posted a 5-4 record with a 2.34 earned run average, which rated eighth best in the league. He struck out 54 batters and walked 31 while working in more innings — 81 — than any other pitcher.

Marin's other all-star, Parnow, hit .308 with three doubles and two triples. He too is a freshman. Dazzling on defense, he provided the foundation for Marin's exceptional double play combination.

The rest of the first team includes pitchers Cliff Holland of Canada and Darrell Dickens of Contra Costa, both freshmen, catcher Roger Keilig, second baseman Ray Cocco and shortstop Bob Brassea, all from Canada and all freshmen, third baseman Marv Webb, a freshman from Contra Costa, and in the outfield a pair of sophomores, Elgin Williams from Solano of Vacaville and Greg Quinlin from DeAnza of Cupertino. Greg Ojeda, a sophomore from West Valley, was chosen as an alternate.

Battle On For Plunkett's Spot

STANFORD (UPI) —Despite the absence of All America quarterback Jim Plunkett, Stanford football coach John Ralston sees a rosy future.

"We'll be better than we were last year," said Ralston after watching a spring intrasquad scrimmage Saturday. That's saying a mouthful because last season his Indians won the tough Pacific-8 Conference title and upset Ohio State in the Rose Bowl.

One of the reasons Ralston is so optimistic is because of the play of quarterback Mike Boryla, one of three players battling to succeed Plunkett. Boryla is the son of former basketball great Vince Boryla who is president of the Utah Stars of the ABA.

Athletics Home Vs. Brewers

KANSAS CITY (UPI) — Shoddy relief pitching ruined the 1971 debut of fastballing righthander John Odom of the Oakland Athletics.

Troubled all spring with a sore elbow, Odom started against Kansas City in the second game of a doubleheader Sunday and hurled six strong innings. He left at the end of the sixth leading 3-2.

But relievers Darold Knowles, Bob Locker and Ron Klimkowski opened the flood gates for four runs in the seventh and four more in the eighth to sink the A's 10-4. Locker, now 2-1, got stuck with the defeat after he had saved a 4-2 win for Chuck Dobson and the A's in the opener.

Despite the split and a 5-4 loss to the Royals Saturday, the A's finished the road trip with a 7-4 record. They left Oakland May 3 atop the American League West by 2 1-2 games and now enjoy a five-game bulge over runnerup Minnesota.

Today is an off day for the A's. They return to action Tuesday night at the Oakland Coliseum against the Milwaukee Brewers. Minnesota and California follow to round out an eight-game homestand.

Odom struck out three and didn't issue a walk while allowing three hits in six innings. However, one of the blows was a two-run homer by Paul Schall. A's manager Dick Williams took Odom out of the game at the end of the sixth because he felt he had gone far enough in his first outing.

Then Knowles was touched for two hits and two runs; Locker was ineffective, giving up three more runs, and Klimkowski couldn't get anybody out in the eighth while uncorking three wild pitches and getting tagged for three hits and three more runs.

Mike McCormick, former Cy Young Award winner with the San Francisco Giants, started his first game for Kansas City and departed in the sixth inning, trailing 3-2.

Signal Callers Vie For Cal Job

BERKELEY (UPI) —California football coach Ray Willsey has given Reed Chastang a slight edge over junior college transfer Jay Cruze as quarterback of the 1971 Bears football team.

"I think it was apparent that Reed had a little the better of the two today," said Willsey after watching Chastang guide the blues to a 16-10 win over Cruze's White team in a scrimmage that concluded spring practice Saturday.

Chastang, who saw four minutes of varsity play last season, hit on 10 of 19 passes for 99 yards. He also gained 103 yards rushing in 14 tries including a 28-yard run.

Third Straight Win

ALBANY (UPI)—Big Jess ($6.40) powered to his third straight victory by defeating Dizzy Babe by a length Saturday in the $20,000 added Alameda Claiming Stakes at Golden Gate Fields. Shakazu finished third and Damage Control fourth in the field of six.

Giants Leave For Chicago With A Nine-Game Lead

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Walt Alston heaved a sigh of relief.

"It was a bigger game for us than for them," the Los Angeles skipper said of his Dodgers' 9-6 victory Sunday over the San Francisco Giants.

"If we lose," Alston went on, "then we are 11 games out. Winning saved us two games which we might need later."

Sunday's game was a nightmare of sorts for Alston and Giants manager Charlie Fox, but a pure delight for the biggest crowd of the year in Candlestick Park —a fullhouse of 33,981 that pushed the threeday attendance for the weekend series to 98,336.

First, it took three hours and 31 minutes to play the game. The Dodgers used five pitchers, the Giants six. There were eight errors, four by each side. Bobby Bonds hit a homer for the Giants; Wes Parker clouted one for the Dodgers.

Additionally, Willie Mays stole two bases and hit the 488th double of his career. Richie Allen, Tito Fuentes, Maury Wills and Steve Garvey had a stolen base.

It was Parker's homer that tied the score for the Dodgers at 5-5 in the eighth after Bonds had shot the Giants in front, 53, with a three-run drive in the sixth.

After Parker's homer, everything came up roses for the Dodgers while the Giants' relief staff, rested four days last week, fell apart.

With Don McMahon pitching in the eighth, Tom Haller followed Parker's homer with his third hit of the game, a single. That finished McMahon, who wound up the loser (2-2), and brought on Jerry Johnson, one of San Francisco's most reliable relievers this year.

Johnson walked Jim Lefebvre but retired Garvey on a popup. Then he got pinch-hitter Manny Mota to hit sharply to first for what could have been an inning-ending doubleplay. Willie McCovey got the front man with a throw to second but rookie Chris Speier's return sailed wild, permitting Heller to score for a 6-5 lead.

In the ninth, the Dodgers teed off on Rich Robertson. A double by Willie Davis, two walks and Haller's third hit drove in one and a walk to Mota with the bases filled forced in a second. Will's single then scored another before Frank Reberger came on to get the side out.

Even though the Dodgers led by four runs they were far from home free in the bottom of the ninth.

Bonds led off with a single and Mota went a mile to haul in Speier's liner to right center. As things turned out, that catch saved the Dodgers because Mays followed with a double.

Pete Mikkelsen, the third Los Angeles pitcher, left in favor of Bob O'Brien, who retired McCovey but walked Ken Henderson. Joe Moeller then came on and struck out Dick Dietz with the tieing runs aboard.

That's when Alston sighed.

While the victory, which went to Jim Brewer, was a big one for the Dodgers' who lost on Friday and Saturday to the Giants, it hardly made much difference to San Francisco.

Both the Giants and Dodgers are idle today. The Dodgers open a short six-game road trip against the Cardinals on Tuesday night while the Giants start a nine-game road trip in Chicago Tuesday afternoon.

The fine weekend turnouts—three crowds over 30,000—boosted the Giants' home attendance to 307,310 for 20 dates. That's an increase of nearly 100,000 over a year ago.

Everyone, it seems, loves a winner.

Stanley Cup Finale Tuesday In Chicago

MONTREAL (UPI) — Canadiens' center Henri Richard admits he talked out of turn when he blasted Montreal Coach Al MacNeil after Thursday night's loss to the Chicago Black Hawks in the Stanley Cup finals.

But maybe it's all the Canadiens needed to spur them on as they fought off a one-goal deficit Sunday afternoon to win 4-3, and force a seventh and deciding game in Chicago Tuesday night.

Richard was asked if he thought his remarks calling MacNeil "incompetent and the worst coach" he ever played under helped Montreal win Sunday's game.

"I don't want to make any more statements, I just hope the whole thing will die down. But I know we'll win the Stanley Cup," Richard answered.

MacNeil played a major part in another drama connected with the game Sunday after his life was threatened by anonymous callers and he was assigned police protection. MacNeil said, however, he wasn't worried about the threats.

"As far as I was concerned, my only thoughts were winning that game. And I knew that the situation was in good hands when the team provided me with protection," MacNeil said.

Six plainclothes detectives surrounded MacNeil as he stood behind the Montreal bench and coached his team to victory in the sixth game. "Now it's back to Chicago," said MacNeil. "After 78 regular games and 19 playoff games it's all down to one single contest. But I know that even though we haven't won yet in Chicago in this series, we have the talent to do the job."

The Mahovlich brothers, Frank and Pete, led Montreal to their comeback win. Frank scored one goal to set an alltime National Hockey League playoff record of 14 goals, and added two assists to equal the playoff total points record of 27. Both records were held by Phil Esposito, who set them with the Boston Bruins in the 1969-70 playoffs.

Green Wins In Houston Golf Play

HOUSTON (UPI)—Unflappable Hubert Green, who finally found a way to stand up under the pressure of $100,000 golf tournaments, had the inside track today on "Rookie of the Year" honors on the PGA tour.

Green, 24, who folded in the final round of the last three tournaments, withstood the charges of Lou Graham, DeWitt Weaver Jr., Bob Murphy and Lee Trevino in the final round to tie with Don January at the end of 72 holes at four-under-par 280.

Then the son of a Birmingham, Ala., doctor polished off January on the first hole of a sudden death playoff with a 12-foot birdie putt. January's attempt for a birdie a minute earlier was a 25-foot chip shot that went 2 1-2 feet past the cup.

It was the second straight year the tournament was decided by a playoff and won by a previous nonwinner. Gibby Gilbert defeated Bruce Crampton on the third hole of a playoff last year.

Trevino, finishing 66 and 67 the last two days, and Murphy were a stroke back of Green and January at 281. Graham, who was tied for the lead before getting a double bogey on 12, and Dan Sikes were another stroke behind at two-under 282.

A Quail's Nest Holds Up Log For Production

UKIAH, Calif. (UPI) — A small part of the lumber supply from Georgia-Pacific Corp. operations will be a little slow reaching market.

The firm said Vestor Sims, operator of a power loader for the firm, was attacked by a quail when he started to move a pile of recently stored logs.

Sims stopped the loader and investigated. He found one of the logs had a soft rotten section and the mother quail had built her nest there. The nest contained eight eggs.

Sims gently moved the several ton log to a spot off-limits to the loading machinery. Mrs. Quail laid another egg.

Officially, G-P said, it has "returned the log to inventory pending hatching and preflight training."

The sound portion of the log will be made into lumber about mid-June.

Education Board To Study Policy

Why thousands of Americans will spend $9,500 for a Mercedes-Benz that's two feet shorter than American luxury cars.

At Mercedes-Benz, we define luxury a bit differently than most automobile makers.

To our way of thinking, size for the sake of size is not luxury. It is waste.

If adding an inch to a Mercedes-Benz won't contribute to some function, Mercedes-Benz engineers won't add it.

The Mercedes-Benz 280SEL is more than two feet shorter than the three leading domestic luxury cars.

Yet it is a curious fact that the SEL provides more room than any of them.

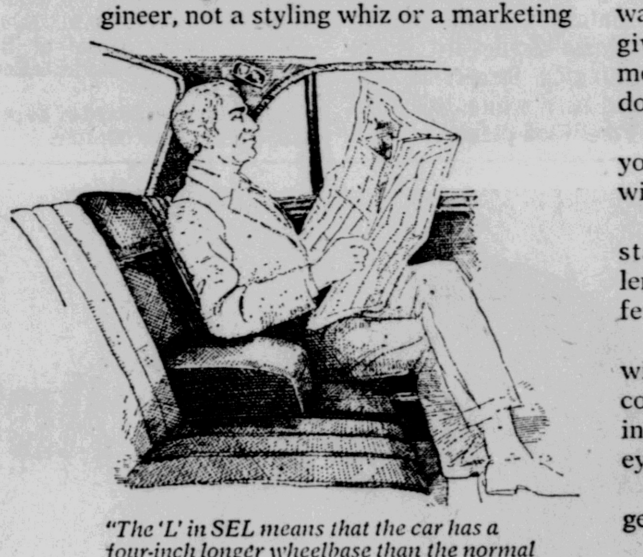
Eric Dahlquist, in a recent issue of Motor Trend, commented on the size of the American luxury car. "Stunned by such mass, the passenger enters to find that size does not equate with room, that the SEL actually wins in the space race."

The engineer is king

A Mercedes-Benz is as different from a domestic luxury car as automobiles, each with four wheels and an engine in front, can be.

Mercedes-Benz is one of the few automobile makers left in the world where the engineer is still king.

Design decisions are made by an engineer, not a styling whiz or a marketing wizard. At Mercedes-Benz, the engineering department still tells the sales department when a new model is ready.



"The 'L' in SEL means that the car has a four-inch longer wheelbase than the normal 280SE, but it should stand for 'limo,' the back seat area is that large." —Motor Trend

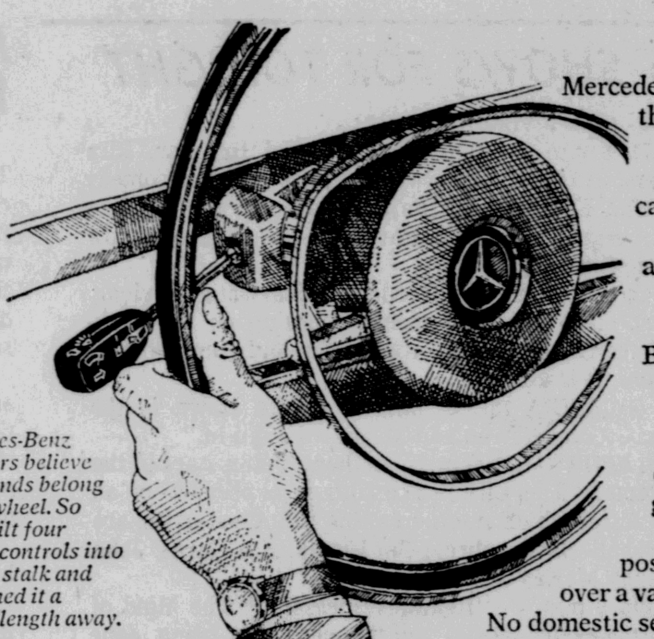
The result is an automobile that has been built to an engineering ideal.

And an automobile that is fundamentally different than any built in the States.

From oddity to necessity

To the uninitiated, this approach may appear to have disadvantages.

Your first time behind the wheel of a Mercedes-Benz is likely to produce a vague sense of disorientation.



Mercedes-Benz engineers believe both hands belong on the wheel. So they built four critical controls into a single stalk and positioned it a finger's length away.

In its recommended position, the seat seems too far from the wheel. And it's much too unyielding to be called "luxurious."

But that strange seat position lets you drive with the wheel at arm's length and your back firmly against the seat's. And that gives you better control.

The "unyielding" seat, it turns out, was designed by orthopedic surgeons to give firm support. You'll appreciate it more after seven hundred miles than you do after seven.

If you press the floor switch to get your high beams, you'll get a squirt in the windshield instead.

That's because a curious-looking stalk, positioned precisely a finger's length from the wheel, embodies four different controls.

High and low beams, turn signals, windshield wipers, and their two-speed control all can be operated without taking your hands from the wheel. Or your eyes from the road.

Such oddities, admittedly, take some getting used to.

But there's a reason for every one.

And, before you know it, the oddities have become necessities.

No domestic sedan...

It is at the wheel a man discovers the performance characteristics that make Mercedes-Benz unique among the world's motor cars.

Mercedes-Benz engineers believe that a car's abilities should be limited only by road and conditions—not by its own design.

Every Mercedes-Benz has fully independent suspension front and rear. A design concept used, without exception, on 200-mph grand prix cars. It provides the maximum possible cornering power over a variety of road surfaces.

No domestic sedan has it.

Every Mercedes-Benz is equipped with four massive disc brakes. Standard, not optional. Because, to our way of thinking, it's unthinkable to relegate the best brakes you can build to the option list.

No domestic sedan has them on all four wheels.

And every Mercedes-Benz has a steering system so precisely balanced that the car seeks a straight path on its own.

No domestic sedan can match it.

Even the Grand Mercedes 600, a three-ton limousine, notes Motor Trend, "... will outrun and outmaneuver many sports cars."

Join the club

But the final word on the distinction between Mercedes-Benz and domestic luxury cars belongs to a group of Mercedes-Benz owners.

Owners so enthusiastic that they've formed thirty-two chapters of the Mercedes-Benz Club of America.

Each year they hold more than 60 local competitions and 3 national rallies.

It's their opportunity, in performance events, to extend their cars to the limits of which a Mercedes-Benz is capable.

Not everyone joins the club.

Mercedes-Benz owners who rally their cars are a relatively small share of our owners.

But, then, no domestic luxury car even has a club.

$9,500?

Our pursuit of engineering ideals has placed Mercedes-Benz automobiles among the world's most costly.

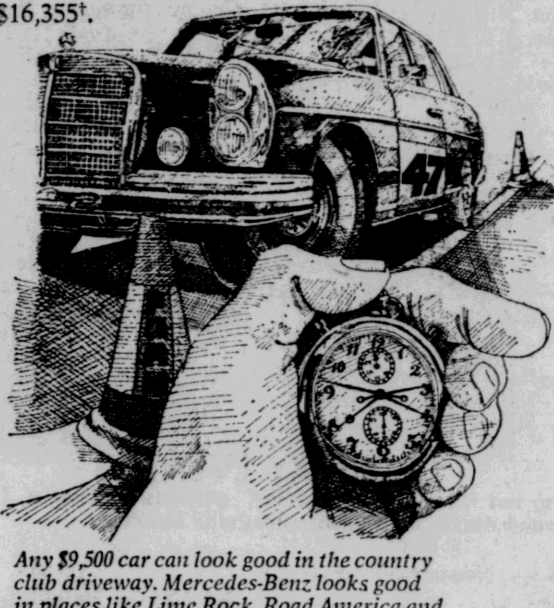
The suggested retail price of the Mercedes-Benz 280SEL, without options, is $8,663†.

With such amenities as the optional electric sun roof and air conditioning, you can spend over $9,500.

However, all Mercedes-Benz automobiles do not cost $9,500.

Nine models cost less, beginning with our 220 Sedan at $5,445† and including our 280SL two-seaters.

And six cost more, including the 300SEL 6.3—dubbed by Road & Track "merely the world's greatest sedan..."—at $16,355†.



Any $9,500 car can look good in the country club driveway. Mercedes-Benz looks good in places like Lime Rock, Road America and Laguna Seca.

But if your tastes do not run to the conventional luxury car, we think you'll find Mercedes-Benz automobiles well worth the price you pay.

And if you'll fill out the coupon below, we'll send you our least expensive production. A full-color Mercedes-Benz brochure, absolutely free.

Junior Bowl Title To Rich McPherson

Rich McPherson, 19-year-old College of Marin student, is the 1971 winner of the Marin County Junior Masters Bowling Tournament.

In a two-game finals match with Kent Dlugokenski, 16, at Greenbrae Lanes yesterday, McPherson scored games of 221 and 177 for a 398 total while Dlugokenski had 216 and 174 for 390.

Highlight of the weekend was a 992 four-game qualifying series by 18-year-old Wayne Ziegler of Mill Valley, the defending Junior Masters champion. That series included a 297 game.

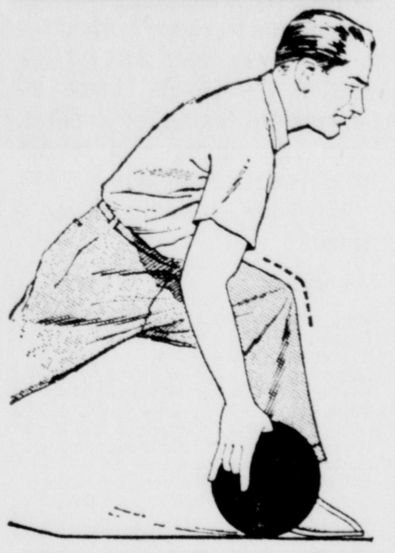
The Masters Class A division is for bowlers with a 155 and up average.

The Class B division, for those up to a 154 handicap, was won by Jim Phillips, a 14-year-old eighth grader from Corte Madera's Neil Cummins School. In the finals against 17-year-old Bill Morris of San Rafael High School, Phillips bowled games of 168 and 171 for 339 to Morris' 134-187—321.

There were 42 entries in the tournament, 21 in each division.

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER



Does your ball make almost as much noise when it hits the lane as it does when it hits the pins? If so you are robbing yourself of strikes and probably leaving an unnecessary number of splits. Set the ball down gently from a low angle and remember to keep your knee bent sharply (illustration).

Penny, Leo Combine For Victory

Pert Penny Tauscher and Leo Schwab teamed up yesterday to win the Marin County Women's Bowling Association's "600 Club" mixed doubles tournament at Nave Lanes, Ignacio.

The mini-skirted Mrs. Tauscher, who recently won the "600 Club's" Queens Tournament, fired a 558 scratch score for three games and Schwab had a 571 for 1129. With their 107-pin handicap they totaled 1236 pins to beat out Emily and Lloyd Smith by 21 pins. Mrs. Smith had a 529 scratch and her husband contributed a 539 for 1068 scratch and 1215 with 147 handicap pins. Mrs. Smith also won a patch for an all-spare 186 line.

For the women, Kathy Mauzy had high series (563) and high game (207). Schwab was the top male with a 571 series and 218 game.

The tournament was held in honor of long-time women's bowling leader Mrs. Winnie Berger of Novato who at the post-tournament banquet was named an honorary member of the Marin "600 Club." Membership is limited to women who have bowled a three-game series of 600 and higher.

Lively Lady Is Winner

Rafael Bricca's 30-foot-sloop Lively Lady, sailing under the colors of Belvedere's San Francisco Yacht Club, was the unofficial overall winner of Saturday's 55-mile Drakes Bay ocean yacht race, according to the race committee of the sponsoring Sausalito Yacht Club.

Irs Loube's 57-foot sloop Concerto sailed back inside the bay, considerably ahead of Lively Lady to win the scratch championship, but Bricca's vessel apparently cashed in on an ample time allowance to take overall honors. Official results were to be announced today.

Recreation Softball

Marin Wheel Alignment routed Marin Supply, 17-1 yesterday in a San Rafael Recreation Department adult softball league game at Albert Park. In other contests, the Scrappers beat Blue Enterprise, 4-2 and Hub City edged Raw Chicken, 5-4.

Colonels Face Jinx

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—Determined to destroy a jinx, the Kentucky Colonels left today for Salt Lake City and their playoff game with the Utah Stars Tuesday night that will decide the championship of the American Basketball Association.

The best-of-seven final series stands at three victories apiece, with each team winning all of the games in its home arena.

Confronting the Colonels is the jinx of never having beaten the Stars in the Utah capital during the regular season, and three more in the playoffs.

The Colonels were in good physical condition except for Forward Jim Ligon who has an ailing back.

In a courageous performance, Ligon played 31 minutes for the Colonels Saturday when they beat the Stars here 105-102

Revson Wins Indy Pole

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Pete Revson of New York upset highly-favored Mark Donohue Saturday to become the fastest pole sitter in the history of the Indianapolis "500".

Revson covered the ancient oval at an average speed of 178.696 miles per hour, with a top lap of 179.354 — both track records, as he won the pole spot that went to the fastest first-day qualifier for the $1 million holiday chase May 29.

Donohue, of Media, Pa., had handling difficulties and settled for runnerup honors at 177.087.

Track

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Marty Liquori kept waiting for the famous Jim Ryun kick, but he's just as glad it didn't materialize.

"I expected him to come at me on the last turn." Liquori said after outdueling Ryun in the showdown of super milers in the Martin Luther King International Freedom Games Sunday at Franklin Field.

Liquori, who took the lead from Ryun just before the three-quarter mark and matched the world recordholder's kick down the stretch, posted a time of 3:54.6—the fastest ever on the Eastern seaboard.

Golf

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Sandra Palmer blasted home a spectacular trap shot for an eagle three on the final hole and a last-round 71 Sunday to win the $50,000 Sealy Classic or her first LPGA tournament victory in seven years.

The 30-year-old Fort Worth, Tex., veteran won the $10,000 first prize and a $5,000 station wagon by two strokes with a 72-hole total of 289, three under par, at the Desert Inn Country Club.

Santa Clara's Swimmers Win

Perennially powerful Santa Clara Swim Club lived up to expectations Saturday and yesterday by winning the team championship in the Marin Invitational Class AA Swim Meet at Novato High School.

Almost 400 youngsters from 37 clubs participated with Santa Clara claiming the Independent-Journal Championship trophy on the strength of 508½ points.

The Marin Aquatic Club surprised the field with a second place finish on 302½ points while Arden Hills of Sacramento took third with 164.

Marin's performance was sparked by Jo Hislop and Denise Ham. Miss Hislop, swimming in the 15-17 age group, took four first places in the 200-yard individual medley, 500 freestyle, 50 free and 400 I.M. Miss Ham had three victories in the 200 breaststroke, 100 fly and 200 free plus two second places and a fifth.

Marin's Kim Hughes, 13-14 age bracket, won the 100 backstroke and placed second in the 100 breast and 200 back. Also adding points for Marin were finalists Bob Placak, Sue Secondo, Cheryl Cattan, Suzanne Heim, Maura Campion, Anne Engel, Kim Fox and Spencer Eldred.

Petaluma Swim Club's David Nelson, 11, won the 100 breast and added a second in the 50 breast. Steve Curtis, 14, took a second, fifth and sixth while his sister, Carrie, was second in the 50 breast.

Dolphins of Marin placed one swimmer in the finals — Robin Bachrach, 16, who placed five times with three seconds and two fourths.

The Marin A.C. claimed three relay victories: Misses Ham, Hislop, Sue Secondo and Fox; Misses Ham, Fox, Engel and Nancy Kinney; and Misses Campion, Tami Secondo, Hughes and Anne Redig.

Corte Madera Team Loses In Lacrosse

Corte Madera's fledgling lacrosse team took a 19-3 loss at the hands of San Francisco Saturday in a Northern California Lacrosse Association junior division game in San Francisco.

Roger Wilson highlighted the Marin team's effort by scoring all of his team's goals.

BRAZDA, GALLARDO

Two Marin Tar Players On All-Conference Team

Despite a season-ending slide in which they lost their last five games, the College of Marin Tars have landed two players on the 1971 Camino Norte Conference all-league baseball team.

Outfielder Larry Brazda, the league's third leading hitter, and power-laden first baseman Rafael Gallardo were named to the 11-man first team, which was announced today. The Tars of Kentfield also enjoyed two second team selections, pitcher Dennis Bueler and second baseman Mike Parnow.

Canada of Redwood City, which won the CNC flag with a 15-6 record on the strength of a fantastic second half of the season, placed four men on the first team, while third place Contra Costa of San Pablo (12-9) and fifth place Marin (11-10) landed two each.

Brazda, who accompanied his team's tailspin during the final two weeks with a slight slump of his own, ended the year hitting .384. A freshman, he had 30 hits in 78 at bats, and led the loop in doubles with seven.

Not far behind Brazda was Gallardo, the sophomore first-sacker checked in at .351, the seventh best average in the league, and he led all hitters with four doubles. He also finished second in home runs with four, and third in runs batted in with 19.

Bueler, a freshman, posted a 5-4 record with a 2.34 earned run average, which rated eighth best in the league. He struck out 54 batters and walked 31 while working in more innings — 81 — than any other pitcher.

Marin's other all-star, Parnow, hit .308 with three doubles and two triples. He too is a freshman. Dazzling on defense, he provided the foundation for Marin's exceptional double play combination.

The rest of the first team includes pitchers Cliff Holland of Canada and Darrell Dickens of Contra Costa, both freshmen, catcher Roger Keilig, second baseman Ray Cocco and shortstop Bob Brassea, all from Canada and all freshmen, third baseman Marv Webb, a freshman from Contra Costa, and in the outfield a pair of sophomores, Elgin Williams from Solano of Vacaville and Greg Quinlin from DeAnza of Cupertino. Greg Ojeda, a sophomore from West Valley, was chosen as an alternate.

Athletics Home Vs. Brewers

KANSAS CITY (UPI) — Shoddy relief pitching ruined the 1971 debut of fastballing righthander John Odom of the Oakland Athletics.

Troubled all spring with a sore elbow, Odom started against Kansas City in the second game of a doubleheader Sunday and hurled six strong innings. He left at the end of the sixth leading 3-2.

But relievers Darold Knowles, Bob Locker and Ron Klimkowski opened the flood gates for four runs in the seventh and four more in the eighth to sink the A's 10-4. Locker, now 2-1, got stuck with the defeat after he had saved a 4-2 win for Chuck Dobson and the A's in the opener.

Despite the split and a 5-4 loss to the Royals Saturday, the A's finished the road trip with a 7-4 record. They left Oakland May 3 atop the American League West by 2 1-2 games and now enjoy a five-game bulge over runnerup Minnesota.

Today is an off day for the A's. They return to action Tuesday night at the Oakland Coliseum against the Milwaukee Brewers. Minnesota and California follow to round out an eight-game homestand.

Odom struck out three and didn't issue a walk while allowing three hits in six innings. However, one of the blows was a two-run homer by Paul Schall. A's manager Dick Williams took Odom out of the game at the end of the sixth because he felt he had gone far enough in his first outing.

Then Knowles was touched for two hits and two runs; Locker was ineffective, giving up three more runs, and Klimkowski couldn't get anybody out in the eighth while uncorking three wild pitches and getting tagged for three hits and three more runs.

Mike McCormick, former Cy Young Award winner with the San Francisco Giants, started his first game for Kansas City and departed in the sixth inning, trailing 3-2.

Signal Callers Vie For Cal Job

BERKELEY (UPI) —California football coach Ray Willsey has given Reed Chastang a slight edge over junior college transfer Jay Cruze as quarterback of the 1971 Bears football team.

"I think it was apparent that Reed had a little the better of the two today," said Willsey after watching Chastang guide the blues to a 16-10 win over Cruze's White team in a scrimmage that concluded spring practice Saturday.

Chastang, who saw four minutes of varsity play last season, hit on 10 of 19 passes for 99 yards. He also gained 103 yards rushing in 14 tries including a 28-yard run.

Third Straight Win

ALBANY (UPI)—Big Jess ($6.40) powered to his third straight victory by defeating Dizzy Babe by a length Saturday in the $20,000 added Alameda Claiming Stakes at Golden Gate Fields. Shakazu finished third and Damage Control fourth in the field of six.

Battle On For Plunkett's Spot

STANFORD (UPI) —Despite the absence of All America quarterback Jim Plunkett, Stanford football coach John Ralston sees a rosy future.

"We'll be better than we were last year," said Ralston after watching a spring intrasquad scrimmage Saturday. That's saying a mouthful because last season his Indians won the tough Pacific-8 Conference title and upset Ohio State in the Rose Bowl.

One of the reasons Ralston is so optimistic is because of the play of quarterback Mike Boryla, one of three players battling to succeed Plunkett. Boryla is the son of former basketball great Vince Boryla who is president of the Utah Stars of the ABA.

Giants Leave For Chicago With A Nine-Game Lead

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Walt Alston heaved a sigh of relief.

"It was a bigger game for us than for them," the Los Angeles skipper said of his Dodgers' 9-6 victory Sunday over the San Francisco Giants.

"If we lose," Alston went on, "then we are 11 games out. Winning saved us two games which we might need later."

Sunday's game was a nightmare of sorts for Alston and Giants manager Charlie Fox, but a pure delight for the biggest crowd of the year in Candlestick Park —a fullhouse of 33,981 that pushed the threeday attendance for the weekend series to 98,336.

First, it took three hours and 31 minutes to play the game. The Dodgers used five pitchers, the Giants six. There were eight errors, four by each side. Bobby Bonds hit a homer for the Giants; Wes Parker clouted one for the Dodgers.

Additionally, Willie Mays stole two bases and hit the 488th double of his career. Richie Allen, Tito Fuentes, Maury Wills and Steve Garvey had a stolen base.

It was Parker's homer that tied the score for the Dodgers at 5-5 in the eighth after Bonds had shot the Giants in front, 53, with a three-run drive in the sixth.

After Parker's homer, everything came up roses for the Dodgers while the Giants' relief staff, rested four days last week, fell apart.

With Don McMahon pitching in the eighth, Tom Haller followed Parker's homer with his third hit of the game, a single. That finished McMahon, who wound up the loser (2-2), and brought on Jerry Johnson, one of San Francisco's most reliable relievers this year.

Johnson walked Jim Lefebvre but retired Garvey on a popup. Then he got pinch-hitter Manny Mota to hit sharply to first for what could have been an inning-ending doubleplay. Willie McCovey got the front man with a throw to second but rookie Chris Speier's return sailed wild, permitting Heller to score for a 6-5 lead.

In the ninth, the Dodgers teed off on Rich Robertson. A double by Willie Davis, two walks and Haller's third hit drove in one and a walk to Mota with the bases filled forced in a second. Will's single then scored another before Frank Reberger came on to get the side out.

Even though the Dodgers led by four runs they were far from home free in the bottom of the ninth.

Bonds led off with a single and Mota went a mile to haul in Speier's liner to right center. As things turned out, that catch saved the Dodgers because Mays followed with a double.

Pete Mikkelsen, the third Los Angeles pitcher, left in favor of Bob O'Brien, who retired McCovey but walked Ken Henderson. Joe Moeller then came on and struck out Dick Dietz with the tieing runs aboard.

That's when Alston sighed.

While the victory, which went to Jim Brewer, was a big one for the Dodgers' who lost on Friday and Saturday to the Giants, it hardly made much difference to San Francisco.

Both the Giants and Dodgers are idle today. The Dodgers open a short six-game road trip against the Cardinals on Tuesday night while the Giants start a nine-game road trip in Chicago Tuesday afternoon.

The fine weekend turnouts—three crowds over 30,000—boosted the Giants' home attendance to 307,310 for 20 dates. That's an increase of nearly 100,000 over a year ago.

Everyone, it seems, loves a winner.

Stanley Cup Finale Tuesday In Chicago

MONTREAL (UPI) — Canadiens' center Henri Richard admits he talked out of turn when he blasted Montreal Coach Al MacNeil after Thursday night's loss to the Chicago Black Hawks in the Stanley Cup finals.

But maybe it's all the Canadiens needed to spur them on as they fought off a one-goal deficit Sunday afternoon to win 4-3, and force a seventh and deciding game in Chicago Tuesday night.

Richard was asked if he thought his remarks calling MacNeil "incompetent and the worst coach" he ever played under helped Montreal win Sunday's game.

"I don't want to make any more statements, I just hope the whole thing will die down. But I know we'll win the Stanley Cup," Richard answered.

MacNeil played a major part in another drama connected with the game Sunday after his life was threatened by anonymous callers and he was assigned police protection. MacNeil said, however, he wasn't worried about the threats.

"As far as I was concerned, my only thoughts were winning that game. And I knew that the situation was in good hands when the team provided me with protection," MacNeil said.

Six plainclothes detectives surrounded MacNeil as he stood behind the Montreal bench and coached his team to victory in the sixth game. "Now it's back to Chicago," said MacNeil. "After 78 regular games and 19 playoff games it's all down to one single contest. But I know that even though we haven't won yet in Chicago in this series, we have the talent to do the job."

The Mahovlich brothers, Frank and Pete, led Montreal to their comeback win. Frank scored one goal to set an all-time National Hockey League playoff record of 14 goals, and added two assists to equal the playoff total points record of 27. Both records were held by Phil Esposito, who set them with the Boston Bruins in the 1969-70 playoffs.

Green Wins In Houston Golf Play

HOUSTON (UPI)—Unflappable Hubert Green, who finally found a way to stand up under the pressure of $100,000 golf tournaments, had the inside track today on "Rookie of the Year" honors on the PGA tour.

Green, 24, who folded in the final round of the last three tournaments, withstood the charges of Lou Graham, DeWitt Weaver Jr., Bob Murphy and Lee Trevino in the final round to tie with Don January at the end of 72 holes at four-under-par 280.

Then the son of a Birmingham, Ala., doctor polished off January on the first hole of a sudden death playoff with a 12-foot birdie putt. January's attempt for a birdie a minute earlier was a 25-foot chip shot that went 2 1-2 feet past the cup.

It was the second straight year the tournament was decided by a playoff and won by a previous nonwinner. Gibby Gilbert defeated Bruce Crampton on the third hole of a playoff last year.

Trevino, finishing 66 and 67 the last two days, and Murphy were a stroke back of Green and January at 281. Graham, who was tied for the lead before getting a double bogey on 12, and Dan Sikes were another stroke behind at two-under 282.

SECTION MEET

8 Swim Records For Terra Linda

Terra Linda High School assistant swim coach Chuck Metz came out of the North Coast Section (NCS) Championships at Santa Rosa four steak dinners poorer, but eight school records richer, as the Trojans outscored all Marin County Athletic League teams Saturday, in this highlight meet of the prep swim season.

Metz offered free steaks to the four men on the Trojan varsity 400-yard freestyle relay team if they could finish in the top three, and this they did in school record style, to record one of eight Terra Linda marks in the NCS final meet.

Thom Guthrie, Bruce Fromberg, Don Lafrenz, and Jim Barton sped to a time of 3:26.89, notching themselves as the second fastest quartet in Marin County history in the event — in addition to winning the meal from Metz.

Individually, the Trojans dominance in the freestyle events was obvious, as Guthrie picked up a third and a sixth in the varsity 50 and 100 Free, and marathon specialist Rick DeMont nailed down two Class B firsts in the 200 and 400, demolishing NCS marks in each.

DeMont's 200 and 400 times (1:50.05 and 3:51.75) would have earned him finals berths even in varsity competition, especially the 400, where he would have placed second.

The sophomore speedster's new 400 record for Class B breaks the old mark set by Bernie Stenson, who is now a freshman standout at UCLA.

Guthrie's 100 prelim time of 50.94 edges his own school mark of 51.0 set earlier this year.

Trojan Keith Strange took the only other Marin County first in the Class B 100 Individual Medley, in the school record time of 1:00.75.

As far as team scoring goes, Terra Linda's Varsity placed eighth with 45 points, Redwood was next in 13th, followed by Novato in 17th and San Rafael in 29th.

The Trojan Class B squad placed a solid second behind super-power Ignacio Valley, and Redwood tied for 10th.

The only other county placings in Varsity were from Redwood's Brian Hennessy, (4th in the 100 Fly) and Novato's John Summerfield (3rd in Diving).

Terra Linda's Class B medley relay — Casey Flaherty, Strange, Jeff Grant, and Jeff Miller — lost a thrilling battle by a half second to Ygnacio Valley, but set a new school record anyway, with a 1:49.21 clocking.

Grant placed fourth in the Class B 50 Fly, 27.04.

Redwood's Spencer Eldred was fifth behind Strange in the I.M.

Aaron Grossman also accounted for a Terra Linda record in Class B Diving.

The final Trojan school mark went to the team of Grant, DeMont, Miller, and Jon Fearn in the Class B 400 Free Rlay. Terra Linda placed second with the time of 3:35.5, ahead of fourth place Redwood (Eldred, Claude Ansari, Troy Dunham, Stan Rainey).

High Winds Mar Regatta

High winds and lack of participants combined to cripple the second annual Marin Rowing Regatta Saturday on the Corte Madera Creek. Only four of the scheduled nine events were run as none of the East Bay teams entered showed up.

In races that did take place, Stanford's "B" crew beat Alameda Junior College, and Tom Moore won the 500-meter single skull event.

Miss Kilgore lost to Ann Kiyomura of San Mateo in a match for the girls' 16 title, 6-3, 7-5, but came back for victory in the doubles when she teamed with Nancy Zero of San Mateo to beat Nancy's sister Sue and Susan Mehmedbasich, 6-4, 3-6, 6-2.

Softball Game Halted By Darkness

One Jewel Left For Canonero

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI)—Canonero II, sold for $1,200 as a crooked-legged yearling and shipped off to Venezuela to apparent obscurity, cannot be purchased for any price today, following the colt's record-breaking victory Saturday in the Preakness Stakes that gave him two-thirds of the Triple Crown.

"We already have had an offer of $4 million for him," said Victory Scialom, a spokesman for owner Edgar Caibett and his wife who received the colt as a wedding present from Pedro Baptista, his father-in-law.

"We turned the offer down. All the money in the world couldn't buy this horse. No, I am not at liberty to reveal the person who made it," he added.

Canonero's victory in the Preakness was as startling as his Kentucky Derby victory two weeks ago was surprising.

There have been Count Fleets who have buried rivals in their dust with speed. There have been Whirlaways who crushed opposition with devastating stretch runs. To everyone's amazement, Canonero proved he can do either in winning the second jewel in the Triple Crown.

The South American invader came from 20 lengths back to win the Kentucky Derby. He was expected to try the same thing in the Preakness.

Instead, jockey Gustavo Avila sent Canonero to the front at the start and the crowd of 47,211, the biggest in Maryland racing history, roared in disbelief.

Canonero challenged Calumet Farm's Eastern Fleet for the lead. He caught his rival on the first turn and the two colts raced stride for stride, nose and nose into the homestretch. Then, with only an eighth of a mile to go in the 1 3-16 mile race, Canonero inched ahead to win by a length and one-half and smash the track record of 1:54 3-5 set by Nashua in 1955 with a 1:54 flat clocking.

The complete change in tactics amazed everyone and horsemen wondered what to expect on June 5 when Canonero will try to complete his sweep of the Triple Crown in the Belmont Stakes. Only eight horses have done so but none in almost a quarter of a century. Citation last pulled off the triple in 1948.

Sohner Sweeps Doubleheader

Behind the outstanding pitching of Morey Swarm and Chuck Tyson, Sohner Tree Service of San Anselmo swept a Golden Gate Softball League doubleheader from Concord Saturday night in the East Bay.

Swarm tossed a two-hitter to give Sohner a 1-0 victory in the opener and Tyson limited Concord to four hits and one unearned run in a 6-1 nightcap win.

Key Games In Prep Baseball

Having each dealt the Novato High School Hornets a staggering blow last week, the Terra Linda Trojans and Marin Catholic Wildcats must hope that someone else will finish the kill this week, so that they can play for the Marin County Athletic League baseball championship Friday night.

With just tomorrow's and Friday's games to play, only one-half game separates the Trojans and Wildcats from league-leading Novato. But, considering the schedule, that lead means very little. Tomorrow the Hornets of Novato host Redwood, a team that beat them in the first round, and Friday they meet San Rafael, the hittingest team in the MCAL.

Terra Linda's game tomorrow is also a toughy, leaving Marin Catholic with the inside track. The Trojans must face San Marin, winner of two straight games, while the Wildcats of Kentfield meet last place Tamalpais.

Seven of the eight winners of throughbred racing's Triple Crown hailed from Kentucky.

The Triple Crown—The Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes—is the pinnacle of racing for three-year-olds.

Reed Tops MacKay In Tennis Finals

Top-seeded Barry MacKay of Ross fell almost too easily to Whitney Reed of Alameda yesterday in the finals of the annual Bay Counties Invitational tennis tournament at the Tiburon Peninsula Club.

Reed, who won the tourney in 1968, was third-seeded in this one, but had little trouble upsetting MacKay in straight sets, 6-2, 6-3. He pocketed $150 for his winning effort.

MacKay, who won $50, said afterwards "Not taking anything away from Whitney, but I just couldn't seem to get my game off the ground."

In a slightly tighter match, Barbara Downs defeated Gail Hansen for the women's title, 7-6, 6-3. But Miss Hansen came back to team with Mark Elliot for victory in the mixed doubles. They defeated Brenda Garcia and Chip Fisher, 6-2, 6-3.

The men's doubles crown went to Charles Hoeveler (ex-Dartmouth) and John Levin (ex-Harvard), who went three sets to beat Elliot and Chick White, 7-6, 3-6, 6-3.

Results of Saturday's semifinals:

Men's singles — Barry MacKay d. Bob Siska, 6-4, 3-6, 6-1; Whitney Reed d. Charles Hoeveler, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3. Women's singles — Gail Hansen d. Marcie Louie, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4; Barbara Downs d. Kate Latham, 1-6, 7-5, 6-0. Men's doubles — Mark Elliot and Chuck White d. Gene Ward and Gil Howard, 6-2, 5-7, 6-2; Charles Hoeveler and John Levin d. Whitney Reed and Tom Brown, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

Junior Bowl Title To Rich McPherson

Rich McPherson, 19-year-old College of Marin student, is the 1971 winner of the Marin County Junior Masters Bowling Tournament.

In a two-game finals match with Kent Dlugokenski, 16, at Greenbrae Lanes yesterday, McPherson scored games of 221 and 177 for a 398 total while Dlugokenski had 216 and 174 for 390.

Highlight of the weekend was a 992 four-game qualifying series by 18-year-old Wayne Ziegler of Mill Valley, the defending Junior Masters champion. That series included a 297 game.

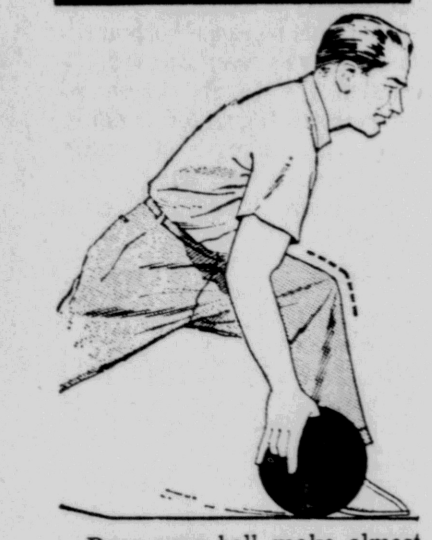
The Masters Class A division is for bowlers with a 155 and up average.

The Class B division, for those up to a 154 handicap, was won by Jim Phillips, a 14-year-old eighth grader from Corte Madera's Neil Cummins School. In the finals against 17-year-old Bill Morris of San Rafael High School, Phillips bowled games of 168 and 171 for 339 to Morris' 134-187—321.

There were 42 entries in the tournament, 21 in each division.

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER



Does your ball make almost as much noise when it hits the lane as it does when it hits the pins? If so you are robbing yourself of strikes and probably leaving an unnecessary number of splits. Set the ball down gently from a low angle and remember to keep your knee bent sharply (illustration).

Penny, Leo Combine For Victory

Pert Penny Tauscher and Leo Schwab teamed up yesterday to win the Marin County Women's Bowling Association's "600 Club" mixed doubles tournament at Nave Lanes, Ignacio.

The mini-skirted Mrs. Tauscher, who recently won the "600 Club's" Queens Tournament, fired a 558 scratch score for three games and Schwab had a 571 for 1129. With their 107-pin handicap they totaled 1236 pins to beat out Emily and Lloyd Smith by 21 pins. Mrs. Smith had a 529 scratch and her husband contributed a 539 for 1068 scratch and 1215 with 147 handicap pins. Mrs. Smith also won a patch for an all-spare 186 line.

For the women, Kathy Mauzy had high series (563) and high game (207). Schwab was the top male with a 571 series and 218 game.

The tournament was held in honor of long-time women's bowling leader Mrs. Winnie Berger of Novato who at the post-tournament banquet was named an honorary member of the Marin "600 Club." Membership is limited to women who have bowled a three-game series of 600 and higher.

Lively Lady Is Winner

Rafael Bricca's 30-foot-sloop Lively Lady, sailing under the colors of Belvedere's San Francisco Yacht Club, was the unofficial overall winner of Saturday's 55-mile Drakes Bay ocean yacht race, according to the race committee of the sponsoring Sausalito Yacht Club.

Irs Loube's 57-foot sloop Concerto sailed back inside the bay, considerably ahead of Lively Lady to win the scratch championship, but Bricca's vessel apparently cashed in on an ample time allowance to take overall honors. Official results were to be announced today.

Recreation Softball

Marin Wheel Alignment routed Marin Supply, 17-1 yesterday in a San Rafael Recreation Department adult softball league game at Albert Park. In other contests, the Scrappers beat Blue Enterprise, 4-2 and Hub City edged Raw Chicken, 5-4.

Colonels Face Jinx

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—Determined to destroy a jinx, the Kentucky Colonels left today for Salt Lake City and their playoff game with the Utah Stars Tuesday night that will decide the championship of the American Basketball Association.

The best-of-seven final series stands at three victories apiece, with each team winning all of the games in its home arena.

Confronting the Colonels is the jinx of never having beaten the Stars in the Utah capital during the regular season, and three more in the playoffs.

The Colonels were in good physical condition except for Forward Jim Ligon who has an ailing back.

In a courageous performance, Ligon played 31 minutes for the Colonels Saturday when they beat the Stars here 105-102

SPORTS SHORTS

Revson Wins Indy Pole

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Pete Revson of New York upset highly-favored Mark Donohue Saturday to become the fastest pole sitter in the history of the Indianapolis "500".

Revson covered the ancient oval at an average speed of 178.696 miles per hour, with a top lap of 179.354 — both track records, as he won the pole spot that went to the fastest first-day qualifier for the $1 million holiday chase May 29.

Donohue, of Media, Pa., had handling difficulties and settled for runnerup honors at 177.087.

Track

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Marty Liquori kept waiting for the famous Jim Ryun kick, but he's just as glad it didn't materialize.

"I expected him to come at me on the last turn." Liquori said after outdueling Ryun in the showdown of super milers in the Martin Luther King International Freedom Games Sunday at Franklin Field.

Liquori, who took the lead from Ryun just before the three- quarter mark and matched the world recordholder's kick down the stretch, posted a time of 3:54.6—the fastest ever on the Eastern seaboard.

Golf

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Sandra Palmer blasted home a spectacular trap shot for an eagle three on the final hole and a last-round 71 Sunday to win the $50,000 Sealy Classic or her first LPGA tournament victory in seven years.

The 30-year-old Fort Worth, Tex., veteran won the $10,000 first prize and a $5,000 station wagon by two strokes with a 72-hole total of 289, three under par, at the Desert Inn Country Club.

Their First Miss

MONTREAL (UPI) — When the Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League failed to make the Stanley Cup playoffs in 1969-70, it was the first time they had missed since 1947-48.

IN NOVATO POOL

Santa Clara's Swimmers Win

Perennially powerful Santa Clara Swim Club lived up to expectations Saturday and yesterday by winning the team championship in the Marin Invitational Class AA Swim Meet at Novato High School.

Almost 400 youngsters from 37 clubs participated with Santa Clara claiming the Independent-Journal Championship trophy on the strength of 508½ points.

The Marin Aquatic Club surprised the field with a second place finish on 302½ points while Arden Hills of Sacramento took third with 164.

Marin's performance was sparked by Jo Hislop and Denise Ham. Miss Hislop, swimming in the 15-17 age group, took four first places in the 200-yard individual medley, 500 freestyle, 50 free and 400 I.M. Miss Ham had three victories in the 200 breaststroke, 100 fly and 200 free plus two second places and a fifth.

Marin's Kim Hughes, 13-14 age bracket, won the 100 backstroke and placed second in the 100 breast and 200 back. Also adding points for Marin were finalists Bob Placak, Sue Secondo, Cheryl Cattan, Suzanne Heim, Maura Campion, Anne Engel, Kim Fox and Spencer Eldred.

Petaluma Swim Club's David Nelson, 11, won the 100 breast and added a second in the 50 breast. Steve Curtis, 14, took a second, fifth and sixth while his sister, Carrie, was second in the 50 breast.

Dolphins of Marin placed one swimmer in the finals — Robin Bachrach, 16, who placed five times with three seconds and two fourths.

The Marin A.C. claimed three relay victories: Misses Ham, Hislop, Sue Secondo and Fox; Misses Ham, Fox, Engel and Nancy Kinney; and Misses Campion, Tami Secondo, Hughes and Anne Redig.

Corte Madera Team Loses In Lacrosse

Corte Madera's fledgling lacrosse team took a 19-3 loss at the hands of San Francisco Saturday in a Northern California Lacrosse Association junior division game in San Francisco.

Roger Wilson highlighted the Marin team's effort by scoring all of his team's goals.

Trade Date Key Stock's Turnover

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am confused about which date controls the six-month period necessary for claiming a long-term capital gain, the trade date or the settlement date? My shares were bought on Mar. 30, 1971 and settlement date was Apr. 6, 1971 — S. M.

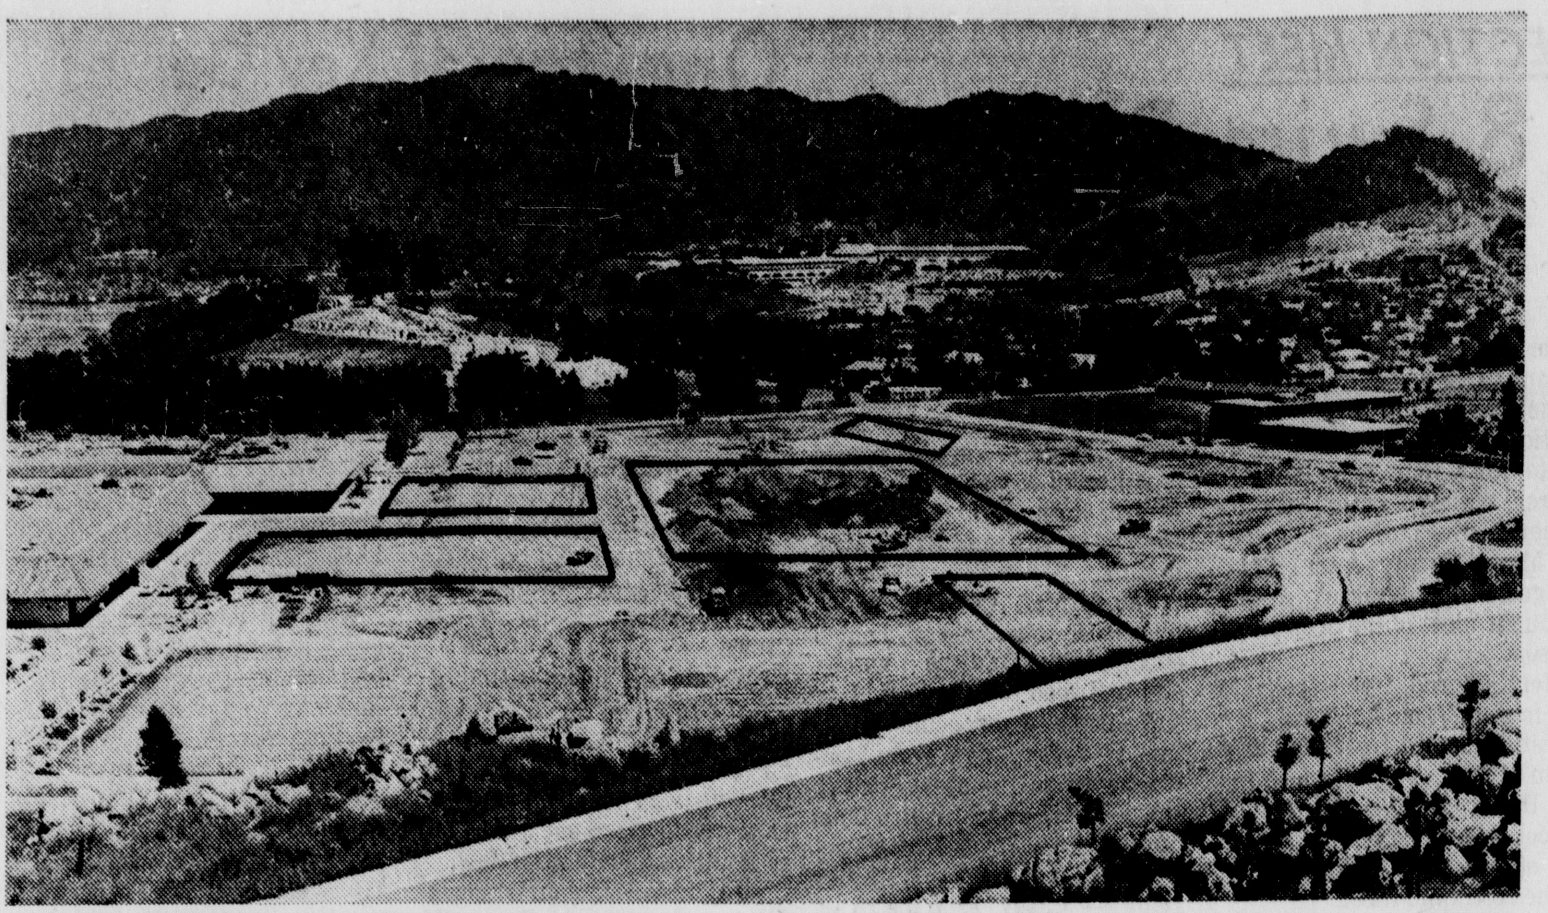
A. The important one is the trade date. However, according to the Internal Revenue Service, the day following the trade date is the first day of the six-month holding period, regardless of whether this is a business day or not. Thus, in your case March 31, 1971 is the first day of the six-month holding period.

Six calendar months later — even though that month ends on the 30th rather than the 31st — you have established a long-term capital gain. Therefore sale of your shares on Sept. 30, 1971, would permit you to claim this as a long-term investment.

Q Based on the limited knowledge I have of price-earnings ratios, it would seem to me that Avery Products, which earned 30 cents last year, should be selling at $16 not $33. I bought shares quite a while ago at $34. What would you suggest I do? — M. H.

A. Price-earnings multiples vary, not only from industry-to-industry and issue-to-issue but from year-to-year. Avery has been accorded a relatively high multiple by investors anticipating that the company's excellent growth record will be carried over into future years. For the last four years these shares have commanded a multiple ranging from 18x to 53x and averaging 35x. Assuming earnings this year reach the estimated 95 cents a share, Avery could move as high as 50 on that basis.

Operating results for the first fiscal quarter, which ended February, were mixed. Sales gained 10 per cent, while earnings, hurt by rising costs and a sagging economy, dropped from 19 to 14 cents a share. In the first two months of the second quarter however, business conditions have been far more favorable. Although European operations have expanded rapidly, the potential here still remains strong. Shares should be held.



SEARS STORE LOCATION — Large outlined area at the center of this photograph taken from Quail Hill is where Sears Roebuck and Co. will have its store at the south end of the Northgate Mall. Diagonally in the rear is the proposed Sears automotive center. In the right foreground will be a Sears garden materials building and enclosure. The two outlined areas at the left of the main Sars building are proposed additions in the mall for smaller stores.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

Ground Being Cleared For Sears In the Northgate Shopping Center

A major expansion program for the Northgate Mall is now in progress at the south end of the Northgate Shopping Center.

Graders and other pieces of heavy equipment are doing ground work on the undeveloped 15 acres lying between Los Ranchitos Road and Northgate Drive. It is the biggest undertaking in over six years.

The focal point of this project is the Sears Roebuck and Co. store which is planned to open for business in the fall of 1972. The main building will have two floors above ground and a basement, with a total of about 200,000 square feet of floor space. There will also be two other Sears buildings — one for an automotive center and another for a seasonal sales center handling garden supplies and related materials.

Grading and preliminary ground work will go on until about the end of this month and construction will begin shortly after it is completed.

But all this activity is not being limited to the Sears enterprises alone. With an appreciative eye on all the additional traffic this is bound to generate in the immediate area, the owners of Northgate Mall, M and T, Inc., are tieing in two more multistore buildings totaling an additional 40,000 square feet and architecturally matching the existing mall buildings. Discussions are now being held with prospective tenants and it is estimated that another 20 stores in the two buildings will open at about the same time Sears does. There will be much more parking space for all this additional business, of course — a huge area.

The Northgate Mall, or Fashion Mall, as it used to be called, is the largest of the three Northgate Shopping Center divisions. It was opened in March, 1965 and there are presently about 40 stores which gross a total of $20 million annually. Some 4,500 cars come into the mall parking areas each day.

You will be able to add at least another 50 per cent to this after Sears and the other new stores open next year.

BERNARD R. DE ROSE of San Rafael has been promoted to assistant sales manager for the Calaveras Cement Division of the Flintkote Co. and will work out of the San Francisco office. He joined Calaveras in 1961 and has had various sales and managerial roles with the company.

De Rose Gernetzke

DAVID W. GERNETZKE of San Rafael has been promoted to assistant vice president, account services, in Wells Fargo Bank's data processing division. Formerly assistant manager of operations, he has been in the data processing division since he joined the bank in 1957.

TWO MARIN MEN have been reelected to top posts of the National Automobile Club. Stuart D. Menist of Kentfield, executive vice president of Fireman's Fund American Insurance Companies, has been reelected chairman of the board of the club. Keith M. Askew of San Anselmo, manager of the Hartford Insurance Group, has been reelected president.

WILLIAM S. BICHARD of Greenbrae, manager of Colonial Savings and Loan Association in San Rafael, on the heels of being elected a director of the Tiburon Chamber of Commerce, has been named to the board of governors of the San Francisco chapter of the American Savings and Loan Institute.

THOMAS F. BYRNES of Corte Madera, assistant to the president of Dohemann and Co., is attending the annual convention of the International Council of Shopping Centers in New York this week.

Rail Halt Hurts Early Stock Trade

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market took a sharp pounding through the first two hours today, reflecting the second nationwide rail strike in six months and talk of further increases in interest rates.

"The major fear," one Wall Street analyst commented, "is that an upturn in interest rates may stifle economic growth." He noted that Washington probably would like to bring interest rates more in line with prevailing European rates in order to halt the heavy outflow of U.S. dollars, which in recent weeks has had an unsettling effect on world market conditions.

Among the most active Amex issues were Ling-Temco warrants down a point on a volume of 30,000, Consolidated Dental Supply fractionally lower on 30,000 shares, and Cinerama up slightly on 28,000 shares.

On the Big Board, stocks off a point or more included General Motors down 1 5-8, Ford Motor 1 3-4, Dow Chemical 1 1-2, Allied Chemical 2 1-2, Getty Oil 1, Pennzoil 1, Natomas 1 1-8, Braniff Airways 1, KLM Royal Dutch Airlines 2 1-2, and Northwest Airlines 1 3-8.

SECTION MEET

8 Swim Records For Terra Linda

Terra Linda High School assistant swim coach Chuck Metz came out of the North Coast Section (NCS) Championships at Santa Rosa four steak dinners poorer, but eight school records richer, as the Trojans outscored all Marin County Athletic League teams Saturday, in this highlight meet of the prep swim season.

Metz offered free steaks to the four men on the Trojan varsity 400-yard freestyle relay team if they could finish in the top three, and this they did in school record style, to record one of eight Terra Linda marks in the NCS final meet.

Thom Guthrie, Bruce Fromberg, Don Lafrenz, and Jim Barton sped to a time of 3:26.89, notching themselves as the second fastest quartet in Marin County history in the event — in addition to winning the meal from Metz.

Individually, the Trojans dominance in the freestyle events was obvious, as Guthrie picked up a third and a sixth in the varsity 50 and 100 Free, and marathon specialist Rick DeMont nailed down two Class B firsts in the 200 and 400, demolishing NCS marks in each.

DeMont's 200 and 400 times (1:50.05 and 3:51.75) would have earned him finals berths even in varsity competition, especially the 400, where he would have placed second.

The sophomore speedster's new 400 record for Class B breaks the old mark set by Bernie Stenson, who is now a freshman standout at UCLA.

Guthrie's 100 prelim time of 50.94 edges his own school mark of 51.0 set earlier this year.

Trojan Keith Strange took the only other Marin County first in the Class B 100 Individual Medley, in the school record time of 1:00.75.

As far as team scoring goes, Terra Linda's Varsity placed eighth with 45 points, Redwood was next in 13th, followed by Novato in 17th and San Rafael in 29th.

The Trojan Class B squad placed a solid second behind super-power Ignacio Valley, and Redwood tied for 10th.

The only other county placings in Varsity were from Redwood's Brian Hennessy, (4th in the 100 Fly) and Novato's John Summerfield (3rd in Diving).

Terra Linda's Class B medley relay — Casey Flaherty, Strange, Jeff Grant, and Jeff Miller — lost a thrilling battle by a half second to Ygnacio Valley, but set a new school record anyway, with a 1:49.21 clocking.

Grant placed fourth in the Class B 50 Fly, 27.04.

Redwood's Spencer Eldred was fifth behind Strange in the I.M.

Aaron Grossman also accounted for a Terra Linda record in Class B Diving.

The final Trojan school mark went to the team of Grant, DeMont, Miller, and Jon Fearn in the Class B 400 Free Rlay. Terra Linda placed second with the time of 3:35.5, ahead of fourth place Redwood (Eldred, Claude Ansari, Troy Dunham, Stan Rainey).

High Winds Mar Regatta

High winds and lack of participants combined to cripple the second annual Marin Rowing Regatta Saturday on the Corte Madera Creek. Only four of the scheduled nine events were run as none of the East Bay teams entered showed up.

In races that did take place, Stanford's "B" crew beat Alameda Junior College, and Tom Moore won the 500-meter single skull event.

Miss Kilgore Wins, Loses

Bee Kilgore of Tiburon tasted both victory and defeat yesterday in the finals of the Palo Alto Junior Hardcourt tennis tournament.

Miss Kilgore lost to Ann Kiyomura of San Mateo in a match for the girls' 16 title, 6-3, 7-5, but came back for victory in the doubles when she teamed with Nancy Zero of San Mateo to beat Nancy's sister Sue and Susan Mehmedbasich, 6-4, 3-6, 6-2.

Softball Game Halted By Darkness

Suburban Auto of San Rafael held San Mateo to a 2-2, 11-inning tie after dropping the opening game of a doubleheader, 2-1 yesterday in Golden Gate Travel League softball action.

Ron Reagan paced the San Rafael club in the nightcap with three hits, including a home run. The game, called by darkness, will be replayed.

One Jewel Left For Canonero

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI)— Canonero II, sold for $1,200 as a crooked-legged yearling and shipped off to Venezuela to apparent obscurity, cannot be purchased for any price today, following the colt's record-breaking victory Saturday in the Preakness Stakes that gave him two-thirds of the Triple Crown.

"We already have had an offer of $4 million for him," said Victory Scialom, a spokesman for owner Edgar Caibett and his wife who received the colt as a wedding present from Pedro Baptista, his father-in-law.

"We turned the offer down. All the money in the world couldn't buy this horse. No, I am not at liberty to reveal the person who made it," he added.

Canonero's victory in the Preakness was as startling as his Kentucky Derby victory two weeks ago was surprising.

There have been Count Fleets who have buried rivals in their dust with speed. There have been Whirlaways who crushed opposition with devastating stretch runs. To everyone's amazement, Canonero proved he can do either in winning the second jewel in the Triple Crown.

The South American invader came from 20 lengths back to win the Kentucky Derby. He was expected to try the same thing in the Preakness.

Instead, jockey Gustavo Avila sent Canonero to the front at the start and the crowd of 47,211, the biggest in Maryland racing history, roared in disbelief.

Canonero challenged Calumet Farm's Eastern Fleet for the lead. He caught his rival on the first turn and the two colts raced stride for stride, nose and nose into the homestretch. Then, with only an eighth of a mile to go in the 1 3-16 mile race, Canonero inched ahead to win by a length and one-half and smash the track record of 1:54 3-5 set by Nashua in 1955 with a 1:54 flat clocking.

The complete change in tactics amazed everyone and horsemen wondered what to expect on June 5 when Canonero will try to complete his sweep of the Triple Crown in the Belmont Stakes. Only eight horses have done so but none in almost a quarter of a century. Citation last pulled off the triple in 1948.

Sohner Sweeps Doubleheader

Behind the outstanding pitching of Morey Swarm and Chuck Tyson, Sohner Tree Service of San Anselmo swept a Golden Gate Softball League doubleheader from Concord Saturday night in the East Bay.

Swarm tossed a two-hitter to give Sohner a 1-0 victory in the opener and Tyson limited Concord to four hits and one unearned run in a 6-1 nightcap win.

Key Games In Prep Baseball

Having each dealt the Novato High School Hornets a staggering blow last week, the Terra Linda Trojans and Marin Catholic Wildcats must hope that someone else will finish the kill this week, so that they can play for the Marin County Athletic League baseball championship Friday night.

With just tomorrow's and Friday's games to play, only one-half game separates the Trojans and Wildcats from league-leading Novato. But, considering the schedule, that lead means very little. Tomorrow the Hornets of Novato host Redwood, a team that beat them in the first round, and Friday they meet San Rafael, the hittingest team in the MCAL.

Terra Linda's game tomorrow is also a toughy, leaving Marin Catholic with the inside track. The Trojans must face San Marin, winner of two straight games, while the Wildcats of Kentfield meet last place Tamalpais.

Reed Tops MacKay In Tennis Finals

Top-seeded Barry MacKay ot Ross fell almost too easily to Whitney Reed of Alameda yesterday in the finals of the annual Bay Counties Invitational tennis tournament at the Tiburon Peninsula Club.

Reed, who won the tourney in 1968, was third-seeded in this one, but had little trouble upsetting MacKay in straight sets, 6-2, 6-3. He pocketed $150 for his winning effort.

MacKay, who won $50, said afterwards "Not taking anything away from Whitney, but I just couldn't seem to get my game off the ground."

In a slightly tighter match, Barbara Downs defeated Gail Hansen for the women's title, 7-6, 6-3. But Miss Hansen came back to team with Mark Elliot for victory in the mixed doubles. They defeated Brenda Garcia and Chip Fisher, 6-2, 6-3.

The men's doubles crown went to Charles Hoeveler (ex-Dartmouth) and John Levin (ex-Harvard), who went three sets to beat Elliot and Chick White, 7-6, 3-6, 6-3.

Results of Saturday's semi-finals:

Men's singles — Barry MacKay d. Bob Siska, 6-4, 3-6, 6-1; Whitney Reed d. Charles Hoeveler, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3. Women's singles — Gail Hansen d. Marcie Louie, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4; Barbara Downs d. Kate Latham, 1-6, 7-5, 6-0. Men's doubles — Mark Elliot and Chuck White d. Gene Ward and Gil Howard, 6-2, 5-7, 6-2; Charles Hoeveler and John Levin d. Whitney Reed and Tom Brown, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

EMPTY CAPITAL TRACKS — The railroad yard at Washington, D.C.'s Union Station is a typical scene today as the 13,000 member Brotherhood of Railway Signalmen went on strike against the nation's railroads, stranding 600,000 commuters and threatening immediate industrial slowdowns. The U.S. Capitol is in the background. (UPI Telephoto)

Rail Signalmen Stage A Walkout

Nixon Is Expected To Act

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Railroad signalmen went on strike today, shutting down the nation's rail lines, and President Nixon proposed emergency legislation to force the men back to work until at least July 1.

Within five hours after the 13,000-man Brotherhood of Railway Signalmen went on strike, effectively shutting down all rail passenger and freight traffic, the Florida White House announced Nixon's plan to Congress, calling for a new round of negotiations.

A spokesman for Southern Pacific in San Francisco said today that the Northwestern Pacific which has a line through Marin County had not yet been picketed, and trains were still running.

It was expected picketing of the line which runs freight trains in Marin would begin later.

Elsewhere in the Bay Area, Southern Pacific's commute service to 11,500 passengers on the Peninsula was shut down by picket lines.

Two commute trains left San Jose before the 6 a.m. deadline, but a spokesman said that "the remainder of our 20 trains between San Jose and San Francisco won't run."

Hundreds of additional autos clogged Bayshore Freeway on the Peninsula, and extra buses were provided on the Peninsula today by Greyhound.

Urging passage of a joint resolution to halt the shutdown that started at 6:01 a.m. local time, Nixon said a continued national strike "would cause great hardship to all Americans and strike a serious blow at the nation's economy."

"It is essential that our railroads continue to operate," the President said.

The President recommended that Congress promptly enact legislation to extend the present contract negotiation between the Signalmen, union and the railroads until July 1.

He further asked Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson to follow the situation closely and to continue assisting both sides of the dispute. He said that if no settlement had been reached by June 21, it should be reported to him and Congress.

The signalmen, who maintain and install signal equipment, struck when the railroads refused to meet their demands for wage increases almost double what other rail unions have accepted.

Key members of Congress pledged in advance to give prompt consideration to Nixon's request. Veteran observers said that in spite of traditional reluctance of lawmakers to enact legislation during a labor emergency, Congress would likely approve the Nixon request —or something similar to stop the strike —some time today.

RIDES THE BEATS

Psychologist Changes Attitude On The Police

By DAVID DIETZ

The film begins with scenes of student-police clashes during the 1968 San Francisco State riots. Soon the gentle voice of the narrator is heard: "I'd never liked cops, even though I'm white and over 35 . . ."

No, Leonard Pearson, a bearded, slightly built psychologist, never did like cops. But that changed, his narration ultimately made it clear, when he went to Berkeley and Oakland and rode day and night with officers on the beat.

The film is "Help, I'm A Cop," and it's Pearson's way of showing the persecution, agony and frustration facing policemen. He said he came to realize during his three months of research that police truly are a hated minority.

Pearson, associate professor of psychology at Sonoma State College, directed the film, shot by a borrowed camera crew, and later narrated it.

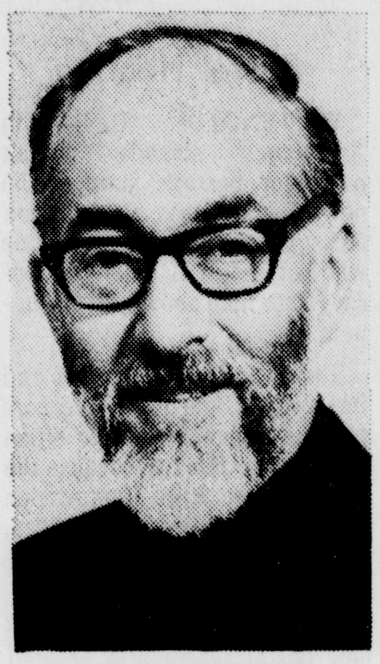
His decision to embark on a study of police was made after hearing student complaints about mistreatment by officers at Bay Area demonstrations.

As for himself, he said, "I really didn't understand cops and how they perceived the world." So, through riding with and interviewing more than 100 policemen of all ranks, he sought to find answers.

While there are "evidences of police brutality and bitterness," Pearson said, he came away from his field research with a feeling of compassion toward police because of the difficult role given them by society.

"They deal with social disequillibriums," he said, "and society wants them to take care of it."

One question he asked of each officer was why police work was chosen as a career. The three major reasons given, according to Pearson, were: "The desire to help people somehow; they don't want to be cooped up in an office; and for the excitement and the challenge."



LEONARD PEARSON
Long look at police

He found police tended to socialize together, either because of odd duty hours or because of criticism by others at parties. The film on several occasions finds police called upon to defend "simple" arrests of traffic offenders and marijuana smokers while said to be ignoring "major crime."

"Chief (Charles) Gain (of Oakland) said he has trouble at parties," Pearson said. "They want to relate to him as a cop and not as a person. He gets harassed."

Actually, Pearson said, police "get this kind of thing just stopping for coffee." In one sequence, the movie shows patrons of a restaurant staring coldly at two Berkeley officers.

Other scenes show youngsters shouting "oink, oink" at an officer in a prowl car and a youthful motorist, who had been offered help by a policemen, hurling epithets at the officer leaving the scene.

"Sometimes they'll stop a kid and try to get dialogue going, but it's very hard to do," Pearson said. "They try not to put a bag on the population," he said, "while the population sometimes puts a bag on them."

Pearson said he was "astonished" at the "high level of tension and alertness" maintained by on-duty officers, and felt a need for debriefing sessions as in the military.

Without a chance to unwind, Pearson felt, policemen take "residual tensions home with them." This often results in an uneasy home life, and Pearson noted that the divorce rate among police is high.

Police, he said, "get an awful lot of calls about family beefs" but receive no psychological counseling. He saw a need for "family crisis teams" that would act apart from "the guy who's tracking down the gunman."

Pearson told of one officer who took aside a youth suspected of assaulting his mother to administer some so-called crisis therapy.

"The kid said he wanted to go into the Marines, but the officer said, 'You can't do that. The Marines won't take you if you have an arrest record. Besides, if you can't take what your mother's doing, you can't take what the D.I.'s going to give you.' "

The youth, Pearson said, was impressed.

As to crime prevention, Pearson said he was troubled by the apparent failure of policemen to "look beyond their eight hours."

"For whatever reason . . . they are not allowed to cope with the long range. They are a mechanized group sent in to repair holes in the dike."

A Tidal Wave Reported In U.S. Dollars Flow

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The flow of American dollars overseas reached tidal wave proportions in the first three months of this year, with a deficit of $5.5 billion in the balance of payments, the Nixon administration reported today.

That was the highest one-quarter deficit on record.

The Commerce Department said the figure —the difference between what the nation spends abroad and what it takes in — was $2.2 billion higher than for the last quarter of 1970 and more than half the $9.8 billion deficit for all of 1970.

Treasury Secretary John B. Connelly, who discused the figure at a Senate Finance Committee hearing on trade, said: "Clearly that level of deficit is not sustainable."

Connally said that in addition to what the government is doing to improve the U. S. trade situation, business and labor must do more "to hold down the rise in labor costs, to avoid unnecessary increases in interestrates and to speed the return to price stability."

The first-quarter deficit figured in the dollar crisis which swept through Europe the past few weeks. As a result of the flood of dollars, the German mark was permitted to "float" — in effect increasing its value in relation to the dollar.

The official deficit would have been $180 million worse had it not been for allocation to the U. S. account of special drawing rights, the two-year-old international reserve currency sometimes referred to as "paper gold."

The official settlements balance measures the dollar holdings of foreign central banks and other official institutions. It indicates the immediate pressures on the international value of the dollar.

The Commerce Department said much of the first-quarter deficit was caused by speculators seeking higher interest rates in Europe than were available in the United States.

The balance of payments records all transactions between the U. S. economy and the rest of the world including trade, foreign aid, overseas military spending, purchases of foreign stocks and bonds and bank borrowing.

In his Senate testimony, Connally said the United States must step up its trade. "The simple fact is that in many areas others are out-producing us, out-thinking us, out-working us and out-trading us," he said.

He also said other nations must lower the barriers that have restricted American exports —not "in return for what the people of the United States have done for them in helping to recover from the ravages of World War II" but simply because "today we are in a different world."

Israeli Is Kidnapped In Istanbul

ISTANBUL (UPI)—Five gunmen today ambushed and kidnapped Israeli Consul General Ephraim Elrom, who a decade ago directed the prosecution investigation of Nazi mass murderer Adolf Eichmann, Army officials said.

They said the gunmen forced their way into Elrom's apartment house, tied up the hall porter and at least eight other persons.

When Elrom arrived for lunch the gunmen, one of them posing as the porter, grabbed and tied up the diplomat. Elrom personally interrogated Eichmann before the SS lieutenant colonel's 1961 trial in Israel for his part in the World War II mass murder of millions of Jews.

Army officials said Elrom fought the gunmen and shouted for help for several minutes.

The gunmen managed to wrestle him into a waiting automobile bearing Ankara license plates and the car sped away from the apartment house in the center of Istanbul.

Jewish sources in Istanbul said Elrom was one of the Israeli agents, who abducted Eichmann in Argentina.

In London, Israeli sources said Elrom. then named Hofstefer, ran the police investigation of Eichmann who was hanged after conviction.

Army officials said the gunmen broke into the apartment just below Elrom's, first overpowering the occupants and then the porter.

Earlier, police sources said four gunmen did the abduction. Military officials later put the number at five.

Today's kidnaping was the third in a series of abductions of foreigners in Turkey since the beginning of the year.

On Feb. 15, three armed Turks seized U.S. Air Force Sgt. Jimmy Finlay of Fort Worth, Tex., and held him for several days before releasing him unharmed. On March 4, an extremist group kidnaped four more American airmen and demanded a $400,000 ransom. The ransom was not paid and the men were freed several days later.

Political sources said the earlier kidnappings and related political instability were largely responsible for the resignation of the Suleiman Demireal government earlier this year.

Military leaders threatened a coup unless he resigned and a more stable government was formed to halt mass antigovernment demonstrations by leftist students. The new government imposed martial law and the country has been relatively quiet in recent weeks.

CHANCE TO CLEAN UP

How Red, White and Blue Is Your Flag For Memorial Day?

By SANDRA YOUNG

Is your red, white and blue a little black? Is it hard to tell the stars from the stripes because of the streaks?

When Old Glory waves her proud head over your home this Memorial Day, will she be wearing a crisp, fresh smile or a soiled frown?

If she's a bit bedraggled, you may have missed out on one of the area's biggest bargains.

The majority of Marin's cleaning establishments (there are about 100 listed in the yellow pages) will clean the American flag — free, at no cost, gratis, without charge.

But business is not booming in the flag-cleaning market these days, according to spokesmen at various cleaners.

Richard Gable, owner of Miracle Norge Village in San Rafael, said he hasn't had a flag to clean since 1963.

Most of the cleaners polled recently by the Independent-Journal said they received "about one or two" a year.

"Super" CLEANE
Jack Lucey 71

(Drawing by Independent-Journal artist Jack Lucey)

Heading the list is Quality Cleaners of Mill Valley. Owner Richard Thut estimated he cleans 20 to 30 flags a year. Fairfax French Laundry and Cleaners, with five branches, cleans about 25 a year, a spokesman said.

Some of the dry cleaners contacted had never had a flag brought in to be cleaned and had no policy on whether or not to clean one without charge.

Others said they will not clean the flag because it must be handled carefully.

Gable explained that there is a possibility of the red dye turning the white stripes a pink shade if the flag is made of inexpensive material. Usually, the flag is cleaned separately, he said.

Very old flags present a different problem because of sun rot. If the flag is not handled properly, it may shred when it is cleaned.

New Pact For 49er's Dick Nolan

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Dick Nolan, coach of the San Francisco 49ers professional football team, has been given a new five-year contract, it was announced today.

Lou Spadia, president of the 49ers, said Nolan "has made everyone aware that he is one of the finest young coaches in professional football."

Nolan, 39, is a former defensive back for the New York Giants. He coached the 49ers to their first National Football League division championship last season.

The new five-year contract replaces one Nolan had which still had two years to run. Salary terms were not disclosed.

No Amnesty Policy In Narcotics Cases

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Marine Corps said Monday that it is not joining the Navy in adopting a general amnesty policy for personnel who have used narcotics and are trying to kick the habit. "Each case will be judged on its own merits and the commander's action will be based on the 'whole man concept' and the extent of the individual's involvement," the Marine Corps said in a statement.

UPI reported Saturday that Navy Secretary John H. Chafee told a news conference in San Diego that the Marines as well as the Navy would move to the general amnesty policy.

Nixon Gathers Fuel For NATO Position

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI) —The White House today made public a letter from a top-ranking official of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), warning that a unilateral reduction of U.S. forces in Europe would undermine the Atlantic alliance and injur NATO's flexibility for an "immediate nuclear retaliation if attacked."

The letter, sent to Nixon by Manlio Brosio, NATO's secretary general, was another step in the administration's offensive against Sen. Mike Mansfield's proposal to cut in half American forces in Europe, from 300,000 to 150,000.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said that the Brosio letter was not solicited, "I think he was moved to write the letter," he said

Brosio said that he had seen reports of Mansfield's proposed cut and added, "Everyone is, of course, entitled to his own opinion, and I do not doubt, or contest, the good faith and intentions of Sen. Mansfield or of anyone who may share his view.

"Nevertheless," Brosio added, "I feel bound to say that to me the ideas underlying this proposal appear to be untenable, and to run counter to the conclusions of the extensive study which has recently been completed on alliance defense problems in the 1970s."

"The assumption that the unilateral reduction of U.S. forces in Europe would not undermine the Atlantic alliance and NATO solidarity is deeply and dangerously mistaken," he asserted.

Brosio said that such a step would "withdraw all credibility from NATO's ability to keep its commitment and to maintain a solid deterrent in the Warsaw Pact strength."

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Trade Date Key Stock's Turnover

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am confused about which date controls the six-month period necessary for claiming a long-term capital gain, the trade date or the settlement date? My shares were bought on Mar. 30, 1971 and settlement date was Apr. 6, 1971 — S. M.

A. The important one is the trade date. However, according to the Internal Revenue Service, the day following the trade date is the first day of the six-month holding period, regardless of whether this is a business day or not. Thus, in your case March 31, 1971 is the first day of the six-month holding period.

Six calendar months later — even though that month ends on the 30th rather than the 31st — you have established a long-term capital gain. Therefore sale of your shares on Sept. 30, 1971, would permit you to claim this as a long-term investment.

Q Based on the limited knowledge I have of price-earnings ratios, it would seem to me that Avery Products, which earned 30 cents last year, should be selling at $16 not $33. I bought shares quite a while ago at $34. What would you suggest I do? — M. H.

A. Price-earnings multiples vary, not only from industry-to-industry and issue-to-issue but from year-to-year. Avery has been accorded a relatively high multiple by investors anticipating that the company's excellent growth record will be carried over into future years. For the last four years these shares have commanded a multiple ranging from 18x to 53x and averaging 35x. Assuming earnings this year reach the estimated 95 cents a share, Avery could move as high as 50 on that basis.

Operating results for the first fiscal quarter, which ended February, were mixed. Sales gained 10 per cent, while earnings, hurt by rising costs and a sagging economy, dropped from 19 to 14 cents a share. In the first two months of the second quarter however, business conditions have been far more favorable. Although European operations have expanded rapidly, the potential here still remains strong. Shares should be held.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

Ground Being Cleared For Sears In the Northgate Shopping Center

A major expansion program for the Northgate Mall is now in progress at the south end of the Northgate Shopping Center.

Graders and other pieces of heavy equipment are doing ground work on the undeveloped 15 acres lying between Los Ranchitos Road and Northgate Drive. It is the biggest undertaking in over six years.

The focal point of this project is the Sears Roebuck and Co. store which is planned to open for business in the fall of 1972. The main building will have two floors above ground and a basement, with a total of about 200,000 square feet of floor space. There will also be two other Sears buildings — one for an automotive center and another for a seasonal sales center handling garden supplies and related materials.

Grading and preliminary ground work will go on until about the end of this month and construction will begin shortly after it is completed.

But all this activity is not being limited to the Sears enterprises alone. With an appreciative eye on all the additional traffic this is bound to generate in the immediate area, the owners of Northgate Mall, M and T, Inc., are tieing in two more multistore buildings totaling an additional 40,000 square feet and architecturally matching the existing mall buildings. Discussions are now being held with prospective tenants and it is estimated that another 20 stores in the two buildings will open at about the same time Sears does. There will be much more parking space for all this additional business, of course — a huge area.

The Northgate Mall, or Fashion Mall, as it used to be called, is the largest of the three Northgate Shopping Center divisions. It was opened in March, 1965 and there are presently about 40 stores which gross a total of $20 million annually. Some 4,500 cars come into the mall parking areas each day.

You will be able to add at least another 50 per cent to this after Sears and the other new stores open next year.

BERNARD R. DE ROSE of San Rafael has been promoted to assistant sales manager for the Calaveras Cement Division of the Flintkote Co. and will work out of the San Francisco office. He joined Calaveras in 1961 and has had various sales and managerial roles with the company.

De Rose Gernetzke

DAVID W. GERNETZKE of San Rafael has been promoted to assistant vice president, account services, in Wells Fargo Bank's data processing division. Formerly assistant manager of operations, he has been in the data processing division since he joined the bank in 1957.

TWO MARIN MEN have been reelected to top posts of the National Automobile Club. Stuart D. Menist of Kentfield, executive vice president of Fireman's Fund American Insurance Companies, has been reelected chairman of the board of the club. Keith M. Askew of San Anselmo, manager of the Hartford Insurance Group, has been reelected president.

WILLIAM S. BICHARD of Greenbrae, manager of Colonial Savings and Loan Association in San Rafael, on the heels of being elected a director of the Tiburon Chamber of Commerce, has been named to the board of governors of the San Francisco chapter of the American Savings and Loan Institute.

THOMAS F. BYRNES of Corte Madera, assistant to the president of Dohemann and Co., is attending the annual convention of the International Council of Shopping Centers in New York this week.

Rail Halt Hurts Early Stock Trade

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market took a sharp pounding through the first two hours today, reflecting the second nationwide rail strike in six months and talk of further increases in interest rates.

"The major fear," one Wall Street analyst commented, "is that an upturn in interest rates may stifle economic growth." He noted that Washington probably would like to bring interest rates more in line with prevailing European rates in order to halt the heavy outflow of U.S. dollars, which in recent weeks has had an unsettling effect on world market conditions.

Among the most active Amex issues were Ling-Temco warrants down a point on a volume of 30,000, Consolidated Dental Supply fractionally lower on 30,000 shares, and Cinerama up slightly on 28,000 shares.

Angela Loses Brandeis Bid

WALTHAM, Mass. (UPI) — Imprisoned black radical Angela Davis has lost a bid to become president of the Brandeis University alumni association.

Ginsberg

More than half the 6,000 graduates of Brandeis, balloting by mail, elected New York City attorney Morton L. Ginsberg, 37, to head the association. He outpolled Miss Davis by 2,489,793.

Miss Davis, who studied under Marxist philosopher Herbert Marcuse at Brandeis, was nominated last month by a group of dissidents to oppose Ginsberg. She is a 1965 graduate, Ginsberg a 1956 alumnus.

Miss Davis

Miss Davis is in prison awaiting trial on charges of murder and conspiracy in last summer's shootout at the San Rafael, Calif., courthouse in which a judge and three other persons died. A new judge, the sixth, was named last week to hear the case.

Off To Moscow

OTTAWA (UPI) — Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau left today for an 11-day visit in the Soviet Union which both sides hoped would improve relations between the two countries.

Trudeau and his wife, accompanied by External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp and other Canadian officials, left Ottawa at 12:05 a.m. aboard a Canadian armed forces Boeing 707 and was expected to arrive in Moscow late in the afternoon.

A Food Pledge

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Lt. Gen. Tikka Khan, martial law administrator for East Pakistan, Sunday toured the Ganges River delta and islands that were devastated by November's cycline and assured the survivors they would receive adequate food, Radio Pakistan said today.

Tikka told the East Pakistanis in the area where as many as 300,000 may have been killed by the cyclone and tidal wave that "the government had adequate stocks of food grains in the province and no one will be allowed to die of hunger," the broadcast said.

New Etna Flow

CATANIA, Sicily (UPI)— Rivers of lava poured down on cottages and farm houses on the slopes of Mount Etna today in the worst eruption of the volcano in 43 years.

Farmers who built barricades to try to divert the lava from their doors retreated to neighbors' houses to watch helplessly as it burned their orchards and vineyards and boiled through their cottages.

The stream of lava reached the first houses Sunday in the outlying districts of the town of Sant' Alfio, one of five threatened by the renewed activity and eruption from Etna, and officials warned the town may be endangered.

Postal Hearing

WASHINGTON (UPI)—With Americans already paying more for postage stamps, the new Postal Rate Commission today opened hearings to decide whether the $1.41 billion temporary rate hike should be permanent.

The U.S. Postal Service and its 12-man Board of Governors put the higher rates into effect at midnight Sunday because the five-member Rate Commission did not act, as the law provides, within 100 days after the increases were proposed.

The law which created the new postal set-up also created the Rate Commission to act as final authority on rate changes proposed by the Postal Service—a power held until now by Congress.

Muskie In Front

BOSTON (UPI)—Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine is the early favorite among New Hampshire's voters to win 1972's first democratic presidential primary, the Boston Sunday Globe said. The primary is eight months away.

A copyrighted poll in the Globe showed Muskie capturing 45 per cent of the votes in an eight-man race, surpassing the combined strength of runnerup Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Sen Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the party's 1968 presidential standardbearer.

Father Of American Yo-Yo Dies

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—As small boys, millions of Americans were happy to save their nickels and dimes for a Yo-Yo. As adults, they weren't so happy about feeding them to parking meters.

But the flow of money from both — the river of small change, casually spent, that built so many 20th Century fortunes—made a multimillionaire of Donald Duncan Sr.

Duncan, the man who saw a fascinating toy in an obscure Asian jungle-fighting weapon, and a fortune in the car by the curbside, will be buried Tuesday in Palm Springs, Calif. He died Saturday at UCLA Medical Center of a stroke at 71. He had been in a coma for two and one-half weeks.

Duncan never claimed to have invented either the Yo-Yo or the parking meter, but he grew rich marketing them.

Duncan first saw a Yo-Yo "in 1927 or 28," according to his son, Jack, of Newport Beach, Calif.

He was in San Francisco or someplace like that and he saw a Filipino playing with a toy, which was the Yo-Yo. He liked it so well that he bought it from the Filipino and commercialized it."

As far back as the 16th Century, Filipino jungle fighters used 4-pound Yo-Yos on 20-foot cords, said the younger Duncan, and his father had heard that drawings in ancient Eygptian temples pictured objects that looked suspiciously like primitive Yo-Yos.

Duncan, who never finished the eighth grade and began work at 13—but had a sharp mind for a commercial venture—recruited Filipinos, trained them to do tricks with the yoyos, and dispatched them across the United States, holding demonstrations and refereeing contests.

In 1935, with autos proliferating faster than Yo-Yos, Duncan founded the Duncan Parking Meter Co. in Chicago, where he spent most of his adult life, and when he sold the company in 1958, it had manufactured 73 per cent of the world's parking meters.

Doctor Assignments On Council List

The Comprehensive Health Planning Council of Marin will discuss further a proposal to assign two U.S. Public Health Department doctors to West Marin for the summer at a meeting at 7:30 a.m. Wednesday in the Coral Room of Marin General Hospital.

The doctors would be on loan from the federal government and would report at the end of the summer on the need for medical facilities in the area, according to the proposal.

Church Mission Leader Is Dead

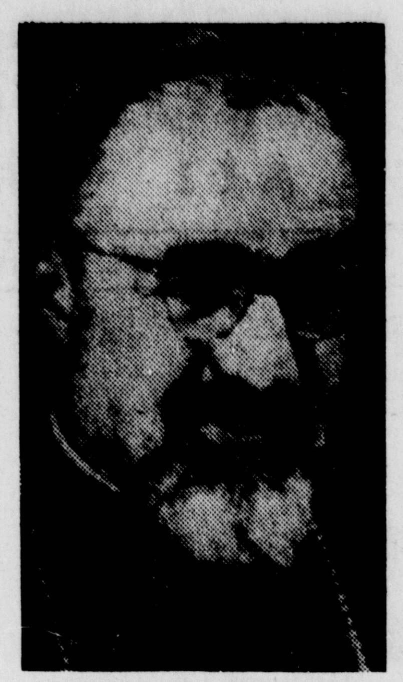
ROME (UPI) — Cardinal Gregory Peter Agagianian, who rose from the obscurity of an Armenian village to become the leader of the world's Roman Catholic mission and a candidate for the papacy, died at his home Sunday night.

The tall, bearded cardinal who spent most of his life in Rome and spoke with a Roman accent, was 75. Church officials said he had been sick for some time and Pope Paul VI called at his bedside a few weeks ago.

A formidable linguist and a man who inspired friendship, Agagianian was the first non-Italian in centuries to be considered a serious candidate for the papacy. He was mentioned as a possibility in the 1958 conclave which elected John XXIII and again in the 1963 conclave which elected the present pope.

Although his prominence faded somewhat with the passing of years and impairment of his health, Agagianian still was one of the most beloved personalities in the Vatican. Italians called him "more Roman than the Romans."

The cardinal was born Lazarus Agagianian Sept. 18, 1895, at Akhaltzikhe in what now is Soviet Armenia, only a few miles from the Georgia birthplace of Josef Stalin.



CARDINAL AGAGIANIAN
Candidate for papacy

His parish priest thought so highly of the handsome and studious boy that he sent him to Rome at the age of 11 to attend the Pontifical College for the Propagation of the Faith. He was the youngest student even to attend the college and the rector was about to send him back as "too young" when Pope Pius X intervened and ruled he could stay.

Agagianian rose quickly through church ranks and in 1937 was elected 15th patriarch of the world's 100,000 Armenian Roman Catholics.

Sadat's Political Crisis Slowing Suez Canal Plan

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Egypt's political upheaval today delayed efforts to find an interim Middle East solution that would permit reopening of the Suez Canal, but Secretary of State William P. Rogers said Sunday his attempts to find a solution did not appear threatened by events in Egypt.

Rogers and Assistant Secretary of State Joseph J. Sisco scheduled conferences in New York at 11 a.m. EDT today with U.N. Secretary General Thant and Gunnar V. Jarring, the U.N. peace negotiator whose own efforts have been in limbo for several weeks.

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat appeared to be strengthening his hold on the country and Cairo dispatches today said he had taken over as head of Egypt's police force. He already is nominal head of the armed forces. The Cairo dispatches said he had placed his political opponents in concentration camps as his purge continued of elements who tried to overthrow his government.

Political sources in Jerusalem said Israel would delay further efforts to reach agreement on reopening the Canal until the situation in Cairo is stabilized.

The sources said the decision was taken at a Sunday cabinet session.

Despite the Israeli statement, Rogers said in Washington on NBC-TV's "Meet the Press" that "we have seen no sign that there will be any slowdown in the discussions that are underway and I would hope that there will not be any."

The Big Four ambassadors to the United Nations called a meeting Tuesday to review the situation, and Egyptian sources at the United Nations said there would be no change in Sadat's demand that Israel withdraw from the Suez Canal—the demand that has halted the talks.

Sisco and Rogers met both with Israeli and Egyptian officials on their recent Mideast tour and Sisco flew back to Cairo with a new Israeli canal proposal.

Dump Nixon Group Holds First Round

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Liberal Republicans forming a fledgling "Dump Nixon" movement still hope to force a change in the President's policies, but they will not hesitate to campaign against him in '72 if he does not.

Nineteen Republicans from across the country held their first meeting Sunday—a six and one-half hour session at a private home in Washington. The meeting was called by former Sen. Charles E. Goodell of New York and by Reps. Donald W. Riegle of Michigan and Paul N. McCloskey Jr. of California.

"The views expressed were pretty unanimous that preparations should be made now in the event we have to oppose Nixon in the primaries." said Goodell, who himself was dumped by President Nixon when the administration refused to support him in the last election in a dispute over war policy.

But Goodell said those present still want to describe their attempt as a "move Nixon or change Nixon" effort. He added, however:

"There was no hesitancy in the group that we will be for someone else as an alternative to Nixon, but we hope that won't be necessary."

Goodell said McCloskey addressed the meeting but did not seek support for his own candidacy. McCloskey has expressed his willingness to be a GOP primary candidate. Other potential candidates who were discussed, according to Goodell, included himself, Sen. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, New York City Mayor John V. Lindsay; former Health, Education and Welfare Secretary John W. Gardner, and former Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel.

Goodell described those who attended the meeting as ranging from "old-time Republican organization people to state legislative leaders, major party contributors and some young Republicans." Sufficient money commitments were made, he added, to finance any national effort that may be necessary.

'Slumer Protest' At Mills College

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—Some 180 girls, many in filmy nighties, protested the past weekend over residence hall visiting rules at all-women Mills College.

The young women staged a "slumber protest" in the lounges and living rooms at seven halls which house about 750 students.

The protesters want a 24-hour open house policy, but a school official said student and faculty representatives were trying to come up with a plan satisfactory to all.

S. Viets Begin Drive Into Valley

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese battalions opened a long-delayed allied drive into the A Shau Valley today, marching down from the mountains at the southeast edge of the Communist bastion, field spokesmen said.

U.S. helicopters flew the several thousand South Vietnamese infantrymen to positions in the mountains Sunday. The helicopters ran into heavy Communist ground fire and had to land the soldiers at a point a mile away from the planned landing zone.

Elite Hac Bao (Black Panther) long-range reconnaissance troopers preceded the infantrymen into the valley with the mission of knocking out Communist antiaircraft guns, the field spokesman said.

Two formations of U.S. Air Force B52 Stratofortresses blasted suspected Communist troop concentrations in the valley five miles southeast of A Luoi Sunday with at least 180 tons of bombs.

Two other B52 formations continued the bombing of Communist trail networks in South Vietnam within seven miles of the junction of the Laos border and the Demilitarized Zone.

Operation Lam Son 720, which has the A Shou Valley as its principal target, was launched April 14.

U.S. troops of the 101st Airborne Division reported finding a vast Communist base camp three miles northeast of the valley Sunday.

In Laos, a Defense Ministry spokesman announced that North Vietnamese captured the strategic town of Pak Song on the Bolovens plateau and were threatening the city of Pakse, 28 miles to the west.

The U.S. command reported the number of American servicemen in Vietnam declined by 4,600 last week to a total of 262,500, the lowest number since May 1, 1966. The command also said the U.S. Navy's 7th Fleet in the Tonkin Gulf, which had a strength of 35,000 men in July, 1969, is down to 17,800.

Wilson Says LBJ Ruined Peace Plan

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Johnson administration "deliberately" reversed its policy in 1967 just at the time when there was a real chance to settle the Vietnam War, according to former British Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

In excerpts from his memoirs, published in the current edition of Life magazine, Wilson said a telephone call by President Johnson's special assistant, Walter Rostow, had torpedoed chances for peace just when Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin had agreed to play the role of middleman between Washington and Hanoi.

The excerpts were from Wilson's forthcoming book, "The Labour Government, 196470: A Personal Record."

Basically, Wilson wrote, Johnson withdrew an American proposal for a truce after it had been forwarded to Kosygin for transmission to Hanoi. Johnson then substituted a tougher version clearly unacceptable to the North Vietnamese, Wilson wrote.

Calling the incident a victory for the hawks, Wilson said the incident occurred just before Tet and the plan was to extend the New Year's truce with the ultimate purpose of bringing both sides to the conference table.

The proposal was for the U.S. to stop the bombing of the North with a public statement to that effect. The North would give an assurance, without publicity, that it would not move more troops into Vietnam, wrote Wilson.

Kosygin wanted a written version of the proposal so he could send it to Moscow.

Seeking the title are:

Annette Bunce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Bunce of Olema, an 18-year-old senior at Tomales High School.

A native of Hamilton, Ohio, Miss Bunce has been a resident of Marin for seven years. She has served on the student council as secretary for three years and as a representative during her sophomore year.

She has been a member of the girls league, girls athletic association and ski club.

Miss Bunce plans to attend college and study toward an office job, possibly as a secretary.

Judy Cutright, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Cutright of Inverness, is a sophomore at Ygnacio Valley High School, Concord, who plans to enter Tomales High School this fall.

She has done volunteer work at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in Walnut Creek and plans to enter a nursing school in the state of Washington or Oregon after she completes high school.

Miss Cutright said she hopes to engage in medical missionary work.

She is a horse rider and likes to work with pieces of driftwood, shells and stones that she collects.

Terry Holsapple, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Holsapple, Valley Ford, is a junior at Tomales High School.

A native of Turlock, Miss Holsapple moved to Valley Ford in 1969.

She is a member of the Pep Club, Girls League and Ski Club and is a baseball and football fan.

Miss Holsapple works as a teacher's aide and is seeking a career that will involve working with children.

Patricia Lyman, a 16-year-old junior at Tamalpais High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald H. Lyman, Ocean Parkway, Bolinas.

She is a member of the San Rafael International Order of Rainbow for Girls and enjoys horseback riding, camping, motorcycling and photography.

Miss Lyman plans to study machine shorthand in college and work as a courtroom reporter.

A native of Utica, N.Y., she attended elementary school in El Cerrito.

Elaine Zetterquist, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zetterquist of Inverness Park, is a senior at Tomales High.

She is a member of the Pep Club, Girls League, Girls Athletic Association and has served as student body treasurer for two semesters.

Miss Zetterquist was a member of the Point Reyes-Olema 4-H Club for six years and a county medalist one year for a home furnishing project.

She plans to enter Santa Rosa Beauty College and someday operate her own beauty shop.

Bel Marin Keys Dredging Session

The Bel Marin Keys Community Services District board will have a special meeting on dredging at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow at the community center.

Charles E. Murphy, Marin County flood control engineer, and Asst. County Counsel Thomas G Hendricks will join the discussion.

Directors of the services district have placed an additional $30,000 in the community dredging fund, bringing the total to $104,000, reported Berry L. Zoeller, secretary.

Cascade Draining To Be Studied By Councilmen

A proposal by a citizens committee that controversial Cascade Reservoir in Mill Valley be drained will be considered by the city council when it meets at 8 p.m. today at city hall.

City councilmen often have discussed draining the mountain lake after a fire main was constructed up Cascade Canyon. That main now is in place.

Councilmen, however, are likely to disagree with the step urged by the citizens committee — the ultimate conversion of the reservoir into a safe swimming hole.

In other business, the council will discuss final wording of a lease of the city-owned Lytton Square bus depot and consider beginning meetings at 7:45 p.m. to allow 15 minutes for questions by citizens.

Tamalpais Drive Reconstruction On Town Agenda

The Corte Madera Town Council, meeting today at 7:30 p.m. at town hall, will consider approving final plans for reconstruction of Tamalpais Drive.

If the plans are accepted, the $125,000 project will go to bid with bids expected to be opened sometime in June. The project is expected to be complete by January.

The council also will consider a letter urging the 25-acre requirement for planned unit developments be lowered to one acre.

OUTSTANDING STUDENTS

12 High School Seniors Honored

Twelve Marin high school seniors were honored today as the best in their graduating classes.

The occasion was the annual outstanding student awards luncheon sponsored by Marin County members of the California Savings and Loan League, held at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant in San Rafael.

The awards, initiated by the league 14 years ago, recognize outstanding student performance both scholastically and in school activities. The winners are chosen by high school principals or faculty committees. Each winner receives $100 and an engraved medallion from participating savings and loan firms.

Today's winners were:

Besides making a 2.78 grade point average, he played basketball three years and post-season football one year, first at Terra Linda High, which he attended in freshman and sophomore years, then at Novato. He will enter the U.S. Military Academy and follow a military career.

He was virtually a straight-A student at Redwood, with a 3.98 grade point average, besides which he was on the crew and soccer team, played clarinet in a woodwind quintet, appeared in school musicals, was Honor Society president and California Scholarship Federation Life Member. "Anders is first in a class of 630 and probably the finest mathematics and science student we've ever had," said his counselor, Carol J. Neumeier. He plans to enter Harvard University to study biochemistry.

RAILS

Gerald R. Ford called for fast action on emergency legislation, but said the strike never should have been allowed to happen.

Ford was referring to legislation proposed some time ago to deal with such disputes, and in his message Nixon chided Congress for failure to act on his "Emergency Public Service Protection Act."

He said that would put an end to the "chaotic nature of collective bargaining"in the transportation industry.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said "we feel this piecemeal method is no way to run a railroad."

Some 600,000 other rail workers honored the picket lines of the signalmen, who comprise only about 2 per cent of the rail work force.

With a few exceptions, all train service was idled across the nation.

The people most immediately affected were an estimated 600,000 railroad commuters.

Traffic jams developed in cities that normally depend heavily on commuter trains, mainly New York and Chicago.

Manufacturing plants immediately began slowdowns. One of the first was the Chrysler stamping plant at Tinesburg, Ohio, which said it would work half shifts today and would lay off all its 4,200 workers if the strike continued into Tuesday.

Reflecting presidential concern about the economic effects of the strike, Ziegler said, "Past experience has shown such a strike has an extremely detrimental effect on the economy and welfare of American citizens."

In his statement, Nixon said that he had hoped for a "voluntary negotiated settlement of this dispute; however, this was not forthcoming."

He said that his recommendation for a strike freeze until July 1 "is not only consistent with the national interest in continued rail service, but preserves the processes of free collective bargaining."

Hodgson told reporters he was "bitterly disappointed" with the union for calling the strike and Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe, saying the strike was a "castastrophe," assumed emergency powers that would allow him to dictate what materials would be allowed to move first by other modes of transportation.

The Interstate Commerce Commission said it was authorizing its field offices to grant the 20,000 bus and truck lines under its authority emergency licenses to carry goods and passengers left stranded by the rail strike.

The Chicago regional post office slapped an embargo in movement of second, third and fourth-class mail to 35 states in the center of the nation.

Postal headquarters in Washington withheld any immediate nationwide embargo.

Trains already on the road continued into their next terminal, meaning some union crews would work into the morning or early afternoon.

In some cases, existing union contracts with individual railroads provided that union men already on the job could be held over an extra eight hours. Therefore, some priority trains conceivably could be kept running into the afternoon.

Ronald Rivas Given Six Months In Jail

Ronald Rivas, 21, who fatally shot his father at their Novato home in 1969, was sentenced to six months in Marin County Jail today.

Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court, who found Rivas guilty of voluntary manslaughter in March, also placed him on probation for five years.

"I do have confidence in this young man's ability to overcome the very difficult life he's had so far," Keating said in sentencing Rivas.

Keating rejected proposals from Deputy Dist. Atty. J. Michael Anthony that Rivas be sentenced to the California Youth Authority and from defense attorney Robert D. Carrow that he be sentenced to the 41 days he has already spent in jail, and instead accepted a probation department recommendation in sentencing.

Deputy probation officer Patricia Schuman said she recommended the six months jail sentence so that Rivas could receive psychological treatment.

"He is not mentally ill," Mrs. Schuman said, "but he has problems that have to be dealt with."

Keating found Rivas, who had been charged with murder, guilty of the lesser offense March 25. His decision was based on testimony given during a three-week trial last August.

Testimony at the trial revealed that Rivas shot his father, Fidel Ibarra Rivas, 46, during a family argument July 17, 1969, at their home at 59 Raposa Vista.

Anthony had described how the family had been entertaining visitors and singing on the night of the shooting.

But later, Anthony said, young Rivas — one of 13 children — saw his father slapping his mother.

During the trial, Rivas related how he took his brother's gun out of a dresser drawer, loaded it, took off the safety and cocked it before confronting his father.

"I knew I wanted to protect my mother," he said.

Anthony said Rivas returned to the kitchen and fired four shots at his father, hitting him with three of them. The elder Rivas was pronounced dead on arrival at Novato General Hospital.

During the trial, Carrow had cited "unbelievable brutality" toward the family by the father and said that Rivas had repeatedly tried to protect his mother from the father's violence.

The Shopper In Novato Is Surveyed

Novato customers would like a "unique shopping atmosphere" according to a consumer attitude survey recently conducted by the Novato Jaycees.

Eighty per cent of the 86 persons who responded to the survey favored such an atmosphere, according to Robert A. Schall, membership chairman.

Thirteen per cent favored a western atmosphere on East Grant Avenue, 4 per cent for "something like the Strawberry Town and Country Village," 12 per cent for a more centralized shopping center and 19 per cent who wanted a large store, such as Penny's, Sears or Montgomery Ward.

The majority felt they were getting good service in Novato, but only 30 per cent felt the local sales offered enough inducement.

Fifty-three per cent felt they were getting a fair price in Novato, while 27 per cent didn't and 20 per cent replied "in some stores."

When asked why they shopped outside Novato, most answered for selection but 34 per cent for price and sales.

When it came to items purchased outside the city, clothing led the list with 45 per cent.

They listed the three most important qualities in a store as service, price and selection.

NIXON

He added that it would compromise efforts to reach an agreement with the communist bloc and deprive the alliance of any serious basis for east-west negotiations on political problems and on armaments controls.

"Finally, and most importantly," he said, the proposed reduction would mean a return to a trip-wire strategy, in contradiction to the basis of the alliance's present strategy of flexibility in response, for it is NATO's overall strength in Europe which provides the alliance with an alternative to an immediate nuclear retaliation if attacked."

The Senate votes on the troop cutback amendment Wednesday in the face of unprecedented White House opposition. During Nixon's three-day weekend of work with aides and play with friends, the Florida White House released three statements opposing the amendment.

The first was from Nixon, the second and third from former Presidents Lyndon B. Johnson and Harry S Truman. It marked the first issue on which the President enlisted support from the two living ex-presidents.

FILM

A tense moment experienced by Pearson during his research was the sidewalk interrogation of a man who fitted the description of a holdup suspect. As the officer calmly and politely questioned the man, Pearson sat anxiously in the prowl car.

"I loosened up in my seat," he said with a grin. It turned out the pedestrian was not the holdupman.

Another time, Pearson said, he nearly was struck by a police car turning a corner at high speed during filming.

The movie, which was shown at a recent San Francisco film festival sponsored by the Association for Humanistic Psychology, is available to groups, schools and police departments. It can be obtained through the association at 416 Hoffman Avenue, San Francisco.

Attack Case Arrest Made

A 22-year-old San Rafael man has been arrested after turning himself in to police who suspect him of raping a 17-year-old Larkspur girl.

San Rafael police said Anthony Fredrick Ligouri of 107 Ross Street, Apartment 4, surrendered himself Thursday after a warrant had been issued for his arrest.

The warrant alleges Ligouri raped the girl in March in a parking lot near Redwood High School in Corte Madera.

The girl told police she was hitchhiking from Mill Valley to Larkspur when she accepted a ride from a man whom she had ridden with before.

Ligouri was released on his own recognizance to appear June 7 in Marin Municipal Court.

Man Booked In Drug Probe

A 30-year-old San Rafael man was arrested by Novato police Saturday on suspicion of possession of dangerous drugs and obstructing an officer while he was stopped on a hit-and-run vehicle check.

Charles N. Patterson of 1517 A Street was booked at Marin County Jail after officers discovered a plastic bag containing pills and capsules in his jacket, police said.

Patterson was arrested in front of 10 Joan Avenue on suspicion of obstructing an officer after he gave a false name, police said. The pills were discovered during a check at police headquarters at 1:30 a.m.

Patterson is scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court tomorrow.

Bond Backers To Meet Tonight

A steering committee working for passage of $340,000 in capital improvement bonds for recreation facilities in Mill Valley will meet at 8 p.m. today at the community recreation center, 180 Camino Alto.

The nine-member committee will discuss methods of raising money for mailings, advertising and printed materials urging approval of the bonds in a special June 29 bond election.

The two measures being promoted by the committee are Measure E, which provides for a children's playground, two lighted tennis courts, and resurfacing of three existing courts at Boyle Park, $90,000; and Measure F, a municipal swimming pool, $250,000.

Hub Board Sets Study On Budget

The San Anselmo School District board, meeting tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at Red Hill School, will consider a second preliminary budget totaling $1,829,710.

The budget indicates minimum program expenditures based on this year's budget and is aimed at showing the district's financial plight if an 80-cent tax rate increase is not approved by voters in July.

According to Supt. W. Kenneth Lowry, the budget exceeds by about $76,000 the expected revenues for fiscal 1971-72. Reserves total about $50,000. Teacher and clerical employees' salary requests are not included in the preliminary budget.

Other matters to come before the board are a discussion of San Anselmo's proposal to use the Isabel Cook School site for city buildings and a preliminary report on the district's health education program.

Examiner Rules Union Unfair In 3 Fines

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A National Labor Relations Board trial examiner has ruled that San Francisco Typographical Union 21 engaged in unfair labor practices in disciplining three of its members — all Independent-Journal supervisory employees.

Examiner James T. Barker ruled Thursday that the union, which has been on strike against the I-J since January 1970, violated labor law in expelling chief machinist Ernest Fingerlos, and assistant foremen Earl and Robert Dixon and fining them $10,000 each.

The union contended the men had violated the union's constitution by crossing picket lines.

In his decision, Barker found the three men had held supervisory positions before the strike and therefore were to be considered a part of management.

Barker ordered the union to "rescind any fines, suspensions, expulsions or other disciplinary acts" against the three and to notify its members — through notices posted at meeting halls and offices — of the union's violation of labor laws.

His order also directs the union to "cease and desist" from "restraining or coercing" the I-J in the selection of representatives for the purpose of collective bargaining or the adjustment of grievances.

The union, in September, also was found to have acted unfairly in the parallel case of Gordon Dixon, I-J composing foreman. The trial examiners decision in that case has been upheld by the National Labor Relations Board in Washington, D.C.

The union can appeal Barker's decision before the Washington board as it did Gordon Dixon's.

Review Due Fund Pleas

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — The executive committee of the Association of Bay Area Governments is scheduled Thursday to review applications for federal funds by several Marin County agencies.

The Ross Valley Sanitary District seeks endorsement of a $407,500 application toward construction of a new pumping station in Kentfield and of a main to carry sewage from the plant. Total cost of the project is $1,625,000.

In the other application, the County of Marin and the cities of Larkspur, Mill Valley and San Anselmo are jointly seeking approval of an application at an unspecified sum for street improvement projects.

The committee meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. in the Hotel Claremont.

Status Of Housing Plan On Agenda

The status of a 624-unit housing development proposed for land above the Koch luggage plant in Corte Madera will be reviewed by the Mill Valley School District board at an adjourned meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Park School.

The district has sought to delay the project before the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission and the Corte Madera Planning Commission until trustees are given details.

The district contends it is unable to handle the unexpected influx of children from the project.

Also on the agenda is a report from the development advisory committee and appointment of an auditor for the district.

Trustees May Name Committee On Goals

Fairfax School District trustees are expected to approve a committee to study district education goals when they meet at 7:45 p.m. tomorrow at the district office, 58 Park Road.

Supt. H. Reginald Hammond, instructed Wednesday by trustees to recommend a committee of at least five teachers, said he will give the board eight names for approval.

More than 300 parents attended last week's meeting, he said, many in favor of recommendations made May 4 by parents calling for an "alternative school," and many opposed.

The implementation committee —its official name — will study recommendations made by parents and goals recommended by teachers in March after 18 months of study.

Groups of parents for and against the alternative school have indicated they want ungraded classes for primary students, use of student tutors, environmental study and increased use of community resource people. They are split on the need for an alternative school, the opposition claiming Fairfax is too small to support a separate school.

Frozen Food Thaw

BRUSSELS (UPI) —Belgians finally are beginning to accept frozen foods as part of their eating habits, says the Belgian Business Review. But Belgium still remains a long way behind the United States in frozen food consumption, with each Belgian eating 4.4 pounds of frozen food a year, compared to 55 pounds per capita in the United States.

Only A 28-Man Force For BART

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Bay Area Rapid Transit District will have only a 28-man police force when it begins operations, but the security chief says he is not particularly worried.

The chief, Ralph M. Lindsay, noted Sunday that there will be very little to rob in BART stations, not even change booths. Instead there will be automatic change makers, which will be made hard to break into, he added.

Police departments along the 75-mile rail route also have promised cooperation.

Belvedere Lot Split On List

John L. Williams's fight with the city of Belvedere may end tonight when the city planning commission considers a lot split for property on the tip of Belvedere Island.

The squabble began last November when the city discovered Williams had subdivided one of two lots he owned on Belvedere Avenue, selling one of the two new lots to a neighbor, Paul V. Ammen, and the other new lot and the old one to Hamilton Vose. All this was done without planning commission or city council approval.

Complicating the situation is the fact that one of the two parcels Williams sold to Vose is illegal because it does not meet city requirements for street frontage and lot width.

Williams subsequently sought a lot split to make his action legal, but was turned down by the commission. Since the lot he sold to Ammen was too small — 12,170 square feet — to meet the city's square footage requirements, it could not stand on its own. Neither could it be added to other property owned by Ammen, as Ammen only leased his land.

The matter was referred to the city council, as are all lot splits, and the council in March upheld the commission and denied the split.

After more than a month of working out details, Williams has returned to the commission and proposed two things:

First, that the sale of the small parcel to Ammen be approved subject to the condition that the lot not be built upon. This satisfies Ammen, as he originally purchased the parcel for a greenbelt and access to San Francisco Bay and never intended to develop it;

Second, that the commission approve a lot line adjustment in Vose's two parcels to make both conform to frontage and width requirements.

The commission is expected to concur and grant both requests when it meets at 8 p.m. at city hall. Final approval must come from the city council.

Hearing Tonight On Utility Plan

Fairfax City Council will hold a public hearing at 8 p.m. today on possible creation of an underground utility district along Broadway from Pacheco Avenue to Merwin Avenue.

Cost estimates on creating the city's second underground district are not available yet, according to Eileen L. Foster, city clerk.

The council also will review a request from Fairfax Garbage Disposal Co. for a 25-cent rate hike per customer. The company now receives $2.75 monthly from residents in hill areas and $2.25 from customers in flat areas of the city.

Other items on the agenda include a recommendation from Robert E. Crowe, city administrator, to make city hall alterations at an anticipated cost of $35,000.

Two Men Slain; Narcotics Link

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Police said Sunday that two victims of execution-like slayings were drifters with long records, mostly for narcotics offenses.

The men who were shot and killed Saturday in Merced Heights were William Powell, 35, and Stallard Pitts, Jr., 47.

Inspector David Toschi said that possibly the killings may have been connected with narcotics.

There has been no arrest.

BLAZE EATS AWAY TIMBER

Termed the worst fire in the history of the Lake Superior National Forest in northeastern Minnesota, the blaze continued to rage out of control yesterday. Firefighters from Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin and Missouri have been aiding in backfiring the blaze which has already consumed an estimated 15,000 acres of timberland.

Warning On School Conditions

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan and the Legislature have been warned that the wrath of the voters would be turned on them if they do not act to improve schools in California.

The warning was voiced repeatedly Saturday as about 1,500 teachers, parents and labor union members marched to the state capitol demanding more state funds for schools. The crowd was far less than the 10,000 to 25,000 march organizers had predicted.

At a rally on the capitol west steps, Earl Sulloway, chief business representative for the State Employes Union, asked the demonstrators to "throw the governor's contempt back at his face. Let him know we've got votes and we're going to use them."

Raoul Teilhet, president of the California Federation of Teachers, criticized legislators, declaring that "some Senators and Assemblymen will find out how it feels to be unemployed" if they do not vote for more school funds. He said 15,000 teachers now are out of work in California.

Senate Democratic floor leader George Moscone of San Francisco said the Reagan Administration has "no public commitment to education." He told the marchers it was up to people like them "to create such a furor within our system that the governor finds it political suicide to sit idly by."

Agreement On Nurses Contract

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The California Nurses Association reached agreement Sunday with 43 Northern California hospitals on a three-year labor contract providing higher wages for its members.

The pact grants monthly salary increases of from $55 to $65 in the first year, plus $65 more a month in each of the second and third years.

Retroactive to Jan. 1, it covers 4,000 registered nurses at the Kaiser-Permanente and Associated Hospitals of San Francisco and the East Bay and the Affiliated Hospital of San Francisco.

41 Arrests In 'Park' Violence

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)— Mayor Warren Widener, criticized for being out of town during the second anniversary "People's Park" violence, defended his absence today saying the community's sentiment had been to "cool it."

And, the city's new mayor said, "I don't think I could have helped" stop the trouble by being in the streets.

City Mgr. William C. Hanley charged Sunday, "it is the responsibility of the mayor to be here so he can participate in decision-making and just to see if things are being handled correctly."

Hanley said the renewed violence showed that Widener, a liberal and the city's first black mayor, and the three new radical members of the city council have "no more control over the street people" than the previous administration.

The trouble erupted Saturday during a rally to mark the May 15, 1969, riot over the disputed land three blocks from the University of California campus. In the latest trouble, police fired tear gas and putty-like crowd control pellets in a five-hour, hit-run battle with 500 demonstrators. The violence spread from the park to nearby Telegraph Avenue, where store windows were broken and police were bombarded with rocks and bottles.

The 1969 riot was quelled by the California National Guard. Some 2,000 persons were involved in the battle with police and Guardsmen. One young man died from a shotgun blast fired by an Alameda County sheriff's deputy. Scores were jailed.

The anniversary violence resulted in the arrest of 41 persons, including Tom Hayden, one of the Chicago Seven defendants and founder of the Students for a Democratic Society. He was charged with participating in a riot.

At least seven policemen were injured, none seriously, and several patrol cruisers were damaged.

"I don't know what he (Handley) would have expected me to do," Widener said. "My philosophy is to act ahead of the problem." He added he would work to get the park open for immediate use as a recreation area.

Widener and radical councilman Ira Simmons had left the city Friday to attend a meeting of elected black officials at Carmel, Calif.

Widener said he had felt secure about leaving the city because "the general tone had been to 'cool it'."

The 32-year-old attorney, elected earlier this year with the radical councilmen, also said he had been heartened by an appeal in the Daily Californian, the UC student newspaper, which called for a peaceful demonstration on the anniversary.

Cab Fare Hike To Be Studied

The San Rafael City Council will consider a fare increase request, representing about a 20 per cent hike, by the Yellow Cab Co. at 8 p.m. today at city hall.

The request would raise the cost to 70 cents for the first one-eighth mile and 10 cents for each additional one-sixth mile. Currently, the company charges 70 cents for the first two-fifths mile and 10 cents for each additional one-fifth mile.

Other items on the agenda include adoption of a water and waterways ordinance and a report on the status of the city sanitary district's sewer project.

Floor Gives Way; 14 Guests Die

SALLEN, France (UPI)— Eugene Fabien and Francoise Davenet decided to hold their wedding party here when the hall at their own village was ruled unsafe for the public.

Francoise, 19, in her white wedding gown, was helping usher some of her 70 guests toward the dining table for the big dinner when there was a loud crack.

The floor collapsed and about 30 guests vanished into the jagged hole. Some were lucky and hit the ground four feet below, suffering only minor bruises.

But about 20 boys and girls and a few adults plunged straight into a narrow uncovered well, 21 feet deep under the floor.

The water was only a few feet high. But so many people fell in, crushing each other and forcing the water to rise, that 13 persons drowned on the spot. Another died en route to a hospital.

It happened Saturday night, 130 miles west of Paris in the Normandy country near the English Channel.

Fabien, a 21-year-old farmer's son, said the mayor of Sallen, Rene Auvray, agreed to give them the hall when the village assembly room at their home village in nearby Cormolain was closed to the public for safety reasons.

It will be about seven more years before the interstate highway system is completed from coast to coast.

Fresno Set In Model Urban Plan

FRESNO (UPI) — Assistant Secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, Floyd Hyde, says he plans to develop a national urban strategy using Fresno as a model.

Hyde, a former Fresno mayor, discussed his plans following a weekend visit here.

"I've visited almost every major city in the country," Hyde said, "and one really begins to see how massive our problems are and how little is being done.

"If people could begin to see the problems, we could solve them with the same kind of commitment we made to get our Apollo moon shot going."

The HUD official said development projects in a number of cities have resulted in expensive renewal projects which forced slum tenants to move into other already overcrowded slum areas.

"It's fair to say Fresno certainly has problems and doesn't have all of them solved," Hyde said, "but there is a greater degree of awareness and a greater effort to deal with those problems."

In many cases a city picks "the quick and easy way" to solve its problems and this, said Hyde, "can often be its (the city's) demise."

"I really had two reasons for making the tour," Hyde said.

"First, I wanted to see what suggestions I could make to help get things moving overall. We've sort of reached a hiatus here.

"But more broadly than that, now that I have all these programs—model cities, water and sewer grants, rehabilitation loans, neighborhood facilities and open space —I want to find a way to develop all those pieces in an overall community strategy.

"I can think of no better way of developing that strategy than to take a real live case," he said. "The thought occurred to me, why not take the community I am most familiar with and try to develop the strategy."

On another matter, Hyde said HUD has started an audit of the Fresno West Development Co., which has come under fire since it gave Los Angeles businessman Michael Modell a $200,000 grant to develop a furniture factory in West Fresno.

Hyde said he questioned the value of such an audit because the amount expended in programs such as model cities is minimal when compared with defense projects.

Susie Q Is Crown Princess Of Calaveras Frog Jubilee

ANGELS CAMP, Calif. (UPI) — A leggy lass named Susie Q is the crown princess of frogdom.

Susie Q, raised on a diet of flies, hamburger and bread crumbs, leaped a whopping 17 feet 9 3-4 inches to capture the Kentucky Derby of the frog set Sunday.

The leap at the annual Calaveras County Jumping Frog Jubilee fattened with $300 the wallet of her owner, Bill Moniz, a Gustine, Calif., dairy engineer.

The contest, which drew 2,000 entries from around the world, was made famous by Mark Twain in his short story "The Celebrated Jumping Frog of Calaveras County."

Thousands of spectators jammed this tiny mother lode hamlet to view the croakers' battle for stardom.

Moniz, 61, brought 10 jumpers and he told newsmen he raises frogs as a hobby. He said he houses them in a deluxe frog hotel—complete with running water and private rooms. He feeds them flies, hamburger and bread crumbs.

Squirt, another Californian from Lafayette, took second place with a jump of 17 feet. He was entered by Leonard Hall and Bill Proctor, whose frog Ripple holds the world record of 19 feet 3 1-3 inches.

Another Moniz entry, Avoset Kid, was third with a jump of 16 feet 2 1-4 inches.

Boswell, entered by Guy Ross of Lafayette, was fourth with a 15-foot effort. Christmas Rush flew 14 feet 6 3-4 inches for fifth. He, too, hails from Lafayette. His owner is Tom Beatty.

The foreign competition was won by the Mystery Frog, entered by Jesus Aguirre of Chihuahua, Mexico. The vault was 8 feet 11 inches.

Second went to Kangarooster, one of 20 entries from Australia. His sponsor was Bruce Unwin of Rockhampton, Queensland. The jump was 8 feet 5 inches. A Spanish entry, Julion Pingarron's Balboa Broadjumper, was third at 8 feet 4 inches.

The huge field was cut down in a series of elimination events which started Friday.

The tours will be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. both days and will originate at the terminal.

Driver Released After Treatment

Elaine McQueen, 42, of Woodacre, was released yesterday after treatment at Marin General Hospital for injuries received when her car hit a tree on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Ross.

Officials said she was admitted at 11:30 p.m. Saturday for a cut right arm and knee and cut left leg. According to Ross police, Mrs. McQueen was driving north on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, between Lagunitas Road and Ross Hospital, when the car went off the road, knocked down two street signs and hit a tree.

Three Novato Men Charged In Thefts

Three Novato men have been charged in Marin Municipal Court with two counts of burglary apiece.

George Tipton Bonomolo, 21, of 1249 Leafwood Drive, and Patrick Wilton Gingher, 23, of 1005 Greenwood Drive, pleaded innocent to the charges Friday.

Dennis John Hachmyer, 23, of 1426 Dawes Street, was arraigned Friday and was to enter a plea to the charges today.

The trio is accused of burglarizing residences at 130 Daryl Avenue and 2587 Center Road, Novato, last Thursday.

They were arrested by Marin County sheriff's deputies after Novato police stopped their car at Center Road and Stasia Drive, police said, following a report of the Daryl Avenue burglary.

Bonomolo and Gingher, arrested April 25 on misdemeanor charges of resisting arrest and tampering with a vehicle, pleaded innocent to those charges May 4.

Bonomolo was convicted last year for selling marijuana and sentenced to 90 days in jail and placed on probation for three years. He was also sentenced to a concurrent term for threatening a witness in the marijuana case.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Dilatation Of Veins May Cause Infertility—Surgery Suggested

Mrs. D. T. writes: "We were married six years ago and I have never conceived. Several specialists have examined both of us thoroughly and find no reason for our infertility. My husband has a varicocele and one physician we consulted suggested it be corrected, in that it may be responsible for our problem. What is your opinion?"

THE OPERATION is worth a try. The procedure is neither major nor difficult and there is a 40 per cent chance that conception will occur within 4 to 8 months of the operation. I assume that all available fertility tests have been done, including microscopic studies of the semen. This is mentioned because there are many other causes for infertility in men.

THE VARICOCELE is a dilatation of the scrotal veins. It is usually located on the left side and feels like distended lobelike cords of veins. The condition is described as varicose veins within the scrotum. Why varicocete depresses fertility in some men defies explanation. After all, 10 per cent of the male population have these dilated veins and the vast majority never are bothered.

MANY NEUROTICS and hypochondriacs exaggerate the local significance of these wormlike veins. They complain of a dragging sensation in this area and when reassurance does not help, the physician may recommend a suspensory.

ON THE OTHER hand, in a recent issue of Modern Medicine, it was reported that 10 to 15 per cent of infertile men have a varicocele. Many also have semen of poor quality. After surgical correction of the defect there is improvement mainly in sperm viability in 50 per cent. As a rule, the number of sperm is not increased but those present are more active and likely to result in conception.

Surgery of this type may be done under a local anesthetic. The veins are ligated and some may be removed, depending upon the size of the varicocele.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

NO STAMINA

D. N. writes: If a person with little stamina because of low blood pressure marries a person similarly afflicted, would their children inherit these characteristics?

REPLY

Probably not because, with parents such as these, the children may be forced to hustle to survive. Low blood pressure is not responsible for lack of pep and ambition. Whatever is producing the lows in pressure, strength, and ambition probably is inherited.

NERVOUS AMONG PEOPLE

Miss I. T. writes: My problem is making me a nervous wreck. I am so self-conscious when I'm among people, my blood pressure goes up and this takes all the joy out of living.

REPLY

You have heard the expression, "I am what I am what I am." Some persons have a highly sensitive nervous system that is just as much a part of them as the size of the nose. Accept the limitation but try to practice self-control.

CROSS-EYE

Mrs. T. F. writes: What treatment do you recommend for a 1 year old with cross-eye?

REPLY

Begin by having the tot examined by an eye specialist because cross-eye in young children often can be cured without surgery. Conservative measures include covering the good eye with a patch to force the lazy eye to work. Other methods may be used as the child becomes more cooperative.

A second vehicle, a 1966 Volkswagen, parked at the Brown Motors display lot at 933 Francisco Boulevard, also was stolen Friday morning, officers said.

The Triumph had license HOA-739 and the Volkswagen license STS-670.

High Court Upholds Hit-And-Run Laws

WASHINGTON (UPI) —By a narrow, 5-4 vote, the Supreme Court refused today to strike down state hit-and-run laws that require a driver in an accident to stop and give his name and address.

The vote overturned a California supreme court ruling against a state law that is typical of those across the country. The state court held that the requirement violated the constitutional safeguard against self-incrimination if the information was used for criminal prosecution.

In other actions, the Court:

—Refused again to hear an appeal by imprisoned teamster boss James R. Hoffa who is seeking release from federal prison at Lewisburg, Pa. The action rebuffed his claim that federal wiretapping activity involving two Las Vegas gambling casinos and special FM frequencies in Detroit obtained the government's conviction of him on jury tampering charges.

—In a 5-4 turnabout, refused to rule on a Charleston, W. Va., case in which residents of a ghetto area claimed construction of a federal highway was illegally displacing them from their homes.

—Let stand a lower court ruling from Chicago that upheld the right of newspapers to refuse advertisements they deem unacceptable.

—Agreed to decide next term whether a law forbidding imports of obscene materials may be applied if the material is solely for private use.

The California law which was challenged in today's case is in force in all 50 states.

The judgment stemmed from charges against Jonathan Todd Byers in Mendocino County, Calif., on Aug. 22, 1966. Because of his failure to pass properly, he was charged with unsafe driving and failure to stop at the scene of an accident.

Four members of the Court — Justices Hugo L. Black, William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan Jr. and Thurgood Marshall —held that Byers properly raised the constitutional claim of self-incrimination.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, joined by three colleagues, countered that "there is no constitutional right to refuse to file an income tax or to flee the scene of an accident in order to avoid the possibility of legal involvement."

Justice John M. Harlan then cast the decisive vote against Byers for different reasons than those in the Burger opinion.

This decision was vacated today by the Supreme Court and the state may presumably go ahead and try Byers on both charges.

Europe Abandoning The Baloney Dollar

"Floating" of some western European currencies — which means allowing them to reach their own levels in foreign exchange without regard for the value of the U.S. dollar — has provoked both alarm and much misunderstanding.

The most lucid explanation of the situation we have seen was in the "Notebook" of John S. Knight, chairman of the editorial board of the 11 Knight Newspapers. We quote from it:

"UNTIL RECENT YEARS, foreign countries knew they could exchange their dollars for American gold at the official price of $35 an ounce. But U.S. balance of payments deficits grew at such a rate that the dollar supply exceeded our gold reserves.

"Although never acknowledged officially, the dollar became inconvertible. Given a choice between crowding the U.S. Treasury's gold window or being stuck with U.S. dollars, the European banking and financial community elected to carry us on the cuff rather than risking a collapse of the whole monetary system.

"Thus, a two-tier gold system was established to keep hoarders and speculators from depleting official stocks. The International Monetary Fund created 'special drawing rights' designed to cook the pressures on the dollar in financing foreign trade.

"IN RETURN the United States has repeatedly given assurances that this country would follow sound fiscal policies to curb inflation which destroys the dollar's purchasing power.

"Since such promises have larely been but hollow statements of intent, the European financial community has developed a bad case of jitters. The Europeans know they can't get the gold . . .

"How did we get into this mess? A short but realistic answer is that the United States has for too long dissipated its resources in war, excessive 'grants' or loans to other nations, and profligate spending at home.

"We simply spend more than we take in. As every housewife knows — but not the government — this is a sure way to go broke."

IN OTHER WORDS, deflation of the dollar abroad reflects its deflation — through inflation of prices — at home. And this occurs largely because U.S. currency is "backed," not by reserves of gold and silver, but by the government's promise to pay — a promise that means less each year as the national debt keeps going up.

As the government continues to spend more than it receives, its promises to pay, in the form of currency (and phony metal coins), become of less and less value. And so the loaf of bread that used to cost a quarter is now 50 cents. And since there is no guarantee from day to day how much bread the buck will buy at home, European governments have grown tired of guarenteeing how much of their "bread" it will buy abroad.

Knight suggests the crisis will pass. No doubt it will. But we may have seen the end of the United States dollar as a standard for currency abroad. After all, it has long been, as Alfred E. Smith called it 'way back in 1933, a "baloney dollar." And we keep slicing it thinner and thinner.

GOP Sees Bogeyman In Marin Alternative

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Marin Republicans are so used to having the only real live political organization in the county that they are almost paranoic about the appearance of a new group, the Marin Alternative.

The new group is made up of frustrated partisans of former Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy and of peace campaigners, so perhaps it was no surprise that the local GOP was quick to attribute all sorts of terrible powers to it.

One spokesman for the GOP central committee darkly hinted at the Alternative's role in the April school elections. He asserted that the group had backed candidates in every contest "with real money."

He estimated that the new group had invested $10,000 to $12,000 in its favored candidates, a figure that surprised us.

THE ESTIMATE did not surprise Barbara Boxer of the Marin Alternative. Rather, it sent her into gales of laughter.

She said the group's back account at one point actually reached $800, but that it was down to about $400. So much for the massive funds poured into school elections.

She also said that the group's policy was to endorse only countywide candidates, so its only endorsements had been of three candidates for the Marin Junior College District board.

The GOP central committee apparently also was confused about party preferences of new voters between 18 and 21. It said that at least 80 per cent of the young voters registering in Marin had declined to state a party preference.

The GOP should be so lucky.

The county elections office records showed a somewhat different conclusion. Almost all of the new voters registered a party preference, and did so by more than 10-1 for the Democratic Party.

IT'S OFTEN TOUGH for a reporter to convey the importance of a dull news story to the reader.

We were reminded of this tough old nut at a recent meeting of the Metropolitan Transportation Commission. A planner was droning on with an explanation of why previous transportation planning had failed to qualify the Bay Area for two-thirds federal grants on transit projects.

Millions of dollars were at stake, but everyone was being talked into a stupor.

The whole performance inspired a fellow reporter to blurt, "Boy, people think newspapers are dull!"

HOW OFTEN WOULD we see our congressmen if they had four-year terms, as suggested by some who are searching for ways to improve their performance?

Congressmen quickly become part of the most insulated society on earth, the movers and shakers and hangers-on of Washington. Coming home every other year for re-election at least reminds them of their modest beginnings.

Excellent Report On Tamalpais Drive

With reference to your reporter's article appearing in the May 5 edition dealing with the Town of Corte Madera's transformation of Tamalpais Drive, while I personally feel that the article failed to emphasize what, for me, was the most important aspect of the meeting, the provision for bicycle use along the northerly side of the street, I must compliment your reporter (who went nameless in the article) for his accurate and in depth coverage of the meeting. I personally disagree with your policy of not showing a by-line in reports of public meetings.

(The Independent-Journal has no policy against use of the reporter's by-line on a meeting report, but usually reserves the by-line for stories representing considerable research or initiative, exceptional writing, or of a feature nature. Hawaii Example Of Cleanliness

I just returned from a vacation of two weeks in the Hawaiian Islands. I can't help but comment on the cleanliness of the three islands I visited.

There was practically no litter on the streets or highways, and as this was the tail end of the winter season, the sudden rains, two, three or four times a day, kept the streets washed clean. And there are no billboards on the hiways.

Even the yards, from the low cost and even the very old homes, as well as the costly homes, were absolutely spotless. As soon as a leaf fell, people would pick them up. I saw many people of different status in life, with bamboo rakes cleaning up the leaves and any litter in view.

In 1956 a powerful woman's organization was able to get some bills passed to clean up the islands. Now they are very conscious of the tourist trade, and wish their islands to present a pleasant picture months old put some paper in a trash can at the beach, without being told to do so.

I do wish Marin County in particular and the State of California as a whole could present a picture like this to people coming into our state.

Story Puts Welfare In True Perspective

The beautiful tribute to Betty Presley in the May 3 I'J was great. The I-J is to be specially commended for publishing this warm, human story which places in true perspective the "welfare problem," one of our most serious problems in Marin.

Suddenly reading your factual account of Miss Presley's life and career in Marin it really did become "my" problem and my next door neighbor's problem, not something I can dismiss and turn over to the board of supervisors, the state, or the federal government to solve. You have clearly demonstrated, too, that it is possible to state problems, simply and factually, even problems of great complexity, without relying on myth, emotion and distortion.

I would hope that all citizens of Marin, rich and poor, old and young, could now, in the spirit of your article, start thinking and talking about what we can do together about welfare in Marin. This is especially important at this time of year when all of us are nervously awaiting the county budget hearings. This is the time most of us forget that we share in the life of a total community that has many parts and components. We begin to talk in terms of "we and they" and our own special pet projects, failing to remember that if we've not lived here long enough to have played sandlot-ball and fly kites together, our kids are doing so at this very moment.

Circus Big Boost To Local Charities

Mr. Walter Zurcher, as a representative voice of the business men of downtown San Rafael, has certainly done his utmost to squelch what has heretofore been a tremendous financial boost to a goodly group of local charitable organizations.

For three years the Association of Deputy Sheriffs has worked voluntarily on their off-duty hours to help provide a benefit circus for the wholesome enjoyment of Marin County citizens and their families.

In three years, a total of over $25,000 of the proceeds has been divided among 18 local groups. I personally have been in the audience during a presentation of the donations to the representatives of the recipient groups. Believe me, it is a moving experience to see the pride and pleasure of the deputies in the giving — and the tears of happiness of those who receive . . .

Does "the voice" speak for ALL the merchants of San Rafael? And what is with Mr. Zurcher, he maybe doesn't like a circus or "cotton candy"?

I simply can't believe that our society is so sick that it must attack a fine group of men and women who are doing a fine job towards the good and make it suspect!

Refusal Of Permit Denial Of Liberty

Congratulations to the Independent (Dependant?) Journal! You did it again. You got the award for being the paper that could most successfully distort the facts. As usual you wrote the story just the way you were supposed to. As always you ridiculed the poor bastards that had the audacity to question the integrity of our city officials. What nerve!

Of course it is totally unimportant that our permit was arbitrarily revoked, without the inspection we were entitled to according to the old ordinance, despite the fact that the city's health inspector saw nothing wrong with the way we kept our corral, and says so in writing. Which brings up the question in my mind. Why is the city paying for a health inspector, if they do not intend to listen to him? . . .

Of course it is also unimportant that my husband was given a 30-day jail sentence, a rather severe sentence, without being allowed to present his case, but with a judge like Peter Allan Smith, there is little wonder, I have been told. Not being able to present your case on a criminal charge is entirely against the Constitution and everything this country is supposed to stand for, but then the Constitution is a dirty word with the establishment these days. However with judges like Peter Allan Smith and your latest addition the "honorable" Judge (David) Menary, our former city attorney, on the bench, just don't be too surprised when your pompous temple of justice gets blown to bits. I, for one, do not intend to hang around when that happens, to pick up the pieces and pay the exhorbitant taxes it will take to rebuild it.

Going back to that infamous horse case again, the city realizing the old ordinance was not really intended for horses . . . prepared a new one, that obviously was intended only for the Wachsmans (the anti-Wachsman ordinance) since it has not yet been applied to any of the other 20 or so horse owners in town . . .

I apologize for my very poor English, but then I was not born in this country of liberty and justice for all, which I hope to be able to leave very soon.

KAREN WACHSMAN

San Rafael.

(The letter refers to a May 4 San Rafael City Council turndown of a permit for Edward K. Wachsman to keep two horses on property at 50 Palm Avenue. Wachsman has been fighting the case since 1968, when the council first refused the permit. The city health inspector who initially found no objection was Dr. Harry Hund, city health officer until that office was abolished by the voters changing the city charter in 1969. Judge Smith in March, 1970, ordered Wachsman to either move the horses or serve 30 days in jail. — Editor.)

Communist Monolith Broken By Demands For Free Choice

WASHINGTON — The Communist monolith was not broken apart only by the rift between Red China and the Soviet Union.

That rift is growing — but there is something more.

In the wake of the 24th Soviet Party Congress there is a widening gulf between Moscow and four leading Communist parties in Eastern and Western Europe.

This could be a more perilous position than the Sino-Soviet breech because it springs largely from ideological disagreement, while the hostility between Peking and Moscow is mainly a conflict of national interests.

The Communist parties whose leaders spoke out in open criticism of the way the Russians practice Communism are the ruling parties of Romania and Yugoslavia and the Italian and French parties — which have the largest popular appeal of any Communist parties in the West. There is little doubt that these dissidents speak the views of numerous African and Asian Communist parties which find it more prudent to remain silent.

AND WHAT ARE THESE dissenting French, Italian, Yugoslav and Romanian Communist leaders going to say in a way that shakes the Communist world?

They are speaking heresy — from the Kremlin's standpoint. They are saying:

That every Communist party everywhere should be independent of outside control.

That the sovereignty of every Communist nation should be respected by every other Communist nation, including the Soviet Union.

That the territorial integrity of every Communist nation should be similarly respected.

That every Communist country and every Communist party must have the right to choose its own "road to socialism" without dictation from Moscow or anywhere else.

That the Russian invasion of Czechoslovakia in 1968 was intolerable.

That the "Brezhnev doctrine" which asserts that the Russians have the duty to intervene against erring Communist regimes — that is, those who differ too much from the Soviet model — is indefensible.

That the Russian refusal to tolerate glittering "roads to socialism" seriously damages and splits the Communist movement.

IT IS ONE THING for competing nationalisms, like those of Russia and China, to be at each other's throats. But that only shows that a Communist world is not necessarily a peaceful world.

It is far more debilitating to communism as a philosophy and a system of government to exhibit such narrowness within its most powerful regime that it will not — if it can prevent it — permit other Communist nations and parties to fashion their own models of national communism.

At the 24th Congress the Romanians and the Yugoslavs were polite and tactful. They had good reason not to want to stir up Moscow's ire by unnecessary words. But they did not withdraw their protest against the Czech invasion.

The Italian Communist Party is even more outspoken. Its leaders hold that basic changes in Russian attitude are essential to avoid further crises as in Czechoslovakia and Poland. They contend that even where reform has begun in Eastern Europe, it is stifled by the Kremlin.

What is the core of the deep and divisive difference between the Italian and French Communists and the Soviet Union? It is this: The Russians do not dare submit communism to popular vote. The Italian and French leaders want to try to wed communism to free elections.

My own view is that freedom of choice is communism's greatest peril.

Boomlet For Wilbur Mills Unlikely To Grow Much

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — The suggestion of Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., for President is being promoted here by politicians with more or less straight faces. Mills himself is the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee (if that read funny it's because I accidentally omitted the "powerful" that usually goes before the word "chairman"), and he has managed in the past to keep private his ambitions to rise beyond that position. The implication is that there is no office any man in his right mind could prefer to the powerful chairmanship of Ways and Means.

Nevertheless Mills would have liked to become speaker of the House. Sam Rayburn always emphasized that that office was co-equal with the presidency itself. But Carl Albert was first in succession to John McCormack, so that move was checked for Mills. Now he is being traditionally coy about the junior presidential boomlet on his behalf, saying merely: "I'm in the hands of my friends. I'm not a candidate and I think it would be a stretch to say I even have a chance. However, should I be nominated, I'd be as active a candidate as the Democratic Party ever had."

IN THE LANGUAGE of might-be candidates this far ahead of the election, that sounds like a line from a campaign headquarters dedication address. You are not supposed to take such self-effacement seriously. Instead, you might consider whether it really is "a stretch" to say Mills has a chance at nomination — and if so, what effect a drive by him could have on the chances of the other Democrats already out campaigning.

Institutionally, Mills is the prototype man of Congress. The only other office he ever held was as judge (administrator) in White County, Ark. He has been a congressman more than three decades and chairman of the tax-writing committee for 13 years. He is respected there by both parties, and even feared at the other end of the avenue — in the Nixon White House —for his legislative experience, thoroughness and anticipation.

Ideologically, he is a moderate-conservative by congressional standards. Yet he has found ways to bring progressive social legislation into law when a more dogmatic advocate might have failed out of stubbornness. On racial matters, he has voted his district. And back in Searcy, Ark., in the strawberry country of the Little Red River Valley northeast of Little Rock, that means voting "no" on civil rights legislation.

THE LAST TIME a strong man from the congressional hierarchy came out of the South to make a serious effort toward the presidency was 1960. The man was Lyndon Johnson, then majority leader of the Senate, whose can-do reputation, ability to bring feuding factions together and 6-foot-3 style of leadership made him the candidate of the South and a few other Democratic strongholds.

Aside from his physical stature and dominating personality, which may and may not have been assets in the long run, Johnson had two clear advantages in a Democratic convention that Mills does not have: He came from a vote-rich state and he had a record as at least a late-blooming civil rights advocate.

Yet he lost to John Kennedy. He and his sponsors had ignored the fact that nominating conventions are not run by the congressional elders, but by the national party. City bosses and governors have more to do with selecting delegates than senators and representatives do. And the national party, unsaddled by the seniority system, is predictably more liberal than the one that runs Congress. This also is apparently overlooked by those congressmen so far endorsing Mills as a candidate — most of whom are either members of Ways and Means or would like to be.

So the facts of practical politics weigh heavily against the nomination of a 62-year-old Arkansan who has spent his career in the Houseand voted consistently against civil rights bills —especially by a party that depends so much on black voter support.

HOWEVER, THE LOCAL liveliness of the Mills boomlet still could have a useful effect on the Democratic competition by placing someone of stature (i.e., besides Sam Yorty) on the candidates' list to rightward of Sen. Henry Jackson. The fact that Jackson is not a Dove on Vietnam has classified him at the right end of the list despite his solidly liberal record on legislation, including civil rights.

For Mills to move into contention would give Jackson's candidacy a more centrist appeal. It might even help pull the other contenders back toward the realism on which the party has to base any chance of ousting Mr. Nixon next year.

Why Does It Look Like Silo? 'Cause You're Seeing Its Derniere

Why does the new Veterans Memorial Auditorium at the Civic Center look like a row of silos or the broad side of a barn?

It's because the front of the building, where the main entrance is located, was turned away from the highway, leaving the rear exposed.

Original plans were to have the front entrance facing west (toward the highway). But the front entrance is where the main exhibit floor of the auditorium is located, and that will be the nerve center of any fairgrounds activity. Since the 80-acre fairground extends toward the bay, they had to face the building in that direction.

Admittedly, it's ugly looking from the highway, but for the fair-goer, it will be much more functional.

Incidentally, if you or your organization wants to use the auditorium for exhibits, shows or meetings, you'd better make reservations immediately. The building won't even open until late September, but it's already booked up for most of next year and even into 1973.

THE CENTRAL MARIN bus service operated by Golden Gate Transit between Novato and Kentfield seems to be picking up momentum, as more people become aware of the service.

In January, only a thousand people rode the buses. In February, patronage jumped to 3,970 and in March to 5,233. Fare is only 25 cents a ride for adults and 15 cents for children and senior citizens with medicards.

Southbound, the first morning bus leaves San Marin in Novato at 6:39 and reaches College of Marin in time for 8 a.m. classes. In the evening, the last northbound bus leaves the college at 4:35 p.m. and arrives in San Marin at 5:51.

Major stops are Marin General Hospital, San Rafael Civic Center, Northgate, Lucas Valley, Hamilton Field, Sunset Parkway, Novato and Novak Square.

THE COUNTY'S marine inspector, Richard Larson, has managed thus far to use persuasion, pleas and a bit of arm-twisting to get derelict houseboats and hulks moved out o Richardson Bay. But it's finally got to the point where where direct action may be needed against a half-dozen non-complying houseboats, whose owners keep thumbing their noses at county ordinances.

This week, they may start towing these hulks to the end of Parepa Street near the county heliport, then demolish or burn them after a brief waiting period to give owners a chance to move them voluntarily.

JUDO CHAMP Mel Augustine of the Marin County Probation Department has been named coach-manager of the U.S. judo team that will compete in the world championships starting Aug. 29 in Ludwigshafen, Germany.

You'd never suspect it, but the quiet and unassuming Augustine is a fifth degee black belt, which in judo circles means Olympic caliber.

Judo experts (black belts) are ranked from first to 10th degree. But the toughest among the active competitors are usually in the fifth, sixth and seventh degrees. When they attain eighth, ninth and tenth it's usually honorary degrees conferred to older men who have mastered the fine techniques but are past their prime physically.

Exemptions Hike Taxes For Those Who Pay

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Whether you rent or own your home, about 25 per cent of your total expenditure for housing represents the cost of local property taxes.

These taxes have been rising steeply. In some communities, they've gone up as much as 500 per cent over the past 20 years.

That means a man who bought a house in 1950 is now having to pay up to five times as much in annual property taxes as he figured on. That kind of thing wrecks family budgets.

TAXPAYER PROTESTS against property levies are getting louder by the year. But without some basic reforms in the whole property tax system, they're not likely to do much good.

City and county governments are heavily dependent on property taxes, which bring in about 85 per cent of their locally raised revenue. At a time when they are desperately seeking additional funds, local governments would consider unthinkable any decrease in their total take from property taxes.

But there are two ways in which property taxes could be made less burdensome on the average family without any reduction in the gross revenue intake of local governments.

FIRST, THE PROPERTY tax could be made more equitable. Studies by the Brookings Institution and other impartial research organizations indicate that substantial discrepancies in tax assessments of private property are commonplace throughout the country. Corrupt or incompetent assessors may tax a favored taxpayer far less than an ordinary citizen has to pay for a property of comparable value.

There's no reason why this should be allowed to continue. Reform can be achieved in any community when its citizens get mad enough to insist on it.

THE SECOND WAY to reduce property tax rates without decreasing total revenue is to halt the steady erosion of the tax base which results from the free-handed granting of tax exemptions.

A careful survey of 14 major U. S. cities by Martin A. Larson and C. Stanley Lowell indicates that about one-third of all the real estate in the United States is now getting a free ride —at the expense of the people who do pay taxes.

If all of this exempt property were added to the tax rolls, Larson and Lowell estimate, it would mean a saving of more than $300 a year to the average taxpayer.

There's little hope of that happening, because about 70 per cent of the tax-exempt property belongs to various echelons of government. Of the remaining 30 per cent, from one-third to one-half belongs to religious institutions. The rest is divided among a wide variety of public service institutions such as hospitals, schools and museums; individuals who fall into categories which local lawmakers have deemed deserving of special tax treatment, such as veterans and the aged; and business firms which are offered tax exemptions as bait to get them to locate plants in a community.

Although sweeping abolition of tax-exempt status is not in the cards, alert citizens can demand that local governments become a lot more selective in granting it. For example, there seems to be no good reason, in law or morality, why income-producing commercial property should be exempt from property taxation just because it happens to be owned by a church or college. Billions of dollars worth of property is now exempt on precisely that basis.

The use of property tax exemptions as an aid to veterans, the aged and other special groups also is a dubious procedure, since many of them don't really need it.

And the game of wooing industry with tax incentives can be self-defeating in the long run if it erodes a community's tax base to a serious degree.

A record of 220,000 square feet of exhibit space —all that is available —will be used by manufacturers to introduce their new cosumer electronics lines to the nation's retailers at the fifth annual Consumer Electronics Show in Chicago in June.

SEEN FROM the formal rose garden, this 30-room French Normandy house on Golden Gate Avenue, Belvedere, is the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Irmer. One of six houses in St. Stephen's Guild of Belvedere-Tiburon house tour on May 26, it is furnished with a French style. The tour will be held between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. and transportation to the houses is available at San Francisco Yacht Club, where tea will be served from 2 to 4:30 p.m.

GERANIUMS IN the Spanish courtyard of the Ernest Mendenhall Jr. home catch the eye of Mmes. Joseph Barish (left), co-chairman of the house tour, and Mrs. James Irwin, president of St. Stephen's Guild. The West Shore house was decorated by Mrs. Mendenhall, an interior designer, and will be featured on the guild's 21st house tour May 26.

CASUAL COUNTRY elegance is the theme in Dr. and Mrs. Gerald Jampolsky's Lagoon Road home, where rough exterior textures are mixed with elegant furnishings. Mrs. Lawrence Daly, St. Stephen's Guild of Belvedere-Tiburon house tour chairman (left) holds an antique copper ladle, while Mrs. John Mueller pours tea. An interior designer, Mrs. Jampolsky executed the home's furnishings.

ST. STEPHEN'S GUILD BENEFIT

Tour Set May 26 Of Six Houses

By PAT BALMES

Some of Marin's most interesting houses are among the six on the 21st annual house tour of St. Stephen's Guild of Belvedere-Tiburon. The tour will be held May 26 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Proceeeds from the event will benefit guild activities.

Tour homes are those of Dr. and Mrs. Gerald Jampolsky, and Messrs. and Mmes. Ernest Mendenhall Jr., Merritt K. Ruddock, David Irmer, Thomas Corn and Robert Temby.

A visitor to the West Shore home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Mendenhall Jr. passes through a massive double-hung, brass studded, cedar door dating back to 1740 which in earlier times was completely opened to admit horse-drawn carriages.

Inside is a Spanish garden with glass walls bringing light into the living room and gallery, where potted plants continue the garden indoors.

AN INTERIOR designer, Mrs. Mendenhall has furnished her living room, with its view of Richardson Bay, Sausalito and Mount Tamalpais, with an 18th Century burl wood secretary cabinet and an old Spanish linen press.

Antique wine racks, converted to doors, lead to the dining room.

Wood antique cooking utensils and oriental rugs decorate the kitchen.

The master bedroom, in soft greens against white, adjoins a powder and dressing area and a booklined study with a guest room beyond.

One daughter's room is blue and white with green accents; the other's a yellow and white scheme with a floral fabric.

DR. AND Mrs. Gerald Jampolsky remodeled a one-bedroom weekend cottage on Lagoon Road into a much larger home by pushing out walls to gain a master bedroom, living room and dining room and two boys' rooms. By raising the roof, Mrs. Jampolsky also an interior designer, doubled the height of the living room and added a balcony game room.

In her formal living room, she drew colors from an antique Persian rug and used predominately country French antique furniture.

In contrast, the kitchen and family room are decorated in rough brick, exposed beams and a shingle wall.

The dining area's ornate Spanish chandelier contrasts with the 200-year-old French refectory table. Narby is a hand-painted Swiss armoire dating from 1792.

A spiral staircase leads to the game room upstairs.

A sunken master bedroom, previously an outdoor concrete storage shed, has windows to the outdoor lounging area with a view of the lagoon.

THE MERRITT Ruddock home on San Rafael Avenue, Belvedere, originally known as "La Petite Trianon," was designed by architect Clifford Conley for its first owner, a Francophile who used it as a weekend gardening retreat. Architectural details — jesters supporting the roof, urns, and the formal lawn suggest French influence.

The house is now the setting for furnishings collected during a lifetime diplomatic career. Eypanses of glass at either end of the living room light the small house. Also an interior designer, Mrs. Ruddock has used natural-linen color for walls, rugs, draperies and upholstery. Plump love seats flank an antique Austrian porcelain stove.

A curry and white color scheme is carried from a sitting room, which doubles as a guest room, into the master bedroom and bath. Off the bedroom is an ivy garden with its gazebo and white wrought-iron furniture.

A side porch with a garden view was enclosed to make a dining pavilion, furnished with white laquer faux bamboo chairs, table and sideboard.

AT THE TOP of Golden Gate Avenue stands the 45-year-old French Normandy home of Mr. and Mrs. David Irmer. The huge house has a lofty living room paneled with 17th Century Elizabethan linenfold oak. The large room has a 17th Century fireplace of Belgian cut stone and a ceiling of parget carved and branched ornamentation, a decorating technique dating back to th 1500s.

Interior designer Ted Rosenberg has placed a Louis XVI biblioteque and an English oak refectory table in the formal dining room. Nearby a small breakfast room is furnished with an old Welsh frutiwood cupboard.

David Irmer's study is decorated in Napoleonic ruby reds, velvet draperies, silk-covered walls, a Louis XVI bureau plate and a French Empire morror.

On the second floor of the 30-room house with the master suite has sky blue walls, a Louis XVI carved canopy with flowered-silk side hangings and a pair of matched armoires. The room's floral pattern is repeated in the bath and dressing room area, where double bathrooms are paved in white Carrara marble.

"LONGVIEW," named by its original owners 63 years ago for its view of Belvedere Cove, is now the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Corn, and their five young children. The large Victorian house is built on a sloping site on Beach Road.

In the entrance hall are the original leaded, arched windows and an antique French butcher's table. The library has an old Chinese rug and is furnished for comfort.

The living room has floor-to-ceiling bay windows and French doors which open onto the water view. Over the fireplace is a Louis XV overdoor. An old French buffet holds art objects.

On the second floor is a master bedroom, sitting room and bath suite with a Franklin stove. Interior designer Mrs. Richard McConnell decorated this area in a garden-flower theme.

The ground level contains the children's playroom, their bedrooms and bath.

THE WATERFRONT home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Temby is a gray shingled cottage on Beach Road near the San Francisco Yacht Club. It was built in 1906, when Belvedere was still a summer resort. The house, designed by architect Albert Farr, was originally part of the old Belvedere Hotel complex. Since then, the only major restoration has been a new roof and updating of conveniences.

The living roomis done is soft blues and greens against white walls and has a view of moored boats and, at night, of San Francisco's lights. It is furnished with modern teak furniture and a collection of paintings by local artists.

The master bedroom also has a water view and is decorated in simple line and neutral colors.

The small dining room has an antique Chinese Yodansu chest of choice wood with brass hasps and lock plate. The compact kitchen and pantry area lead back to the entrance hall, where a staircase to bedrooms has a little balustrade.

St. Stephen's Guild members will staff the six homes as tour hostesses.

TOUR GUESTS will arrive at the San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere to purchase tickets and board shuttle cars for the tour. Aterward tea will be served on the yacht club deck from 2 to 4:30 p.m.

Tour committee members from the guild are Mmes. Lawrence R. Daly, chairman; William M. Bergmann, co-chairman; James N. Crittenden and John J. Wiley, house selection; Peter Schneider and Betty Elder, publicity; Paul Ogden, tickets; Joseph Barish and J. Paul Silvestri Jr., tea; Willard G. Pittman, transportation; Robert Boyd, hostess; John Muellern flower arrangement and table settings; William Bergmann, brochure editor; and Eric J. Schmidt, brochure sketch.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

It's Joan Again, Still Married To Ted, In love With Jimmy

DEAR HELEN:

This is "Joan." Remember me? I'm Ted's wife who is still in love with Jimmy. Seven months ago you printed my letter and asked your readers to be the advice columnists. A November column carried sample replies. You reported the vote was 15 to one "AGAINST romance and in favor of reality, duty, parenthood, marriage vows, security — all those things we're told moderns foreswear."

I was amazed at how many people responded, but shocked at how unsympathetic most of them were. They assumed Jimmy was the villain, Ted the hero, but in reality, though Jim and I were crazy in love, our mutual agreement was to "wait for marriage." It was Ted who (after the stupid fight I had with Jim) got me pregnant so that we rushed into marriage. Of couse, it wasn't entirely his fault — I could have stopped him the one and only time it happened, but Ted, unlike Jimmy, WAS an experienced romancer. And he was so determined to have me for his wife that I couldn't run out, even though right up to the wedding — afterwards too — I knew Jim was the one.

Your readers seemed to think that given a good, true and loving husband (which Ted is) I'd "come to my senses." You don't know how I've tried, Helen! I'm completely true: I told Jim my responsibilities are with my husband and baby and he agrees.

Ted and I finally talked it all out. We're actually becoming friends, but the romance is fading, even on his part. He knows we're staying together mostly for our baby. It's possible, now that we understand each other, we'll really fall in love, but how, when Jimmy is always there in my mind? ... And I know he'd be there in person if I said the word.

Helen, your advice, seven months ago, was "When in doubt, wait a while and see ... Sometimes true love isn't where one thinks she has found it." Well, I've waited, and my problem is still the same: I'm married to a wonderful man I can't love, and in love with a wonderful man I can't marry. They both want me.

I have to add this: Ted is possessive, emotional, doesn't want to let me out of his sight. Duty, pity, friendship are the cornerstones of my marriage. And regret is the biggest stumbling block.

Under these circumstances, can it last? — JOAN, AGAIN

DEAR JOAN:

"Friendship" can scarcely become love when it is smothered by duty, pity and regret. Nor is this kind of marriage fair to Ted; or to your son. He needs parents who love each other as well as him.

.... And that's where my advice ends, for only you can make the final decision. It might be easier if you'd try a temporary separation — perhaps a vacation back home, to get your thoughts together. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My daughter, in her mid-twenties, has been going with a man for three years. He is now almost 30. He tells her he doesn't believe in sexual relations before marriage, and that he has never had even a small affair with a girl. No engagements, no encounters, nothing. (No marriage talk either.)

You'd think a normal, healthy male would at least try. Do you think there's a future for her with him? — DOUBTFUL

DEAR DOUBTFUL:

A future with this unflappable fellow might be as unexciting as the past — with or without marriage. She should concede her romance has come to a dead end and look elsewhere, right? — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Everyone Needs To Have Calcium

You can't afford to neglect calcium-rich foods, just because your bones are full size. Calcium can be withdrawn from the bones during adult years if your food does not provide enough for all your needs.

Calcium is needed for normal blood clotting, and for healthy nerve and muscle action, as well as for bones, say Dairy Council of California nutritionists.

Affluent Family May Have Bad Diet

Studies have shown that you don't have to be poor to be poorly nourished. The affluent family often feeds on expensive non-foods such as candy and soft drinks.

Dairy Council of California nutritionists advise that you follow the daily 1-2-3-4 way to proper nutrition. East a variety of foods from 1) the milk group; 2) the meat group; 3) the fruits and vegetables group; and 4) the breads and cereals group.

Margolius' Book Shows How To Save On Food

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — There are two kinds of books for consumers about food. One, bordering on the sensational, describes all the potentially harmful ingredients and winds up saying that "something should be done."

Most of the books fall into this category. Although they have important things to say — and repeat — they do little more than add to the general frustration that already grips food shoppers.

The other kind tells how consumers are being cheated and shows exactly what they can do about it. This kind of a book is harder to research, harder to write and, consequently, more valuable to readers. It is also rare.

THE LAST book of this type was called "The Innocent Consumer" and it was written by Sidney Margolius about two years ago. The most recent book is also by Margolius, and it's called "The Great American Food Hoax." It sells for $5.95 and is published by Walker Publishing Co., 720 Fifth Avenue, New York, N.Y., 10019.

By reading this book, consumers can learn enough to cut their food costs by hundreds of dollars a year. And if enough people read it and use the information, the impact could be enough to change some of the more wasteful marketing practices that now exist in the food industry.

Unlike most books about consumer problems, Margolius names specific products, brands and prices. He shows exactly how you can stop paying 10 times what you should pay for some ordinary foods dressed in chemicals and deceptive packaging.

HE SHOWS how to avoid being "taken" on such costly marvels as frozen dinners, ready-to-serve soups, watered fruit drinks, sugared cereals, breakfast drinks, "egg" bread, watered poultry and sausage meats that contain only about 50 per cent meat.

With his wife, whom he credits for much of the book's copious detail, Margolius surveyed supermarkets to determine how much can be saved by buying private brands — rather than nationally advertised ones — and the large-size rather than small-size packages.

On the average, he found that store brands cost 10 to 22 per cent less. On household cleaners and paper products, the savings averaged 33 and 25 per cent respectively. The largest price differences were on margarine, frozen orange juice concentrate, puffed rice and cooked salami among food items.

Buying the large or medium size of a food product, says Margolius, can save 18 per cent under the per-pound price of small packages; extra large sizes can save about 10 per cent more. He says that potential savings on some products is as much as 50 per cent.

HE POINTS out substantial differences in prices of products bearing the same government grade. For example, he found turkeys priced from 49 to 79 cents a pound, all with the same USDA Grade A label.

Buying advertised specials can also save substantial amounts, if you can find them. Many stores, however, have been found to advertise more specials than they have available for sale.

Margolius shows how to buy $27 worth of food for only $17 on a typical cartful of family groceries simply by buying private brands, larger sizes and advertised specials.

As he points out numerous times, however, there are no simple rules that will always apply. Larger sizes can sometimes be more expensive, and so can advertised specials and store brands.

Novato Community Players' Musical Revue To Open May 28

The Novato Community Players will present the musical revue "Burlesque Ain't Dead, Bump, Bump, Bump" for the benefit of the Marin unit, American Cancer Society, in Corte Madera opening May 28.

The performance will be at 8:30 p.m. at the Corte Madera Recreation Center, and will be repeated May 29 and June 4 and 5.

Some new skits and performers will be included in a new version of the show, which was a sellout last November in Novato.

The revue, written by Evans and Elaine Burke, is a combination of songs, dances, blackout skits and walk-on bits.

Elaine Bernardi will repeat her role as an ex-burlesque queen, "Fiery Fluff;" David Block will again portray Edison and the Dirty Old Man, and Ray Backsted, the role of stage manager.

Others repeating their roles will be Pat Conay and Reed Griffin in the "Judy Mint Julip Show" and John Bernardi, Dawn Scheirn, Harvey Teague, Vivienne Terry, Jackie Proett, Martin Beebe, Georgia Beebe, Chris Kollgaard, Esme Graham and Lei Mann.

Newcomers to the cast are Saunde Brown as "Phyllis Killer," Paul Terry, Corinne Gaumer, Roberta Thoreson, Ann Carr, Barbara Williamson, Julie Lawrance, Jack Mitchel, Bill Murray, Randy Bechler, Mary Grieve, La Verne Backstedt, Jackie Green and Caryl Yaudes.

Tickets may be obtained at the Cancer Society office, 18 Mary Street, San Rafael, or at Lachman Brothers store, San Rafael.

Michael T. Brown will present an all-French program for organ in a recital at 8 p.m. Friday at the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo.

His program of baroque, romantic and contemporary music will include Alain's "Litanies," Clerambault's "Trumpet in Dialogue," "Two Noels" of Daquin, Franck's "Second Choral," Messiaen's "Majaste du Christ Demandant sa Glorie a son Pere" and Dupre's Prelude and Fugue in G Minor.

Brown, who served previously as organist at Redwood Presbyterian Church in Larkspur, now is organist at the United Methodist Church of Mill Valley.

Brown, a graduate of San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo, is working on a doctorate in New Testament at the Graduate Theological Union in Berkeley and is employed in the circulation department of the Independent-Journal.

Tryouts On Saturday For Opening Play

Tryouts for the Marin Shakespeare Festival's first production of the summer, "Once Upon a Mattress," will be held Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. at the College of Marin in Room 75 of the Fine Arts Building.

The Independent-Journal incorrectly reported Friday that the tryouts were held during the past weekend.

Sisters Plan Irish Dancing At Drama

Two San Rafael sisters, both champions of Irish dancing, will perform at the 54th Annual Mountain Play.

The play, "Playboy of the Western World," will be presented at 2 p.m. May 23 and 30 at the outdoor theater atop Mount Tamalpais.

The girls, Kathleen and Mary Claire Hannon, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Hannon of 216 Mountain View Avenue, will dance with the award-winning McTeggert Irish Dancers. The McTeggert Dancers will perform original Irish dancing and music under the direction of Maureen Hall, a native of Cork, Ireland.

Kathleen has won the International Junior Championship of Irish Dancing and Mary Claire, the International Minor Championship.

Air Academy Appointee Says U.S. Right In Asia

By FRANK FARRARA

(19th in a series of 24 raps)

Leonard A. Rodriguez, an 18-year-old appointeee to the Air Force Academy, believes the U.S. is pursuing the right course in Vietnam.

"The U.S. cannot just pull out quickly and leave everything there," Rodriguez said. "It would create a vacuum. If we pulled out quickly it wouldn't hold up."

Rodriguez felt since the U.S. "right now couldn't go for a full victory, it would be best to get out, but not pull out. We need to leave some sort of defense."

Rodriguez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rodriguez of 1405 Buchanan Street, Novato, who is headed for a military career, said the antimilitary sentiment of other youths hasn't distracted him from his aims.

There were some comments, mostly in the nature of jokes, when he was with the Air Force Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps at Novato High School last year, he said.

Rodriguez said the definition of patriotism "depends upon the view you're looking from, but I don't think much of people going to Canada to escape the draft. I couldn't say protesters aren't patriotic because they are showing they are interested in the country.

He lamented the death of S/Sgt. Rogers D. Mobley, Air Force Recruiter from Novato, who was stabbed by a war protestor at his Berkeley office April 30.

The man wielding the knife said he was protesting killing and he was killing," Rodriguez said.

Considering the total number of Vietnam War veterans, the Vietnam War Veterans Against the War who protested in Washington, D.C., didn't represent a large proportion, he said. "A lot more aren't taking such a radical view."

Furthermore, Rodriguez said, "the things that make the newspapers are the bad things." He felt that if there were a rally in support of the troops in Vietnam, "it wouldn't make page one."

He felt that ending the military draft "would be okay as long as the services would have enough manpower," but acknowledged that the draft itself keeps enlistments up. When youths know they are subject to the draft, they pick the service they prefer and enlist, he explained.

Rodriguez expressed concern about the shortage of jobs available, particularly for young people, and the economy which he felt "probably will go into a small depression."

When the U.S. leaves Vietnam "it will hurt the economy," he said. Contracts will be "gone" and people in the aviation industry will be out of jobs, he said.

An example of the effect of a contract cancellation is the supersonic, he said. "I think SST travel would help us a lot."

Rodriguez said he didn't foresee "any split coming in this country," and felt that changes came about within the system gradually. "Most of the people who are making a lot of noise are just too impatient," he said. Better results can come through working through the system.

Rodriguez felt that persons on welfare able to work should be put to work on projects such as "county roads."

Rodriguez felt that past generations "did the best they could with what they had and our job will be to do the best we can. I hope things get better."

On the problem of racism, he said: "I don't think you can take any group of people and say this group is inferior to that group. In every group, you have to take each person, one at a time."

He deplored cuts in funds for the U.S. space program, contending it would be better to cut foreign aid. "Some countries are 'our friends only because we give them money,' and if we cut them off, they wouldn't be friendly," he said. "I think space is more relevant."

Probe Of Burglary

A 22-year-old San Anselmo man has been arrested on suspicion of burglarizing the garage of another San Anselmo man.

Officers said today, Kenneth Paul Botai of 103 Lansdale Avenuewas arrested Friday on a warrant alleging he attempted to steal a bicycle Wednesday from the garage of Michael Murphy, 15 Pastori Avenue.

Officers said Murphy's wife saw Botai in the garage and when she asked what he was doing, he replied he was looking for his dog's lost ball.

Later, Mrs. Murphy told police, she noticed that her husband's $450 bicycle had been tampered with.

Botai was arrested at his home. His brother, Mark Steven Botai, 19, was arrested Saturday on suspicion of burglarizing Family Records, 87 Red Hill Avenue.

He was observed by police leaving the store after officers were tipped by the store's silent burglar alarm.

In Saturday's report of the crime, Botai's name was misspelled.

The elder Botai was booked into Marin County Jail where he remained in lieu of $1,875 bail and was scheduled to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Ross Trustees To Study Budget

The Ross School District Board will continue discussion of a proposed $569,672 budget for next year at a meeting at 7:45 p.m. today in the school library.

The proposed budget would be almost 8 per cent higher than this year's budget.

Also on the agenda for the meeting is a report on the expanded creative arts program at the school as well as one on the earth workshop curriculum proposal.

Driver Dies; Auto Into Train's Path

A 30-year-old Petaluma woman was killed Friday when in spite of warning signals she drove into the path of a freight train at Ely Road, near Old Redwood Highway, Petaluma.

Laura May Enix of 1305 St. Francis Drive, a student at Sonoma State College, was pronounced dead at the scene.

Donald Tannehill of the Sonoma County coroners office said warning signals were in operation at the crossing when the accident occurred at 3:40 p.m. He said the train engineer had been blowing the whistle intermittently and then sounded it continually when he saw the car approach the tracks.

Tennehill said Mrs. Enix never gave any indication of noticing the oncoming train. "She must have had something else on her mind," he said. Mrs. Enix had been en route to a friend's home to pick up children to babysit, he said.

A native of Torrington, Wyo., she spent most of her life there and had moved to Petaluma in 1968 to attend Sonoma State.

She is survived by three daughters, Mary Sue, Jo Anne, and Ida L. and a son, Marvin all of the family home; her mother, Jo Anne Misslitz of Belmont; a sister, Mary L. Clasby of Grants Pass, Ore., and a brother, Leland R. Jones of Redwood City.

Funeral arrangments were pending today at the Sorensen Funeral Home, Petaluma.

Ross Driver Killed When Car Strikes Tree

A 21-year-old Ross man was killed early yesterday when his car hit a tree on the Miracle Mile, according to San Anselmo police.

The man, Harold Percival Hutton III of 24 Camino Bueno, was dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital at 3:10 a.m. He was the manager of the Texaco gas station in Corte Madera.

He was the seventh person killed on Marin County Highways this year. Fourteen persons were killed by this time last year.

Police said the front end of Hutton's car was pushed back three feet and the speedometer was stuck at 75 miles per hour. There was no skid mark on the road in front of the tree at Red Hill Avenue, west of Sequoia Avenue, officers said.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Keaton's Mortuary.

Recycling Count

BOISE, Idaho (BW) — Lucky Breweries has collected more than 5,000,000 of its used bottles and cans since launching a recycling program late last year, according to president Peter N. T. Widdrington.

GOP Magazine Hits Hartke On Prisoners

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Republican National Committee, in its weekly publication "Monday," said today Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., was wrong in saying prisoners of war are traditionally repatriated only after hostilities end.

The committee said the Library of Congress prepared a survey for the House Foreign Affairs subcommittee which said there were POW exchanges during wartime at least as far back as the American Revolution, repeated during most subsequent conflicts.

Open Space Needs Aired At Symposium

Marin County and municipal officials joined conservationists and recreation enthusiasts in a daylong symposium Saturday in College of Marin's Olney Hall, sponsored by the county parks and recreation commission.

Views, emotions and complaints were exchanged by the 135 persons as they discussed open space and recreation.

The cities told of their need for professional recreation advice. It was decided that the county should hire a full-time recreation consultant to work with them.

The problem of where to get money, money to buy open space, money to pay for recreation and land facilities, kept popping up in each group. Tax shelters to private individuals who lease land for open space and outright public purchase of open space through a major bond issue were both offered as solutions.

There was a general call for a study by Laurence Livingston who conducted a widely discussed Palo Alto open space research project which concluded it was less expensive for Palo Alto to buy land and put it in open space than let it be developed.

Alfred Heller, president of California Tomorrow and founder of the environmentalist magazine "Cry California," suggested in a brief opening speech that the federal government create a special low-interest loan program. Such loans would be made to local and state governments to help purchase open space and develop recreation facilities.

San Anselmo City Councilman Lewis W. Stewart, using a 30-foot wide screen, showed slides of Marin's present and planned parks. The slides, which drew appreciative oohs and ahs from the audience, is now available from the county parks commission, Stewart said.

The afternoon session was divided into five panels creating informal discussion groups. They were titled: "Recycling People's Awareness," "Today . . . Tomorrow . . . Or?," "Who Needs Recreation," "What Do We Need Now" and "Potpourri of Needs."

The discussion groups called for the gamut of recreation facilities. They ran from fisherman casting pools, small sailboat training lakes to tennis courts in Sausalito and a children's town recreation program for Ross.

Small speeches were made by various people grinding their pet projects, like Pieter S. Myers's argument for a nine-county environmental board.

Alarm bells were rung when biology teacher Stephen Seigel said that the 206,038 people now in Marin will double their numbers in 40 years. "The time to put land aside is 20-years ago," he commented.

Solutions were offered in sometimes dramatic fashion. Thelma Dickerson, chairman of the Marin County Conservation League's pollution committee called for "a clamping down on harmful practices, like cars."

Dorothy Olson of Fairfax, attending Marin County director of parks and recreation Albert Boro's "Potpourri" session, brought up the subject of the Marin Town and Country Club.

Aetna Insurance and Kaiser Corporation, said by club property owner Max Friedman to be the largest joint owners of land in California, are interested in buying the property for a seven figure price.

Everyone felt it would be a fine readymade acquisition for the county parks and recreation system.

Everett Jensen of Fairfax argued against developing the club as apartments, stating the city sewer system couldn't accommodate the waste from a large complex. He thought it would cost more to improve the sewers then the city would reap in tax benefits.

Friedman, who has been trying to sell the property for six years, said he has never been approached by the parks and recreation department. He said what Kaiser and Aetna proposed "will be a real credit to the community."

Determined recreation workers and enthusiasts studded San Francisco Chronicle reporter George Draper's "Who Needs Recreation" panel.

Ken Potter, decked out in his Marin Cycle Club uniform, having just ridden-up to the symposium, called for bicycle paths. He also wanted bike racks atop the Marin Transit buses.

Kim Vogley, a design student creating a recreation program in Marin City, wanted those transit buses to make summer weekend runs through Marin to various recreation facilities and open space areas.

Jerry Diaz, president of the Marin County Motorcycle Association, reported there are 16,000 Marin motorcyclists and said his association wants a sanctioned riding area.

The response from the symposium crowd was acerbic. Between blasts from the horseback riders, calling for motorcycles to keep off their trails, and flurries from various corners about the noisy machines, Diaz took a heavy blow from the front of the room.

A man told of Fresno's experience with sanctioned motorcycle riding areas. Fresno had set aside 2,500 acres which were torn-up within a year. He said the riders also began motorcycling outside the designated areas.

Diaz rejoined, with some support from others, that a properly chosen area would avoid tearing up the land. He added, his association would be happy to police the grounds boundaries.

Three Marin County supervisors attended. Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste, who made some opening remarks, said the "environmental protection of Marin for the '70s would be made here." Baptiste spent the rest of the day listening to discussion groups.

Extradition Waived On Drug Counts

A member of the Southern Marin Street Ministry has waived extradition proceedings in Marin Municipal Court and agreed to be returned to Virginia where he is wanted on three felony drug charges.

William J. Evans, 23, of 36 Magee Avenue, Mill Valley, was arrested on Virginia warrants Thursday near the Street Ministry office in Mll Valley, Mill Valley police said.

Police said Williams had lived in Mill Valley with a 17-year-old runaway from Virginia since last September. The girl, also being sought by Virginia Beach police, was turned over to Marin County juvenile authorities, police said.

Police said they did not know the exact nature of the charges and had learned from Virginia authorities that Williams was in Mill Valley.

Girls Report Exposure Case

Several 9-year-old girls were victims of indecent exposure Friday and Saturday while playing in front of 219 Canal Street, San Rafael, police reported.

The incidents happened about 7 p.m. Friday and 8:45 p.m. Saturday, police reported.

Both incidents involved a man described as in his late 20s or early 30s with short brown hair who sat in his car, exposed himself to the girls and then drove away.

Base's Paramedics Aid Stricken Seaman

Three paramedics from the 41st Aeorspace Rescue and Recovery Center at Hamilton Air Force Base yesterday aided a stricken seaman aboard a Japanese freighter off the coast of Oregon.

The center received an alert at 4:30 a.m. that a crewman aboard the freighter World Pride, 600 miles west of Oregon, was bleeding internally and vomiting blood.

The three paramedics, M/Sgt. Robert Loud, S/Sgt. Terry Wells, and Airman 1/C John P. Richardson were flown to the scene, arriving at 7:30 a.m. They parachuted into the ocean about 100 yards from the ship, and were picked up by the ship's crew.

While Lt. Col. Charles R. Bauer, the flight surgeon aboard the plane, radioed instructions, the trio pumped the crewman's stomach and applied ice packs.

The crewman was reported in good condition today.

Diablo Triangle Hearing Set

The Novato Planning Commission will hold a hearing on rezoning of the Diablo Triangle at 8 p.m. today at the Novato Community House.

The proposal is to zone the area for planned multiple development, in keeping with the city's recently adopted master plan.

Owners of land, now zoned for commercial uses, have protested the change.

The commission also will consider precise development plans for 80 townhouse units at Park San Marin, Phase III. The units are slated on the north side of San Marin Drive between San Carlos Way and Simmons Lane.

21-Year-Old Is Arrested After Crash

A 21-year-old San Rafael man was arrested Saturday on suspicion of felony drunken driving and leaving the scene of an accident, San Rafael police reported today.

William Carl Smith of 20 G Street, was released on $1,200 bail to appear at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in Marin Municipal Court.

Frank Joseph Posey, 17, of 20 East Crescent Dive, San Rafael, was treated at Marin General Hospital for an injured leg.

According to police, Smith turned west on Second Street from G Street at 10:21 p.m., hitting cars driven by Marcus Wayne Tikotsky, 17, of 388 Devon Drive, San Rafael and Ruth H. Crowley, 61, of Oakland, both eastbound on Second Street. Posey was a passenger in Tikotsky's car.

Smith left the scene of the accident and later was picked up at the home of Michele L. Bell at 2069 A Fifth Avenue, police reported.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Beware: Twice Told Tales May Cause Some Trouble

One of our early American novelists did pretty well with an effort called "Twice Told Tales," but there is reason to doubt that he was ever much of a bridge player. He would have run out of partners if he had tried to tell the same tale twice at the bridge table. At any rate, that was South's experience in today's hand.

ENTIRE STORY

South told his entire story when he jumped to two diamonds at his first turn. By the time his second turn came, it was clear that the hand "belonged" to the opponents and that North could have very little help.

In a situation of this kind, it is the sheerest folly for a player to tell his story a second time. The opponents may decide that they have no game and that a penalty double will therefore yield them the biggest return.

If South had passed three hearts, West would have bid four clubs and East would have passed. East would make 10 or 11 tricks, depending on the defense, and no great damage would be done to either side. As the diagram shows, South was not content to speak his piece and then subside; and his second speech landed him in the soup.

HEAVY PRICE

South paid a heavy price for free speech. West opened the king of clubs and shifted to a trump on seeing dummy's singleton spade. South won and returned the ten of spades, but West stepped up with the jack in order to lead another trump. This deprived dummy of any ruffs.

South won and led another spade, and back came a club to make South ruff. When South led a third spade, the defenders led a third club, reducing declarer to West's trump length. Since South could win only his six trump tricks against this fine defense, the defenders collected a penalty of 700 points. This was many times the value of their part score.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠- 10 9 8 3 2
♥- K
♦- A K Q J 8 7
♣- 4.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one diamond.

The hand is a trifle light, in high cards for an opening bid, but the playing strength makes up for the deficiency. Don't consider a shutout bid when you have length in spades. If your partner has a spade fit, you don't want to shut him out.

ALMANAC

Today is Monday, May 17, the 137th day of 1971.

The moon in in its last quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn. The evening star is Saturn.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Taurus.

On this day in history:

In 1792 a group of 24 brokers met under a buttonwood tree in New York City and formed the stock market.

In 1954 the Supreme Court ruled unanimously that racial segregation in public schools was unconstitutional.

In 1957 Egypt barred Israel from sending merchant ships through the Suez Canal.

In 1960 planned summit talks in Paris between the U.S. and Russia collapsed. Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev demanded an apology from President Dwight D. Eisenhower for U2 spy plane flights over Russia.

A thought for today: American writer Bernard De Voto said, "Pessimism is only the name that men with weak nerves give to wisdom."

Rights Complaints Go Up 9 Per Cent

DETROIT (UPI) —Race was the basis of 78 per cent of the 655 complaints filed with the Michigan Civil Rights Commission during the final three months of 1970 and sex was the basis of 10 per cent.

The 655 complaints filed with the commission during the quarter was an increase of 9 per cent over the final three months of 1969.

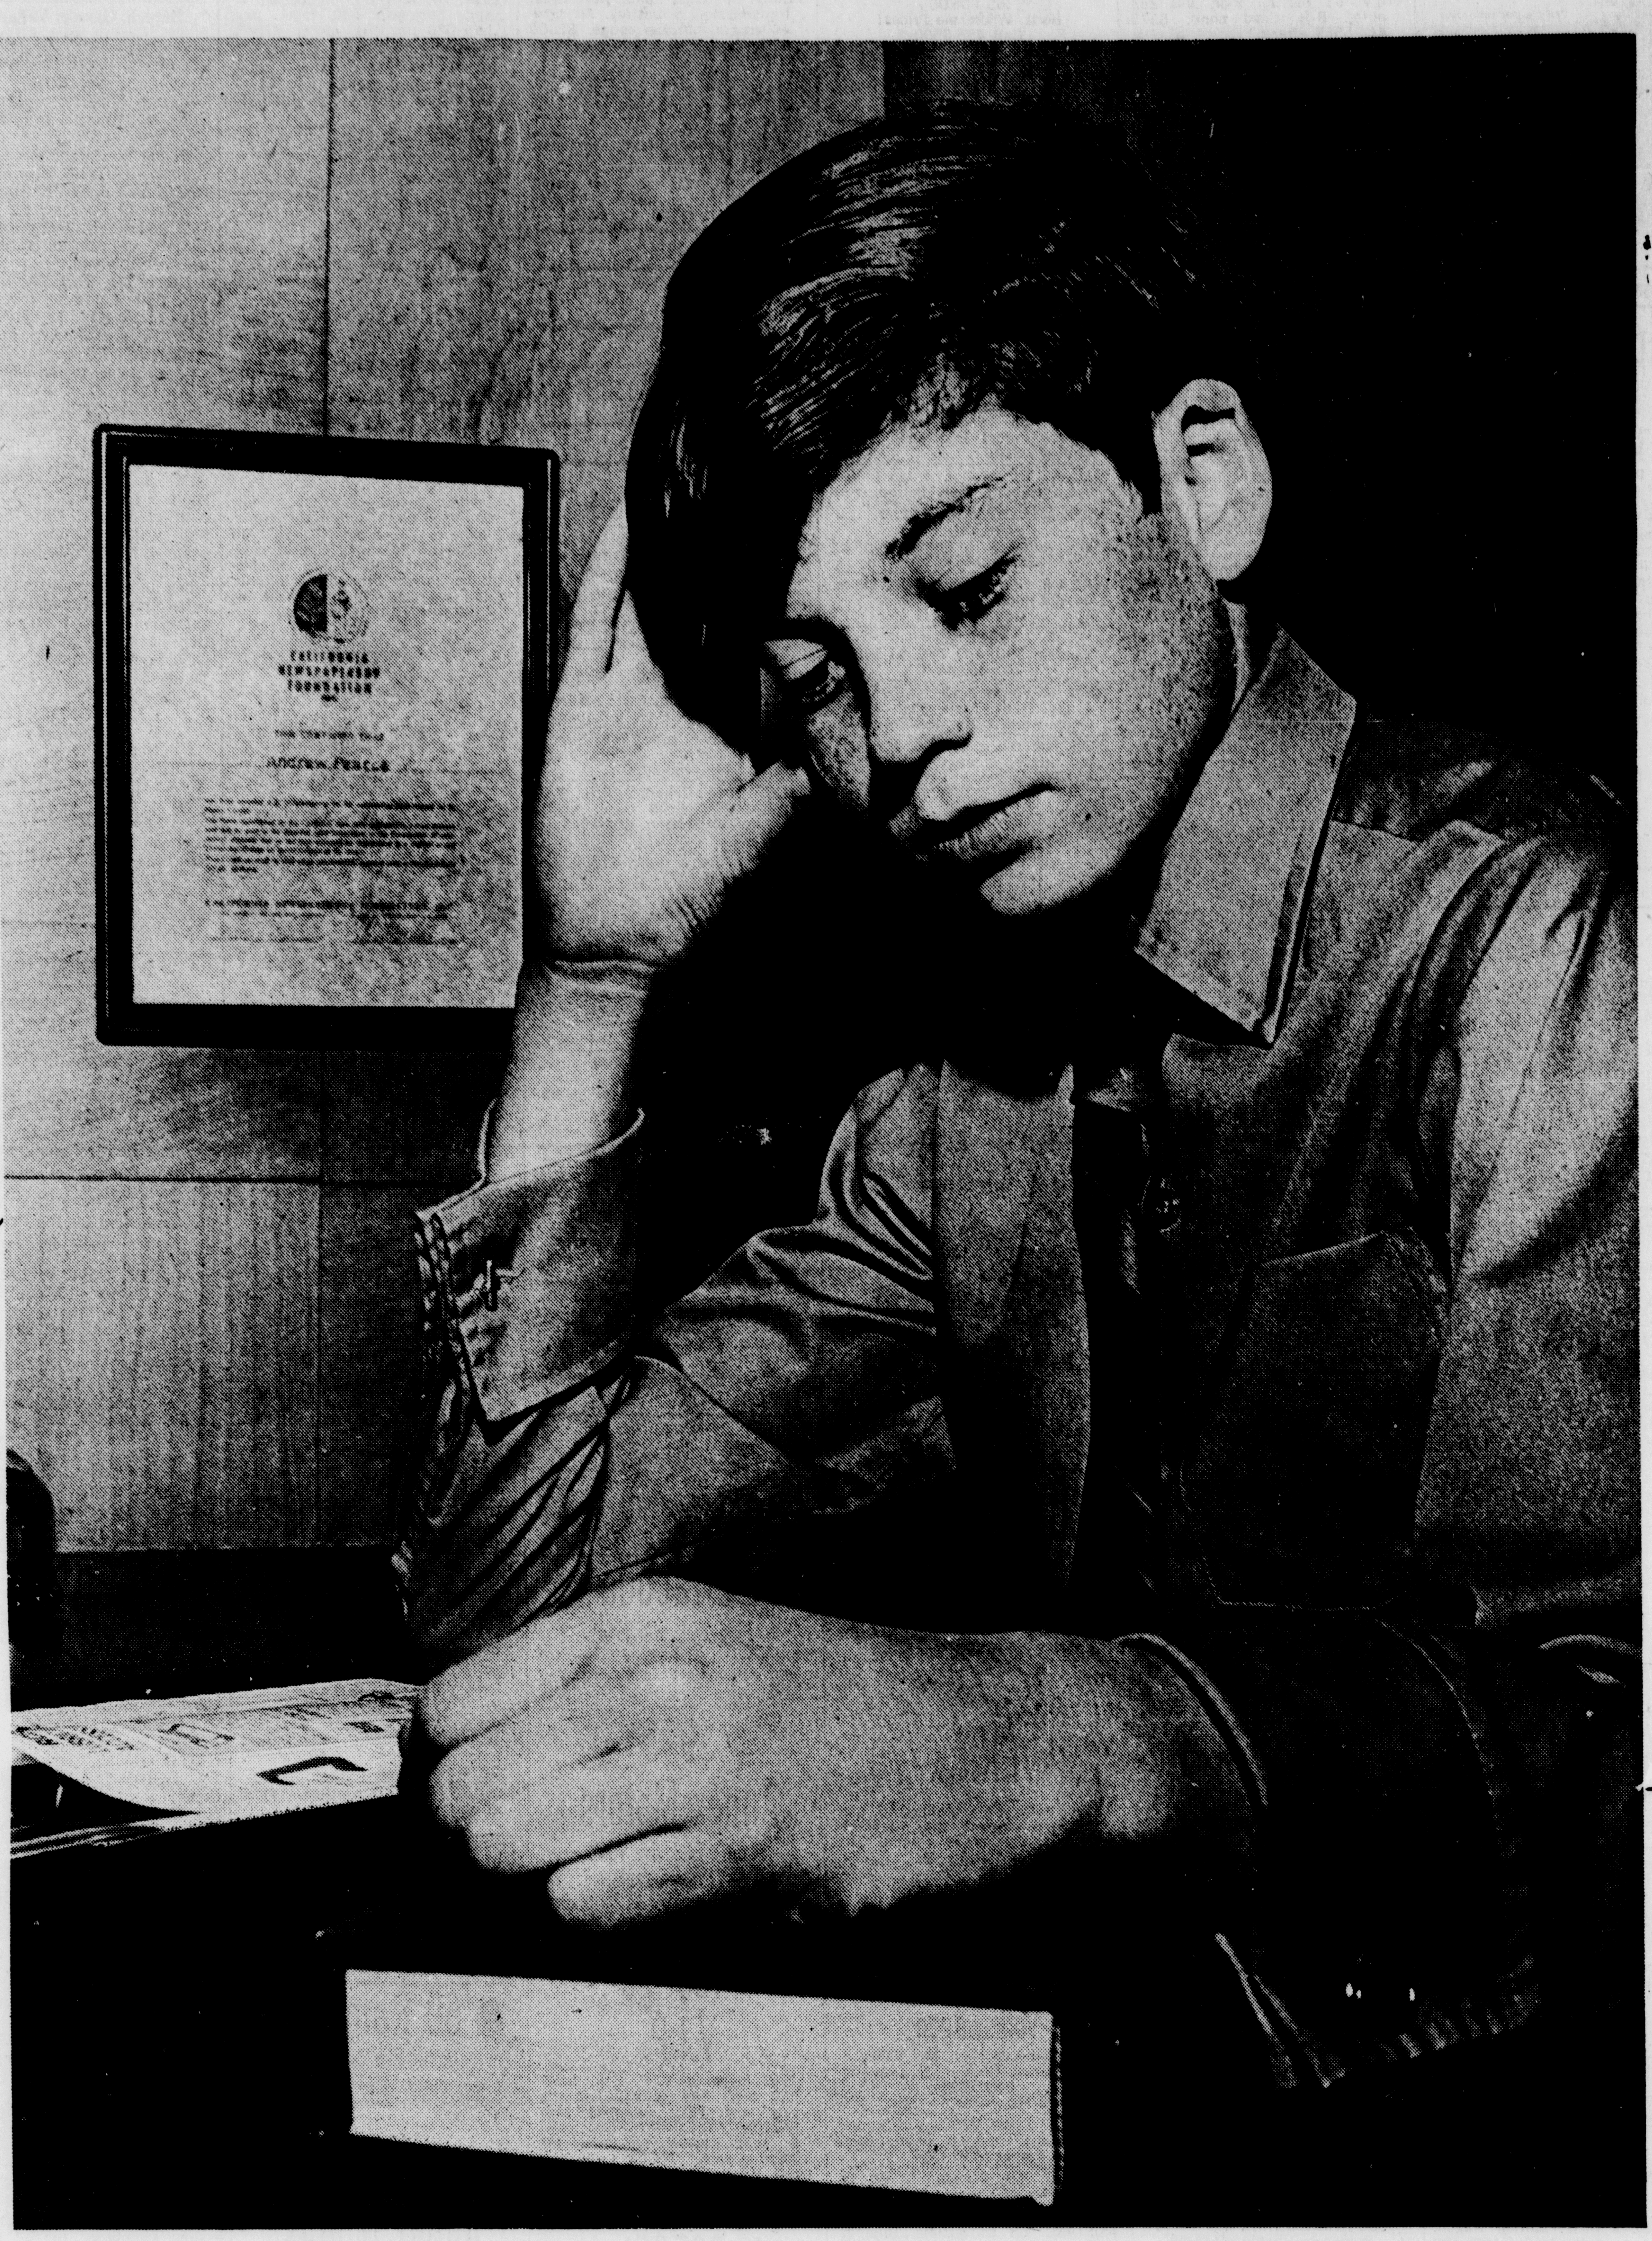
$20,000 Blaze

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—An automatic taco making machine caught fire at Al-Mir Foods Sunday causing $20,000 damage to the machine and the building. The flames were extinguished in 10 minutes.



THAT'S THE CERTIFICATE ON THE WALL

Under provisions of the California Newspaperboy Foundation the scholarship is held in trust until Andy Pearce is ready for the college of his choice.

Meet Andrew Pearce. He's on his way.

He's an I-J carrier and he's just won a newspaperboy college scholarship in a demanding statewide competition.

Young Andy Pearce, at 14, is an exceptional I-J newspaperboy. He is also an "A" student at Davidson Junior High and a solid participant in school activities.

To win this scholarship he had to pass rigorous evaluations by his school, by I-J circulation supervisors and by the California Newspaperboy Foundation. Virtually every quality of attitude, scholastic attainment and business management was assessed.

Andy came through the fine mesh with flying colors. Perhaps one of the finest is the sense of initiative and self-reliance which "our boy" has developed in managing his route. It can't be taught from a textbook but only in the very real world of serving people day after day, keeping accounts and being accountable. But that's Andy. And that certificate on the wall proves it. We're hardly worried about Andy's future — are you?

These 8 other I-J carriers had high qualifications on route management, scholarship & outside activities

Consolidation Of Medical Services To Be Studied

Consolidation of all medical and health care services under one county department will be discussed tomorrow morning by Marin supervisors.

The board's all-day meeting will begin at 9 a.m. in the Civic Center Administration Building.

Thomas F. Campanella, assistant county administrator, will present his merger proposal, which would combine the following services: Public health, medical, mental health services, veterans services, conservatorships, coroner-public administrator, public guardian, and comprehensive health planning.

The consolidation idea has the support of Health Officer Carolyn B. Albrecht; James V. Burdick, veterans service officer, and Dr. Donovan O. Cooke, who is coroner-public administrator, director of community mental health services, and county medical director.

Campanella, who drew up the plan after consulting with various health and medical officials, envisages this chain of command:

Dr. Cooke would be the overall head of the department. He would have two assistants — Dr. Albrecht as health officer and Dr. John Guerrant as program chief of mental health. Below them would come Jay Shinohara as chief of administration and planning; Dr. T. D. Hiatt, chief of medical services; Burdick, chief of special services; and Eugene R. Fontaine, in charge of the coroner and public administrator division.

The supervisors also will consider County Administrator Alan Bruce's proposal to streamline this year's budget discussions. Bruce recommended that undisputed departmental budgets be grouped under a "nonpolicy" category so that the bulk of the time can be spent on controversial departments where major differences exist.

Other items on tomorrow's agenda include:

WILD RIVERS — Supervisor Michael Wornum will ask for endorsement of SB 107, authored by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, aimed at saving three scenic rivers in Northern California from despoilment.

AUDITORIUM — United Veterans Council will ask the county to drop the word "veterans" from the Veterans Memorial Auditorium.

PARKS — Plans will be submitted for $120,000 in improvements at Stafford Lake and $100,000 in improvements at McNear Beach.

SEASHORE — The county planning director and the director of parks and recreation will ask for more information from the National Park Service on the master plan for Point Reyes National Seashore, including the wisdom of opening MountVision road to automobile traffic.

LARRY MARKS — A request by Larry Marks Jr. for 15 marina apartments on 10.5 acres of property just north of Golden Hinde Boatel on the west shore of Tomales Bay. The property includes Chicken Ranch Beach, which residents of Inverness claim is public property because of long and continued use by the public.

APARTMENTS — John Samo of 26 Roosevelt Avenue, Santa Venetia, will ask for apartment zoning of his single-family residential property. Samo is appealing a denial by the county planning commission.

NOVATO CREEK — The county counsel will present a proposed interim zoning ordinance for lower Novato Creek, from Highway 101 to San Pablo Bay. The aim is to regulate development or filling along the creek so that future flood control work will not be impaired.

Midshipmen Booted On Pot

ANNAPOLIS, MD. (UPI)— Three more midshipmen were expelled from the Naval Academy Sunday for possession and use of marijuana, bringing to 12 the number dismissed for using drugs since the beginning of the school year.

The eight most recent dismissals came after a special investigation launched May 6 when two middies were found smoking marijuana in the basement of a dormitory.

The academy announced it has recommended those upperclassmen expelled not be taken into the military enlisted ranks. Normally, an upperclassman dismissed from the academy is immediately subject to the draft.

Truck Stolen

Thomas Washington, 1183 Ramona Lane, Petaluma, told police his pick-up truck was stolen Saturday while parked on Petaluma Boulevard North at Washington Street. It was described as a white 1969 Chevrolet Fleetwood pickup.

Perishable Food Dating Is Proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — All packaged perishable foods would have to bear dates on the containers after which the contents might become stale or lose its nutritional value, under a proposal today by two congressmen.

Reps. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., and Bob Eckhardt, D-Tex., said in a statement that a bill they will introduce would give consumers "personal policing powers over the sale of packaged perishable and semi perishable foods."

"Most processed food is code-dated by the processor," Rosenthal said. "But the hundreds of different codes — too often hybrids of letters and numbers — are almost always undecipherable to consumers and frequently to food store employes as well."

Their bill would permit the sale of food still on the shelves after the stamped "pull date" if the content is "wholesome, is separated from other food, and is clearly identified as having passed the pull date."

A Quail's Nest Holds Up Log For Production

UKIAH, Calif. (UPI) — A small part of the lumber supply from Georgia-Pacific Corp. operations will be a little slow reaching market.

The firm said Vestor Sims, operator of a power loader for the firm, was attacked by a quail when he started to move a pile of recently stored logs.

Sims stopped the loader and investigated. He found one of the logs had a soft rotten section and the mother quail had built her nest there. The nest contained eight eggs.

Sims gently moved the several ton log to a spot off-limits to the loading machinery. Mrs. Quail laid another egg.

Officially, G-P said, it has "returned the log to inventory pending hatching and preflight training."

The sound portion of the log will be made into lumber about mid-June.

Education Board To Study Policy

Why thousands of Americans will spend $9,500 for a Mercedes-Benz that's two feet shorter than American luxury cars.

At Mercedes-Benz, we define luxury a bit differently than most automobile makers.

To our way of thinking, size for the sake of size is not luxury. It is waste.

If adding an inch to a Mercedes-Benz won't contribute to some function, Mercedes-Benz engineers won't add it.

The Mercedes-Benz 280SEL is more than two feet shorter than the three leading domestic luxury cars.

Yet it is a curious fact that the SEL provides more room than any of them.

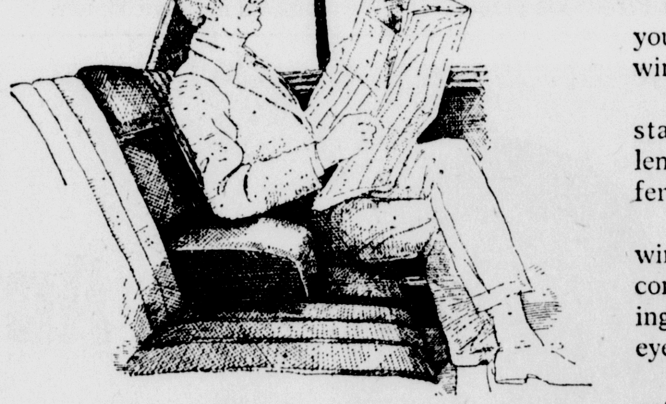
Eric Dahlquist, in a recent issue of Motor Trend, commented on the size of the American luxury car. "Stunned by such mass, the passenger enters to find that size does not equate with room, that the SEL actually wins in the space race."

The engineer is king

A Mercedes-Benz is as different from a domestic luxury car as automobiles, each with four wheels and an engine in front, can be.

Mercedes-Benz is one of the few automobile makers left in the world where the engineer is still king.

Design decisions are made by an engineer, not a styling whiz or a marketing wizard. At Mercedes-Benz, the engineering department still tells the sales department when a new model is ready.



"The 'L' in SEL means that the car has a four-inch longer wheelbase than the normal 280SE, but it should stand for 'limo,' the back seat area is that large." —Motor Trend

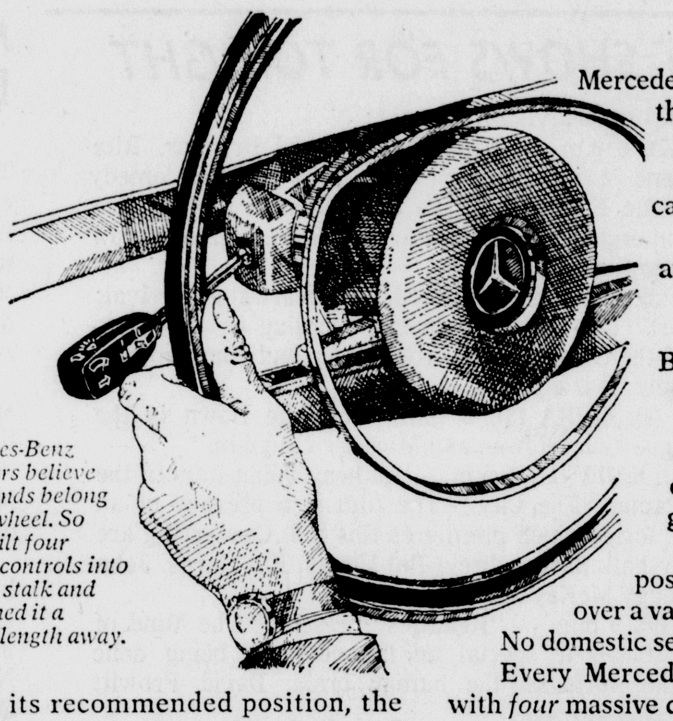
The result is an automobile that has been built to an engineering ideal.

And an automobile that is fundamentally different than any built in the States.

From oddity to necessity

To the uninitiated, this approach may appear to have disadvantages.

Your first time behind the wheel of a Mercedes-Benz is likely to produce a vague sense of disorientation.



Mercedes-Benz engineers believe both hands belong on the wheel. So they built four critical controls into a single stalk and positioned it a finger's length away.

In its recommended position, the seat seems too far from the wheel. And it's much too unyielding to be called "luxurious."

But that strange seat position lets you drive with the wheel at arm's length and your back firmly against the seat's. And that gives you better control.

The "unyielding" seat, it turns out, was designed by orthopedic surgeons to give firm support. You'll appreciate it more after seven hundred miles than you do after seven.

If you press the floor switch to get your high beams, you'll get a squirt in the windshield instead.

That's because a curious-looking stalk, positioned precisely a finger's length from the wheel, embodies four different controls.

High and low beams, turn signals, windshield wipers, and their two-speed control all can be operated without taking your hands from the wheel. Or your eyes from the road.

Such oddities, admittedly, take some getting used to.

But there's a reason for every one.

And, before you know it, the oddities have become necessities.

No domestic sedan...

It is at the wheel a man discovers the performance characteristics that make Mercedes-Benz unique among the world's motor cars.

Mercedes-Benz engineers believe that a car's abilities should be limited only by road and conditions—not by its own design.

Every Mercedes-Benz has fully independent suspension front and rear. A design concept used, without exception, on 200-mph grand prix cars. It provides the maximum possible cornering power over a variety of road surfaces.

No domestic sedan has it.

Every Mercedes-Benz is equipped with four massive disc brakes. Standard, not optional. Because, to our way of thinking, it's unthinkable to relegate the best brakes you can build to the option list.

No domestic sedan has them on all four wheels.

And every Mercedes-Benz has a steering system so precisely balanced that the car seeks a straight path on its own.

No domestic sedan can match it.

Even the Grand Mercedes 600, a three-ton limousine, notes Motor Trend, "... will outrun and outmaneuver many sports cars."

Join the club

But the final word on the distinction between Mercedes-Benz and domestic luxury cars belongs to a group of Mercedes-Benz owners.

Owners so enthusiastic that they've formed thirty-two chapters of the Mercedes-Benz Club of America.

Each year they hold more than 60 local competitions and 3 national rallies.

It's their opportunity, in performance events, to extend their cars to the limits of which a Mercedes-Benz is capable.

Not everyone joins the club.

Mercedes-Benz owners who rally their cars are a relatively small share of our owners.

But, then, no domestic luxury car even has a club.

$9,500?

Our pursuit of engineering ideals has placed Mercedes-Benz automobiles among the world's most costly.

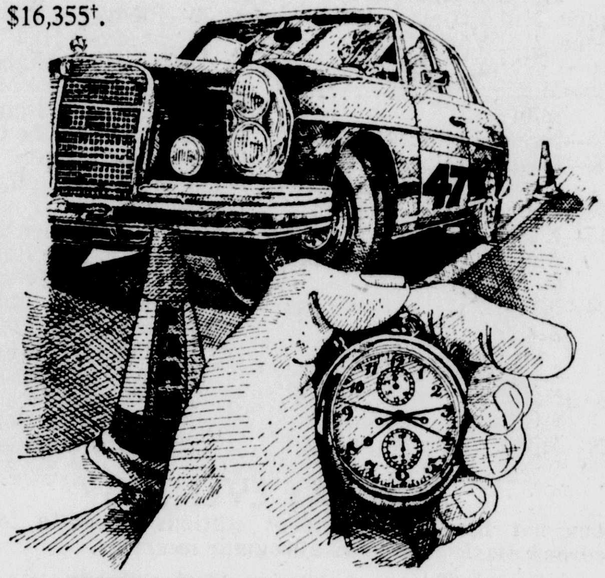
The suggested retail price of the Mercedes-Benz 280SEL, without options, is $8,663†.

With such amenities as the optional electric sun roof and air conditioning, you can spend over $9,500.

However, all Mercedes-Benz automobiles do not cost $9,500.

Nine models cost less, beginning with our 220 Sedan at $5,445† and including our 280SL two-seaters.

And six cost more, including the 300SEL 6.3—dubbed by Road & Track "merely the world's greatest sedan..."—at $16,355†.



Any $9,500 car can look good in the country club driveway. Mercedes-Benz looks good in places like Lime Rock, Road America and Laguna Seca.

But if your tastes do not run to the conventional luxury car, we think you'll find Mercedes-Benz automobiles well worth the price you pay.

And if you'll fill out the coupon below, we'll send you our least expensive production. A full-color Mercedes-Benz brochure, absolutely free.

HOW'S THE VIEW UP THERE?

Jim Handyside of the San Francisco Scots was head and shoulders above the competition — in his case Carlos San Martin (4) and Edgar Sagastume of the San Francisco Athletic Club — during a charity soccer game yesterday at College of Marin. The teams played to a 2-2 tie after All-American Hans Friessen of USF booted four goals in an 8-1 victory by Guadalajara over Concordia. About 1,000 fans saw the games.

BRAZDA, GALLARDO

Two Marin Tar Players On All-Conference Team

Despite a season-ending slide in which they lost their last five games, the College of Marin Tars have landed two players on the 1971 Camino Norte Conference all-league baseball team.

Outfielder Larry Brazda, the league's third leading hitter, and power-laden first baseman Rafael Gallardo were named to the 11-man first team, which was announced today. The Tars of Kentfield also enjoyed two second team selections, pitcher Dennis Bueler and second baseman Mike Parnow.

Canada of Redwood City, which won the CNC flag with a 15-6 record on the strength of a fantastic second half of the season, placed four men on the first team, while third place Contra Costa of San Pablo (12-9) and fifth place Marin (11-10) landed two each.

Brazda, who accompanied his team's tailspin during the final two weeks with a slight slump of his own, ended the year hitting .384. A freshman, he had 30 hits in 78 at bats, and led the loop in doubles with seven.

Not far behind Brazda was Gallardo, the sophomore first-sacker checked in at .351, the seventh best average in the league, and he led all hitters with four doubles. He also finished second in home runs with four, and third in runs batted in with 19.

Bueler, a freshman, posted a 5-4 record with a 2.34 earned run average, which rated eighth best in the league. He struck out 54 batters and walked 31 while working in more innings — 81 — than any other pitcher.

Marin's other all-star, Parnow, hit .308 with three doubles and two triples. He too is a freshman. Dazzling on defense, he provided the foundation for Marin's exceptional double play combination.

The rest of the first team includes pitchers Cliff Holland of Canada and Darrell Dickens of Contra Costa, both freshmen, catcher Roger Keilig, second baseman Ray Cocco and shortstop Bob Brassea, all from Canada and all freshmen, third baseman Marv Webb, a freshman from Contra Costa, and in the outfield a pair of sophomores, Elgin Williams from Solano of Vacaville and Greg Quinlin from DeAnza of Cupertino. Greg Ojeda, a sophomore from West Valley, was chosen as an alternate.

Battle On For Plunkett's Spot

STANFORD (UPI) —Despite the absence of All America quarterback Jim Plunkett, Stanford football coach John Ralston sees a rosy future.

"We'll be better than we were last year," said Ralston after watching a spring intrasquad scrimmage Saturday. That's saying a mouthful because last season his Indians won the tough Pacific-8 Conference title and upset Ohio State in the Rose Bowl.

One of the reasons Ralston is so optimistic is because of the play of quarterback Mike Boryla, one of three players battling to succeed Plunkett. Boryla is the son of former basketball great Vince Boryla who is president of the Utah Stars of the ABA.

Athletics Home Vs. Brewers

KANSAS CITY (UPI) — Shoddy relief pitching ruined the 1971 debut of fastballing righthander John Odom of the Oakland Athletics.

Troubled all spring with a sore elbow, Odom started against Kansas City in the second game of a doubleheader Sunday and hurled six strong innings. He left at the end of the sixth leading 3-2.

But relievers Darold Knowles, Bob Locker and Ron Klimkowski opened the flood gates for four runs in the seventh and four more in the eighth to sink the A's 10-4. Locker, now 2-1, got stuck with the defeat after he had saved a 4-2 win for Chuck Dobson and the A's in the opener.

Despite the split and a 5-4 loss to the Royals Saturday, the A's finished the road trip with a 7-4 record. They left Oakland May 3 atop the American League West by 2 1-2 games and now enjoy a five-game bulge over runnerup Minnesota.

Today is an off day for the A's. They return to action Tuesday night at the Oakland Coliseum against the Milwaukee Brewers. Minnesota and California follow to round out an eight-game homestand.

Odom struck out three and didn't issue a walk while allowing three hits in six innings. However, one of the blows was a two-run homer by Paul Schall. A's manager Dick Williams took Odom out of the game at the end of the sixth because he felt he had gone far enough in his first outing.

Then Knowles was touched for two hits and two runs; Locker was ineffective, giving up three more runs, and Klimkowski couldn't get anybody out in the eighth while uncorking three wild pitches and getting tagged for three hits and three more runs.

Mike McCormick, former Cy Young Award winner with the San Francisco Giants, started his first game for Kansas City and departed in the sixth inning, trailing 3-2.

Signal Callers Vie For Cal Job

BERKELEY (UPI) —California football coach Ray Willsey has given Reed Chastang a slight edge over junior college transfer Jay Cruze as quarterback of the 1971 Bears football team.

"I think it was apparent that Reed had a little the better of the two today," said Willsey after watching Chastang guide the blues to a 16-10 win over Cruze's White team in a scrimmage that concluded spring practice Saturday.

Chastang, who saw four minutes of varsity play last season, hit on 10 of 19 passes for 99 yards. He also gained 103 yards rushing in 14 tries including a 28-yard run.

Third Straight Win

ALBANY (UPI)—Big Jess ($6.40) powered to his third straight victory by defeating Dizzy Babe by a length Saturday in the $20,000 added Alameda Claiming Stakes at Golden Gate Fields. Shakazu finished third and Damage Control fourth in the field of six.

Giants Leave For Chicago With A Nine-Game Lead

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Walt Alston heaved a sigh of relief.

"It was a bigger game for us than for them," the Los Angeles skipper said of his Dodgers' 9-6 victory Sunday over the San Francisco Giants.

"If we lose," Alston went on, "then we are 11 games out. Winning saved us two games which we might need later."

Sunday's game was a nightmare of sorts for Alston and Giants manager Charlie Fox, but a pure delight for the biggest crowd of the year in Candlestick Park —a fullhouse of 33,981 that pushed the threeday attendance for the weekend series to 98,336.

First, it took three hours and 31 minutes to play the game. The Dodgers used five pitchers, the Giants six. There were eight errors, four by each side. Bobby Bonds hit a homer for the Giants; Wes Parker clouted one for the Dodgers.

Additionally, Willie Mays stole two bases and hit the 488th double of his career. Richie Allen, Tito Fuentes, Maury Wills and Steve Garvey had a stolen base.

It was Parker's homer that tied the score for the Dodgers at 5-5 in the eighth after Bonds had shot the Giants in front, 53, with a three-run drive in the sixth.

After Parker's homer, everything came up roses for the Dodgers while the Giants' relief staff, rested four days last week, fell apart.

With Don McMahon pitching in the eighth, Tom Haller followed Parker's homer with his third hit of the game, a single. That finished McMahon, who wound up the loser (2-2), and brought on Jerry Johnson, one of San Francisco's most reliable relievers this year.

Johnson walked Jim Lefebvre but retired Garvey on a popup. Then he got pinch-hitter Manny Mota to hit sharply to first for what could have been an inning-ending doubleplay. Willie McCovey got the front man with a throw to second but rookie Chris Speier's return sailed wild, permitting Heller to score for a 6-5 lead.

In the ninth, the Dodgers teed off on Rich Robertson. A double by Willie Davis, two walks and Haller's third hit drove in one and a walk to Mota with the bases filled forced in a second. Will's single then scored another before Frank Reberger came on to get the side out.

Even though the Dodgers led by four runs they were far from home free in the bottom of the ninth.

Bonds led off with a single and Mota went a mile to haul in Speier's liner to right center. As things turned out, that catch saved the Dodgers because Mays followed with a double.

Pete Mikkelsen, the third Los Angeles pitcher, left in favor of Bob O'Brien, who retired McCovey but walked Ken Henderson. Joe Moeller then came on and struck out Dick Dietz with the tieing runs aboard.

That's when Alston sighed.

While the victory, which went to Jim Brewer, was a big one for the Dodgers' who lost on Friday and Saturday to the Giants, it hardly made much difference to San Francisco.

Both the Giants and Dodgers are idle today. The Dodgers open a short six-game road trip against the Cardinals on Tuesday night while the Giants start a nine-game road trip in Chicago Tuesday afternoon.

The fine weekend turnouts—three crowds over 30,000—boosted the Giants' home attendance to 307,310 for 20 dates. That's an increase of nearly 100,000 over a year ago.

Everyone, it seems, loves a winner.

Stanley Cup Finale Tuesday In Chicago

MONTREAL (UPI) — Canadiens' center Henri Richard admits he talked out of turn when he blasted Montreal Coach Al MacNeil after Thursday night's loss to the Chicago Black Hawks in the Stanley Cup finals.

But maybe it's all the Canadiens needed to spur them on as they fought off a one-goal deficit Sunday afternoon to win 4-3, and force a seventh and deciding game in Chicago Tuesday night.

Richard was asked if he thought his remarks calling MacNeil "incompetent and the worst coach" he ever played under helped Montreal win Sunday's game.

"I don't want to make any more statements, I just hope the whole thing will die down. But I know we'll win the Stanley Cup," Richard answered.

MacNeil played a major part in another drama connected with the game Sunday after his life was threatened by anonymous callers and he was assigned police protection. MacNeil said, however, he wasn't worried about the threats.

"As far as I was concerned, my only thoughts were winning that game. And I knew that the situation was in good hands when the team provided me with protection," MacNeil said.

Six plainclothes detectives surrounded MacNeil as he stood behind the Montreal bench and coached his team to victory in the sixth game. "Now it's back to Chicago," said MacNeil. "After 78 regular games and 19 playoff games it's all down to one single contest. But I know that even though we haven't won yet in Chicago in this series, we have the talent to do the job."

The Mahovlich brothers, Frank and Pete, led Montreal to their comeback win. Frank scored one goal to set an all-time National Hockey League playoff record of 14 goals, and added two assists to equal the playoff total points record of 27. Both records were held by Phil Esposito, who set them with the Boston Bruins in the 1969-70 playoffs.

Green Wins In Houston Golf Play

HOUSTON (UPI)—Unflappable Hubert Green, who finally found a way to stand up under the pressure of $100,000 golf tournaments, had the inside track today on "Rookie of the Year" honors on the PGA tour.

Green, 24, who folded in the final round of the last three tournaments, withstood the charges of Lou Graham, DeWitt Weaver Jr., Bob Murphy and Lee Trevino in the final round to tie with Don January at the end of 72 holes at four-under-par 280.

Then the son of a Birmingham, Ala., doctor polished off January on the first hole of a sudden death playoff with a 12-foot birdie putt. January's attempt for a birdie a minute earlier was a 25-foot chip shot that went 2 1-2 feet past the cup.

It was the second straight year the tournament was decided by a playoff and won by a previous nonwinner. Gibby Gilbert defeated Bruce Crampton on the third hole of a playoff last year.

Trevino, finishing 66 and 67 the last two days, and Murphy were a stroke back of Green and January at 281. Graham, who was tied for the lead before getting a double bogey on 12, and Dan Sikes were another stroke behind at two-under 282.

Junior Bowl Title To Rich McPherson

Rich McPherson, 19-year-old College of Marin student, is the 1971 winner of the Marin County Junior Masters Bowling Tournament.

In a two-game finals match with Kent Dlugokenski, 16, at Greenbrae Lanes yesterday, McPherson scored games of 221 and 177 for a 398 total while Dlugokenski had 216 and 174 for 390.

Highlight of the weekend was a 992 four-game qualifying series by 18-year-old Wayne Ziegler of Mill Valley, the defending Junior Masters champion. That series included a 297 game.

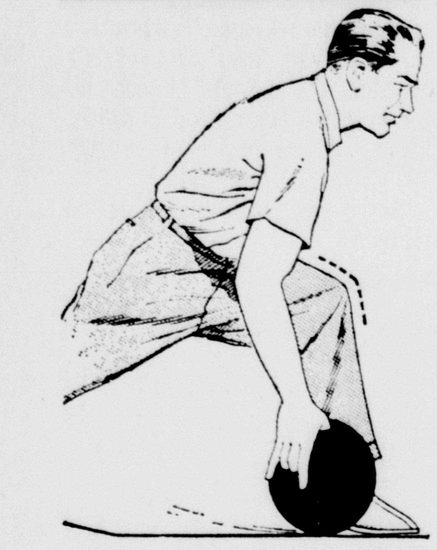
The Masters Class A division is for bowlers with a 155 and up average.

The Class B division, for those up to a 154 handicap, was won by Jim Phillips, a 14-year-old eighth grader from Corte Madera's Neil Cummins School. In the finals against 17-year-old Bill Morris of San Rafael High School, Phillips bowled games of 168 and 171 for 339 to Morris' 134-187—321.

There were 42 entries in the tournament, 21 in each division.

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER



Does your ball make almost as much noise when it hits the lane as it does when it hits the pins? If so you are robbing yourself of strikes and probably leaving an unnecessary number of splits. Set the ball down gently from a low angle and remember to keep your knee bent sharply (illustration).

Lively Lady Is Winner

Rafael Bricca's 30-foot-sloop Lively Lady, sailing under the colors of Belvedere's San Francisco Yacht Club, was the unofficial overall winner of Saturday's 55-mile Drakes Bay ocean yacht race, according to the race committee of the sponsoring Sausalito Yacht Club.

Irs Loube's 57-foot sloop Concerto sailed back inside the bay, considerably ahead of Lively Lady to win the scratch championship, but Bricca's vessel apparently cashed in on an ample time allowance to take overall honors. Official results were to be announced today.

Recreation Softball

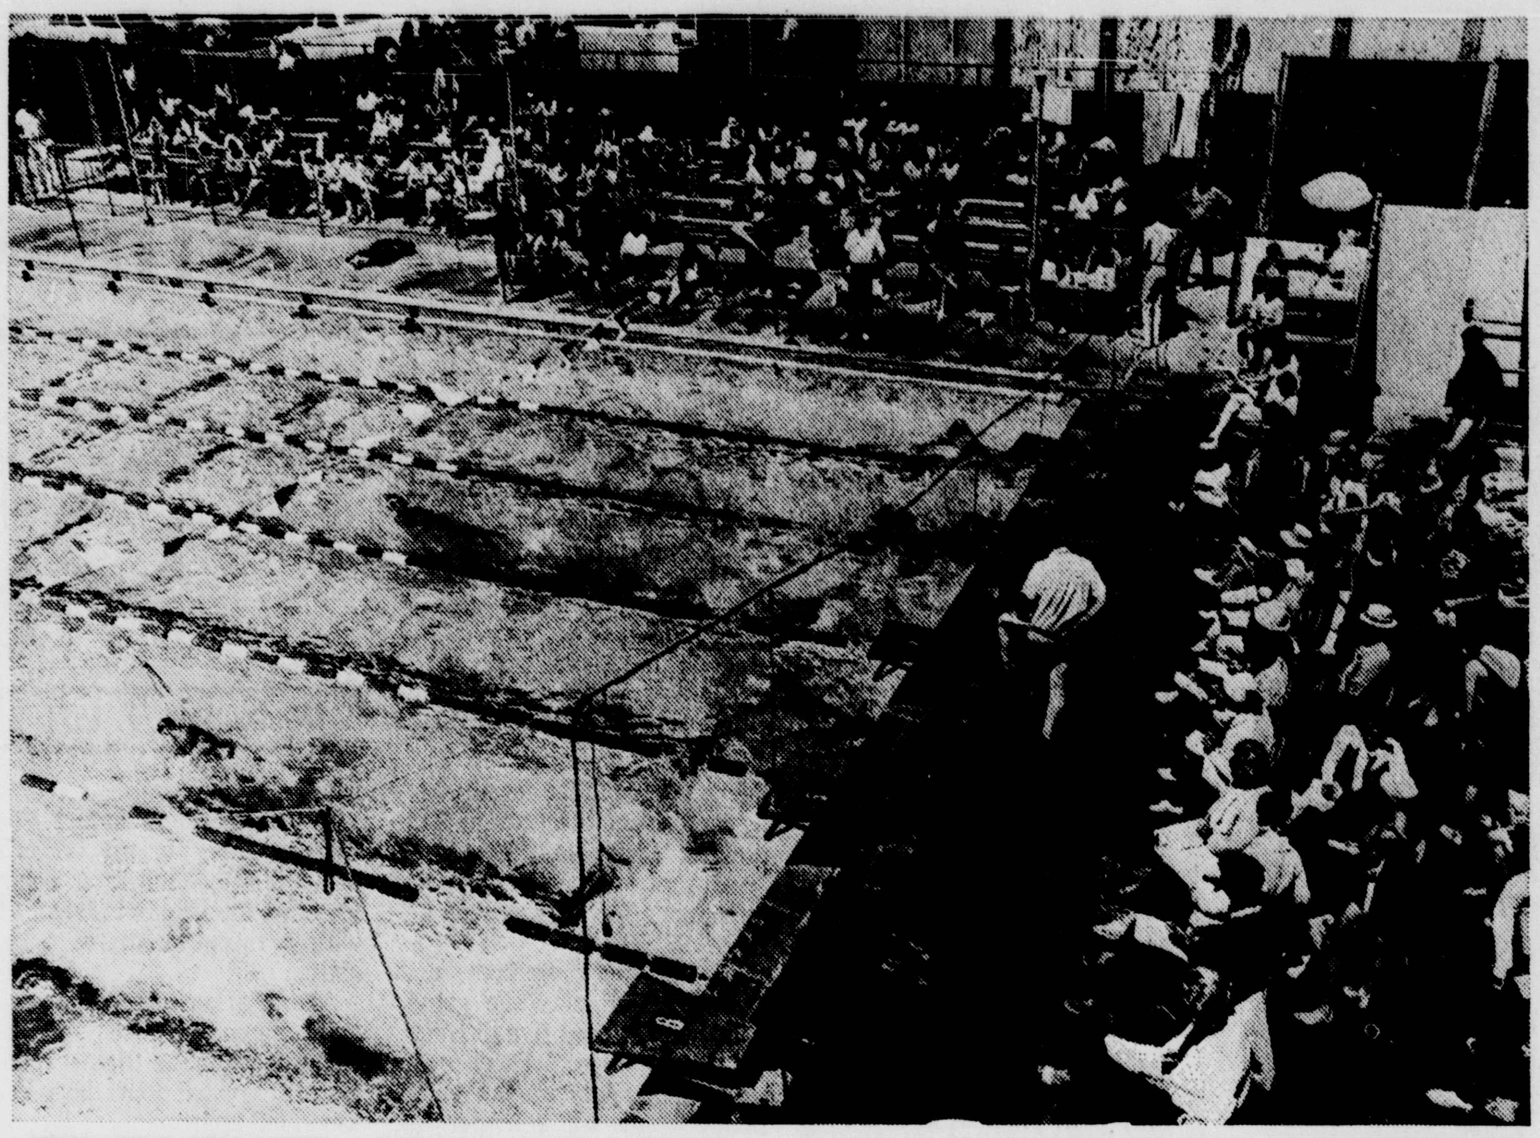
Penny, Leo Combine For Victory

Pert Penny Tauscher and Leo Schwab teamed up yesterday to win the Marin County Women's Bowling Association's "600 Club" mixed doubles tournament at Nave Lanes, Ignacio.

The mini-skirted Mrs. Tauscher, who recently won the "600 Club's" Queens Tournament, fired a 558 scratch score for three games and Schwab had a 571 for 1129. With their 107-pin handicap they totaled 1236 pins to beat out Emily and Lloyd Smith by 21 pins. Mrs. Smith had a 529 scratch and her husband contributed a 539 for 1068 scratch and 1215 with 147 handicap pins. Mrs. Smith also won a patch for an all-spare 186 line.

For the women, Kathy Mauzy had high series (563) and high game (207). Schwab was the top male with a 571 series and 218 game.

The tournament was held in honor of long-time women's bowling leader Mrs. Winnie Berger of Novato who at the post-tournament banquet was named an honorary member of the Marin "600 Club." Membership is limited to women who have bowled a three-game series of 600 and higher.



THE BIG SPLASH — Officials (right) almost outnumbered spectators yesterday during finals of the annual Marin Invitational Swim Meet at Novato High School. Santa Clara won the team title with Marin Aquatic Club surprising the field with a second place finish.

Colonels Face Jinx

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—Determined to destroy a jinx, the Kentucky Colonels left today for Salt Lake City and their playoff game with the Utah Stars Tuesday night that will decide the championship of the American Basketball Association.

The best-of-seven final series stands at three victories apiece, with each team winning all of the games in its home arena.

Confronting the Colonels is the jinx of never having beaten the Stars in the Utah capital during the regular season, and three more in the playoffs.

The Colonels were in good physical condition except for Forward Jim Ligon who has an ailing back.

In a courageous performance, Ligon played 31 minutes for the Colonels Saturday when they beat the Stars here 105-102

Revson Wins Indy Pole

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Pete Revson of New York upset highly-favored Mark Donohue Saturday to become the fastest pole sitter in the history of the Indianapolis "500".

Revson covered the ancient oval at an average speed of 178.696 miles per hour, with a top lap of 179.354 — both track records, as he won the pole spot that went to the fastest first-day qualifier for the $1 million holiday chase May 29.

Donohue, of Media, Pa., had handling difficulties and settled for runnerup honors at 177.087.

Track

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Marty Liquori kept waiting for the famous Jim Ryun kick, but he's just as glad it didn't materialize.

"I expected him to come at me on the last turn," Liquori said after outdueling Ryun in the showdown of super milers in the Martin Luther King International Freedom Games Sunday at Franklin Field.

Liquori, who took the lead from Ryun just before the three-quarter mark and matched the world recordholder's kick down the stretch, posted a time of 3:54.6—the fastest ever on the Eastern seaboard.

Golf

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Sandra Palmer blasted home a spectacular trap shot for an eagle three on the final hole and a last-round 71 Sunday to win the $50,000 Sealy Classic or her first LPGA tournament victory in seven years.

The 30-year-old Fort Worth, Tex., veteran won the $10,000 first prize and a $5,000 station wagon by two strokes with a 72-hole total of 289, three under par, at the Desert Inn Country Club.

Santa Clara's Swimmers Win

Perennially powerful Santa Clara Swim Club lived up to expectations Saturday and yesterday by winning the team championship in the Marin Invitational Class AA Swim Meet at Novato High School.

Almost 400 youngsters from 37 clubs participated with Santa Clara claiming the Independent-Journal Championship trophy on the strength of 508½ points.

The Marin Aquatic Club surprised the field with a second place finish on 302½ points while Arden Hills of Sacramento took third with 164.

Marin's performance was sparked by Jo Hislop and Denise Ham. Miss Hislop, swimming in the 15-17 age group, took four first places in the 200-yard individual medley, 500 freestyle, 50 free and 400 I.M. Miss Ham had three victories in the 200 breaststroke, 100 fly and 200 free plus two second places and a fifth.

Marin's Kim Hughes, 13-14 age bracket, won the 100 backstroke and placed second in the 100 breast and 200 back. Also adding points for Marin were finalists Bob Placak, Sue Secondo, Cheryl Cattan, Suzanne Heim, Maura Campion, Anne Engel, Kim Fox and Spencer Eldred.

Petaluma Swim Club's David Nelson, 11, won the 100 breast and added a second in the 50 breast. Steve Curtis, 14, took a second, fifth and sixth while his sister, Carrie, was second in the 50 breast.

Dolphins of Marin placed one swimmer in the finals — Robin Bachrach, 16, who placed five times with three seconds and two fourths.

The Marin A.C. claimed three relay victories: Misses Ham, Hislop, Sue Secondo and Fox; Misses Ham, Fox, Engel and Nancy Kinney; and Misses Campion, Tami Secondo, Hughes and Anne Redig.

SECTION MEET

8 Swim Records For Terra Linda

Terra Linda High School assistant swim coach Chuck Metz came out of the North Coast Section (NCS) Championships at Santa Rosa four steak dinners poorer, but eight school records richer, as the Trojans outscored all Marin County Athletic League teams Saturday, in this highlight meet of the prep swim season.

Metz offered free steaks to the four men on the Trojan varsity 400-yard freestyle relay team if they could finish in the top three, and this they did in school record style, to record one of eight Terra Linda marks in the NCS final meet.

Thom Guthrie, Bruce Fromberg, Don Lafrenz, and Jim Barton sped to a time of 3:26.89, notching themselves as the second fastest quartet in Marin County history in the event — in addition to winning the meal from Metz.

Individually, the Trojans dominance in the freestyle events was obvious, as Guthrie picked up a third and a sixth in the varsity 50 and 100 Free, and marathon specialist Rick DeMont nailed down two Class B firsts in the 200 and 400, demolishing NCS marks in each.

DeMont's 200 and 400 times (1:50.05 and 3:51.75) would have earned him finals berths even in varsity competition, especially the 400, where he would have placed second.

The sophomore speedster's new 400 record for Class B breaks the old mark set by Bernie Stenson, who is now a freshman standout at UCLA.

Guthrie's 100 prelim time of 50.94 edges his own school mark of 51.0 set earlier this year.

Trojan Keith Strange took the only other Marin County first in the Class B 100 Individual Medley, in the school record time of 1:00.75.

As far as team scoring goes, Terra Linda's Varsity placed eighth with 45 points, Redwood was next in 13th, followed by Novato in 17th and San Rafael in 29th.

The Trojan Class B squad placed a solid second behind super-power Ignacio Valley, and Redwood tied for 10th.

The only other county placings in Varsity were from Redwood's Brian Hennessy, (4th in the 100 Fly) and Novato's John Summerfield (3rd in Diving).

Terra Linda's Class B medley relay — Casey Flaherty, Strange, Jeff Grant, and Jeff Miller — lost a thrilling battle by a half second to Ygnacio Valley, but set a new school record anyway, with a 1:49.21 clocking.

Grant placed fourth in the Class B 50 Fly, 27.04.

Redwood's Spencer Eldred was fifth behind Strange in the I.M.

Aaron Grossman also accounted for a Terra Linda record in Class B Diving.

The final Trojan school mark went to the team of Grant, DeMont, Miller, and Jon Fearn in the Class B 400 Free Rlay. Terra Linda placed second with the time of 3:35.5, ahead of fourth place Redwood (Eldred, Claude Ansari, Troy Dunham, Stan Rainey).

High Winds Mar Regatta

High winds and lack of participants combined to cripple the second annual Marin Rowing Regatta Saturday on the Corte Madera Creek. Only four of the scheduled nine events were run as none of the East Bay teams entered showed up.

In races that did take place, Stanford's "B" crew beat Alameda Junior College, and Tom Moore won the 500-meter single skull event.

Miss Kilgore Wins, Loses

Bee Kilgore of Tiburon tasted both victory and defeat yesterday in the finals of the Palo Alto Junior Hardcourt tennis tournament.

Miss Kilgore lost to Ann Kiyomura of San Mateo in a match for the girls' 16 title, 6-3, 7-5, but came back for victory in the doubles when she teamed with Nancy Zero of San Mateo to beat Nancy's sister Sue and Susan Mehmedbasich, 6-4, 3-6, 6-2.

Softball Game Halted By Darkness

Suburban Auto of San Rafael held San Mateo to a 2-2, 11-inning tie after dropping the opening game of a doubleheader, 2-1 yesterday in Golden Gate Travel League softball action.

Ron Reagan paced the San Rafael club in the nightcap with three hits, including a home run. The game, called by darkness, will be replayed.

One Jewel Left For Canonero

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI)—Canonero II, sold for $1,200 as a crooked-legged yearling and shipped off to Venezuela to apparent obscurity, cannot be purchased for any price today, following the colt's record-breaking victory Saturday in the Preakness Stakes that gave him two-thirds of the Triple Crown.

"We already have had an offer of $4 million for him," said Victory Scialom, a spokesman for owner Edgar Caibett and his wife who received the colt as a wedding present from Pedro Baptista, his father-in-law.

"We turned the offer down. All the money in the world couldn't buy this horse. No, I am not at liberty to reveal the person who made it," he added.

Canonero's victory in the Preakness was as startling as his Kentucky Derby victory two weeks ago was surprising.

There have been Count Fleets who have buried rivals in their dust with speed. There have been Whirlaways who crushed opposition with devastating stretch runs. To everyone's amazement, Canonero proved he can do either in winning the second jewel in the Triple Crown.

The South American invader came from 20 lengths back to win the Kentucky Derby. He was expected to try the same thing in the Preakness.

Instead, jockey Gustavo Avila sent Canonero to the front at the start and the crowd of 47,211, the biggest in Maryland racing history, roared in disbelief.

Canonero challenged Calumet Farm's Eastern Fleet for the lead. He caught his rival on the first turn and the two colts raced stride for stride, nose and nose into the homestretch. Then, with only an eighth of a mile to go in the 1 3-16 mile race, Canonero inched ahead to win by a length and one-half and smash the track record of 1:54 3-5 set by Nashua in 1955 with a 1:54 flat clocking.

The complete change in tactics amazed everyone and horsemen wondered what to expect on June 5 when Canonero will try to complete his sweep of the Triple Crown in the Belmont Stakes. Only eight horses have done so but none in almost a quarter of a century. Citation last pulled off the triple in 1948.

Sohner Sweeps Doubleheader

Behind the outstanding pitching of Morey Swarm and Chuck Tyson, Sohner Tree Service of San Anselmo swept a Golden Gate Softball League doubleheader from Concord Saturday night in the East Bay.

Swarm tossed a two-hitter to give Sohner a 1-0 victory in the opener and Tyson limited Concord to four hits and one unearned run in a 6-1 nightcap win.

Key Games In Prep Baseball

Having each dealt the Novato High School Hornets a staggering blow last week, the Terra Linda Trojans and Marin Catholic Wildcats must hope that someone else will finish the kill this week, so that they can play for the Marin County Athletic League baseball championship Friday night.

With just tomorrow's and Friday's games to play, only one-half game separates the Trojans and Wildcats from league-leading Novato. But, considering the schedule, that lead means very little. Tomorrow the Hornets of Novato host Redwood, a team that beat them in the first round, and Friday they meet San Rafael, the hittingest team in the MCAL.

Terra Linda's game tomorrow is also a toughy, leaving Marin Catholic with the inside track. The Trojans must face San Marin, winner of two straight games, while the Wildcats of Kentfield meet last place Tamalpais.

Reed Tops MacKay In Tennis Finals

Top-seeded Barry MacKay of Ross fell almost too easily to Whitney Reed of Alameda yesterday in the finals of the annual Bay Counties Invitational tennis tournament at the Tiburon Peninsula Club.

Reed, who won the tourney in 1968, was third-seeded in this one, but had little trouble upsetting MacKay in straight sets, 6-2, 6-3. He pocketed $150 for his winning effort.

MacKay, who won $50, said afterwards "Not taking anything away from Whitney, but I just couldn't seem to get my game off the ground."

In a slightly tighter match, Barbara Downs defeated Gail Hansen for the women's title, 7-6, 6-3. But Miss Hansen came back to team with Mark Elliot for victory in the mixed doubles. They defeated Brenda Garcia and Chip Fisher, 6-2, 6-3.

The men's doubles crown went to Charles Hoeveler (ex-Dartmouth) and John Levin (ex-Harvard), who went three sets to beat Elliot and Chick White, 7-6, 3-6, 6-3.

Results of Saturday's semi-finals:

Men's singles — Barry MacKay d. Bob Siska, 6-4, 3-6, 6-1; Whitney Reed d. Charles Hoeveler, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3. Women's singles — Gail Hansen d. Marcie Louie, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4; Barbara Downs d. Kate Latham, 1-6, 7-5, 6-0. Men's doubles — Mark Elliot and Chuck White d. Gene Ward and Gil Howard, 6-2, 5-7, 6-2; Charles Hoeveler and John Levin d. Whitney Reed and Tom Brown, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Trade Date Key Stock's Turnover

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am confused about which date controls the six-month period necessary for claiming a long-term capital gain, the trade date or the settlement date? My shares were bought on Mar. 30, 1971 and settlement date was Apr. 6, 1971 — S. M.

A. The important one is the trade date. However, according to the Internal Revenue Service, the day following the trade date is the first day of the six-month holding period, regardless of whether this is a business day or not. Thus, in your case March 31, 1971 is the first day of the six-month holding period.

Six calendar months later — even though that month ends on the 30th rather than the 31st — you have established a long-term capital gain. Therefore sale of your shares on Sept. 30, 1971, would permit you to claim this as a long-term investment.

Q Based on the limited knowledge I have of price-earnings ratios, it would seem to me that Avery Products, which earned 30 cents last year, should be selling at $16 not $33. I bought shares quite a while ago at $34. What would you suggest I do? — M. H.

A. Price-earnings multiples vary, not only from industry-to-industry and issue-to-issue but from year-to-year. Avery has been accorded a relatively high multiple by investors anticipating that the company's excellent growth record will be carried over into future years. For the last four years these shares have commanded a multiple ranging from 18x to 53x and averaging 35x. Assuming earnings this year reach the estimated 95 cents a share, Avery could move as high as 50 on that basis.

Operating results for the first fiscal quarter, which ended February, were mixed. Sales gained 10 per cent, while earnings, hurt by rising costs and a sagging economy, dropped from 19 to 14 cents a share. In the first two months of the second quarter however, business conditions have been far more favorable. Although European operations have expanded rapidly, the potential here still remains strong. Shares should be held.

SEARS STORE LOCATION — Large outlined area at the center of this photograph taken from Quail Hill is where Sears Roebuck and Co. will have its store at the south end of the Northgate Mall. Diagonally in the rear is the proposed Sears automotive center. In the right foreground will be a Sears garden materials building and enclosure. The two outlined areas at the left of the main Sars building are proposed additions in the mall for smaller stores.

Ground Being Cleared For Sears In the Northgate Shopping Center

A major expansion program for the Northgate Mall is now in progress at the south end of the Northgate Shopping Center.

Graders and other pieces of heavy equipment are doing ground work on the undeveloped 15 acres lying between Los Ranchitos Road and Northgate Drive. It is the biggest undertaking in over six years.

The focal point of this project is the Sears Roebuck and Co. store which is planned to open for business in the fall of 1972. The main building will have two floors above ground and a basement, with a total of about 200,000 square feet of floor space. There will also be two other Sears buildings — one for an automotive center and another for a seasonal sales center handling garden supplies and related materials.

Grading and preliminary ground work will go on until about the end of this month and construction will begin shortly after it is completed.

But all this activity is not being limited to the Sears enterprises alone. With an appreciative eye on all the additional traffic this is bound to generate in the immediate area, the owners of Northgate Mall, M and T, Inc., are tieing in two more multistore buildings totaling an additional 40,000 square feet and architecturally matching the existing mall buildings. Discussions are now being held with prospective tenants and it is estimated that another 20 stores in the two buildings will open at about the same time Sears does. There will be much more parking space for all this additional business, of course — a huge area.

The Northgate Mall, or Fashion Mall, as it used to be called, is the largest of the three Northgate Shopping Center divisions. It was opened in March, 1965 and there are presently about 40 stores which gross a total of $20 million annually. Some 4,500 cars come into the mall parking areas each day.

You will be able to add at least another 50 per cent to this after Sears and the other new stores open next year.

BERNARD R. DE ROSE of San Rafael has been promoted to assistant sales manager for the Calaveras Cement Division of the Flintkote Co. and will work out of the San Francisco office. He joined Calaveras in 1961 and has had various sales and managerial roles with the company.

De Rose Gernetzke

DAVID W. GERNETZKE of San Rafael has been promoted to assistant vice president, account services, in Wells Fargo Bank's data processing division. Formerly assistant manager of operations, he has been in the data processing division since he joined the bank in 1957.

TWO MARIN MEN have been reelected to top posts of the National Automobile Club. Stuart D. Menist of Kentfield, executive vice president of Fireman's Fund American Insurance Companies, has been reelected chairman of the board of the club. Keith M. Askew of San Anselmo, manager of the Hartford Insurance Group, has been reelected president.

WILLIAM S. BICHARD of Greenbrae, manager of Colonial Savings and Loan Association in San Rafael, on the heels of being elected a director of the Tiburon Chamber of Commerce, has been named to the board of governors of the San Francisco chapter of the American Savings and Loan Institute.

THOMAS F. BYRNES of Corte Madera, assistant to the president of Dohemann and Co., is attending the annual convention of the International Council of Shopping Centers in New York this week.

Rail Halt Hurts Early Stock Trade

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market took a sharp pounding through the first two hours today, reflecting the second nationwide rail strike in six months and talk of further increases in interest rates.

"The major fear," one Wall Street analyst commented, "is that an upturn in interest rates may stifle economic growth." He noted that Washington probably would like to bring interest rates more in line with prevailing European rates in order to halt the heavy outflow of U.S. dollars, which in recent weeks has had an unsettling effect on world market conditions.

Among the most active Amex issues were Ling-Temco warrants down a point on a volume of 30,000, Consolidated Dental Supply fractionally lower on 30,000 shares, and Cinerama up slightly on 28,000 shares.

On the Big Board, stocks off a point or more included General Motors down 1 5-8, Ford Motor 1 3-4, Dow Chemical 1 1-2, Allied Chemical 2 1-2, Getty Oil 1, Pennzoil 1, Natomas 1 1-8, Braniff Airways 1, KLM Royal Dutch Airlines 2 1-2, and Northwest Airlines 1 3-8.
